VOLUME XXXIII

THE GARDEN GATE SWINGS WIDE

MILESTONES, our annual of 1948. Turn its pages slowly, reliving each happy hour of the past year, as you might stroll in a nostalgic dream of memories. Pause beside the sundial which marks unforgettable minutes, each precious in its way; linger near the reflector where visions of the school year are caught in images of mirrored silver; rest awhile in the cool shade of the garden, while reminders of your club sisters crowd your memory. Hear in the song of the birds echoes of harp and solo, in the splash of the fountain the play of Naiades. Pick a bouquet of spring flowers from the edge of the stone walk—each step a symbol of our year's growth, each flower a memory of a friend.

Come, take my hand, open the garden gate, stroll its paths, relive every dream and its fulfillment. Ward-Belmont's own Garden of Memories lies peaceful and beautiful waiting the steps of those who have lived and loved its inspiration.

Come, the garden gate swings wide . . .

MISS MARTHA ORDWAY

DEDICATION

Black and white printed words . . . uniform, unassuming words . . . yet in their entirety they cradle a personality so genuine, so outstanding, so completely essential to the continuance of the high standards of Ward-Belmont that it is only right the 1948 MILESTONES be dedicated to her.

Small kindnesses, small courtesies, small considerations are habitually practiced in her daily life, giving her greater charm than display of great talents and accomplishments could ever produce. This, then, is her creed . . . for, as she sits quietly behind her spacious desk, her wise blue eyes intent on your face, you feel her deeply sincere interest in you, your life, your interests, and your misfortunes. You know that she is for you . . . that she is your friend.

Still the capacious print extends hungrily over the smooth white remainder of this page. It reads how her friendship and unfailing loyalty extend outside her comfortable office. High cheekbones, lustrous skin, springy, waving hair, set off by a royal blue dress, she stands amid a group of excited young belles at a social affair. Or habitually removing and replacing her glasses, she announces her irrevocable decisions in Tuesday chapels, with her "please mam" and remarkable sense of humor placing her even higher in the estimation of the students. But whether joyfully discussing the latest New York plays, literature, and music, or asserting her intelligent, reasonable authority over the students, you are still aware of her capability, self-reliance, and keen interest in your welfare.

She is an inseparable part of Ward-Belmont.

The pattern of printed words pause now . . . wait . . . then gives vent to one final thought as the bottom of this dedication page is reached. It suddenly whispers that a melodious, softly Southern voice can worthily say:

I live for those who love me,
For those who know me true,
For the heaven that bends above me,
And the good that I can do;
For the wrongs that need resistance,
For the cause that lacks assistance,
For the future in the distance,
And the good that I can do.

It is the voice of
MISS MARTHA ORDWAY

ADMINISTRATION

DR. ROBERT C. PROVINE

President

With unequaled ability, Dr. Robert C. Provine has held his office of presidency for three years, during which he has amazed each student with his versatility, his keen wit, and his generosity. During those years Dr. Provine has sought continually for improvement, and by setting such a high example himself, has demanded from each student her best.

The chapel talks, informal chats across his neat desk, watching him cheer for the hockey teams, meeting him on campus, and visiting in his home for a popcorn party are but a few of the associations that will long be remembered by every Ward-Belmont girl.

Dr. Provine is never too busy to give advice on academic work as well as social activity, and his understanding and wisdom have guided each student to help her become a well-rounded individual.

Advisor of academic problems and a man of much insight and understanding, Dean VanAntwerp has filled his office to the fullest. Not only does he give his time to helping each student with her curriculum, but he sponsors the Phi Theta Kappa honorary scholastic organization.

Dean VanAntwerp's capability and willingness in urging scholastic achievement have not gone unnoticed. His kindness and fairness displayed in solving all the problems with which he is confronted have been an inspiration to every student who has gone to him for advice.

These characteristics merge together to make Dean VanAntwerp's first year at Ward-Belmont successful in every respect.

MR. CHILES VANANTWERP

Dean of College

MISS MARTHA ORDWAY

Dean of Women

With charm and grace, Dean Martha Ordway handles each student's personal problems, and during her two years in this position has been loved and admired by everyone on the campus. Her eagerness to satisfy the many desires brought before her by Ward-Belmont girls has won the appreciation of all.

Not only does Miss Ordway participate in all campus social activities but she takes an active part in numerous organizations in Nashville. A Southern lady with a sparkling personality, wisdom, and depth of character is our dean of women, Miss Martha Ordway.

During Mrs. Souby's three years as Principal of the Preparatory School she has sought and obtained continual improvement in the program of activities. Guiding and advising each high-school girl has rewarded her with their sincere gratitude. Mrs. Souby has seen that each preparatory student does the work of which she is capable in the preparation for a college education.

Wisely and graciously she has inspired her girls to higher goals, and long after her students have left Ward-Belmont, she will not be forgotten.

MRS. SUSAN S. SOUBY

Principal of the Preparatory School

MR. ALAN IRWIN

Dean of the Conservatory of Music

Any student who has had the privilege of working under the keen supervision of Dean Irwin will have gained much in knowing him and learning from him. Always conscious of the need for music appreciation, Dean Alan Irwin strives to instill this appreciation in each Ward-Belmont girl.

Capable, genial Mr. Nelson successfully manages the intricate financial affairs of the school. A friend to students and faculty alike, Mr. Nelson also takes part in various campus activities, attending tournament games, club parties, and other campus gatherings. His readiness to aid in all problems, and to seek the improvement of our college has marked him a man of distinction.

MR. VERNON M. NELSON

Business Manager

MR. JOHN A. BITZER

Registrar

For three years Mr. John A. Bitzer has been Ward-Belmont's efficient and friendly registrar. He is our "public relations officer" whose duties are varied and numerous. Well known on campus, Mr. Bitzer's personal charm and sense of humor have helped him make a great success of his office, which requires his being ready at any time to introduce Ward-Belmont to new students and their parents, and to see that campus news reaches the parents of the girls on the campus.

CLASSES

SENIOR CLASS

"The love we have now for our dear Senior Class" . . . love for the friends, for the girls who have been the friends of their hearts and souls, girls with whom they had laughed, worked, sung, chatted throughout those memorable days—

. . . In their classrooms in the basement with the biology equipment and the chemistry test tubes, on the third floor with the charcoal and colored paints, on the first and second floors in the lecture rooms and dramatic studio.

. . . In the smoker where those last-minute bridge games were closed before dashing to classes, where the piano was played incessantly to the tunes of popular campus songs, where the local news was told, where a center of the campus was established.

. . . In the dorms with their personalized rooms contained in memories of those nights of the fire drills, the 10 o'clock snacks in others' rooms, the Tea Hole jaunts, the knock on the door announcing "Time to get up," those hall meetings, and ironing-board blues.

. . . In Club Village listening and dancing to the vic, decorating for the dances, all-club sing, cooking meals and leaving the dishes piled in the sink for the maid to do, writing letters and laughing during those Wednesday night meetings.

. . . In the Tea Hole, in Middle March, at the dining room tables, in the swings on the campus—here were found the friends, laughing, chatting, working; the ones who symbolized the life on campus—the Seniors of Ward-Belmont.

MIGHTY MIDS

Many new freshmen—the Senior Mids. They made new acquaintances and formed enduring friendships through the various projects of the class. Class spirit prevailed from September to June and this spirit took the class far in all their undertakings.

In the fall Senior-Senior Mid Day, this class jumped ahead and displayed admirable organization and sportsmanship when the exciting hockey game ended in a tie.

Gay Nineties was the theme of the banquet given by the Mids for the Seniors. "Sandy" and "Clem" showed bountiful talent, as did Charlene Turner, Swede Clark, and Ann Burnley. There were cleverly designed tandems and rides, plus gardenia corsages for each and every Senior.

Honoring the Seniors with a coffee given in Acklen Hall just before Christmas holidays, the Mids proved that not only would they be mighty on the hockey field, but that they could also be mighty gracious at social functions.

To disclose their aim and purpose the Mids presented a chapel program in February at which time Mary Thompson spoke.

