It's All Ab

"Me, me me." "It's all about me."
Have you, a member of a private all-girls school in the heart of Green Hills, ever been accused of falling under the stereotype of a girl who would think such thoughts? So, what's the big deal? There are 666 individuals on this campus. That's 666 unique faces, personalities, smiles, mindsets, and bad hair days. As one of the great movies of the 80's points out, "...each one of us is a brain, and an athlete, and a basketcase, a princess, and a criminal." Each day, just as we walk through the hallways with these criminals and basketcases, we also walk with acclaimed athletes, talented artists, witty brains, and best friends. This yearbook focuses on the greatness of us girls (...and a few boys, too) by celebrating ourselves individually and realizing that ultimately, it's all about us. Each of us has a reason to wear that tiara on the cover. Live it up, laugh, indulge, celebrate yourself (and be proud that you go to a school where we can put a tiara on the yearbook cover without getting any boys bent out of shape)!

Near right: Sara Denson claims to be reading, although we know she was waiting for Mr. Wallace to pass through the hall.
Far right: "Did you see that one student who tripped on her dress during George Washington?!! Ha!"

out Me.

UPPER SCHOOL DEDICATION

Ms. Polly Linden

Not only is she an exceptional State-winning coach at the Sportsplex and on the softball field, Ms. Polly Linden has helped many students excel in geometry, algebra, and pre-calculus...and doesn't mind a little Ben & Jerry's, either. One of her athletes describes her as "...a friend I can look up to for advice during a meet or hard times at school." She is clearly devoted to all her present and past students and athletes. Her witty personality and dry sense of humor make even math class funny, and she has been known to halt class for a laughable story. She is also heralded as Harpeth Hall's human typewriter, for she can form letters that rival a computer font. Ms Linden, after eight years of teaching at Harpeth Hall, finds that it has become her second home. Known throughout the community as a trustworthy housesitter, she is always willing to lend a hand, unless the boogyman is coming to get her...

Middle School Dedication

Ms. Molly Compton

With a friendly smile and a warm personality, Ms. Molly Compton is the cornerstone of the Harpeth Hall Middle School. She is the organizer, the planner, and the woman who holds it all together. As the Middle School Student Activities Coordinator, she is efficient yet personable. Eighth grader Ali Berryman states, "She is the coolest math teacher. And she even puts up with us when we are hyper." As a 7th and 8th grade math teacher, her zeal for learning is contagious, and her students enjoy her company as much as her teaching. Ms. Compton's Algebra graduates will never forget the exciting stories about her love life, pico, bagels, fermi, and the infamous math game she created. Therefore, it seems fitting that when asked about Ms. Molly Compton, students respond, "She does everything. She's Superwoman."

Staff Dedication

Mr. Charles Kimbro

For many years, Charles Kimbro has devoted his time and energy towards making Harpeth Hall a safe and nurturing environment. Mr. Kimbro's devotion to Harpeth Hall is outstanding. He is always more than eager to help the students and faculty in any way possible. Mr. Kimbro's extraordinary spirit earned him the opportunity to carry the Olympic Torch when it passed through Nashville in December. His humble character often allows him to remain behind the scenes, but Mr. Kimbro's actions do not remain unnoticed.

Kate Spade Purses

Alice Fort

Just as the laws of fashion would have it, the look of twenty years ago began to reemerge. Miniskirts, especially denim variations, came back, as did studded and jeweled accesories. Patriotic apparel flooded stores weeks after 9.11, while aviators, sweater jackets, and suede remained fashionable for yet another season.

What could the Harpeth Hall girl be seen wearing on a Casual Day? Long sweater jackets and low low pants, preferably dirty-wash denim, seemed to be the answer. Pants were often accompanied by big belt buckles.

On their feet, while tall boots remained popular, some toes turned pointy and others donned flowers. The J. Crew clog, however, was arguably the most popular shoe on the H.H. campus.

Quiz About me...

How stuck on myself am I?

Freshmen Caitlin Heyman and Dani Cherney.

1 I look in the mirror __ times a day.

(a) 0. I don't care how I look, so why bother.
(b) 1-5; Just makin' sure I don't have any boogies.
(c) 6-10; I know I'm cute and want to make sure I stay that way.
(d) over 11; Appearances are everything.

2 When my B'day is on the way, I usually...

(a) refuse to remind anyone.
(b) talk about the "big day" with the 'rents.
(c) drop hints to my homies.
(d) put up billboards at major intersections around town.

3 I spend __ hours getting ready to hit the town.

(a) zero; I rarely leave my house.
(b) .5; I just want to make sure I'm in one piece.
(c) .5-1; Congrats! This is normal prep-time.
(d) over 1.5; What can you possibly accomplish in this extended period of time?

Seventh graders Annie Tipps, Claire Burkes, and Katherine Bearden.

Seniors Christine Bass and Meredith Ramsey.

4 When someone gives me a compliment, my response is...

(a) "No way, but thanks."
(b) "Thanks...that's really sweet."
(c) "If that's what you really think."
(d) "I know"

5 If someone asks to borrow my hairbrush, I reply...

(a) "Sure, it's in my backpack."
(b) "Only if you don't let anyone else use it."
(c) "When was the last time you washed your hair?"
(d) "Do you have lice?"

6 When looking for your best friend's birthday present you...

(a) start searching weeks in advance.
(b) run to the mall for a fresh bottle of her favorite perfume.
(c) buy something you've always wanted because you know you'll always be able to borrow it.
(d) consider what she enjoys...and then get her a gift certificate.

7 When making the evening's plans, your friend asks you where you want to go to dinner. You reply...

(a) I couldn't care less. Let's just eat.
(b) Let's just get a quick bite at Wendy's.
(c) How about Green Hill's Grille? Unless you have something else in mind.
(d) Valentino's...we HAVE to go there.

8 Winter Formal is 3.2 months away. You...

(a) Winter Formal? what's that?
(b) already have a dress--that's what's important, right?
(c) already have a dress and know what guy you want to ask.
(d) already made all arrangements: date, dress, dinner, ride, after-party, and sleepover destination.

9 Someone invites themselves over to your house. You...

(a) act as though you extended the invitation yourself.
(b) hold your tongue but include them in your plans.
(c) subtly make it clear that their presence is not wanted.
(d) slap 'em the ole' REJECT.

10 Upon reaching this final question of this quiz, you...

(a) realize and accept your self-centeredness.
(b)laugh to yourself because you realize that this is the funniest quiz you've ever taken.
(c) are aware that there is need for improvement, but move on.
(d) are inversely affected because you realize you have been neglecting your personal needs.

Eighth graders Olivia Patterson and Emily Stewart.

Scoring

If you chose mostly A's... there are people on your mind other than yourself. You enjoy doing things for others, but sometimes neglect yourself. Your friends sometimes call you "Mom" because you are always helping them out.

If you chose mostly B's... you tend to save some time for yourself, but over-indulgence is usually not your "thing". Your friends never think of you as "self-centered". Your closest friends are always willing to help each other out, and that attributes to your generous personality.

If you chose mostly C's...
Well, let's just say that you are usually the top priority on your list. When pressed, you will lend a hand, but for the most part you only want to help yourself. But don't stress your pretty little self, for you are in the majority.

If you chose mostly D's...
Hi! Remember me? I am another person, someone you never think about. Maybe it would do you good to appreciate others, although they don't have your cutesy smile. If you don't change your act, you'll be alone...You do want people to hang out with, don't you?

