F O R E W O R D

We ordinary spectators like to watch the figure of our ideal girl as she strolls through the days imprinted on our memories. She is the one who embodies the spirit of Ward-Belmont in aiming highest toward a perfect goal. Her school life unwinds before us . . . suppose we follow and see what she reveals . . .

Her Faculty

Our ideal girl depends a great deal on her teachers, for to them she looks for guidance and help. They not only teach her schoolwork, but they are in the background of all she does—work or play. Many of these very earnest ladies and gentlemen are decidedly not so serious in their frolicsome moments.

Doorstep of Knowledge*

MISS EMMA L. SISSON

UNLESS MISS SISSON is sought out during school hours, she will not be found in her office, because every extracurricular activity attracts her attention. She is seen in tweeds at picnics, and in velvet at open houses. On sunny Saturday afternoons she can usually be found walking in Percy Warner Park, or heading toward the golf links in her new black Packard.

MR. ANDREW B. BENEDICT

MR. BENEDICT's presence is felt in every phase of campus life largely because he is so vitally interested in everything that goes on. He can be seen not only behind his desk in Big Ae, but lurking in the back of chapel, watch in hand, or beaming in the doorway to the gym, the only calm spectator at the basketball game. Although he professes a dislike of speech-making, his additions to every gathering from Thanksgiving dinner to the Senior-Middle banquet are pleasantly anticipated.

DR. JOSEPH E. BURK

In spite of Mr. Burk's awe-inspiring academic position he is better known on the campus as a connoisseur of wit. But although he can be hilarious on the chapel platform, and jovial at gym dances, during business hours, behind his office desk, he can inspire the mellowed moods of remorse and resolution in the most light-minded of students.

MISS ANNIE C. ALLISON

To the Ward-Belmont girl, Miss Allison personifies the perfect lady, for she is always gracious and charming and can set the most homesick high school student completely at ease. She knows almost every girl on the campus and her cheery greetings always include a welcome personal touch.

Other Faculty Members

There are certain nonacademic members of the administration and household who have a great part in the school life. Mrs. Henriette Bryan, the registrar, who writes all the delightful letters to the new girls and who makes the old girls want to come back, is a familiar figure on the campus. Mr. Flowers, the secretary, and Mr. Snyder, the bursar, play an important part although they are not often seen.

Miss Elizabeth Phillips, alumnae secretary and sponsor of Fidelity Hall, has been most valuable as faculty advisor of the Hyphen and MILESTONES and as technical advisor of the Chimes. She has been the biggest factor in the success of these publications. Miss Killebrew and Mrs. Winford as administrative secretary and assistant to the dean of faculty, respectively, are indispensable to the administration.

In the Home Department, Mrs. Mary Charlton supervises the social privileges and the activities of the girls. Miss Marion Meriwether assists Mrs. Charlton and is sponsor of the X. L. Club. Miss Katherine Hatcher also assists Miss Sisson and Mrs. Charlton.

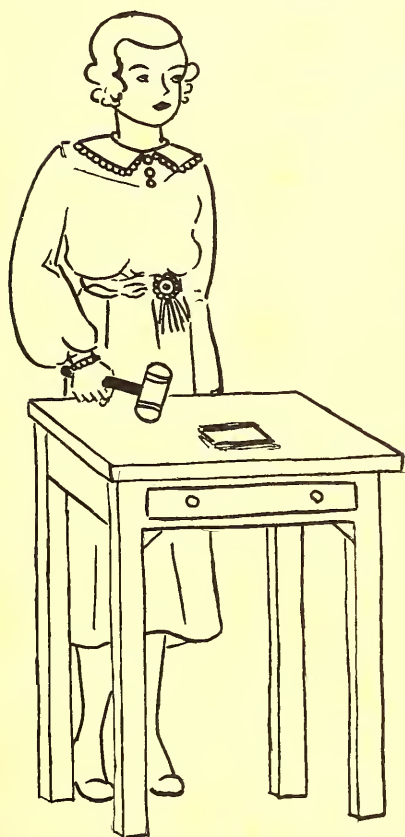

Miss Frances Estes, Mrs. Lillie Hall, Mrs. Georgia Jackson, and Mrs. Bona Nicholls assist and chaperone the girls. Mrs. Mary Lee Jeter, hostess of Pembroke Hall; Miss Mary Neal and Mrs. Jane Short, hostesses of Heron; Mrs. Clara Tate, hostess of Fidelity; Mrs. Willie Weedon, hostess of Founders; and Mrs. Minnie Powell, hostess of Senior are the indispensable "mothers" of all the girls.

Mrs. Booker Mason Rose supervises the lovely birthday dinners and her artistic touch may also be seen in "Rec" Hall. Miss Lillian Lower and Miss Mary Kimbrough, nurses, see to the health of the girls. Mrs. Rosa Clay and Mrs. Annie Majors take care of the diet and the dining room.

Mrs. Margaret Frierson Hall in the gym office first greets the girls in the morning when they go to gym; she arranges all the excuses and checks up on the varsities. All the music students know Miss Annie Cavert who arranges the practice hours for all the would-be pianists and singers. She also sees that the girls appear at their proper times and plans rehearsals of both music and dramatic students in the chapel.

Book II

Her Activities

The ensemble girl has so many activities which engage a great part of her time. The Day and Boarding Councils are the means of governing the student body that she and all the others help to make an excellent system. Often she is found babbling strange words, but they are merely foreign languages being practiced for the planned meetings of the departmental clubs.

When we see the excellent productions of the Art, Music, and Expression departments, we can understand how she is so busy.

The Y. W. C. A.

The "Y" has always endeavored to enrich the life of our lady and make it more significant by binding the girls of Ward-Belmont closer together in friendship with and understanding of each other and God. Each Sunday night vespers is conducted by the group starting off the year by the traditional friendship fire in club village. It was the "Y" that created the Armistice Day flag raising service, the school political campaign, the peacetime speakers. On Thursday nights the forum brings the girls together for open religious discussion under the leadership of students and outside speakers on everyday phases of a young person's Christian life.

The Hyphen

A sheet of brown paper, a few ruled lines, a column or so marked "ads," the regular features placed—and the making of the Hyphen "dummy" is under way! Reporters drop in at intervals with last-minute news items, articles which they were unable to procure till Wednesday, and bright ideas for next week's front page.

During the afternoon, brightened by "cokes" and "snacks" which some underclassman is inveigled into buying, copy must be typed, proofread, and placed on the dummy; headlines must be carefully written according to specific regulations; missing copy must be located; and cuts must be ordered.

Saturday when the student body struggles in from the week's "better" movies, shopping, and soda-pop—in their boxes is found Ward-Behmont's weekly newspaper, shiny, crackling, and with an odor of printers' ink.