Yes, there was a "Senior in their future" but the Mids responded readily to the Seniors' challenge with an equally "punchy" program, including a psycho ward, depicting worried and fretful seniors before the big Spring Senior-Senior Mid Day.

Millions of tulips decorated the Corinthian Room for the class dance in February. The decorations were enough to make Dutchmen stand in awe, not to mention the melodious music, the delicious refreshments, and the fun-making.

In the leadership category stood Polly Fessey as sponsor and "Lefty" Gullett as president. They were highly instrumental in leading the class to its peak of success.

Daunted by nothing the Mids were proud of their splendid record for the year and . . .

So left the name, Mighty Mids resounding through the halls and over the campus. Theirs was a name well chosen.

SENIOR PREPS

Brown and yellow were tinting the autumn leaves as the Senior-Prep Class of 1948 pledged their loyalty to W-B and announced their heart-felt aims in the Senior Recognition Day Chapel.

The red glow lighted the youthful faces of the class members as they sat around the fire at Percy Warner Park singing their class songs, enjoying their annual picnic.

The ground was white with snow on Junior-Senior Prep Day when the Seniors exhibited skill, sportsmanship and fairplay in bowling and basketball.

The leaves and soft carpet of grass were green on May Day when the Seniors, in gowns of filmy white—proudly rounded the curved driveway holding the traditional blue cane tied with a white ribbon.

Pastels held the color spotlight at the Senior Prom. Every belle looked her very loveliest in accordance with the traditional pulchritude of the South.

The members of this '48 class all too soon realized that just on the rim of this whirlpool of events was graduation and the end of comradeship and fun together.

Soon each graduate, carrying in her arms the red roses of tradition, walked down the chapel aisle and up to the stage where she received her hard-earned certificate of graduation.

Blue and White—the colors of the class that added to the roster a colorful, spirited year of events—the Senior Prep Class of 1948.

PREPARATORY UNDERCLASSMEN

Early in their lives these girls, Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors at Ward-Belmont, learn what it means to be able to attend W-B and become a part of that large group of girls who have, through the years, sung with a glow of pride in their young eyes, "The Bells of Ward-Belmont, oh hear, they are calling" . . . Perhaps they come to know the story of Acklen Hall, the history of Ward Seminary, and Belmont College, the smell of the magnolias and jasmine, the beauty of the campus on a Spring morning, or the cries of cheering classes from the hockey field more thoroughly than do some of us who can remain here only two or three years. These Preparatory Underclassmen begin their secondary education at Ward-Belmont, graduate, and enter the college department . . . giving much of their youthful spirit of living as they gain a deeper understanding from their older guide . . . Ward-Belmont. Their social clubs, their athletic teams, their representatives on the governing councils, honor clubs, or music sororities, have never in any respect been inferior to the college work. In fact, one could easily say that the underclassmen of Ward-Belmont constitute the foundation upon which the school is placed.

CHOIR

Among our most pleasant memories of Ward-Belmont were the beautiful programs presented by our talented choir.

Each Wednesday morning the vested choir took its place in the weekly devotional. These voices, harmoniously blended, were an impressive part of the program.

Under the leadership of Mr. Sydney Dalton, the group presented an inspiring Christmas program. This year, in addition to a spring concert at Ward-Belmont, the choir made a tour through parts of Tennessee and were received with enthusiasm.

The unfailing loyalty of this organization and the direction of Mr. Dalton made this one of the most worthy organizations on campus.

CAPTIVATORS

Such a profusion of "sh's" and "ah's" to be heard in chapel could stem only from the inviting strains of "I'm in the Mood for Love" which introduced the Captivators!

The orchestra was a unique organization . . . and a busy one. They played for the annual Halloween banquet, Y.W.C.A. gymnasium parties, chapel program. They played, the students listened . . . dreamy eyed or tapping their feet to the strains of "Johnson Rag." Fran Doolin and her "felines" had a right to be proud of their orchestra this year.

OCTET

Music to Ward-Belmont is as traditional as are the white columns of Acklen Hall. This music reaches its peak when the eight girls of the college octet combine soprano and alto voices to sing for a chapel program, lead the grace in the dining room, enhance the holiday season with Christmas carols, or provide music for numerous social organizations in Nashville. Mrs. John Van Sickle has, for a number of years, directed this group—always demanded, always excellent, always welcomed.

SOUTHERN BELLES

An all-girl ensemble, the Southern Belles, was another Ward-Belmont organization whose purpose was to bring music into the everyday lives of all students. Under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Rose, the small group successfully formed, for the second consecutive year, a link between academic and conservatory interest on campus. Especially to be remembered is the music they provided for the Washington Birthday celebration.

HIGH SCHOOL GLEE CLUB

To the rich store of music at Ward-Belmont, the High School Glee Club contributed a great share. They combined their voices with the college choir to make the Christmas program successful, and were loudly applauded by the student body in several chapel programs. All proudly heard the group when they sang on the local radio station. Mrs. John Van Sickle deserves congratulations for the fine work she has done with the glee club.

THE CHAMBER MUSIC SOCIETY

The Chamber Music Society is composed not only of advanced music students from Ward-Belmont, but of many talented Nashville artists. This year the organization again presented its traditional concert in North Front Auditorium. Under the guidance of Mr. Kenneth Rose, Director of Ward-Belmont's Department of Violin, the Chamber Music Society is one of Ward-Belmont's most important contributions to the cultural life of the college and of Nashville.

MUSIC CLUB

Sponsoring many Monday Chapel concerts, entertaining visiting artists, and organizing the Inter-Club Sing, the Music Club, in its second year of existence, has become a permanent institution on the campus. This year the artists presented were Joseph Knitzer, Ernst Wolfe, and Katherine Bacon. Producing concerts of noteworthy merit under Dean Irwin's helpful guidance and advice, they presented commendable entertainment and furthered musical interests to the students.

C. G. O.

The College Governing Organization, better known as the C. G. O., functioned with great success and efficiency. Under the leadership of peppy Peggy Blowers, the C. G. O. not only governed the school's honor system, but did much to aid in the development of social activities. For instance, campus parties were given, a gym dance was held, a dinner for new and old hall officers took place in the Tea Room, new privileges were granted, and the Tea Room, much to the delight of the W-B girls, continued to be opened nightly. Of course, it was through the C. G. O. that the orientation program was administered.

Working hand in hand with the C. G. O. was the presidents' cabinet. The purpose of this organization was to place emphasis on the dignity and responsibility of leadership, to discuss common problems, and to correlate the contributions of the various organizations to the life of the school community.

PREPARATORY BOARDING COUNCIL

The Preparatory Boarding Council is another of the organizations symbolizing the democratic government of Ward-Belmont. Martha Nel Blackburn acted as president the first semester and Sara Jane Mathes assumed leadership the second semester to perform efficiently their duties as representatives of the high school students and to obtain a satisfactory code of laws.

PREPARATORY DAY COUNCIL

To promote school spirit and respect for the rules and regulations are the duties of the Day Student Council. Efficient in all its work, the Student Council strives to enforce the rules set for the Day Students, and to correct, whenever necessary, those who disobey them. The Council members are selected according to citizenship records, and the promotion of good citizenship is their ultimate goal.

COLLEGE DAY COUNCIL

Forming a link between the Nashville girls and the boarding students of the college, the College Day Council came into being in November, 1947. This council of five girls served to keep the day students posted on all social and academic activities and in this manner drew the W-B student body into closer contact with each other.

PHI THETA KAPPA

Perhaps the most exciting assemblies of the year are those two which are set aside for the surprise tapping of the new Phi Theta Kappa members. This organization is one of scholastic honor on the Ward-Belmont campus, including as its members those students who are in the upper ten percent of the college classes. The Delta Xi chapter at Ward-Belmont is a national organization open to the honorary scholastic students of junior colleges throughout the nation. As their common goal, they strive to elect members not only for scholarship but also for qualities of fellowship and character.

Phi Theta Kappa's project on this campus was the compilation of the handy "Who's Where" booklet — a directory of all the students, faculty and staff at Ward-Belmont.