A Day in the Life of two exceptional students

Alana Essig
Alana Grace

ALANA'S Tuesday SCHEDULE

8 a.m. - 3 p.m. - School
4 - 5 p.m. - Piano lesson
6-10 p.m. - Dance

Saturday SCHEDULE

9 a.m. - 2p.m. - Dance

Alana Essig, eighth grade celebrity, is a girl of many talents. She has been in multiple mini-series, tv specials, and theater performances. Despite Alana's busy agenda, she still makes time for her friends, family and school work.

Lana Evans

Pink Lady

Quiet, yet quirky, Lana Evans loves pink. Pink car, pink clothes, and pink ballet shoes highlight Lana's personality. Lana is a neat-freak, and she loves to eat Wendy's salads. After a long day of school, Lana drives out to Franklin for her Ballet class from 4 until 6 p.m. She flies back to Nashville for her Harpeth Hall Dance Company class. When she finally gets home, she usually only completes her Algebra and Chemistry homework. After that, she talks on the phone until midnight. Pink - it's her favorite color. The pictures tell her story.

SPOTLIGHT ON A SENIOR SLACKER

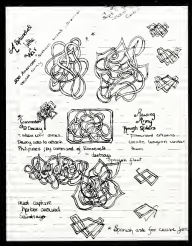

[all names in this interview will remain anonymous]

Q: What goes through your head when you sit down to take an exam? Is it, "Uh...I have no idea," or is it, "Wait, I have some vague remembrance"?
A: Well, it depends.

Q: What criteria does it depend on?
A: It depends on the course. If it's FST, it's, "Wait, I have some vague remembrance." If it's American History, well...when in doubt, just choose 'c.'

Q: When you go home, and you don't bring your backpack in with you, but you know you have a test the next day, what are you thinking?
A: "What's the point? What am I going to study, my doodles?"

Q: If you don't take notes, what DO you do during class?
A:

The Student Council in both the Middle and Upper Schools serves as a forum on behalf of the students. Student Council oversees all of the student clubs and activities such as Concert on the Lawn, Winter Formal, and elections. The members serve as a representative voice for the students to relay issues such as laptop complaints or other student needs to the administration. Amongst the many new ideas created this year by the Student Council were the Constitution and Bylaws, a Spirit Week with theme days, a Winter Court at Winter Formal, and a Student Council folder on e-mail for posting each meeting's minutes. The Upper School Student Council fulfilled its aim "to ensure the satisfaction and happiness of all the students," in the words of President Cornelia Rowe.

"The Middle School Student Council tries to make the Middle School a better place for the students and teachers, but especially the students because we are students and we pretty much know what most of them want," said president Mary Katherine Bartholomew. Members read suggestions, vote for the Champion of the Week, raise money for charities, and organize special days such as Field Day. During the course of the year, participation increased and the group "came together" to oversee each and every task.

The Honor Council is set up to ensure that each student at Harpeth Hall acts with honor and integrity. Students are expected to sign the pledge at the end of each test and graded assignment. Cases of lying, cheating, and stealing are brought before this council & a recommendation of punishment is given at the end. Each year, two freshmen, two sophomores, four juniors, and five se-niors are elected by their fellow classmates to serve on the Honor Council.

The Student Council Retreat is a "holiday" held every year in February for the members to evaluate the year and prepare for upcoming elections. This year at the home of sophomore Ellen Davis, students met during school to discuss student needs and issues. The Student Forum was one result of this retreat.

While visiting the Upper School for a day, the Middle School Student Council, including Andie Johnson, Melissa Woods, and Elizabeth McLemore, brainstormed ideas for Faculty Appreciation Week in conjunction with the Upper School Student Council.

Student Council has mixed emotions in one of the weekly lunch meetings. Meg Wright and Cacky Tate stare at the floor, Caroline Johnson "concentrates" on taking the minutes, and Ellen Davis plays with glue while Jennie McCabe slaps herself. Despite appearances, these meetings were productive.

Share a Little Bit of Yourself

Spirit of Service, or S.O.S., the community service club, has always been one of the most active organizations at Harpeth Hall. S.O.S., led by President Hannah Reed, Vice-President Austin Jones, and Sponsor Ann Saylor, plans different activities like Pulse Day, Habitat for Humanity, and Volunteer Spring Break for any girl or faculty member. Each student can turn in her community service hours, which are counted and added up to a final amount for national recognition.

The Student-Faculty Committee is a liaison between students and the administration. Four students from each grade are appointed to the committee. It is moderated by Vice-President of the student council, Tori Tucker. Meetings are held monthly and open to all students and faculty. This forum discusses complaints and suggestions from students and faculty to improve life at Harpeth Hall. The committee fought hard to get black tights back into the uniform. Their main project for this year was the installation of a new flagpole, placed in front of the Upper School, as a tribute to the victims of September 11.

The Ambassador Society is a committee of thirty-five girls selected by the adminstration for their committment and enthusiasm about Harpeth Hall. The members work hand-in-hand with the Admisssions and Alumni offices. Their many duties include giving tours, helping with mailings in the Alumni office, hosting receptions, and other public relations work.

A Breath of Fresh Air

After working with a myriad of chemicals or attending one of the many Harpeth Hall sporting events, a breath of fresh air is, literally, exactly what you need.

New to HH, but not new to the world of science, Ms. Buzzell became the proud new sponsor of the science club.The science club does a number of different science-related community service activities, from sponsoring an animal to cleaning up Percy Warner Park.

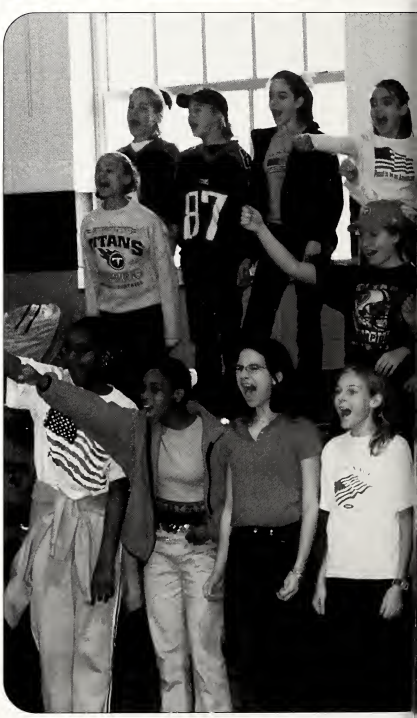

Pep Club was expanded to the middle school this year as well. In this club, students earn points by attending any HH event.

Each quarter there is a "pepper" of the quarter and an overall winner at year's end.

The Outdoor Club, led by President Kate Lainhart, director Bill Elder, and sponsors Dr. Schott and Mr. Ungurait, is a group of girls who go on outdoor trips once a month. They go rock climbing, backpacking, rafting, and caving, among other trips sugested by the students. They carry and cook their own food and learn to set up their own tents for overnights.The girls have a lot of fun learning new outdoor skills and getting to know their teachers outside of the school setting.

Senior Science Clubbers are all smiles. Perhaps they have beenworking with laughing gas in their latest experiment. Christina, Keats, Lauren and Lauren, Minje and Kara take time out for a quick photo.

Center Stage

The 2001-2002 school year was an exciting one for the continually growing Harpeth Hall Dance Companies. Under the extraordinary leadership of Stephanie Hamilton, Mary Arwen '96, Christie Caldwell '00, and Jennifer Halbin, the ballet, modern, jazz, and tap companies put on a both a fall and spring performance. With new lighting and a newly purchased and painted backdrop, the stage lit up with the help of the wonderful student "techies." As a tribute to the September 11th tragedy, Stephanie Hamilton choreographed a piece entitled "Stars and Stripes" which served as both the fall and spring concert's finale. Overall, this year was a great season for the Harpeth Hall Dance Companies with the promise of many more to come.