Milestones

The staff of the MILESTONES has tried this year to make the book better and more different than it has ever been before. The book is larger, and the arrangement is changed completely. They have tried to show the entire life of the school year by these pictured representations. More pages have been given to certain activities so that everyone may have a printed memory of her school days at Ward-Belmont.

Wordsmith Club

The Wordsmith Club is the organization of college girls who are especially interested in writing as a career. Each semester, new members are admitted to the club on the strength of manuscripts submitted to judges for a contest. The members meet once a month on Sunday, and read and criticize each other's work. Poetry seems to be the mainstay of Marthanne, "Keyes," "Sis," and Jean. On the other side, exciting adventure stories are composed by Anna May, Ginny, "Carpie," "Rach," and Jane. They meet in various places for supper on Sunday night. The membership is limited to those girls who show real talent and individuality; the membership is necessarily small and is a great honor.

Penstaff Club

Have you seen the tiny silver quills that some of the high school girls are sporting? If you notice one adorning the breast of an intelligent-looking girl, you will know that you are face to face with a member of Penstaff.

Penstaff is the high school literary club. It meets every other Wednesday in one of the day student's homes. Themes, stories, and poems are read and discussed by the members. They try to criticize the works fairly and offer suggestions.

Membership is limited and members are chosen by a contest held in the fall. Themes are submitted, without names, and the members vote on the best ones. Because of this contest, membership in Penstaff is considered an honor and an achievement.

Mrs. Souby is sponsor of the club and its most enthusiastic member. She enjoys the girls and encourages them with their writing.

German Club

The German Club this year is composed of first-year students, with the exception of one member. Nevertheless, it has held monthly meetings at which conversation and stimulation of interest in German affairs have been emphasized. The first meeting was held in November at the home of Mrs. Parker, sponsor, on Vanderbilt campus. Officers were elected and a talk was made by one of the boys who accompanied Dr. Fraund of Vanderbilt on a walking tour through Germany. The club had a German Christmas party in December. Pumpernickel, cheese, and German pie were served, and presents and food were hung on a gay tree.

In the spring the club met to discuss the influence of German music, literature, and inventions on American life.

The final meeting was a picnic in the spring.

The French Club contributes much to give the girls a bit of foreign atmosphere. Bally lectured to the girls on "France." To climax the year there was a treasure hunt.

MARY EVELYN JENSEN, President

The Art Club sponsors lectures and exhibits to encourage an appreciation of art among the girls at Ward-Belmont. The program for this year has included several lectures by prominent people on murals and wood block printing. Also the club sponsored many worth-while exhibits.

In the spring a representative of the Ward-Belmont Art Club went to Washington to attend a convention of the American Federation of Art. By virtue of her office as president of the club, Mary Evelyn Jensen was the representative this year.

The Orchestra with John Wise as Guest Soloist

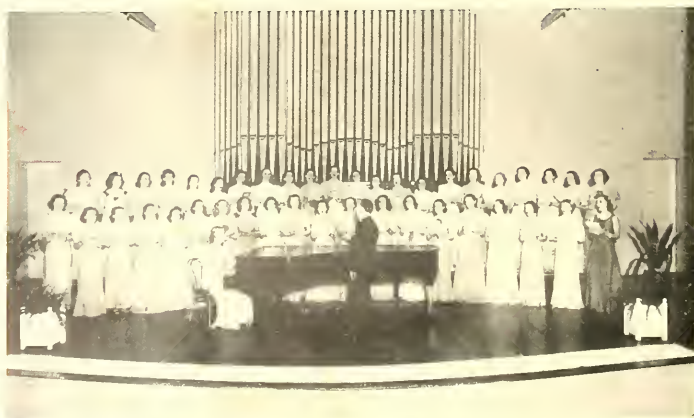

Glee Club, Orchestra, Dramatics

Three extracurricular activities which provide students with opportunities for appearing in public are the Glee Club, Orchestra, and expression plays.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Dalton, presented two concerts, one the Christmas vesper given the last Sunday evening before the holidays and the other a spring program consisting of semiclassical and folk songs. Mary Morel was this year's president.

The Orchestra climaxed its work with a recital on April 13. Under the directorship of Kenneth Rose, it presented Mr. John Wise as guest soloist. Celeste Jane Throckmorton was president of the group.

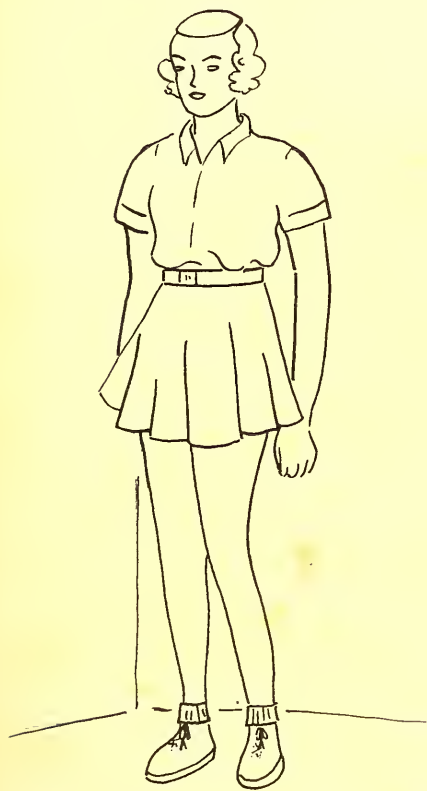

The School of Expression, under the direction of Miss Pauline Sherwood Townsend and Miss Catherine Winnia, annually presents three major productions in chapel, one just before Christmas, one at Easter time, and one in the spring which is a Shakespearean play. The titles of the three plays respectively this year were: Holy Night, Thy Kingdom Come, and Winter's Tale.

Her Sports

All year we see this athletic young girl out on the field or the courts or in the gym playing every sport to her best ability. In the snappy fall air she runs wildly with a hockey stick in her hand or rides in the horse show. When the weather is a bit too cold for anything but the gym, she is "basketballing," bowling, swimming, "waterpoloing." And at last in spring we see her golfing, playing tennis, shooting archery, playing baseball . . . all these she plays in strict and friendly competition between classes and clubs.

The Athletic Association

The Athletic Association exists for the purpose of creating comradeship, good sportsmanship, and fair play. It also attempts to arouse a genuine interest in athletics.

Membership is of two kinds, active and participating, and is open to any girl in the school. To be an active member a girl must make a varsity or must make the significant number of points required by playing on club teams. A girl who has paid her dues is a participating member.

Each year the active members of the association give a party for the entire school. This year the theme for the party was based on the recent Olympics which were held in Germany. Hitler was present and all forms of sports were offered, tobogganing and swimming proving to be the most popular.

"Pass That Ball!" An Exciting Moment in the Tri K-Angkor Game

Miss G""D"" Has to Run to Keep Up with These Swift Players

Hockey

This season the Tri K's won the hockey tournament for the third consecutive year, becoming the permanent possessors of the cup.