YOU CAN'T TOP OUR "Y"

We at Ward-Belmont are grateful to be a small part of the National Y.W.C.A. "Doing for others" seems to be their key word the world over as well as at our school. For our enjoyment they sponsor Saturday night campus parties, gym dances with do-nuts and cokes, the annual King and Queen of Hearts event, and evening vesper services.

The small children at the Nashville Crippled Children's Home, the boys and girls from the Orphans' Home, the ladies of the Old Ladies' Home, and a tiny war refugee express their gratitude for the kindness and charity given them by the "Y," with heart-warming smiles and a simple "Thank You."

The "Y" has given us the opportunity to share our fun and gaity with others; may their high ideals long continue.

Challie Thornton and Betty Smith gave their loyal service to a full-time leadership job, and each received as their reward a vote of thanks for their "labor of love" from every W-B girl.

PREPARATORY Y.W.C.A.

Working side by side with the College "Y" was the new preparatory organization, the Prep Y.W.C.A. They too felt the need of some means by which they could bring pleasure to others, and by their work this year they proved themselves to be a capable group of girls. Combining pleasure with work, the "Y" collected for the W.S.S.F. drive, sponsored parties and a dance, sent relief boxes overseas, were responsible for the Prince and Princess of Hearts, and visited the Old Ladies' Home. Other memories which will be cherished were the quiet moments spent in the Heron sitting room for Sunday night vespers. Each girl gained as well as gave as she saw the results of her work, for the greatest happiness one can have is in the giving of pleasure to others.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

This year the Athletic Association strove to uphold and advance the qualities of fair play, good sportsmanship, and comradeship around which the athletes at W-B have always revolved. Sponsoring various activities and promoting all athletics on the campus, the A.A. added its bit to the development of a well-rounded campus life. Competition in sports combined with an underlying spirit of friendliness and cooperation fostered the love of fair play while the bond of comradeship was strengthened by the gala Interhall Party, one of the high-lights of the year, and topped off by a memorable A.A. banquet.

The officers are composed of seven board members and nine sport managers, chosen for their leadership in sports and athletic ability. Active members of the association are those who make either one varsity or obtain three club letters.

The Penstaff Club, a preparatory organization, was designed to stimulate interest in creative writing. From themes, poems, and short stories, submitted at each semester the new members were chosen. At these meetings the contributions of each girl were discussed and criticized. But work did not constitute the entire activities of the organization. A dinner, a tea for new members, and a Spring picnic provided relaxation and fun for the "to be" writers.

"Hablar espanol" and to obtain knowledge of the national customs and people . . . on that basis the Spanish Club was founded, and on that basis the club has realized an exceptionally outstanding year.

Throughout the club meetings and its varied activities, such as the "breaking of the pinata" at the Christmas party, the informative talks made by outside speakers, and the gay Spanish Fiesta, the members, in their entirety strove for one aim . . . that the students could really enjoy the Spanish language and could understand the native ways of Spanish-peaking countries.

Besides accomplishing their goal of more fluency in the French language, the club members have had memorably entertaining meetings. Mary McKinley and Sally Phillips gave a Christmas skit, while others told fortunes in French. Martha Ann Rogers lifted her lovely voice in plaintive Christmas carols, and outside speakers promoted interesting sidelights on France and its people. As the school year drew to termination, these prep students found themselves possessing an intangible, but lasting appreciation for the French language and people.

TEL QU'ON LE PARLE

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

The large group of girls listened intently to the fluent French of JeAnne Ingersol as she called the regular Thursday-a-month meeting together. This began a typical meeting of Le Cercle Francais!

This club, open to all students pursuing the study of French, was considered in the eyes of all to exist as a worthwhile and essential organization at Ward-Belmont. Whether it was France as discussed by a visitor; a presentation of a French play; or a project of aid to desolate French people, it mattered not, for the members entered whole-heartedly into the activity making possible a successful organization!

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club was well known on the Ward-Belmont campus because of its various functions. For, besides holding regular meetings at which were given demonstrations and lectures of equal importance and interest, this club sponsored style shows which were open to all, organized displays showing their handiwork, and held a picnic for all of its members. The Home Economics Club not only taught the girls useful knowledge which can be used in later life, but also provided a series of interesting events to the school.

SPEECH CLUB

Under the leadership of President Betty Hall Shepherd and the sponsor, Miss Catherine Winnia, the Speech Club, made up from members of the speech department could be seen once a month in their studio where their meetings were regularly held. This club was responsible for various functions which the school has had yearly—and traditionally, such as the Christmas play, the Easter play, and the production of one of Shakespeare's works at the close of school. The Speech Club was also responsible for an entertaining chapel program in which many speech majors participated.

ART CLUB

The Art Club, a combination of preparatory and college students, has been responsible for adding to the rich store of opportunities here at W-B. Throughout the year they have sponsored a number of art exhibitions by well known artists as well as works from our own staff; attended lectures given by visiting artists; reviewed art work in the numerous museums in the city; and opened their discussion groups on principles involved in painting to all students who wish to attend. Forming a small part of the National Federation of Art Groups, the club has proved itself a worthy representative of W-B.

MILESTONES

The Publications Office assumes an executive, companionable air for its night of assembling write-ups, pictures and typists . . . the night of hairtearing, laughter, perhaps a few tears as it grew closer to June. It is Thursday night . . . paraphrased MILESTONES night by the staff cohorts. "I declare that they'll hand me a flash bulb instead of a diploma when I graduate," wailed the magnetic, lovely editor of this gigantic undertaking, as she hopelessly waved in her hand a discarded bulb.

A discarded bulb . . . its short duration of life at a close . . . but through whose eyes the students will recall one more scene of a school year whose memory will remain unclouded, undiscarded. Many bulbs, with many eyes lived, flashed momentarily brilliant, then died, in the compilation of the MILESTONES. As we scan each page, reliving for that intangible moment, an activity, a chocked feeling, a peal of laughter, filled with the scenes they have recorded, we know that here is the material, tangible evidence of the love we possess for Ward-Belmont.

Into this white rose entwined annual, as into Ward-Belmont, has gone the work and loving spirit of girls, striving for perfection, and, with the aid of silly little flash bulbs, who have presented you "a record of the best and happiest moments of the happiest and best minds."

CHIMES

On Monday nights the Publications Office was strictly reserved for Ward-Belmont's literary set—the staff of Chimes magazine. Here met the girls from all over the campus ready to give their comments on contributions turned in to the magazine, and to set the trend of thought and creative ideas on the Ward-Belmont campus. Together the staff culled and re-culled the selections between spurts of the latest campus news, between puffs of smoke, and howls of laughter. The art staff also read the contributions figuring not only their literary style but also on the selections' artistic qualities. To edit, with unity and cooperation, three issues of Chimes the many factions join together—the critics, the artists, their sponsor, Mrs. Ruth Taylor, and their editor-in-chief, Jane Ellen Tye.

Along with her wit, sense of joviality, and entertaining tidbits of information, "Jet" also possessed a superb ability to create prose and poetry, with no apparent qualms of difficulty, for she has none—a gal of versatility.

HYPHEN

"Now you all get in your assignments before the deadline!" comes the futile plea from the editor-and-chief drudge of the Hyphen, Joyce Armitage. "Jerce," as she is called by staff and school alike, says the same thing every Tuesday; and ten minutes 'til eleven, the official deadline, into the buzzing Publications Office comes a procession of belated staff members with their poems, articles, editorials, features, and news-stories for the next edition of Ward-Belmont's weekly newspaper.

The Hyphen is one of the mainstays of W-B; its presence in our mailboxes every Saturday morning is as much a part of campus life as the big bell which calls us to meals and classes. Eagerly read by everyone, the Hyphen gives a personal and complete view of the events of the past week and of the happenings in the lives of the students and faculty. Its large and enthusiastic staff is varied in talent and taste, and the result is a good and interesting paper. The Hyphen also is a source of information about our doings around W-B for the parents, who receive a copy of our chronical every week.