Where are those incredible sounding voices coming from? The Harpeth Hall Choruses and Vocal Jazz Ensemble, of course! The Upper School Chorus is led by musical genius Gina Calloway while Lynn Rothrock brilliantly heads up the Middle School Chorus. The U.S. chorus has two concerts a year and an annual combined opera chorus concert with none other than St. Cecilia and Montgomery Bell Academy. The Vocal Jazz group is led by Lynne Rothrock, featuring nine juniors and seniors. This year the group worked with Carroll visiting artist Kye Brackett and performed with him in an assembly. If you want to be blown away by musical talent, come hear Harpeth Hall concerts.

All spotlights were on during the combined Harpeth Hall dance companies' "Stars and Stripes" tribute, choreographed by Ms. "Hammy."

Being a dancer is a glamorous ordeal. Make-up must be per fect for the spotlights, right girls? Seniors Seema Kanwar, Charlotte King, and Anna Guengerich show us how it is done right (either technique will work).

A Brush With

The Law

This year, Harpeth Hall sent two equally strong Mock Trial teams to present their case. The teams began practicing during January, the earliest ever. Returning coaches Louise Fonte-cchio and Amy Everhart led the teams alongside Law Club President Caroline Landry. Averaging fifteen hours a week, the majority of practices were at a local law firm. During final weeks, the teams held runthroughs at the Davidson County Courthouse.

By the end of two days of the Mock Trial City Competition, there were two winners and one school, Harpeth Hall. Thus, both teams advanced to the State Competition that took place just before Spring Break. Katie Adams was named MVP for the Silver Team and Cari Johns was MVP for the Green Team. Gavels up for another successful year!

Youth In Goverment , led by fearless leader Tory Wilkinson, attends two conferences a year: Model United Nations in the fall and Youth Legislature in the spring. At these conferences, members of YIG give up an entire weekend to argue about foreign policy and pass mock Senate bills. In the fall, students choose a world country, research it, and then write a bill pertaining to the country's culture or goverment. In the spring, YIG members meet at the State Capital Building and debate bills. YIG is sponsered by Mr.Springman, Dr. Myers, and Mrs. Ward. It is for the Honeybear interested in debate, goverment, research, and journalism.

Suzanne Brown leads a Youth in Govern ment meeting durinng school in Mr. Springman's room.

The Silver Defense team pre pares for their first trial in the State Competition at the Davidson County Courthouse. Laura Lea Bryant, Caroline Johnson, and Ashton Alexander shuffle through stipulations and exhibits to eliminate last minute jitters (yes, even Mockies can get stage fright). It is a good thing they are prepared since trial lasts at least an hour without breaks.

At the Mock Trial Assembly, the team re-enacted the case and polled the audience for a verdict. Here, Katheryn Dennison introduces herself as Dr. Sandy Turner, an expert witness with her own sense of style. All of Harpeth Hall's witnesses are notorious for extreme amounts of character.

For her hysterical and emotional portrayal of Taylor, Catherine Beckner of the Green Team won Best Defense Witness. Margaret Riley of the Silver Team won Best Defense Attorney in the regional competition. This was the first year for both awards to be receceived by Harpeth Hall students.

With membership not based on ability, Math Club offers a chance for any girl interested in problem-solving to come together each year for meetings and competitions. Along with training and practicing for these competitions, Math Club sponsors peer-tutoring for class work. Pi Day is one of their most famous events. The girls baked their own pies and celebrated the day by wearing t-shirts and posting flyers. Under the leadership of Shirley Li, the club, often dubbed the "Numerators," had another radical year.

Quiz Bowl meets together about once a week to answer trivia questions, covering topics from math and science to mythology, current politics and pop culture.

Additionally, members attended meets where they got to show off their talent. At meets and practices, the use of a buzzer system has made the quizzing sessions fast-paced, competitive, and exciting.

The Chess Club met occasionally after school for challenging games. Food was ever-present at the gatherings as were vocabulary terms such as "Checkmate," "Castle," and other medieval words. Chess Club President Lena Kravstov taught new members the game as well as all of the inside jokes. Ever heard about a place called Club Lena?

Amnesty International is a worldwide campaigning movement that works to promote all the human rights enshrined in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and other international standards. In particular, Amnesty campaigns to free all prisoners of conscience; ensure fair and prompt trials for political prisoners; abolish the death penalty, torture and other cruel treatment of prisoners--and much more.

Hallmarks is Harpeth Hall's literary magazine. It also came out with a special edition concerning the September 11th tragedy. Logos not only informs, but entertains the readers.

Milestones: Miles of Memories

Each year, the Harpeth Hall Milestones staff spends endless hours slaving over every page for the upcoming annual. Afternoons are spent meeting deadlines, scrounging for pictures, writing text, not to mention battling the technological disadvantages of a limited number of working and available computers. Despite the obvious handicaps present every year, it is evident that each book is an improvement over the previous one. The Milestones staff is proud of their work and delighted to present you with the 2001-2002 annual - a self-indulgent look at you and me!

Page Right: The Intramural Clubs have been a tradition at Harpeth Hall ever since Miss Patty was here. Each student is assigned to one of four clubs: Angkor, Ariston, Eccowasin, or Triad. These clubs meet periodically throughout the year and compete in a wide variety of activities from relay races to quiz bowl tournaments. The year is ended in a grande finale with the song competition between the four clubs.

meet in the park

The Upper School Cross Country team ran hundreds of miles this fall through the pouring rain, the brutal sun, and the harsh cold. Beginning in August, the team began practicing day in and day out.

All of their hard work paid off once again as the Bears came home with the titles of: District Champs, Metro Champs, Division II TSSAA Region and State Champs. Harpeth Hall now holds the Tennessee State record for the most cross-country State Championships the same school in all divisions, boys and girls. Morgan Stengel was named Metro Runner of the Year. She accompanied four of her teammates, Tippins Stone, Allie Bohannon, Marion Granbery, and Katheryn Dennison, to be named as First Team All State.

Through the months of practice and grueling work-outs, these girls came away with just another part of the Honeybears cross-country history, winning all but one of their major meets throughout the season.

3-Peat Champions

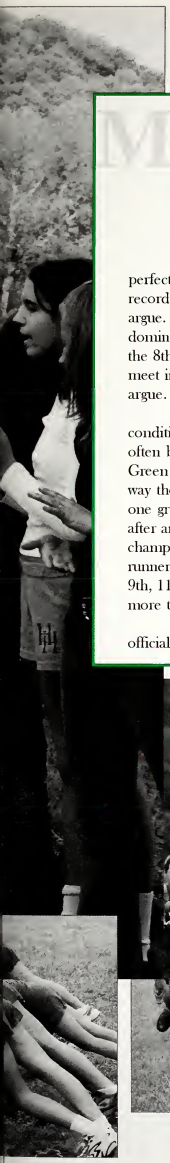

Some might call it a perfect season. With a record of 20-0, it's hard to argue. Some might say they dominated the HVAC. With the 8th graders never losing a meet in 3 years, it's hard to argue.

This group of well-conditioned runners have often been called "The Long Green Line" because of the way the finish their meets, one green uniform placing after another. In the championship meet our top 6 runners finished 1st, 5th, 7th, 9th, 11th, and 13th out of more than 200 runners.

Though their season officially starts the first day of school, many of the girls run over the summer to join Dr. Jack's 100 or 200 mile club. Dr. Jack and assistant coach Mrs. Melteson run daily with the team around campus and in the neighborhood. Dr. Jack sums it up by saying, "By the end of the season, EVERY runner has dropped her time." Mary Katherine adds, "Dr. Jack is so nice. He cares about every runner, no matter how fast she is."