The final game of the year was played between the Angkor's and the Tri K's. Despite the score, which was 5-1, it was the most exciting and most interesting game of the year. There was a tenseness and expectancy in the air which was felt by spectators and players alike. The spectacular pass work on the part of both teams was the outstanding feature of the game. Every one played exceptionally well, but for the Tri K's Lois Whiteman, Helene Rice, and Jane Allison did more than their share of good playing. Grace Benedict and Jean Burk were the mainstays for the Angkor's.

There were many good teams this year with outstanding material. Jane Elliott on the Del Vers team was on the forward line, but proved her ability as a defense player in the Del Vers vs. Tri K game when she outplayed any defense player on either team. Jane Wright as wing proved to be one of the best. The Osiron's with Virginia White as wing, Ann Pasternacki as one of the best defense players, and Marzee Boyd made a good showing in the tournament.

The club scores for the season were:

This Looks Like a Very Strenuous Practice

Who's Winning, the Anti-Pan's or the Triad's?

Is This Going to Be a Mix-up, Girls?

Come On, Let's See Who Wins!

Hockey

The climax of the season was the hockey game between the Senior and the Senior-Middle classes. The Senior-Middle's went out on the field the underdogs, as the Senior's were conceded the victors. As soon as the Senior-Middle's made their first goal, however, it was a different story. From then on most of the play took place close to the Senior goal line, and the Senior-Middle's fought furiously to make the final score 3-2. Both teams showed excellent teamwork and passing.

The Junior-Middle's nosed out the Junior's with a score of 1-0 in the annual game on November 30. As the score indicated, the game was close and exciting despite both teams' lack of practice. The majority of the shots of each team were long drives, hard to stop. The Junior-Middle's kept the ball in Junior territory most of the time but lacked the punch to send it in until a sudden rally in the first half by the Junior-Middle forward line enabled Jane Cauble, with her fast dribbling, to make the only score of the day.

Each year there are chosen two varsities in hockey—a high school and a college varsity. The girls that made these varsities were:

Basketball

Amid wild and hearty cheers, the basketball season was brought to a climax with the Osiron's victorious over the Tri K's by a score of 35-21. The four teams reaching the semifinal rounds were: Del Vers, Osiron's, T. C.'s, and Tri K's.

In the Del Vers-Osiron game both teams were evenly matched in the first half, and throughout the entire game both teams played good basketball. The Osiron's won 30-14. Jane Elliott and Jane Wright for the Del Vers' were outstanding. In the Tri K-T. C. game, the T. C. guards were exceptionally outstanding, but the Tri K's captured the game by a score of 15-6.

Play was fast and furious in the final game between the Osiron's and Tri K's. The game was featured by the excellent teamwork of Boyd, Griswold, and Lay, a combination envied by all, and the score rose rapidly for the Osiron's. Baxter, Rice, and Henshaw were particularly outstanding while Griswold, Clark, and Boyd each played a superb game.

At the end of the season two varsities in basketball were chosen as follows:

In the class games, the Senior-Middles were victorious over the Senior's by a score of 14-9 in one of the hardest fought games of the season, and the Junior-Mid's defeated the Junior's 12-8. Rice was outstanding for the freshman class with six goals to her credit; Griswold played the best game for the Senior's. For the preps, Cauble led the Junior-Middle's and Roth and Earthman were outstanding for the Junior's.

Bowling

Competition in bowling this year was exceptionally keen. Each club on the campus had a bowling team and all entered into the sport with zest and good spirit.

Sally Matthews, Highest Individual Scorer of the Tournament

Four clubs reached the final round with scores as follows: Angkor 1440, Tri K 1410, Agora 1386, and Eccowasin 1378. In the final round, the Angkor's won first place with a cumulative score of 1880. The Eccowasin's were second with 1847, and the Tri K's third with 1819. The Agora Club rolled 1789.

There were many good bowlers who made some excellent high scores. Sally Matthews topped the individual scores, with Barbara Moore and Jeanne Gibson following with second and third places respectively. The scores were for the entire tournament. Katie Rose Woods, Triad, rolled 170 in the third round, one of the best scores of the entire tournament. Sara Redmond, Tri K, also made some excellent scores throughout the season.

The first and second varsities were composed of members who made the highest individual scores as follows:

A Checkup Before Announcing the Winner

Riding

The Ward-Belmont annual fall riding show was held on December 5, having been postponed from Thanksgiving Day.

The demonstration classes with the three-gaited and five-gaited horses were of most interest. Jumping, one of the main attractions of the afternoon, was brought to a fitting climax by some fine pair jumping.

All the girls did exceptionally well, the beginning classes coming forth with many honors.

Eleanor Vandever and Lawrence Butler were the individual winners of the day. Both of these girls have been riding for years and have proved, already, to be in the "best" class of riders.

The beginner's class was won by Minnie Maude May, first; Virginia Collins, second; Gertrude Schroer, third; and Genelle Buescher, fourth.

The three-gaited class was won by Eleanor Vandever, first; Walton Shanklin, second; Susan Norris, third; and Arlene Hoier, fourth.

The management class, judged entirely on managing ability, was won by June Haldt, first; Thanya Spurrier, second; and Nancy Reed, third.

Riding

The pair class was won by Eleanor Vandever and Arlene Hoier, first; with Joan Jobson and Allie Lou Broderick, second.

Cigarette, Little Jack, Lady Mary, and Dixie are the favorites of the horses and proved to be the most popular with the girls.

The show was brought to a finish by a new and unusual feature. A square dance on horseback was cleverly executed by four couples, the horses keeping time to "The Turkey in the Straw." The music was furnished by the Captivators. The costumes were made by each individual rider, fitting the occasion extremely well. The girls wore oilcloth skirts with colorful shirts while the boys wore bright cowboy chaps and ten-gallon hats.

In May the annual spring riding show was given. Beginning and advanced jumping, three-gaited and five-gaited riding and a harness class were the features of the show. The best rider of the year was presented her award, while the club which averaged the most total points received the riding cup.

At the shows Miss Nance served as the ringmaster and Miss Sisson as judge; Mr. Benedict presented the awards.

Tennis

In the fall as the leaves began to turn their many colors and commenced falling from the trees and as the weather was ideal for tennis, the Athletic Association sponsored the annual singles tennis tournament. Many girls, those who displayed good tennis form and a keen knowledge of the game, and then those who swung and missed more often than they hit, signed up.

When the tournament began Mary Aubyn Townsend, Grace Benedict, and Betty Rye seemed the favorites. Little Dottie Bell, fast with her forehand stroke under good control, and Susan Norris, with her steady playing, looked to be real menaces to the above three girls.