Almost anyone who has been around the Publications Office on "Hyphen night," Tuesday, will tell you that it's one of the most fascinating places on campus. Girls in jeans typing, "Jerce" lounging in her "Editor's Chair" or bending over that "dummy," which will not turn out right, measuring inches and tearing out her dark hair over the disappearance of articles, and people running in and out amid queries of "Did you get that interview?" give the Hyphen's home an air of mystery and industry.

HOCKEY

Packed with thrills and the spirit of clean competition, the hockey season came to a close this year after one of the finest all-club turnouts ever held at W-B. Hope was high as the members of the clubs filed out to the field, their voices raised high in cheers and yells for their team. Excellent instruction from the physical education teachers, as well as early morning practices and panting jaunts around the circle at night, resulted in fast moving teamwork and skilled stickwork on the part of the players. X. L., Tri-K, Agora and Osiron dribbled, drove, flicked and scooped their way to the top, and in the final game, X. L. beat Tri-K, thus winning the well deserved cup.

Tennis classes saw novices learning the fundamentals of the game under the guidance of competent instructors. By the spring tournaments many newcomers were providing competition for the veteran "racket-wielders."

Bowling was, again this year, as exciting and popular as it has been in preceding years on the Ward-Belmont campus. During the winter months, the clubs practiced weekly thereby increasing their bowling averages, and getting in shape for the final competitions. At the final round, T. C. won with a score of 2,009 points. Second place was taken by Agora, and third by F. F.

These club teams were composed of four chosen members who did fine jobs of backing up their clubs. Among those who were star players this year were, Gerry Pauley, Janie Basham, and Nettie Jean Blake. They were seen practicing, not only during their gym classes, but also during their free time, as were many other students of W-B.

BASKETBALL

"Let's gooooo . . . big team!" The thunderous cry tore across the gym from the vigorous blue-jeaned, dangling-feeted spectators. And sweeping on beneath the jammed balcony ran an industrious trio of forwards to make another basket, another two points for their club. Truly basketball season was in full swing at Ward-Belmont!

The winter season's companionship with the hard, elusive round ball proved an unusually exciting one this year as Penta Tau Club swept to victory in the tournament for the second consecutive time! Those rose and gray girls were comparable to greased lightning . . . ask any of their dazed, although worthy, competitors. The Anti-Pans would tell you . . . they played the highly skilled, fast moving play-off game for the championship with them. The memory, not only of that game with its thrills and closeness, but of the stamina, clean play, and breathless suspense of the entire season will serve to intensify the interest and anticipation toward next year's basketball tournament!

SWIMMING

Swimmers ready, to your mark, go! And the swimming teams sped across the pool, in relay races, plunges, various races and in an array of swimming strokes. At the conclusion of the meet when the various events were added together, and the final scores computed, Tri-K came out on top and won the cup with Angkor and Agora giving close competition.

Seen splashing in the water were such fine swimmers as Mary Lu Nelson, Janet Young, and Barbara Nelson who were seen so often in the pool. Winning the individual honor was Barbara Nelson with Mary Lu Nelson and Catherine Manier second and third.

RIDING

"The most dashing, spirited, handsomest horse in the stable? "Why, 'Capers,' of course!" This may be overheard in any conversation of the girls who take horseback-riding at Ward-Belmont, for the personalities, ailments, and quirks of each and every horse in the stable are known to them far in preference to that long list of French verbs!

Amidst a looooooong list of equestrine activities, first was found the annual Fall Riding Show presented by members of the Turf and Tanbark Riding Club. Dr. R. C. Provine presented the cup to Anti-Pandora Club. Jan Denham was honored as high-point rider. At the Spring show, Penta Tau won the cup, Mary Jo Harrod was named champion rider, and Kacky Smith reserve champion.

ARCHERY

Robin Hoods, dressed in blue and white, let the bow strings snap skillfully from their fingers and arrows found their way to the red center of the huge straw-stuffed targets.

Disappointment clouded each and every face at the beginning of instruction when the arrows fell at random—usually far from the bull's-eye. However, smiles shone from each trained eye in only a few weeks. Diligent practice had reaped rewards—skill!

A constant stream of shiny, metal-tipped arrows flew toward the red center. Sunlight caught and magnified the brilliant splash of color in the feathers. Color, skill—W-B had produced expert archers again.

Just Like Sheep

TRACK

Muscles tense, ears alert, minds full of hope, and energy to be released—that was a preview of the trackster just before the whistle blew to designate the start of a hundred-yard dash!

Track meant hours of strenuous workouts for energetic athletes because discus throwing, sprinting, shot putting, and hurdling required coordination of muscle, nerve, brain, and strong, youthful bodies.

The track participants showed eagerness to learn, to be graceful, to be better in the various fields of track. That eagerness produced the desirable results in an eventful year of track.

GOLF

A shout cuts the air—"Fore"—and a white golf ball finds its way to the proper spot on the green. Clad in traditional blue shorts and immaculate white shirts, the putters strode over the soft, thick verdure of the campus' golf course. Under competent instructors the beginners learned to handle the golf clubs, to gauge shots and to perfect aim to the ultimate degree of precision. Theirs was a knowledge that enabled them to capably parley with anyone on golf greens anywhere.

Fisher Tees Off

BASEBALL

"Make a run for it!! G'wan, try for a homer. One run will win the game." Dry dust covered each baseball enthusiast, the teamsters played intently and ruined many a chic hair-do sliding to the plate for a run.

There were no coke bottles thrown at the umpires, no "kill-the-umpire" series, but there was a season of sure-hitters, cooperation and enthusiasm. Baseball on Ward-Belmont campus ushered in a new era for bound-in energy and spring day entertainment!

And She's Safe

ON YOUR TOES

The piano began again. Again the neat rows of figures clad in black leatogues went through the routine, each striving for the essence of perfection so necessary in effective dancing. The talented, diminutive Mrs. Gwen Luker smiled as she watched her students' progress. The slim bodies would soon be whirling, bending, cavorting in another dancing demonstration.

The Ward-Belmont student body proved thoroughgoing enthusiasts! From the routine techniques, square dancing, intricately beautiful Faust Ballet given on George Washington's birthday, to the entertaining Spring Dance Recital, the dance classes have ably showed their qualities of perfection and beauty. Learning everything from the clacking tap dance to the detailed folk dance, the students proved themselves adept in mastering and interpreting the finer points of the dance!

CLUBS

From Fag Day with the low, mournful chant, "We are Agora slaves, we are Agora slaves . . ." to the day of graduation the Agora Club was right in there, ready to take on all comers in scholastics, athletics, and social activities. Led by charming Paula Rudolph coupled with the intense understanding of fun-loving Miss "Curly" Neal, this club shone in campus activities.

By the smooth stroking of Ruby Jo Dabney and Jane Whiddon, the Agoras received the tennis cup. Barbara Bull and Barbara Nelson starred on the hockey field, and tribute should be paid to "Sodie" Brewer, who enthusiastically entered each Agora activity.

Executive ability was evident by the many campus leaders who came from the Agora Club. Martha Nel Blackburn was president of the Preparatory Boarding Council; Laura Hambaugh, president of the Home Economics Club; and Anita Underhill, president of the German Club.

The club gave promise to many future musical stars among whom were Fran Doolin, leader of the Captivators and "Hop" Furr, a "whizz-bang" at the piano. Holders of the Phi Theta Kappa white candles were Laura Hambaugh, Jackie Collins, and Paula Rudolph.

Unforgettable to the Agora slaves was the week end spent at Dunbar Cave, the Thanksgiving dinner at the club house, and the Winter Wonderland dance that climaxed the Christmas activities. These events and many more go to fill a memorable year in the annals of the Agora Club.

A. K.

The A.K. Pirates did it again! They set sail in September and buccaneered right through the year to fame and glory in most every field of activity on campus.

Captain of the A.K. ship was Mary Lu Nelson and the competent co-captain was Miss Ruth Carroll, sponsor of the club.

The A.K.'s gave one of the successful dances of the year, the Harvest Moon Ball. Every student on campus enjoyed the campus party, presented annually under the name of "Holiday Inn."