The volleyball team had a remarkable season. They had the best record in school history: 53-10. After placing 2nd to Father Ryan in the Region Tournament, the team went 6-0 in State Tournament only to meet their rivals in the championship.

Although it was a tough battle, the Bears prevailed and won the match 2-1. This is the first State Championship for volleyball in school history.

The team was led by three strong, talented seniors: Lindsay Owens, Elizabeth Porter, and Becky Brown.

With a brand new squad and 12 players new to the HVAC, the yougest group of volleybears began practice in mid August in the never-cool Bullard Gym. Serve, set, spike, dig, and sweat defined their practices. The work was hard, the road was long, and perhaps their vocal cords got the biggest work-out! "Though we did not have a winning record, this group came so far in such a short time. They ALL played and learned solid volleyball. We all got frustrated, but I am so proud of the work ethic of this group of athletes. We kept the other team on their toes," said Coach Grace

lovin' the game

The 2001 Harpeth Hall Varsity Soccer Team completed the season with a 12-8-3 record and a Region Runner-Up finish.

The Honeybears played one of the toughest schedules in school history. In twenty-three matches, ten were against teams that made the State Tournament in their respective divisions, including three finalists and one state champion.

One of the highlights of the season was a 2-1 home victory against Hendersonville with Harpeth Hall lacking two of the team's leading scorers.

The bears outscored their opponents 56-29, while nearly equaling the school record for shutouts in a season. Eleven times, they held their opponets scoreless.

The squad peaked just as the Region Tournament began. This season, the bears were able to avenge two previous losses to archrival Father Ryan with a 1-0 win on a goal by Senior Abigail Markham in the RegionSemi-Finals.

The bears then faced BGA, their rival in the Region Championship. BGA had beaten Harpeth Hall by three goals in the regular season. Markham again notched the Bears' only goal to give us the lead late in the match. The bears went on to the Regional Finals and unfortunately ended their season after the State QuarterFinals. Sad to see the season's end and say goodbye to all six senior studs, the bear team left it all on the field.

getting their kicks

Both the A and B middle school soccer teams played the field this season. The A team had a record of 4 wins, 4 losses, and 2 ties, while the B team had an even season with 3 wins and 3 losses. Both teams bonded and began working well together with only a month-long season and became sole contenders in their division. In this month, the team grew to have a close working relationship. On offense, they had a powerful attack with the 8th grade leaders True Claycombe(Giggler), Callie Kestner(Bashful), Aly McCathren(Tender Heart), Hays McWhirter(Soccer Fiend), Catie Reid(Slide Tackler), Bracey Stewart(Ferocious),Margaret Tipton(Shoe Laces), and Marissa Yennie(Lightning). There were several 7th grade players who were strong wings and forwards helping in the attack: Sarah Zimmerman(Cool Cucumber) and Gabby Gioia(Goal Hungry). For most of the season, the midfield was dominated by Mary Katherine Bartholomew(One Who Never Stops), Kendall Caldwell(Uraguay) and Lauren Riegle(Tough as Nails).

The defensive positions were solid at the end of the season with the leadership of Cari McDonald(The Kicker) and Katherine Bearden(The Executer). The Marking Backs were quick on the support including Maggie McCain(Speedy), Kaz Suzuki(Wild One) , and English Taylor(Jump Back). The girls' coaches were particularly proud of the girls' excellent goalie skills and the selflessness of those who volunteered for the position of goalie—Jaye Yennie, Maggie McCain, and Hays McWhirter. In the final game of the season, against one of the toughest teams, they had a chance to make a goal in the last 2 minutes. It was a strong fight. In many of the strong victories, such as the Harding and Ensworth games, the players showed excellent sportsmanship, and they concentrated on improving passing skills and having fun. The team's real improvement could be measured by their performance against Woodland. They were their biggest challenge and they gave their best effort in this last game. Awesome improvement! Great Season Bears!!!

in the zone

The Varsity Basketball Team had a year of firsts: a year of record breaking performances, wins, and achievements. Though the ultimate goal of winning the school's very first state title slipped through our fingers, this group of Bears will forever be remembered as one of the more successful basketball teams to date in Harpeth Hall school history.

As the season began, the Bears were quickly faced with two starting players, Austin Jones and Nancy Sisk, sitting on the sidelines due to injuries. Sarah Baker and Stephanie Urell stepped up against the Lady Cougars and were able to help defeat MLK.

The Bears dealt with a few disappointing games and struggled through the middle of their season, but they were able to pull through together as each game passed. After winning against both BA and GPS, Harpeth Hall found themselves receiving state-wide media as they were on top of the Division 2 state poll for the first time ever. And after a 66-38 win against GPS, the Bears were headed to the Final Four for the third year in a row. The upstart ECS Eagles, the team that had eliminated Ryan and had defeated Briarcrest in the regular season, was HH's team to beat in the semifinals. The bears hung on for a 62-56 win in a game that was voted the most exciting of the tournament (all classifications) after Austin Jones hit a three to end the first overtime, bringing HH back to a tie at 51-51. Though the Bears were not able to hold up the gold ball this year, "It was a true learning experience," says Coach Fridrich.

Hard work, weekend and holiday practices, 1 minute sprints, 21 games, a lot of sweat, and a very talented group of athletes...this defined the basketball season. Eleven eighth graders and one seventh set their goals high from the start of the season: a championship. With 3 losses in the first 4 games, perhaps the bar appeared too high. Not for this determined group. They came back from the holiday break more determined than ever. Nine straight wins, 4 games in which they scored over 40 points, and a perfect record in the "AA" division of the HVAC showed opponents what this group could really do. Eleven times they held their opponents to less than 5 points in a half of play. Pressure and tough man-to-man defense proved to be the signature of this team, with a final record of 17-4. "Never have I had a group more deserving or work harder for a championship," says Coach Grace.

Behind the Glory

Sometimes their efforts go unrecognized. Sometimes their games have few supporters. Sometimes they win, and sometimes they lose. Yet, their value to the athletic program is no less important than the varsity teams they feed.

The 7/8th grade basketball team played 15 games this season, winning 11. Coach Simmons had the awesome duty of getting 12-15 girls playing time each game. The 8th graders were able to spend extra time in the gym since they got to participate on both the A and B teams.

Though lowest on the totem pole as far as seniority goes, the 5/6th grade basketball team was certainly heads above where they could have been. Though there were only 4 returning players from the previous seaon, this group cliqued right off the bat. First year coach Heather Knapp was kept on her toes each time this young team stepped on the court.

From August to October, Lauren Hills, Minje Whitson, Dru Nelson, and Mary Lindley Carswell were accompanied by their new coach, Ms. Kylie Crouch, to help assist them with their game. These four girls had nine regular season matches (6 wins, 3 losses), placed second in the Region Tournament and came in fifth at the State Tournament. This year's team was well balanced and every player's contribution to the tournaments helped to keep the Honeybears consistent throughout the season. On the last day of the state tournament, the team's improvement was displayed on the course as Minje improved her "best ever" 18 hole score by eight shots and Lauren improved hers by six shots. This season the Middle School golf team, consisting of Coach Marees Choppin, Emily Stewart, Cordelia Landstreet, and Ashley Manson, were able to improve their game with every match. These three girls spent the majority of the fall practicing on various courses and had the opportunity to compete in more matches than any Harpeth Hall team in the past. Harpeth Hall's golf team has been a growing sport and this year only helped show the increase of interest and the progress of the program. Boggies, Birdies, Eagles, and Pars – these girls know how to play what many would say is one of the most frustrating and difficult sports around. off the deep end

How do you top a 2001 State Swimming and Diving Championship that followed a twenty-year drought?