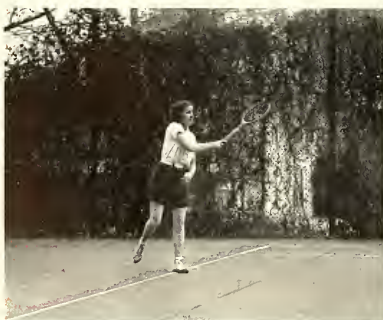

The tournament progressed with many defaults and victories. The quarter-final rounds were played, Dottie Bell winning over Ida Sue Smith 6-3, 6-2, Grace Benedict defeated Lois Whiteman 6-4, 6-4. This put Dottie Bell up against Grace in the semi-final round. Grace winning with her consistent playing and steady drives by 6-2, 6-4. Mary Aubyn Townsend overcame Judy Davis 6-2, 6-3, and then played Jane Edgerly in the semi-final round, winning by a score of 6-3, 6-0.

Grace won the finals in two sets 6-3, 6-1 over Mary Aubyn. Each girl played exceedingly well, but Grace, with her unusually good placing and her swift serves, was too much for Mary Aubyn.

The tennis varsity was made up of those girls who reached the semi-finals: Dottie Bell, Jane Edgerly, Grace Benedict, and Mary Aubyn Townsend. This is Grace's third year on the varsity.

The doubles tournament, which came in the spring, climaxed the tennis year.

"She Seems Like a Fish"; Jane Wright, Winner of the Swimming Meet

Swimming

The annual Ward-Belmont swimming meet climaxed the year in swimming. There were some twenty contestants entered in this meet. Jane Wright came out the individual winner with $23\frac{3}{4}$ points, Peggy Armistead, second, with $21\frac{1}{2}$ points, and Jane Cornelius, third, with 12 points.

In club ratings the Tri K's were first with 33 points, Del Vers' second with 29, and the Penta Tau's third with 7 points. The competition was keen this year and it was exceedingly interesting to watch the almost evenly-matched swimmers compete in form and speed.

Several weeks before the meet the girls had been working for the Marathon swim and when the winners were announced Peggy Armistead had 287 lengths (almost 3 miles) to her credit while Jane Wright was second with 208 lengths.

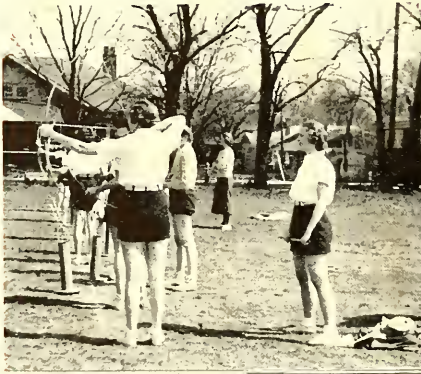

Water polo was played for the first time in several years. The game between the Senior and Senior-Mid classes brought to a close six weeks of hard work. The girls were enthusiastic and immensely enjoyed the fun derived from this exciting and new sport.

Spring Sports

Spring has surely come when all the girls can be seen out on the baseball field or the tennis courts. Arrows fly thick and fast on the archery range as the girls try to make their arrows hit the target. Baseball is the principal club sport in the spring and many wee morning hours are spent practicing for the big games. Track offers running, jumping, hurdling, and various kinds of throwing to the more agile girls.

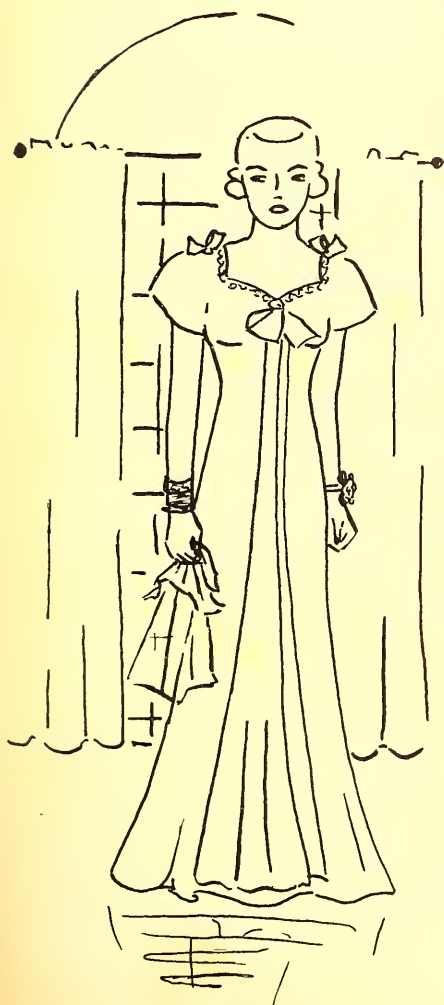

May Day brings to a climax the dancing for the year, for so many girls take part in the special dances. On the first of April the department presents a recital which shows how well the girls have progressed during the year.

To the rhythm of "En garde; cut over and lunge; parry sixth," the girls, under Miss "O'D." acquire grace and poise while learning the delicate art of fencing.