Among the names in campus offices were "Kacky" Smith, secretary of C.G.O.; Sara Jane Mathes, president of Prep Student Council; Joella Blache, president of the Choir; and Hardwick Newton, president of the Senior Preparatory Class.

Pirating ahead to receive recognition on the athletic field was "Kacky," who rode a mighty fine horse in the show to put A.K. in second place for riding show honors. Mary Lu Nelson and Sara Jane Mathes exhibited excellent form on the hockey field.

Not to be outdone by the other nine clubs, A.K. proudly claims Nan Hagan and Mary Lou Schwankhaus as members of Phi Theta Kappa.

So as the sun fades away at the end of the day, the S.S. A.K. ship and crew looked back on their wonderful and joyous cruise with love in their hearts for every moment of it.

ANGKOR

For years, one of the most spirited prep clubs on campus, the Angkors have established an outstanding record of scholarship and all-around excellence, and this year was no exception. Angkor's president, Attollee Boynton, and their sponsor, Miss Georgia Hodgson, helped the Angkors continue their fine work which made their club such a popular one.

In all phases of student life those busy Angkors were represented. Dudley Brown was the day student treasurer of the Junior Class, Myrtle Ann Miers, the vice-president of the Sophomore Class, and Julia Edwards, the day student proctor.

The Angkors were noted for their scholarship, too. In fact, the president of the Beta Club, the high school honorary society, was none other than the Angkor's own Attollee Boynton. Also two of the officials of the Penstaff Club—Sallie McCanless and Katherine Manier, the president and secretary respectively, were members of Angkor. As for athletes, Dudley Brown, Julia Edwards, Barbara Berrien, and Lillian Cornelius, proved to be their hockey stars, and all members could be (at any time) found playing a hard game of tennis, scoring high points in a basketball game, or bowling with skill and assurance.

Never let it be said that this club was one sided, for in all fields of activities they participated, and in every heart they gained respect.

ANTI-PANDORA

Shouting "Hey, green and yellow" and waving fat, stuffed panda mascots, the Anti-Pans trouped merrily through an exceptionally fine club year! With "Imp" Hoyt, one half of a popular twin set, at the wheel and a reliable sponsor, Miss Maribel Benton standing by . . . . why, the year could not have been anything but exceptional!

Sincerity and laughter permeated the atmosphere . . . at the club house, on the wonderfully lazy week-ends, on the athletic fields . . . anywhere a group of Anti-Pans should happen to gather!

Skits and dances were not, however, foremost among the club members' activities! Ann Morgan officiated as the assistant secretary of the C.G.O.; Sue Hoyt was not only the art editor of Chimes but was the vice-president of Phi Theta Kappa with Beverly Smith, Nancy Lou Davis, "Imp" Hoyt, and Betty Bray kept her company. Ida Kate Dunkin proudly wore the "Hood and Gown" and still managed to serve as president of Pembroke, Joyce Armitage was the editor of the weekly newspaper, The Hyphen, and Jan Denham helped to win the Fall Riding Cup! The Riding Cup . . . this never fails to bring a smile to the good humored face of "Snappy" Englett, not only co-president of Turf and Tanbark and general sports manager but the oldest member.

Led by the twins, liked by just everyone on the campus, the Anti-Pandora Club has had a well-rounded, memorable year full of warmth, companionship, and sincere love of one another . . . "Yes, those Pandas know!"

ARISTON

Congratulations are in order for the Aristons and their president, Betty Gant! Under the able guidance of Mrs. Mann, their sponsor, they had a year full of success and fun.

During the hockey games in the fall, shouts of "Watch 'Stormy' Smith and Betty Gant; they're gone with the ball again!" rang clear. Martha Evers was the terror of the basketball courts. Barbara Bainbridge showed exceptional skill in bowling, and Jody Reed seemed to have a way with a baseball bat.

The Aristons are proud of having their name on the scholarship cup for three quarters and of Harriet Williams, Sue Otis, and Mary Margaret Payne who played a big part in keeping it there.

Also high on their list of leaders in campus activities are: Jane Capps, Ann Carr Young, and Valere Potter, three of the four juniors to be admitted to Penstaff this year; Nancy Denney, vice-president of the Day Student Council; Ellen White, vice-president of the Senior Class; and Jody Reed, vice-president of the Spanish Club.

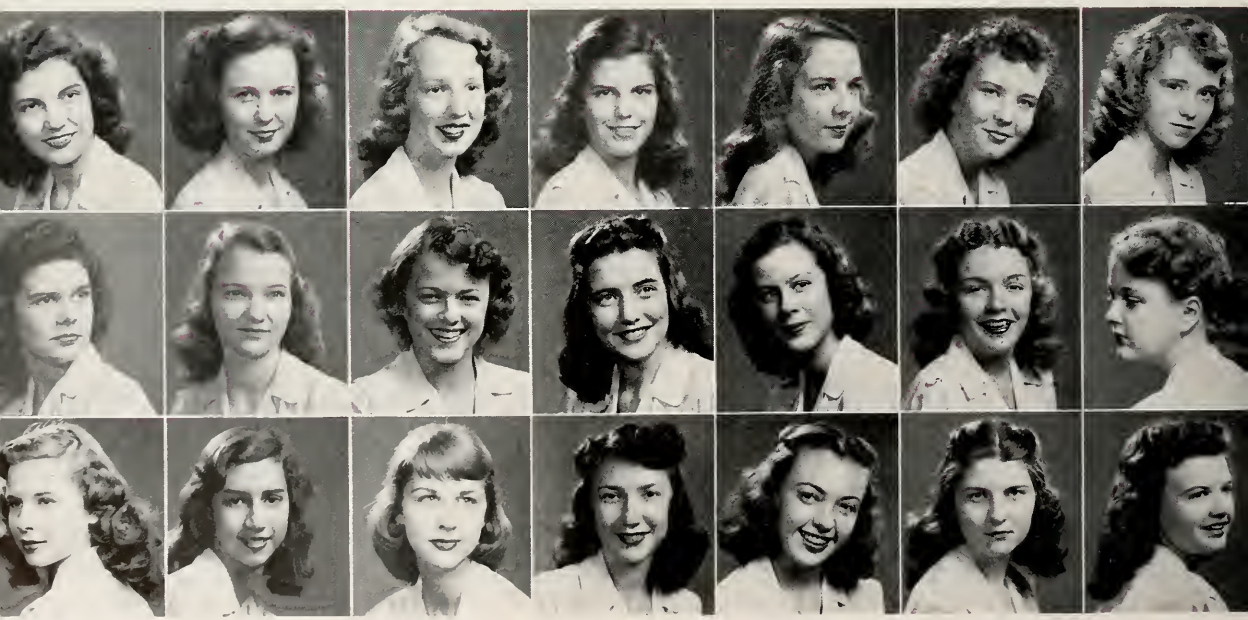

The Aristons had only one regret for this year. Ann Rich who was elected president last spring was unable to return to Ward-Belmont in the fall; but with Betty Gant wielding the gavel this day student club continued to hold high honors in scholastics and athletics.

DEL VERS

The "froggies" of Del Vers Club shall always be remembered by the catchy words—"Del Vers, how I love ya,' how I love ya', my dear ol' Del Vers"—set cleverly to the tune of Al Jolson's song.

The bullfrogs of this gathering of froggies were Marilyn Miller and Imogene Huffman, and assisted by their versatile Miss Barbara McCain.

The publication field snatched two of the club's members, Jean Bloom and Jean Hamilton, to be the associate editors of MILESTONES. Janet Young swam to fame to become prexy of the Naiades Club.

The "book frogs" are Pat Mathias, Betty Methvin, and Jean Hamilton, who are members of Hood and Gown.

On the hockey field Mary Jo LeMaster played herself right into first varsity and at the same time wended her way toward the "pub. office" on Tuesday nights to execute her duties as Feature Editor of the Hyphen. "Babe" Huffman excelled in hockey to become a member of the second varsity. Emily Washington put just the right "english" on a bowling ball to win much praise in the alleys, and Ann Boyd excelled on the baseball diamond.

