

The pride of Ward-Belmont centers around the accomplishments of their alumnae. Mr. A. B. Benedict, president of the school, will preside over the program, and introduce several women who will tell us of some of their work since their student days on the campus. Jeannette Sloan Warner, (Mrs. Robert), of Nashville, will speak on "The Place of Ward-Belmont in the Community"; Miss Marion Gray, Dean of Women, Albion College, Albion, Michigan will speak on "The Junior College in Relation to the Senior College"; Elizabeth Webber Eslick (Mrs. Leonard), of Charlottesville, Virginia, will speak of some phase of the work that she is doing at the University of Virginia. ~~Hospital~~; and Mary Helen Foulds Fencil (Mrs. George), St. Louis, Missouri, will give a short talk on "The Woman in Business." After the program in chapel, there will be an informal reception in Recreation Hall. Alumnae members of the faculty and staff will serve as a reception committee. Special guests at the reception and at the meeting in chapel will be those members of the faculty, staff, who were here in 1913, and who are still connected with the school. A number of these had been with either Ward Seminary or Belmont College before the consolidation of the schools. These people have been important factors in making possible the "uniting and continuing". Through their years of experience, their sincere loyalty to the school; their contributions to the best aims in education; their consciousness of the past, and their clear vision of the future, they have seen generations of Ward-Belmont girls come and go. There are new and younger students on the campus whom many returning alumnae may not know; but the hearts of the "old girls" will be gladdened to find "continuing", Mrs. Blanton and Mrs. Rose; in the music department Mr. Henkel, Miss Blythe, Miss Throne, and Miss Boyer; in Expression, Miss Townsend; in Latin, Miss Cason; in Physical Education Miss Morrison; in History or Art and English, Miss Rose and Miss Scruggs. These have proved themselves at Ward-Belmont, and