Her Club

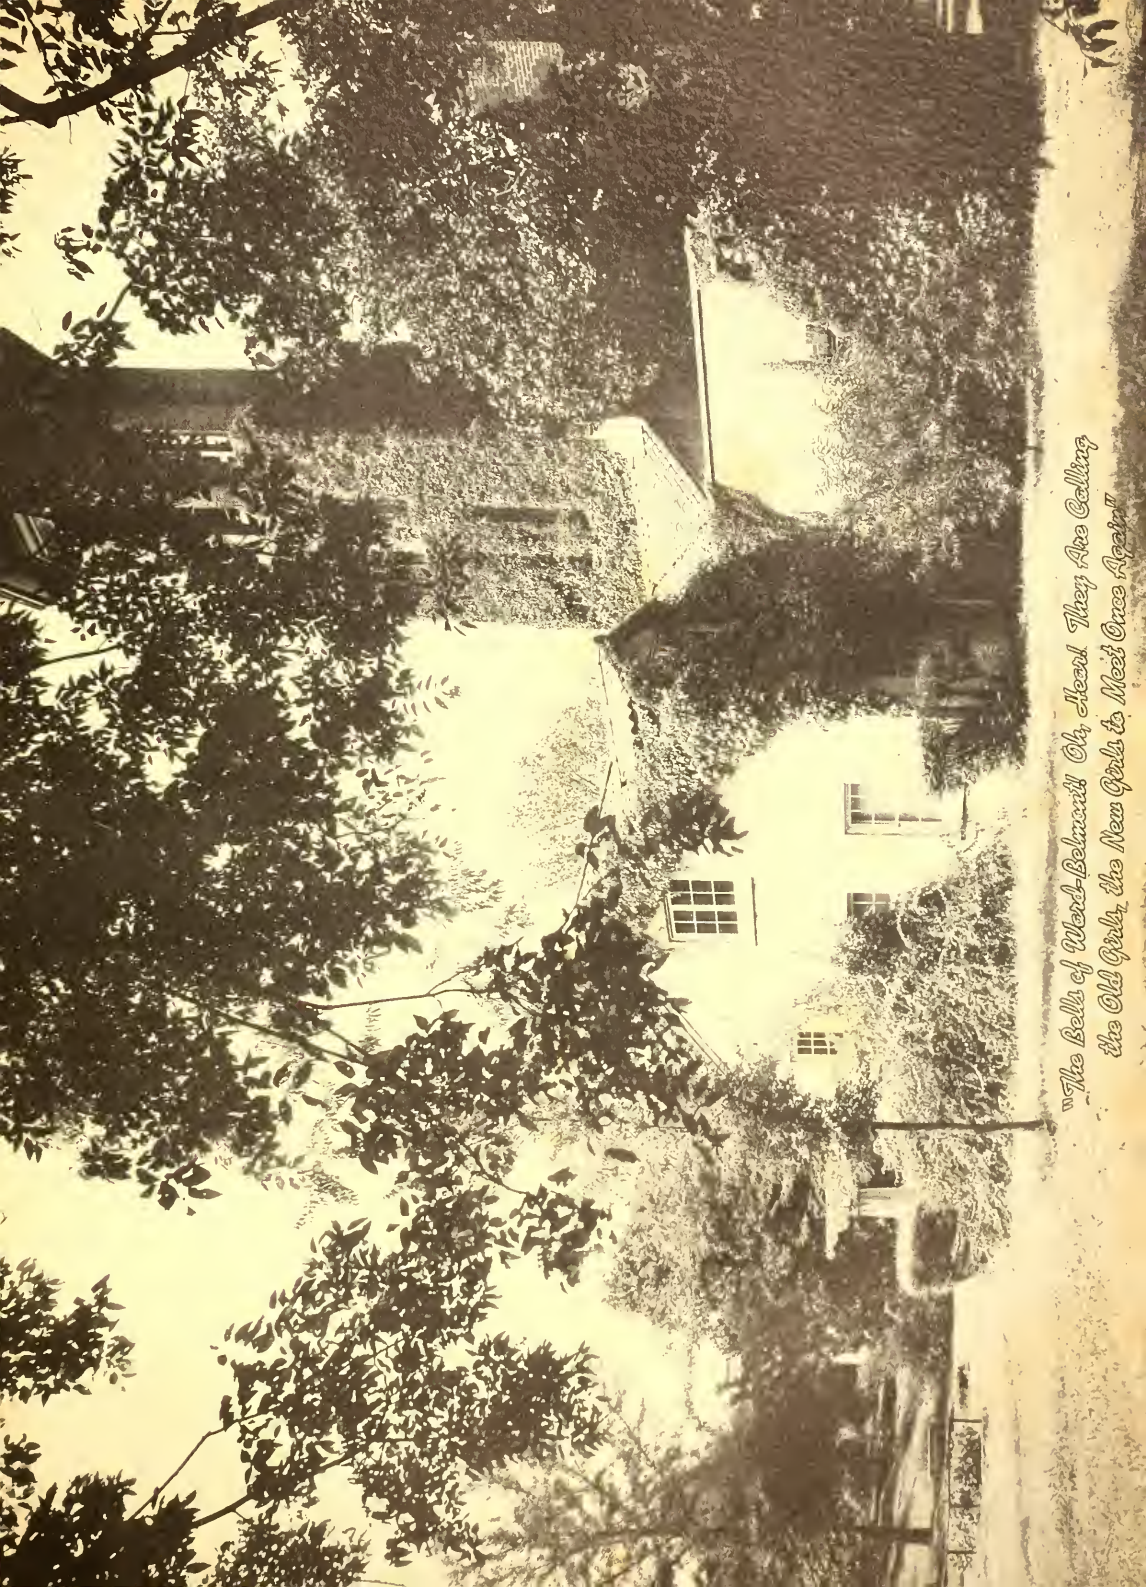

A club plays such a big part in this young lady's life.

At first she was rushed by them all, but now she feels as are well tried in exciting gym dances, picnics, teas, treas-

The Agora is a market place of ancient Greek cities, and also, incidentally, the seat of the Agora's in club village is the center of gatherings and community discussions. Their green and yellow colors are often seen about the campus. In November the club held its annual coffee in the clubhouse which was gaily decorated with yellow and white tea roses. They also had an open house that month. Later a breakfast was given for the A. K. Club in which the tables were arranged in the shape of a horseshoe.

A. K. Club

The A. K. Club received its name from the idea of the All-Round Klub, as its members are typical girls. Its colors are green and white. In the fall the girls met in Mr. Underwood's studio where he played for them. In November they had a formal tea dance for their sister club, the Agora's, and an open house. At Christmas they gave a party for the members of the Tennessee Children's Home and also for the club. They had a Valentine's Day gym dance to bring the season to a successful close.

Anti-Pandora Club

The Anti-Pan's, of the yellow and green colors, disdain to follow the impetuous maid Pandora. They declare themselves anti-Pandas; thus they will restrain all malicious thoughts and evil sprites and seek out the good. In the fall the girls gave an open house and at Christmas they had a party for the orphans as part of their charity work. After the holidays they gave a "wienie" roast and a Valentine dinner. Later in the spring they gave a tea for their friends, and last of all they gave a gym dance with boys for the Del Vers Club.

They have also been very active in sports as they had hockey, bowling, basketball, and baseball teams.

Del Vers Club

The Del Vers Club of the yellow and white colors "delve" into everything. They always satisfy their insatiable curiosity—an intellectual curiosity shown by their name. In February they gave a gym dance with the scene a Casino. Stunt night brought forth their ingenuity in "A Spanish Cavalier." A ping-pong tournament was held within the club with Anita Dembinsky the winner. The girls gave a breakfast for the old girls who came back to visit the school; they gave a wiener roast in Percy Warner Park and in the late spring they gave a picnic for the Anti-Pans.

The F. F. Club, with its colors of purple and lavender, is named for its first group called the "Friendly Fifty." Today their number is smaller, and the name stands for Friendship and Fidelity. The girls gave a picnic for their sister club, the Penta Tau's, in Percy Warner Park in the fall. They had their annual Christmas dinner dance, and a faculty tea was given in February. They also had an open house; frequent informal teas were given for the members and their friends throughout the year.

Osiron Club

The Osiron Club's name is made up of the first letters of the words which make up the ideals of the club: Originality, Sincerity, Interest, Right, Objective, Nobleness. The motto is "He builds too high who builds beneath the stars." The colors are green and white. That wise old owl is the symbol of wisdom and the cedar twig, the symbol of everlastingness.

The club has been especially active this year. First came a picnic in Percy Warner Park to start the season off with a bang. Then in rapid succession came the open house, Christmas party, and Valentine tea. At Christmas the girls also helped a poor family. In the way of sports they had a ping-pong tournament and to climax the year they won the much coveted basketball tournament.