Remember the outstanding Christmas decorations; the hilarious circus party for Anti-Pan; and who could ever forget Patsy Elkourie and Jo Dooly, coupling on the piano and voice for A-1 entertainment. "Uncroaking" spirit and willingness to work—that is Del Vers in a toadstool.

ECCOWASIN

The Eccowasin Club, again this year, held a position of notable rank on the Ward-Belmont campus. Its members had their fingers in every corner of the school, and especially under the leadership of their prexy, Joanne Geny, and their sponsor, Miss Saunders, were the girls led on to play an important part in the school's activities. This was demonstrated by the members found in Beta Club: Martha Ann Gambill, president; Dianne Douglass, Irene Potter, and Joanne Geny. The Penstaff Club claimed Eccowasin's Thaniel Armistead, vice-president; Judy Merrick, Joanne Geny, and Lucy Buford. And as class officers were Lucy Buford and Carney Overall, secretary and treasurer of the sophomore class respectively. Judy Merrick was the president of the day-student council.

The Eccowasins also played an active part in the sports, as can be personified in club members Carol Christopher, Carolyn Norman, and Evalina Casey.

Working with harmony and good feeling toward the boarding clubs, Eccowasin was a club which helped make life at W-B happy, helpful, wholesome.

F. F.

"Dynamite comes in small packages," 'tis said, and F. F.'s prexy, Tommye Cantrell, just "shows to go ya'" that it's true. Teensie Tommye dynamically led the "Red and Whiters" through a shining, successful year . . . not to mention the valuable asset, Miss Shirley Mueller, their sponsor.

Memories will remain deeply imprinted in the hearts and minds of all the F. F. girls—their formal dances, the week-end packed with fun and laughter at Dunbar, those "cosy's" at the club with hot chocolate, toasted marshmallows, fellowship with friends, and high entertainment!

Carolyn George, a talented musician, received many requests to sing and play her club sisters' favorite, "Frankie and Johnny," while Florence Waters and Mary Jo Bruesing cleverly pantomimed "Nobody Ever Makes a Pass at Us" and graciously bowed for many an encore.

Enthusiasm ran high for the F. F.'s as they watched their club sisters on the hockey field, on the basketball court and in the bowling alleys. Margaret Boylin and Sis Boone represented the club in Phi Theta Kappa.

OSIRON

With efficient Polly Fessey as sponsor and tall, blonde Sallie Carus as president, the Osirons really "went to town" this year. This popular club excelled in all fields, and their activities ranged from their angelic antics on Fag Day to their successful dance which was held at "Club 7."

Jackie Mebius and Jo Cook were two of the "brains" in the club; and Osiron's sparkplug, Anne Lindgren, held the important office of vice-president of the C.G.O., as well as that of vice-president of the Athletic Association. Connie Kaufman shone on the hockey field along with Betty Luke, Betty Bush and the rest of that well-organized team. Bev Crawford and Susan Campbell furnished a bit of fancy piano music at those entertaining dinners at the club on Wednesday nights, and the Osirons' hilarious week-end at Rawlings' was one of the big events of the year. Then came the party for their sister-club, T. C., which proved to be one of the best given on campus. The Osirons finished off with a bang a year filled with the fun and good sportsmanship which made their club outstanding.

PENTA TAU

"We're going to give our club the best that we have," sang the rose-and-grey-clad enthusiasts. That "best" enabled Penta Tau to enjoy an energetic, fruitful year . . . in sports, in scholastic averages, even in play! The leadership of talented, lovely Steve Ann Akin and charming Mrs. Camilla Newerf inspired the many outstanding girls to give the club the very best they had!

It was a year crowded with unforgettable happenings . . . that week-end at Horn Springs with all the food; the party for the F. F.'s; the Christmas project to aid a needy family; the scads of men at that balmy spring formal . . . but most of all the informal, singing, and jitterbugging Wednesday nights which will never be completely forgotten in the hearts of the girls!

It mustn't be "forgotten to remember" the P. T. girls who played active parts in everything on the campus, such as Susan Glick, president of Founders Hall; Sophie Gounos, social chairman of YWCA; Margie Elias, secretary of the Senior Class; and Laddie Harton, president of the Senior Class.

Peppy, redheaded, Peggy Blowers was the president of C.G.O. and also a proud wearer of the rose and grey in sports. That word is a magical one to all P. T.'s . . . they no sooner heard it than they would streak for the nearest field or gym, in the finals making Penta Tau the club to win! "Texas" Maggie Petrass, Sue Madison, Peggy Muessel, and Margie Barry were only a few of those outdoor girls!

T. C.

"Purple 'n white, fight, fight!" That's the hearty cheer of the members of the Twentieth Century Club, who mightily swung through a terrific year under their president, Juan Stroube, and sponsor, Miss Newhall.

Starting off the year with a bang was the big campus party based on "Dog Patch," with Janice Lebenstein and Joan Catlett pulling the "Helzapoppin'" advertisement in chapel.

In the social vein T. C. had a host of successful affairs. The Christmas formal dance, the tea dances, the entertainment for the boys at the State Home, the club dinners, and the week-ends were a few of the numerous events.

Mary Olive Walls, Jane Hughes, and Janet Pierce held up the athletic end for the club. T. C. came to be known for their remarkable spirit on the field. Whether ahead or behind, each teamster wore a smile of good cheer and had a heart full of clean sportsmanship.

"Bunny" Haller brought honor to her club when she was chosen as an associate editor of the Hyphen, as did Georgia Hall and Genevieve Wolfe when they were chosen for Phi Theta Kappa. Other T. C.'s on the publication staffs are Janice Lebenstein and Kay Bond.

More than anything the T. C.'s enjoy each other, fellowship, and good times together—just the stuff that loyalty to those colors, purple and white, is made of.

TRIAD

Hats off to the Triad Club! Well represented in many campus activities, this day student club had a reason to be proud of its versatile members.

Presiding over this active group was capable Edna Gene Little, aided by the sympathetic guidance of Mrs. Margaret Hall.

This club was brimming over with executive ability. Many outstanding campus leaders were on the Traid roll—Ann McQuiddy, president of the sophomore class; Molly Brown, council member; Margaret Marshall, president of the freshman class; and Beverly Nichols, president of the French Club.

Bringing glory to their club in the field of athletics were Edna Gene Little; Ann Gambill, who excelled in hockey; Dolores Thoman, manager of the basketball squad; Betty Langston, a star bowler; and "Oddie" Vantrease, secretary of the Athletic Association.

Representing the Triads in the Beta Club were Mary Ellen McMurray, Beverly Nichols, and Susan Miller. Writing for Penstaff was Sue Winters.

Talent, scholarship, and good sportsmanship were combined to make up the spirit of Triad . . . a spirit of which they may be proud.