That seemed to be the question of the season, to which the Bearacudas had an answer: You overcome injury and underdog-status and claim the 2002 State Swimming and Diving Championship. Led by four fabulous seniors (Megan Beckner, Lauren Hallemann, Mandy Larence, and Meg Ragland), the Harpeth Hall Bearacudas continued their reign in the Middle Tennessee Region for the fifth straight year.

Megan Turner, Macie Garrett, Margaret Martin-Lacey, Caitlin Heyman, Jacqueline Martin-Lacey, and Helen Ramsey were named to the All-Region team. Caitlin Heyman, Mandy Larence, Jacqueline Martin-Lacey, Margaret Martin-Lacey, and Macie Garrett are all State Champions.

The GPS Bruisers were all that stood in Harpeth Hall's way from winning the State meet. Honeybear spirit and pride filled the Sportsplex as the bears looked to defend their title.

After the first night, the Bearacudas trailed by one small point. Competing against some of the most talented swimmers, the girls had no choice but to step it up a knotch and continue performing as best as they could. By the end of prelims Saturday morning, the Bruisers had already packed their bags. The Bearacudas had done more than just stepped it up a knotch and GPS felt it the most. Harpeth Hall sent at least one swimmer to the finals in every event Saturday night, overtaking GPS and securing a second State title. Congratulations to the entire team for another great season!

With a new coach on hand, the Varsity Tennis Team began wrapping up the season with an undefeated record in their region and with only two losses outside of the region. Led by seniors Kendall Fort and Sharon Rhett, this team was always on the go. They played in two tournaments this season: Harpeth Hall's annual Patty Chadwell tournament and the Chattanooga Rotary in which they finished a very strong third place behind Marist Academy from Atlanta and St. Agnes Academy from Memphis."Although we had to jump through a few hoops due to rain, the annual Patty Chadwell Tournament went very well," said Coach Benedict. Harpeth Hall finished in a three-way third place tie with Baylor and Brentwood High. In the individual regional tournament competition, Harpeth Hall was represented by junior Rachel Price and sophomore Sarah Baker for singles as well as freshman Edie McDonald and sophomore Mary Katherine Stone, and seniors Kendall Fort and Sharon Rhett for doubles.

back hands speak louder than words

This years' middle school tennis team came out on top in what is safe to say the team's best season ever. Under the guidance of new coach Stephanie Schlanger and a lot of heart and determination, these girls remained undefeated in the regular season and won the HVAC championship in which every girl played.

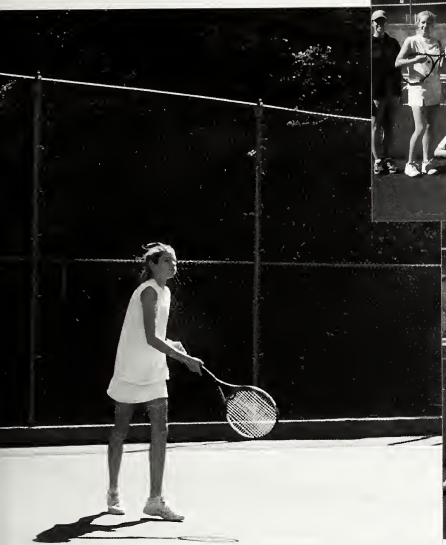

Their one hour practices, filled with endless drills four days a week, really paid off. Most importantly, they had a blast while doing it. "This year was great. It was really fun," said 8th grader Margaret Tipton of their successful season.

As the 8th graders advance to the upper school, they say good-bye to the rising 7th and 8th graders who will hopefully, with no pressure added, remain undefeated.

A season of Easy Cheese, new challenges, and new positions for each player, the Upper School softball team obviously had an exciting time. In twenty regular season games the girls never ceased to learn something new and there was hardly a day when one couldn't find these softball studs out on the diamond either practicing or playing a game. As Coach Polly Linden said in her speech at the Athletic Banquet, quoting Lisa Fernandez, "The game is about getting better than you were the day before." She continued this by stating, "As we enter our post-season tournament, we're still getting better. Win or lose, we've learned a whole lot along the way." With Elizabeth Porter as the only senior member on the team, the rest of the softball team was sad to be saying goodbye to her, but are also looking forward to next year and are anxious for another season in the spring.

This years' middle school softball team started with several new faces and many positions to fill on the field. Through hard work and dedication, the team, composed of 6th, 7th, and 8th graders were ready to start their season in March. Coach Brad Ungurait and Assistant Coach Lisa Wolfinger led the team to win two of their seven division games, finishing in fifth place. Though the other five games were were not in the win column, the team played with a lot of heart and never quit. What was once known as an easy win to other teams, facing HH is no longer a cake walk. "I appreciated all the support from faculty and parents. It was an enjoyable way to end my coaching career," said Coach Ungurait.

Along with the change in status from a club to a varsity level sport, the Harpeth Hall lacrosse team accrued the added pressure of entering their fourth season still undefeated in regulation game play. To put it simply, a little work was expected. From the newly instated tryouts to the the first ever Tennessee State tournament, these 30 girls showed they were not only athletically talented but grounded on the ideals of sportsmanship.

Whether in a torrential downpour or running on USN's sewage-ridden field, the lax girls could handle competition. Led by coaches Legare Vest and Reed Harrison and seniors Kate Lamhart, Scottie Gambill, Kara Huffstutter, Suzanne Brown and Stephanie Tidwell, they battled their way to the top rank in the division until falling once in the regular season and again, after double overtime, in the state finals to Father Ryan. Throughout, the Bears kept their composure and gained the respect of opposing coaches and officials as a courteous team.

They had their closure with Ryan another way, beating out all but one of their players to hold four of the five spots for Tennessee in the Girl's National Lacrosse Tournament.

There is no doubt about it–this year's Harpeth Hall lacrosse team started a tradition of excellence which will continue to grow in the years to come. As sophomore Laura Lea Bryant said, "Ryan knows they're not safe–all the time we're getting better, stronger, more experienced and if they don't watch out we'll soon take that title right back from them...with clean checks."

digging deep

Balance and depth have been the key for the Honeybears this season as they have led the competition in all of the major invitational meets in which they have competed. A trip back to McCallie in early April brought the first team title with a win in the Mid-South Classic. In keeping with tradition, the bears showed up at MBA on April 20th for the Doug Hall Relays in spite of the fact that it was prom night. What a great victory it was to see the bears pull away with their 10th consecutive Doug Hall Relays Title. In addition to this promising team was the outstanding freshman group who joined the team this year. On April 23, the team successfully defended their ninth grade City Championship title.

Each freshman competed in the meet and contributed to the team score. Though the bears took second in the Regional meet on May 17th, a week later on May 24th, they were able to defend their state championship title once again. These bears know when to get down to business but as Minje Whitson pointed out, "The meets are fun, but our crazy lime green shirts, traditional shoe ribbons, and our senior work out day are also just as fun and make it worth all the rough times". To close the season, Coach Russ said to the team, "Your enthusiasm, dedication, determination, and desire to achieve are all the things that bring us [the coaches] back each year".

Undefeated in the regular season, repeat HVAC Champs, and a strong returning class...what more could you ask for? Led by coaches Marti Jeffords and Tiffany Dale, the squad was challenged daily to run their run their hardest and push themselves to and beyond their limit. As the team approached the final meet it seemed only a freak act of nature could stop them. The team dominated the field events in the finals winning 3 out of 5 events with Gabby Gioia winning the high jump, Lauren Riegle the pole vault and Taylor Parrish the discus. This gave the team a 45 point lead heading into the running events. Here, the domination continued as the girls won every relay event and many more first places. Callie Kestner placed first in the 100 and the 200, Laura Nichols first in the 400 and Mary Katherine Bartholomew first in the mile. Harpeth Hall swept the meet by 87 points.