Penta Tau Club

The Penta Tau Club of the colors rose and grey got its name Penta because it is number five of the clubhouses and Tau from the first letters of its slogan: Think, Act, Use. In the fall the girls were entertained by the F. F.'s at a picnic in Percy Warner Park. In November, they gave a tropical gym dance with palm trees as decorations. At Christmas they held a party for the children of the men employed by the school. They honored the alumnae with a breakfast at Easter. In the spring the club went on a week end in the country. The Penta Tau's won second place on Stunt Night.

T. C. Club

The T. C.'s got their name because they are the ultramodern club—they are the Twentieth Century Club. This year they have been very active in every way. In the fall they gave a swimming party and hamburger supper. At Christmas they gave a party, and later they had an open house. They had a gym dance for their sister club, the Osiron's, and in the spring gave them a picnic.

They were very good in sports, working up to the semi-finals in basketball.

Tri K Club

The black and white colors of the Tri K Club are seen swiftly moving in all kinds of activities. Their name, Kubla Khan Klub, was taken from a wise old Mongolian ruler who was known for his good citizenship. In the fall the girls gave a Sunday night supper for the N. L.'s, a picnic at Percy Warner Park, and an open house. They had a winter gym dance and a Christmas party in December. They had an exciting skating party at the Hippodrome in March. Their stunt, "Buckingham Barnyard," won first place on Stunt Night.

They had a very good season in sports, winning the hockey cup; advancing to the basketball finals; placing third in bowling; and winning the swimming meet.

X. L. Club

The X. L. Club of the yellow and purple colors received its name from the Roman numeral for forty, as this was originally the number in the club. The members also ex-cel in all they do. To begin the year, the X. L.'s went on a picnic to Percy Warner Park in October. Following this was the open house in November. They also made a new scheme for the dinners once a month. For the last three months, four girls were hostesses and were allowed to invite guests. To complete the year the X. L.'s gave a tea dance in March for the faculty and friends of the members. In the late spring the X. L.'s entertained their sister club—the Tri K's—with a picnic.

Ariston Club

Ariston, meaning the best and highest, is taken from the Greek word Ariston, the singular of Aristos, the superlative of the word meaning good. The colors of the Ariston Club are yellow and white.

After school started, the first major sport in which the Ariston's took part was the tennis matches. They not only had a high percentage in the matches, but also had two members in the quarter-finals. Hockey also claimed their attention. Though only two of the members on the team had ever played in a game before, they surprised everyone by turning out as ardent an eleven as any other club.

With winter came basketball and bowling with a good-sized team in both sports. The Ariston's have also taken part in social service work, especially at Christmas, when they fed and clothed two families. This year they undertook the new project of making the clubroom more attractive by contributing articles of furniture and making curtains. They are proud to number among their members four Penstaff members, a day student proctor, the president of the Freshman class, and the president of the Art Club.

Eccowasin Club

Eccowasin, an Indian name meaning "do all and give all," symbolized many good times and valuable friendships to its members this year. Their peculiar symbol is the Swastika, also Indian. The hockey team in their green and white did well, winning two games and losing one; and the team was entertained after the last game. The club was second in scholarship. At Christmas the club did social service work in the form of clothing and feeding a poor family. In the spring a "Showboat" party was given with the Angkor's. The club showed well in the remaining sports of the year and were aware of the honor of having as members, the president of the Junior-Middle class, president of Penstaff, and president of Wordsmiths.

Triad Club

The Triad Club is named for its threefold purpose—social, civil, athletic. The colors are red and white.

Hockey started the season rolling, and after the games the team gathered in the tearoom for hot chocolate and cakes. Then the midwinter sport, basketball, aroused enthusiasm to the highest degree. Marion Latta and Sarah Logue made their class team, Senior-Middle. Sarah Logue also made basketball varsity and Katie Rose Woods made bowling varsity.

Their Christmas box for some poor family brought a great deal of comfort and pleasure. The luncheons outside the campus brought joy to all, particularly to the high school girls who could not otherwise go out. Another of the highest spots in the year's social activities was the annual gym dance given with the Aristons.

Angkor Club

The Angkor's received their name from the famous temple of Angkor in India. Their colors are blue and white. They have had a very successful year. They won the scholarship cup for the fifth consecutive time. They met the Tri K's in the hockey finals, Corinne Howell and Judith Davis making high school varsity and Grace Benedict, the college. Grace also won the tennis tournament, making the varsity and helping them to win the cup. For the fall term they had the highest number of points in competitive sports. In February the Eccowasin's and the Angkor's gave a "Showboat" party together.

The Captivators

Back two years ago, in 1935, a group of some of the young interested musicians got together and decided to organize a dance orchestra for the betterment of social life on the campus. They chose Miss Lydell and Miss Pulver for their sponsors, christened the group "The Captivators," and set out on the road to fame. During the year, the band gained quite a reputation and played for a number of social affairs. It was comprised of a piano, three saxes, two violins, and a drum.

In 1936 business soared and the band established a permanent place in the life of social Ward-Belmont.

Probably the most prosperous year has been this last. The group has increased in size and now consists of two pianos, three saxes, two violins, a bass, a drum, and a piano accordion.

At the first of the year Miss Phillips was unanimously named the sponsor. Some of the outstanding engagements for which the orchestra has had the pleasure of playing have been the West End Men's and Women's Club dinner, the Fall Horse Show, the Triad-Ariston barn dance, and the Eccowasin-Angkor show boat. A new plan of entertainment has been inaugurated and the dining room has been transformed into a favorite dine and dance spot on Wednesday evenings, with "The Captivators" furnishing the music.

School Tours Scheduled

With the increasing facility of world travel, Ward-Belmont continues to offer to her girls increasing opportunities along these lines. Next year, in addition to the summer world tour, trips to the West Indies, South America, Hawaii, and the Panama Canal will be offered. Unlimited cuts will be offered to those with a "C" average, while those with lower grades may arrange for special tutoring while traveling.

The girls will, of course, travel entirely by airplane, and change to other methods of transportation. Week end trips to New York, Boston, Chicago, Sun Valley, and Miami will be continued for those unable to leave the campus for more than two days. The chaperones for the minor trips have not yet been selected, but those accompanying the world tour will be Miss Jane Allison, director of the athletic department, and Miss Keyes Clark, newly appointed head of the English department.

The party will sail from New York, proceed through the Panama Canal to Hawaii, to Asia, then around Africa, into the Mediterranean, Europe, the Atlantic, and New York. Side trips will be taken by airplane from all points of interest.

This year's trip, the fourth in the history of the school, will mark the first year in which a private ship has been chartered. The school feels that this alone will make the trip an enjoyable one for all those who plan to go.

Miss Ashcroft Gains Fame

Increasing acclaim has fallen to the lot of Miss Marjorie Ashcroft, one of the Ward-Belmont voice teachers. The department of musical sciences feels that she is one of its most valuable members, and there is very little doubt but that she will be the next head of this department, replacing Mrs. Virginia Cochran, "Johnnie," who is taking a leave of absence for protracted European study.