TRI K

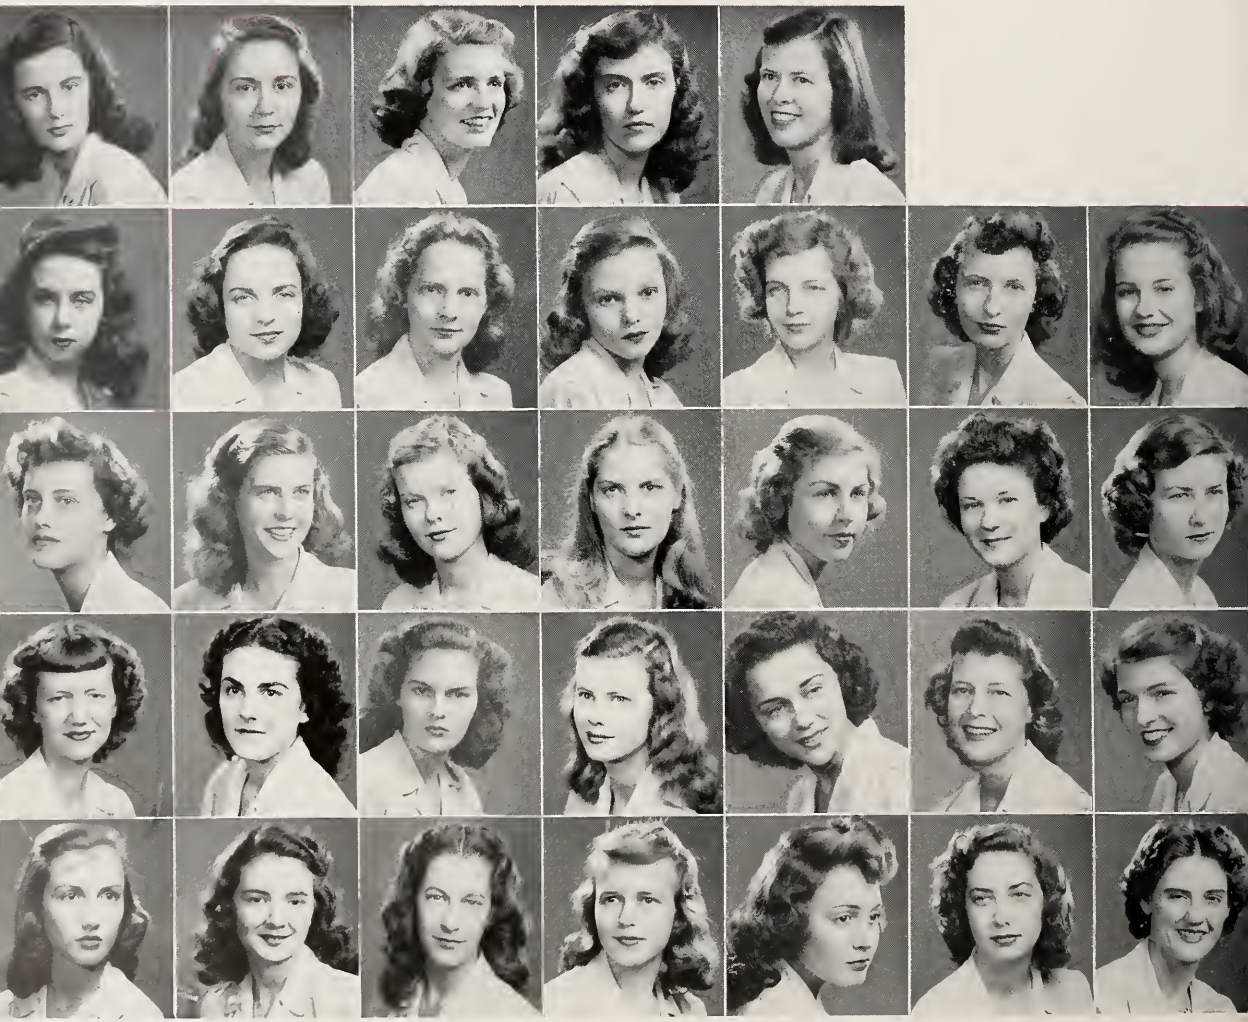

Those busy Tri-K's! In every corner of the campus they could always be sighted in their black and white bill-caps involved in some worthy project. Perhaps their pep and glow would be best summed up in their ever-perfectly groomed prexy, Jane Faulk, and in their sponsor, Miss Catherine Morrison.

Actively engaged in campus organizations were Challie Thornton, president of YWCA; Martha Ann Rogers, president of High School YWCA; Barbara Rowell, treasurer of the Senior-Mid Class; Dot Dyer, treasurer of the "Y"; and Jean Ratliff, president of Phi Theta Kappa.

On the athletic field one would find "Rusty" Kelly, Dot Dyer, and Emmie Oement, while the honor roll listed Tri-K members Mary June Carnes, Challie Thornton, and Beverly Cunningham, as members of Phi Theta Kappa.

Thursday afternoons found them decorating their club for gay open houses, but one Sunday proved the busiest day with an early breakfast for the faculty and a visit to the Old Ladies' Home that afternoon. And adding to their crowded schedule were the Christmas dance, the week-end at Dunbar Cave, the party for their sister club, X. L. To their pleasant memories was added the night when Marie Bergh and Mary Delle Wilson played the piano, usually accompanying Martha Ann Rogers as she sang.

Yes, they are truly the busy Tri-K Club!

X. L.

It never failed! With the singing of "Friends, friends, friends, we will always be," a tear dimmed each and every eye of each and every X. L. club member! A year was such a short time into which all the spirit, affection, and enthusiasm possessed by the X. L. club had to be crowded.

Cora Moss Bell ruled almighty the first semester and "Ig" McGuire assumed the responsibilities second semester. Young and fun-loving Miss Keith Cutchins sponsored the X. L. ladies.

They had a finger in every campus pie as shown by the many officers chosen from their group. Some of them were Nancy Gullett, Senior-Mid president; Carolyn Henderson, editor of Milestones; Fay Chalmers, president of the Athletic Association; Jill Foddrill, associate editor of the Hyphen; Betty Kelley, Senior-Mid vice-president; Sylvia Stahlman, day student treasurer; Nancy Hendricks, secretary of the Prep YWCA; and Eve Balloff, president of the High School Glee Club.

"Onward, marching onward, X. L. is our name" led the athletes, Fran Purvis, Abby Houdersheldt, Jean Jewett, and Mary Elizabeth Gillespie as they fought and won the hockey and baseball cups for the year. They are equally as proud to mention Kitty Cox and Betty Hall Shepherd who were chosen as Hood and Gown members. A few of their Phi Theta Kappa members were Peggy Lair, Evelyn Sandford, and Gayle Jennings.

CAMPUS LIFE

ORIENTATION

As this year's Mids prepare to step into the role of Seniors and the Preps move up a step on that ladder of education, it is hard to believe that they once needed to be "orientated" to the ways of Ward-Belmont. The campus, the school, the customs that are now so much a part of our lives were, for a few September days, terribly strange, somewhat frightening. But not for long! The Orientation Committee quickly introduced W-B to the three hundred new girls.

From 38 states, by plane, by train, they arrived. But the seniors, who had returned early, welcomed their "little sisters" at the station, at the airport, on Acklen steps, and in the dorms. There was no time for homesick tears those first few weeks, thanks to the Orientation Committee who had planned a full schedule to acquaint us with every phase of W-B life. A tour of the campus, complete with historical facts and legends; discussion groups in the clubhouses; an all school picnic on the athletic field; and a gym party with dancing and singing kept us busy and happy. Before we knew it, we too had become a part of Ward-Belmont.

Welcome to Acklen Hall

You'll need sixty hours . . . You'll need these too! . . . Do I have to take P. E.? . . . You're smiling — you're at W-B.

FAG DAY

Had a stranger wandered onto the W-B campus on the 25th of September, he would have thought that he had ventured into a land of make-believe. For W-B, that day, was celebrating its traditional "Fag Day" which all old girls enjoy and new girls will never forget.

Rising at the horribly early hour of six-thirty, the lowly Fags began their big day. Sleepily they got into their required costumes and reported to their "big sisters" dressed as pirates, clowns, zebras, pandas, angels, Greek slaves, babies, dunces, pickaninnies, and even as "gnurps."

Between classes the Fags performed such tasks as polishing shoes and floors, hunting for some hard-to-find article in the

H.B. stores, and paying homage to old club members with songs, dances, and salamis. That night they were formally admitted into their clubs in the beautiful candlelight initiations.

The Thrill of Senior Week
Meet 'Em—Greet 'Em—and Seat 'Em Committee

It was a bright autumn day on the Ward-Belmont campus. Crisp, lazy leaves wafted down amid the hurrying figures dressed in white and adorned with yellow roses. Senior Week had begun! And, for its brief duration, it focalized love and friendship characteristic of the class members. Predominating throughout the week's activities—the senior tea for the Mid class in Acklen on Sunday; the endless blue-jeaned crowd at the Tea Hole Tuesday for the class picnic, which featured the "Senior Sympathy Sorchester" and square dancing to the screeching of Bessie's fiddle; the beautiful Senior chapel Wednesday presided over by Laddie Harton, class president, with Challie Thornton as speaker—was the same proud gleam in every eye, the same surging warmth in every heart with the thought: "I am a Senior."

SENIOR WEEK

Doolin Charms the Listeners . . . Mellow Melodies . . . Great Expectations . . . Here's Pie in Your Eye . . .The Pause That Refreshes . . . That Good Southern Fried Chicken.