The 5th and 6th grade track team had excellent participation this year, with over 50 percent of the class competing on the team. This is their first exposure to track and everyone in these two grades is allowed to run or throw or jump in any event they please. Their track season consists of two-a-week practices with meets on four Saturdays. During their practices with the 7th and 8th grade and the upper school teams, there are over 100 runners on the track. This is when the girls get their best workout because they are sprinting to get out of the way of the intimidating upper schoolers. The team participated in meets at their home track and FRA's. They ran against other teams such as FRA, Oakhill and St. Paul. While they do not get to throw the discus or jump the pole vault, they still participate in long jump, high jump and shot put. Their coaches, Coach Graves and Coach Royse, led them to a great finish.

serious spirit

Cut-throat? I think not - yet, Harpeth Hall's upper school cheerleading squad has matured and become more organized since its reincarnation a few years back. Still a volunteer-by-game system, the "squad" this year cheered at all basketball games, not just the state and region competitions. These girls did their job to inspire the players, aiding in the basketball team's rise the their first-ever state finals game. The team aspires to never lose it's nonchalant attitude, even while facing growing popularity and appearance requests.

While still aspiring to mirror the perfection and grace of the upper school squad, the middle school cheerleaders are holding their own. While cheering for the middle school basketball team, these girls had routines and actual stunts (sorry upper schoolers) owing to their hard work in practice and at home. As Mamie Nichols related "it was a full time commitment...every waking hour I contemplated moves and timing - the fate of the team lay on each of our shoulders."

While turning away from the SNL style of the upper school, the middle school team allowed younger girls yet another outlet for their school spirit and extracurricular talents.

Habitat for Humanity build

For four weekends, from August 25 to September 16, both students and faculty willingly rolled out of bed early to play with power tools and get dirty. Harpeth Hall, led by the thirty-four members of the Habitat for Humanity committee, joined together with Montgomery Bell Academy in order to build a home for the Hernandez family. While the Student Council donated all profits from Concert on the Lawn and the Halloween dance, The Habitat for Humanity Committee also raised money for the building process through tireless fund-raising. After months of planning and weeks of building, the goal was accomplished; Harpeth Hall succeeded in providing a "simple, decent" home to a family in need.

Looking Ahead Retreats

The initiation of any Harpeth Hall school year would simply be incomplete without the loading-up of buses and the sending-off of HH girls to various locations across Middle Tennessee. This year, the fifth-graders found themselves at Camp Hillmont, the eighth-graders were shipped off to Camp Hillmont, the freshmen went there too (awesome food), the seniors landed at a farm outside of Franklin, and the upper school leaders were surprised to wind up at the Nashville Zoo. While the activities of each retreat varied--the fifth-graders canoed and worked on teamwork, the eighth-graders went swimming and set the theme and tone for the middle school year, the freshmen got to know each other as they added over 30 new girls to their class, the seniors ate a few meals and discussed the college process and their class theme, and the leaders planned for the upcoming school year-- the outcome proved to be the same. Each retreat strengthened the bonds between the girls involved, whether they were meeting for the first time or had been classmates for years, and made it clear that the 2001-2002 school year was just waiting to begin.

This year, the student council brought back a lost Harpeth Hall tradition by reestablishing the annual Concert on the Lawn. A once-anticipated event that has been missing in action for the past few years, Concert on the Lawn was held on Sunday, August 26th, the weekend after the first few days of school. That evening, Harpeth Hall students brought their friends and gathered on the lawn in front of Souby Hall. Senior Recognition Day

After three years of sitting in their assigned auditorium seats, anxiously awaiting the procession of the seniors and silently picking out their favorite white dress from the dozens that passed by in the aisles, the Class of 2002's own Senior Recognition Day finally arrived. That morning, seniors were greeted in front of the Senior House with a breakfast organized by their mothers. In the annual assembly, both senior leaders Cornelia Rowe and Becky Brown gave speeches reflecting on the years the seniors have spent together as well as the year to come. As tradition would have it, at the end of the assembly the seniors proudly donned their senior hats--navy visors displaying "02" in light blue--and marched out of the auditorium where they sang "God Bless America" and chanted the senior cheer. Afterwards, the senior class stripped out of their white dresses and into their clubbing clothes in honor of the class theme, Club 2002.

"NO Business Like..."

Annie Get Your Gun

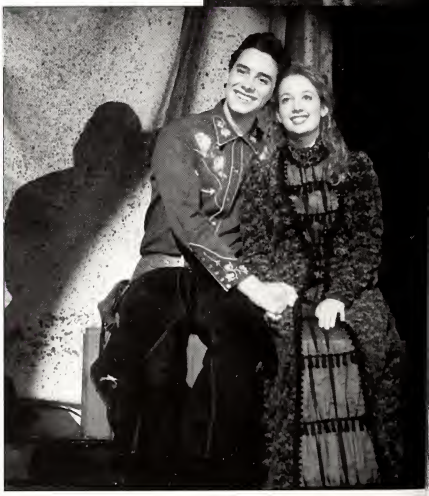

Sharpshooter Annie Oakley once said, "Aim at a high mark and you will hit it. No, not the first time, nor the second, and maybe not the third. But keep on aiming and keep on shooting, for only practice will make you perfect. Finally you'll hit the bull's eye of success." Harpeth Hall Playmakers and MBA Players truly hit the bull's eye of success with their fall production of Irving Berlin's Annie Get Your Gun. The cast of over 40 included Audrey Ball (Annie Oakley), Hunter Mobley (Frank Butler), Jessica Turk (Dolly Tate), and Gregory McCord (Chief Sitting Bull). Directed by Janette Fox Klocko, the cast charmed audiences with the love story of Annie and Frank and performed lively versions of Broadway classics such as "There's No Business Like Show Business" and "You Can't Get a Man with a Gun." The five performances, presented in late September, were especially poignant after September 11th. As faculty member Dr. Echerd wrote in an all-school e-mail, "The fact that the musical was written by Irving Berlin, a Jewish immigrant who grew up on the Lower East Side of Manhattan and who wrote, among other things, 'God Bless America,' made it even more appropriate…Annie Get Your Gun came at a perfect time because it is more than just a play about the glories of show business. Like all great Broadway musicals, it is ultimately a celebration of life itself; it's about the joy of simply being alive. That's why we needed to see it."

As You Like It

Directed by Dr. Cal Fuller, As You Like It emphasized the use of historical perspective in art and the dramatic interpretation of Shakespeare's classic play. E A Manier starred as Rosalind while Melissa Pinsly played the role of her devoted cousin, Celia. Richard Howell played Orlando, and sparks flew as he and Rosalind fell in love amid the beauty of the French countryside. The scenes mimicked famous impressionistic paintings of the nineteenth century. Even though Ms. Klocko did not direct the play, she obviously thought very highly of it. "It was a great opportunity to do another collaboration with the MBA players," she said. After only three weeks of rehearsal, the cast and crew sailed through three successful productions.

little MONSTERS

Halloween Carnival

Not only is Halloween a time for getting, it is also a time at Harpeth Hall for giving. The youngest gals here prove there is no age too young to give to your community. In the annual tradition known as the Halloween Carnival, the fifth and sixth grade goblins set up a mini carnival in the dining hall. There was face-painting, cookie-decorating, and wound-bandaging as well as fishing for treats and a maze. All money raised went to charity. Alumni, faculty, and parents brought their children as the middle school was transformed into Haunted Hall.