Miss Ashcroft has made many notable contributions to modern American music, and her latest work, the Texas Pageant Suite, is recognized as the work of a master.

After leaving W.-B., Miss Ashcroft studied at Bryn Mawr, and at many famous European conservatories. She attributes her amazing success with this latest opus to her intense patriotism for her home state.

Exhibition of Modern Art Planned

Under the able direction of Mrs. Gene G. Priestley, the art department is gaining enthusiasm from all students. A novel plan is being perfected for the March exhibition. As several of the alumnae have become rather noted in the world of art, the exhibition is being planned to consist entirely of their work. Miss Mary Pollard will have several water colors as representative of her work. These are colorful New Mexican scenes, slightly tinged with Surrealism. The south will be represented in several pieces of sculpture by Miss Lucille Smith, who will bring her work to Nashville from her New York studio. Her work is rather conventional, but charming, especially her animal groups.

Mrs. Ella C. Jelly has consented to show her paintings, and to lead a series of discussions on Gauguin's work in Tahiti. Mrs. Jelly is exceptionally qualified for this work, as she has spent several years living in Gauguin's old house near Popeete, Tahiti, in order to get the proper mood for her work.

Other contributors will be Mrs. M. E. Jensen Tevis, Miss Anna May Moul, and Mrs. Anne Rudolph Cunningham.

1957 Blue Book

For the benefit of those who were at W.-B. during the years known as the "strait-laced thirties," it may be of interest to peruse portions of the 1957 Blue Book.

Dormitory Regulations

Each residence hall is in charge of a hostess, formerly with Earl Carroll's Vanities, whose aim is to perform the office of a refined mother. She is always ready to help the students in any way she can. During the evening visiting hour she conducts classes in personal charm, sex appeal, and the art of obtaining fraternity pins.

Dining Room Regulations

Students are requested to have their meals in their rooms whenever possible, so as to avoid confusion in the dining rooms. Dumb-waiters are installed in the dormitories for this purpose.

Dress Regulations

Regulation dress for church and town wear shall be:

For the short, stocky type: A cheery spotted or plaid motif in several brilliant colors.

For the tall, willowy type: Vertical stripes, three-inch heels, and plumed headgear.

Appropriate for school wear: Halter necks, and diaper-length shorts, shoes and stockings if desired.

As dinner is a formal meal, athletic sweaters or shirts should be donned to cover any immodest display.

Girls have found slacks and overalls both suitable and serviceable for concert wear. The girls are requested to wear no floral hair decorations.

Household Appliances

Facilities have been provided in order that each girl will be able to install her own reducing apparatus, television sets, and bars. If any further assistance is desired, see Roy.

General Information

Mail is collected and delivered to each room three times daily and twice on Sunday.

Tidbits are supplied free of charge at the Cocktail Lounges which are found in the basement of each hall.

Adequate elevator service is available to the Roof Gardens, where Benny Goodman, Jr.'s Swing Band plays nightly from eight until midnight.

About the riding ring are clustered a circle of guest cottages, complete with bath. These are for the use of late dates whose plane connections are inadequate.

The school maintains a special ambulance service for girls who are too exhausted, or who have "hang-overs," which are not conducive to study. The infirmary administers instant and loving attention to such cases.

The suites consist of four single bedrooms opening onto a common sitting and study room. All pets (gold fish and guppies excluded) are to be kept in the special kennels at night. The maid service is thorough, but students are asked not to require such services as hair-dressing, pedicuring, and eyebrow arching, as highly paid specialists in these lines are always ready to serve at the Beauty Parlors.

The nude sun-bathing facilities are not available on Sundays, and the Cocktail Lounges will open at 9:00 A.M. and close at 9:00 P.M. on that day.

Ponies are supplied for the use of the girls during study hour and a general information bureau is located in the Hyphen office. If difficulty is experienced, Dr. Elizabeth Phillips,

Ph.D., P.D.Q., R.S.V.P., W.C.T.U., R.O.T.C., D.A.R., and N.R.A., will be glad to assist.

As the administration feels that often unhappiness is caused by unsympathetic (potty) room, suite, or schoolmates, rubber ear-stoppers are supplied. There is a corps of highly trained Conchaplugs, who gladly insert these handy devices while the victim is innocently wrapped in the arms of Morpheus. These trinkets are considered the proper headgear for such persons during bull sessions.

All suggestions in the way of modern improvements are solicited, and will be dealt with in order.

BITS ABOUT 'EM

High School, '37

Jane Cauble, who eloped several months ago with a well-known Australian brushman, is now suing for divorce on charges of non-support. The once-thriving tennis racket business seems to have gone to the bowwows, due to said hubby's using the stock to keep wife in line.

Janie and Josie Phillips are running quite a stiff bit of competition for their Alma Mater. Their Phillips' Academy for Young Ladies is receiving admirable support from the upper crust. It seems that the dignity and social etiquette taught there is quite, quite superior.

Kitty Crossan, the gal who was always Crossan her bridges before she came to them, is now fiddling away her time while genius burns. The latest news item relates her exploits in Manhattan's newest night club. She is known as the female Ben Bernie, but refuses to take up cigar smoking.

Mrs. Mary (Pollard) Bureau Drawers is living with her half-breed husband in the mountain fastnesses of New Mexico. She is known locally as the "Pig-Woman," but in the higher scientific circle as a "phenomenal find." Her diggings have unearthed relics of a pre-Paleolithic civilization. She spends nine months of the year immersed in formaldehyde and bones. When asked what he thought of his wife's activity, Chief Bureau Drawers replied in his inimitable combination of guttural and nasal twangs, "Ugh."

Mother Virginia Cochran, of the Tennessee Orphans' Asylum, says that her one joy in life is her philanthropic work among her kiddies. Every night she goes to the bedside of each little child and lulls them to sleep with songs from the "Broadcast of 1931"; indeed, she is a veritable Florence Nightingale among her little brood, and children "cry for her."

Misses Coyle and Hoffman, busily engaged in psychological research, have interred themselves in a cyclone cellar in Western Kansas, the better to clear their foggy brains. If their last book, Psychological Weaning and How They Grew, is any indication, both ladies are headed for a successful career.

Mesdames Baker and Allison have just moved into their new quarters, and are very proud of the modernistic fixings. The Madam Zeh-Zeh Sport and Yarn Store already has a distinguished clientele. Madam Baker supervises the sports clothes, and Madam Allison, the yarn department. If this new shop is successful, the ladies plan beginning a world-wide chain.

Butterfield and Benedict, those little reformers, have made their mark on the world. Reduced to the utmost penury, they were forced to obtain remuneration in a burlesque show. But their ethereal beauty and classic art have skyrocketed them to Radio City. Come, come, girls, tell us your secret.