The Fine Gentleman and His Lady . . . Oh, You Startled Me . . . Watch That Floor Show, Gals . . . The Sweet Mama Hay and Her Southern Fried Chicken . . . Behind the Ears and Under the Chin.

SENIOR PREP WEEK

Senior Preps Are Presented . . . High School Hit Parade

"As Senior Preps we stand before you, proudly with our colors white and blue" . . . so sang the high school seniors as they ended their class recognition week with their traditional chapel program. The week had passed quickly with the Tea Hole picnic where all wore the blue and white beanies, danced, watched Mama Hay eat fried chicken, laughed at Ginny and Gordy and sang class songs as Maggie played the piano, and the Wednesday devotional conducted by Hardie Newton, president of the class. Perhaps the week passed quickly, but the feeling of being one unified group of girls, ready to work, study, and play together throughout the year had not passed from the hearts of each Senior. In one brief week they formally became the Senior Preparatory Class of '48. During the year they upheld their name to the fullest.

FUN AND FANCY FREE

Laying aside the books for a moment, W-B girls turned to the more carefree portion of college life. Remember the Wednesday night club meetings and the parties for our sister clubs —the rodeo, the pirate party, the Grand Old Opry, and the St. Patrick's party? Remember the Inter-Hall Party when all the dorms stepped out in full array, cheering their volleyball, basketball, and ping-pong teams? Weird costumes silhouetted the C.G.O. Halloween masquerade, while the Spanish Fiesta made its debut in a splash of color and entertainment. Chapel time—with the Mid's Hospital, the Senior's Artist Colony, the teacher's takeoff, the Captivators, the dance and music recitals —holding happiness for all. A "horsey party" afforded Saturday night fun, thanks to the Turf and Tanbark Club. And mention must be made of the formal Valentine, Thanksgiving, and birthday dinners in the dining room: while the many concerts, featuring well-known artists, added their bit to a well-rounded Ward-Belmont life. Soft light, shimmering decorations, hushed voices, swaying music, gardenias — all spell memories of club and class dances. Remember? Yes, we remember our friends, our school, our teachers; at work, at play. "Fun and Fancy Free" is surely as much a part of W-B as are chemistry formulas, French verbs, and history dates.

KING AND QUEEN OF HEARTS

Mary Jo LeMaster and Peggy Pittman

The wide dining rooms were covered by red hearts; candles gleamed from heavily ladened tables. It was the annual Valentine's Day banquet. But suddenly the hum of voices ceased, all eyes turned toward the doors with an excited "Who in this world could it be? Here they come . . .!" And through the doors the King and Queen of Hearts walked in stately grace to their thrones.

Presiding over the festivities were Mary Jo LeMaster and Peggy Pittman, chosen for their popularity on campus by a secret session of the Y.W.C.A. Cabinet. Accompanying them were the Prince and Princess from the Preparatory School, Sally Kayko and Cherry Walls.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

CHALLIE THORNTON and MABEL DURRETT

The annual Washington's Birthday celebration was a thing of beauty and charm. Held on February 22, the procession began in Acklen Hall where the seniors, dressed as colonial couples, walked down the winding staircase, and into the Corinthian Room. Following dinner, the couples proceeded to the gymnasium where the minuet and ballet were danced in honor of the first president. Martha and George, portrayed by gracious Mabel Durrett and handsome Challie Thornton, are elected by the student body each year.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PREP DAY

Prep Day at W.-B. . . . the day when the Junior and Senior Preparatory girls take over and proclaim the day to be theirs for slogans, parades, songs, cheers, baseball, archery, and tennis. The day when each loyal class member wears her blue or pink and smears lots of paints for the many signs, leads a peppy prep yell, drags a float around the circle, or makes a homer or bull's-eye for her team.

The 1948 "Super Seniors" were found in the form of popular advertisements ranging from Kleenex to Luster-Creme, candy, and soap. To contrast the picture the Juniors followed with their bells, bells, bells. School bells, wedding, dumb, fire, ship — but "the best bells of them all were the Junior Belles!!"

Gathered around the tennis courts and scattered along the bleachers, these odd figures watched the Senior class chalk up the points, but a special cheer went up from the Junior section when their baseball team won for the day.

The final results found the "Super Seniors" to be holding the topnotch position, and for another year the Seniors retained their cup.

Never once did the fighting spirit of the Preparatory Juniors die. . . . Next year perhaps! Yes, next year, and the year after will find the Preparatory Juniors and Seniors battling with happy grins and amazing energy to be the winner of Junior-Senior Prep Day.

SENIOR-SENIOR MID DAY

For once when that early morning seven o'clock bell rang, the campus immediately came to life. It was Senior-Senior-Mid Day. With its arrival, the Merry Mids of Sherwood Forest and the Girls of the Year zestfully displayed their bills of sale. The campus was hastily decorated . . . the summer houses and statues cleverly displayed the Seniors' interpretations of the months of the year, while the steps of Acklen Hall and Big Ac sported scenes from Sherwood Forest.

At eight-thirty the parade began. First came the Mids led by two wooden horses and followed by the Merry Mids in the forms of Maid Marion, Friar Tuck, Little John, Robin Hood and many others. Next came the Seniors in twelve divisions, each float portraying a month of the year. A colorful array was here displayed with confetti, snowballs, top hats, Easter bunnies, bathing suits, school children and firecrackers, all taking part in the great spectacle.

The baseball, track, and archery contest highlighted the day and was followed by a picnic lunch in Club Village. Dr. Provine announced the winner of the cup to be the Senior Class of 1948. But happiness was seen on the faces of Seniors and Mids alike as the day closed with the singing of "The Bells."

MAY

Breathless excitement fell over the crowded grandstands; every eye was on the horse-drawn carriage drawing to a halt before the white carpet. The 1948 May Queen, Betty Smith, smiled, descended onto the path, and walked toward the throne, surrounded on either side by a profusion of pastel-clad Seniors.

And over the day's festivities she reigned, with the Preparatory School attendants, Karim Tuthar and Judy Merrick; Steve Ann Akin and Patty Ann Frizzell, College attendants: and LaVerne McCann, Honor Maid, occupying the court. Ballet, Spanish dances, waltzes, even an exercise demonstration entertained the hundreds of spectators during this most traditional of afternoons.

Winding the May Pole climaxed proceedings, and even as the multi-colored streamers were twined together, so were the thoughts of the Seniors, with the sparkling green and blue of the campus, with the harmonious strains of the orchestra, and with the infinite majesty of this most renowned, memorable May Day at Ward-Belmont.

STEP SINGING

As the last days of the school year approached, the Seniors began to collect and select their memories of their life at Ward-Belmont which culminated in the traditional program of Step Singing. There the Seniors sang of their memories, thoughts and expressions which had colored their school years—experiences and opinions never to be forgotten. And in reply, the Mids assembled on the steps to answer the Seniors' songs. They revealed how they, too, would remember forever their years spent at Ward-Belmont, immortalized in the melodious tones of song.

GRADUATION

Dark-hued robes signifying the uncertainty of what lies in the future. Broad mortar-board caps, the symbol of wide fields of activities which will be entered and the symbol of the broad outlook on life obtained in the first years of college. Silken tassels swinging with an air of independence. Solemn countenances wearing a look of achievement and assurance. Hands, trembling nervously, clutching the treasured, hard-earned diplomas. Minds grasping desperately for memories to be imprinted and kept for future thoughts. Lips whispering softly the meaningful words of "The Bells." Hearts full of joy for experience and knowledge acquired and regret for having to leave behind friends, classmates, and Ward-Belmont. Feet stepping firmly toward the chapel and toward responsibility. Yes, responsibility of which this graduation is the predecessor.

Autographs

To one of dearest friends a girl ever had.
Love, to me, signify everything
our cause represents. Fairness, friendliness, sincerity, loyalness, kindness, gallantness.
happiness, love and compelled sadness.
Our friendship is something I won't ever lose if it at all possible for me to prevent it.
Remember me and write to me as often as possible next year!
Judy