Everybody DANCE Now

Fall Dance Concert

You never know what to expect as the lights dim at the beginning of each dance concert--except, of course, the best. Stephanie Hamilton, director and choreographer, always brings out the unique and extraordinary in her biannual productions. This fall the dance concert had two very different themes, although both celebrated the 100th birthday of two key figures in American culture. For the first half of the show, dancers tapped their toes to our favorite Disney tunes, while the second half featured jazz songs by the late great Louis Armstrong. The production culminated in a very patriotic finale. Both the middle school and upper school dance companies participated in this joint production. This year was also special because it featured the dances of two new choreographers, Harpeth Hall alumni Mary Dudley ('96) and Christie Caldwell ('00). Each added her own style to the mix of numbers.

Tea Time! Grandmother's Tea

Grandmother's Tea is one of many long-standing traditions in the middle school. It annually occurs the Monday before Thanksgiving to ensure all the grandmothers and special friends are in town. Each girl, clad in her freshly-starched dress uniform, gathers in the gallery to await, with anticipation, the arrival of her grandmother and/or special friend. After arrival, all gather in the auditorium for awards such as the grandmother who traveled the farthest and the grandmother with the most grandkids at Harpeth Hall. Awards are followed by choral, orchestra, and dance performances. Then, all the guests return to the gallery to enjoy a good old-fashioned "tea". Socializing was the name of the game as they all floated around the gallery mingling and laughing!

Native American Day

Every December, the fifth graders transform the Marnie Sheridan Gallery into an Indian Reservation for the annual Native American Day. Every student who passes through Harpeth Hall's 5th grade knows who played Clamshell Boy in this anticipated event. Though no longer teaching in the middle school, Mrs. Kaplan, along with the other fifth grade teachers, brings a touch of Indian Folklore, food, games, and life to the youngest "tribe" of students. Emails go out to the entire student body a few weeks before the event in search of Native American costumes, making Native American Day an event past fifth graders can relive vicariously. Native American Day is just one of the many cross-curricular learning events in the middle school.

BLAST from the PAST

Colonial Day

Just as the fifth graders spend a day in the life as a Native American, the seventh graders return to "days of yore" in the annual Colonial Day celebration. Students research, present, dress, and display various aspects of colonial life. An authentic tavern, school, home, apothecary and prison are set up, and those that wander outside of the gallery have the option of being a guest at a traditional colonial wedding or being an onlooker at a realistic witch trial. Students also dress the part in this tradition. There is even an old-fashioned colonial store with proceeds going to the seventh grade Head Start community service project. Of course, the most popular item in the store is the oranges with peppermint stick straws.

Winter Formal

As soon as their pencils dropped upon completing those lengthy history exam essays, upper schoolers wasted no time in getting into the festivities of Winter Formal. It was a much-needed welcome to the stir- crazy students after a full week of cramming and taking exams. Scheduled the day of the last exam, Winter Formal was and always is a good excuse to get dressed up and party, but this year it was to a different beat. For the first time, a DJ, rather than a band (that usually feels the need to take a break after every other song), was hired. Another experiment was the Winter Formal Court. Freshman Sarah Baker, sophomore Lauren Powell, junior Annie Huitt, and senior Jennifer Allen were the first representatives of the court. Thanks to the student council, the gallery and gym were brightly lit and festively decorated, ready to welcome-and feed!- all the girls plus dates.

BRRRRR...Winterim

While most schools dread the end of the winter holiday, Harpeth Hall's upper school students can't wait to start the new year. One of Harpeth Hall's most distinguishing characteristics is Winterim, under the direction of Denise Croker. This year, Winterim ran from January 3- 18 (doesn't it seem to be getting shorter and shorter every year?). Freshmen and sophomores geared up for on-campus classes, while juniors and seniors went off into the community...and more exotic places as well. Described as one of the most meaningful times at HH, Winterim offers a taste of the real world. On-campus classes included perennial favorites like Guitar and Songwriting, Mad Hatter's Tea Party, and French Cooking, while new classes such as yoga were added to the program. The girls who left campus took a more homebound route due to traveling problems this year, but still managed to have successful experiences. Internships ranged from doctor's offices to fashion design houses, from newspapers to schools. As always, Winterim proved to live up to high expectations.

KNOWLEDGE IS POWER Schoolhouse Rock

Schoolhouse Rock was the name of the game, or musical, as fifty 7th and 8th graders auditioned, practiced, and performed in this annual Middle School event. Rehearsals began in early January and went right up to our first snow day in 4 years on February 7, 2002. (Who would have thought that we would actually miss a day of school?) Musical and choreographical directors Lynne Rothrock and Stephanie Hamiltion received a few extra grey hairs with these flakes, but despite these obstacles, the show went on. Schoolhouse Rock is a musical review made up of songs from the educational cartoon series that aired in the 70's and 80's. Some may recall the catchy tune of "Conjunction, Junction?" or "Interplanet Janet," who was played this year by Noura Ismail. To wrap up the run, all members of the cast met up for a viewing of their show.

Talent Shows

The night when comedy and talent dominate the stage in the Davis Auditorium: the Talent Show. This year, with hosts Becky Brown and Melissa Pinsly, the itinerary highlighted the voices of Elizabeth Warner, Christine Ekrem, Lauren Ezell,and Audrey Ball. However, arguably the hit vocal performance of the night was Emily Clark's rendition of the Whitney Houston classic, "I Will Always Love You." To much anticipation of her upperclassmates, Wesley Hughes also performed a self-choreographed dance. The grand finale, the culmination of many tireless viewings of Romy and Michele's High School Reunion in the Senior House, involved a flawless dance performance on the part of our hosts and Abigail Markham.

The upper school girls aren't the only Harpeth Hallers with talent. The middle school put on their own talent show, which spanned two days' worth of flex time during school, was hosted by Mary Katherine Bartholomew and Grace Herbert. While Monisha Chakravarthy performed an Indian dance, Alana Essig sang a Broadway hit and the instrumental virtuosos of the Middle School showed off their talents.

Valentine's Dance

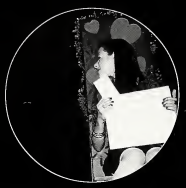

On the Saturday before Valentines Day, what else can be found in the gallery but a bunch of girls dressed in pink and red dueling for a date? The Student Counil sponsors this annual dance, preceded by the ever-popular "Singled Out" game show. With Cornelia Rowe and Tori Tucker as hosts, the girls tried to win dates with MBA boys Richard Greathouse and Jack Bryant, while the guys fought over sophomore Anna Trotter and senior Audrey Ball. After everyone was happily coupled, the party continued out into the gallery, complete with DJ and dance floor. As the night wore on, the crowd dwindled, but the freshmen stayed to soak up their first of many Valentine's Dances.

George Washington Day

On February 21, students, teachers, and parents all gathered in Morrison Gym to witness one of the most time-honored traditions of Harpeth Hall - George Washington Day. Seventh graders are always responsible for putting on the show, and they work for weeks to prepare with Ms. Clark as their leader. Eighth-graders Grace Herbert and Mary Katherine Bartholomew were voted George and Martha Washington by the Class of 2007. As usual, the soldiers' march proved to be a favorite of the crowd, as Becca Hill yelled orders and her soldiers promptly followed. And who could forget Noura Ismail's speech as the French Ambassador? Even the minuet was jazzed up, courtesy of an unknown keyboard player. Although the celebration lasted only an hour, this day proved to be a rite of passage for the seventh graders, and all students who watched had fond memories of what roles they played when they were in seventh grade themselves.

Fifth Grade Trip

For years, Harpeth Hall students have been going to Land Between the Lakes on their class trips. This year, it was the new 5th graders' turn. On September 10th, the Class of 2009 came, the Class of 2009 saw, and the Class of 2009 conquered, as a whole, the many challenging tasks at Land Between the Lakes. The long bus ride with one bathroom and a bumpy course, the nature walk with tons of creepy crawlers, canoeing (...and tipping), and long talks at night in the bunks kept the girls busy. All this and more prepared these individual girls to face their first year at Harpeth Hall.