Mary Aubyn Townsend is now supervising the very latest in pre-school establishments. She believes in the psychological training of young minds, and the careful building of young bodies with, of all things, tennis! Her project is a success and bids fair to revolutionize the educational system of Dallas.

Peggy Weir, usually so matter of fact, is at last "up-in-the-air." She has now become Mrs. "Shipwreck" Kelly. They are now featuring a partner act atop the First National Bank's flagpole in Tulsa. If the two can last out this week, the world's record will be broken. When quizzed as to her home life Mrs. Kelly shyly replied, "My only qualms concern the happiness of the kiddies (7) while we are in the air. Next year we expect to begin their training. We feel that this family act will create world-wide interest."

Fag Day

Fag Day was that famous day of glee for the old girls and mild torture for the new. What will they think up next? Ingenuities were stretched to the utmost on this day so that gunny sacks and a few turns of the paintbrush resulted in frogs, and paper cleaning bags covered with a few frills of eyebrow pencil turned miraculously into owls. All over the campus early in the morning babies crawled on their hands; and foolish girls (?) on their knees repeated hourly, "I'm a Tri K born. I'm a Tri K bred." etc. Almost everyone bore throughout the day fearful lipstick brands on their foreheads. All in all the day was a complete success when the pledges at last tumbled relievedly into bed—tired and fairly happy.

George Washington's Birthday

For one night George and Martha Washington came back to life and ruled over their court in Ward-Belmont. Everyone was pleased by the wise choice of the two who were elected by the student body. On March 22 the Seniors in lovely colonial costumes walked down the stately stairway in "Rec" Hall to the dining room. Later on they danced the graceful minnet before George and Martha. This tradition has been carried on for many years and has become an integral part of the school life. The dance makes a colorful pageant and carries everyone back to those olden days of chivalry and courtesy.

Senior—Senior-Middle Day

The only day in the year when the early morning bell produced instant and amazing action was Senior-Senior-Middle Day. On the very dot of 7:00, girls poured madly out of doors with their class colors over their arms and flung them wildly on all visible bushes, landscape, and pebbles. Breakfast was the scene of great hilarity and all the girls yelled their loudest.

Afterwards came the parades of the two classes. The Seniors surprised everyone with a Roman parade full of Roman senators (Seniors) and conquered Gauls (Senior-Mids). Even Cleopatra appeared to entertain the spectators. Then came the Senior-Mid parade with clever skits representing threats to the Seniors. These were followed by hordes of Senior-Mids carrying colored balloons and singing.

The rest of the day was spent in playing tournament games in all the sports. Carried over from the fall and winter sports were the hockey score, 3-2; the basketball score, 11-9; and the bowling score, 521-479; all in favor of the Senior-Mids. The events of the morning were the baseball game with the Senior-Mids winning 35-13 and the archery with the Seniors winning 891-736.

The events of the afternoon were the tennis matches which the Senior-Mids won with Grace Benedict beating Anna May Moul; Aubyn Townsend and Dottie Bell beating Mary Griswold and Barbara Moore; Betty Rye and Susan Norris defeating Lois Whiteman and Bets Doty; and the water polo game which the Seniors won 36-8.

That night at dinner Mr. Benedict announced the final scores for the year and pronounced the Senior-Middles the victors:

Senior-Senior-Middle Banquet

Come: Board the Hispaniola to Treasure Island. . . . We will go where there will be daring pirates and money and jewels galore.

This, my hearties, was the bold invitation issued by the Senior-Mids to the Seniors for their annual banquet. Shades of Bill Bones, Jim Hawkins, John Silver took charge in the form of the speakers. Chests of gold were placed advantageously under palm trees, and pieces of gold were strewn about on the tables. Grace Benedict, the toastmistress, took all the girls on their trip to Treasure Island and saw to it that it will be an unforgettable part of the Senior girls' memories.

May Day

At some time in her life it is usually a girl's ambition to become a queen—in college the girl wants to be May Queen. Next best is being College Maid or Prep Maid. The honor of being considered regal and of getting to ride in the carriage in courtly style is one of the greatest opportunities of the year. All the Seniors dressed in soft floating dresses of all colors form the court before which the girls perform in various special dances. All the clubs have Maypoles decorated with their own colors. A large Maypole dance performed by experts concludes the festivities on the green of Ward-Belmont.

Junior-Middle Class

The Junior-Middle Class meetings have been held every designated Thursday in the high school library, the president presiding.

The Junior-Middle Class Recognition Day was held in chapel. Nelle Edwards, Catherine Crossan, Llewellyna Granbery, and Judith Davis were the speakers. Mr. Benedict recognized the class. In March a chapel service was conducted by the class with Helen Friedlander the chosen speaker.

The most outstanding social events of the year have been the party given by the Juniors, the tea dance in Recreation Hall in May given by the administration, and the extensive plans for graduation.

The class colors are blue and white, and the class song:

*Today we Junior-Middles come before you
Proudly, with our colors white and blue,
Our loyalty we pledge to you forever,
To Ward-Belmont we'll be true.*

Junior-Middle Poem

EMBARKMENT

*The water lay like crinkled, black moiree,
That glistens softly in a silver light,
So still and silent that soft-stealing night
With scarce a sound or motion let betray
Its shadow-footed slipping far away.
So tranquil lay the channel that well might
A ship glide easily toward the distant bay
With swift ebb tide and full curved sail upright.
Thus like that peaceful core has been the span
Of years we've passed through school with little thought
Or care. Our courses have been laid to plan.
Before, we have not questioned—have not sought.
And now, uncharted seas are beck'ning—can
We venture forth unaided and untought?*

Her College Graduation

At last this young lady has attained her desire—to graduate with honors. She will always remember that wonderful moment when she received her diploma—wonderful, yet somehow sad.

She will think with pride of the morning sun slanting down on her impressive black cap and gown. The Senior song lingers in her ears. And the motto: "We will transmit this school not less—but greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

The Senior Class

Senior Week was the first thing that claimed the attention of the class after the new girls had been settled by their older sisters. On Sunday was the coffee; on Monday, the Recognition of the Seniors; on Tuesday, the banquet; on Wednesday, Senior chapel; on Thursday, the tea; on Friday, Class Recognition Day; on Saturday, the dance.

Senior-Senior-Middle Day was the biggest athletic event of the season. The Senior team members were known by their yellow shorts and white shirts. The lusty cheerers were characterized by their white raincoats and sailor hats.

On May Day, the parade of the Seniors in their soft pastel shades in rainbow arrangement made the day especially lovely.

At the end of the year came Step-Singing to sadden the girls as they realized how soon the parting would be.

FISHOLOGY

Fish is health-food,
Pure and simple—
Feeds the mind,
Brings out your dimple;

Should you angle after School is out—
There's good fish yet
As e'er caught out.

Some of these are Seashore fresh,
So fish for them
With larger mesh.