Eighth Grade Trip

For three days each April, the Harpeth Hall eighth grade overtakes Southwest Airlines on the quick 45-minute flight to the Windy City. Once in Chicago, the class of 2006 embarked on a whirlwind tour which included a trip on the river and visits to the Art Institute, Shedd Aquarium, and Museum of Science and Industry. Rather than bundling up and facing the cold as they had anticipated, eighth graders and their chaperones were happily surprised when they were greeted with uncharacteristic 80-degree weather. When questioned, eighth graders proclaimed that getting to see the Blue Man Group and eating at Ed Debevic's were their favorite activities of the trip. Their least favorite part? Their inability to take advantage of the shopping mecca known as Michigan Avenue.

Journalism Trip

Journalism nerds Anna Smith, Maggie Waltemath, Jenny Paris, Cornelia Rowe, and Becca Durnin packed their bags and reluctantly skipped out on a few days of school to participate in the NSPA/JEA Journalism Conference in Boston. Joined by Ms. Grace, Ms. Croker, Ms. Meltesen, and Ms. Doolittle, all sponsors of Harpeth Hall publications, these girls spent their three days in Boston sightseeing, shopping, eating great food...and attending the conference as well. The conference, which offered lectures and workshops to improve and strengthen publications of high schools nationwide, also served as a forum to talk with other students and exchange ideas. While the conference also offered social opportunites to its participants in the form of a dance, Harpeth Hallers knew where the party was at and instead opted to hang out with their chaperones. All involved left Boston a little more knowlegable and, although they don't like to admit it, a lot more excited to get back to Nashville where the Harpeth Hall publications room was waiting for them to get back to work.

Father-Daughter Dance

On April 17, high-schoolers and their fathers once again queued up and boarded the General Jackson Showboat for yet another Father-Daughter Dance. Once again, dads and their daughters dined on the yearly chicken-and-mushroom concoction while waiting in suspense for Sound Therapy, a band made up of musically-inclined doctors, to play. As usual, a few mischevious dads emerged as the Blues Brothers and showed off their carefully-choreographed dance moves much to the humiliation of their secretly proud daughters, and the seniors hopped on stage to flaunt their own moves. In our ever-changing world, the Father-Daughter Dance refuses to budge.

Under the Sea: Prom 2002

After weeks of hard work and decoration by the juniors and anticipation by the seniors, Prom finally arrived on the night of April 20. This year the juniors chose "Atlantis : The Lost City" as the prom theme, and under the leadership of class president Raleigh Anne Blank, worked for weeks ahead of time making sure the dance went off without a glitch. The gallery was transformed into an underwater paradise, complete with baloons and bubbles. The evening was kicked off with presentation of the junior class officers, the seniors, and this year's prom court - freshman Ellen Hammer, sophomore Gracie Wachtler, junior Emily Wall, seniors Lauren Hills and Ellen Fort, and Prom Queen Lauren Hallemann. Then the girls and their dates danced the night away to the funk and soul of the Tyrone Smith Revue, better known as "Super T", as he shouted, "Work that body!" into the microphone. A new addition to this year's prom was the random drawing for prizes during the dance. By giving away a Coach purse, plane tickets, gift certificates to SATCO, or even dorm refrigerators and microwaves, the juniors hoped to entice the seniors into staying the whole night - and it seemed to work! For the first time in years, many seniors didn't leave until the last dance, realizing this would be their last dance at Harpeth Hall.

Dancing the Night Away

As it has since the beginning of mixer history, the night begins with two herds, the boys and the girls. Slowly, from an interest in the food table and a desire to dance, the two mesh to form an official HH/MBA mixer. While the majority of these events take place right here on the Harpeth Hall campus, others are held at such exotic locations as the bowling alley rather than the gym or dining hall. March 1 and April 5 were just two of several dates when MBA boys joined with the HH middle school girls to dance, have fun, and eat at the middle school mixers. On those highly-anticipated nights, the girls abandoned their books, plaid skirts, and white button-down shirts for their weekend version of the uniform--and perhaps some glittery eyeshadow, too. Others, such as the Halloween mixer, required costumes instead of the tried-and-true black miniskirt and solid-colored t-shirt combo. The best part of those mixers, that will stand forever in the memory of every Harpeth Hall middle schooler? We suspect it's the food.

US Art Show

Throughout the month of April, the works of all photography, media arts, and Art I-III students could be seen as one walked through the gallery on their way to assembly or the gym. The annual Art Show represented all students, displaying the best of their work. Some pieces on exhibit were stationery designed by media arts students, photographs developed by alternative processing by none other than photography students, and self-portraits created by various art students. From the faces of the students and parents who came to the opening to view their peers' and daughters' work, it could be determined that this year's art show did not fall short of anyone's expectations.

AP Art Show

On Friday, April 26, minutes after the last painting was hung, the gallery was opened for the AP Studio Art Show. A product of long hours in a cramped art room, the show exhibited the concentrations each of the sixteen AP Art students had been focusing on for the entire year. An experimentative and creative group, these seniors dabbled in a wide range of media, as displayed in Stephanie Tidwell's oil paintings, which hung alongside Alice Fort's splatter-painted canvases, which could be found near Ciana Pullen's wood carving and mobile. Just as their media varied, so did their concentrations. Keats Johnson, for example, focused her paintings on the sky, while Lauren Hallemann chose members of her own family as her subject matter. All of their work paid off. Remarked their teacher and greatest critic, Rosie Paschall, "This is the best AP art show I have ever seen."

Save the Last Dance

Spring Dance Concert

Each spring, the Harpeth Hall Upper and Middle School Dance Companies perform a series of dances. With elaborate choreography and colorful costumes, those dances range from traditional, classic ballet and jazz to the "Blue Danube Ballet," in which the middle schoolers wore backless tutus and purposefully fell on stage, to the modern dance "Honey," in which the dancers were unceasingly leaping onstage. For the seniors Maria Molteni, Katie Kennedy, Jennifer Allen, Anna Guengerich, Seema Kanwar, Rachael McCord, Ciana Pullen, and Lana Ismail, this was their last dance concert in Davis Auditorium. Yet for the rest of the Harpeth Hall community, this concert simply signified one more in the long, endless stream of the ever-popular dance concert.

Night of the Divas

Music Concerts

Orchestral music, vocal serenades, ensemble playing and chorus numbers: all this, including Ms. Rothrock, Ms. Calloway and an auditorium filled with people, create a night we all know as the music concert. Ms. Rothrock's wild comments and Ms. Calloway's comic improvising always succeed in making these nights eventful. The last concert of the year, the Spring Concert, was made even more memorable when it was realized that this would be Ms. Calloway's last music concert at Harpeth Hall. Her students gave her a tribute and wished her luck and happiness with her new life in Atlanta. She also received a standing ovation at the end of the concert. Both Middle School and Upper School vocalists and instrumentalists performed. Members of the MBA middle school chorus also graced us with their presence and performed alongside our seventh and eighth grade girls. No Harpeth Hall music concert would be complete without a reception held afterward to celebrate the accomplishments of the music students.

"It was fun being in the choral concert, but also sad because it was Ms. Calloway's last show."

Show Girls

Vocal Jazz Concert

[Disclaimer: This was NOT written by a member of the Vocal Jazz Ensemble. The writer is in no way affiliated with such an organization].

May 14th marked the date of the lovely and talented Vocal Jazz Ensemble's annual concert. While the group in its entirety performed renditions of "Crazy," "Somewhere Over the Rainbow," "Bridge Over Troubled Water," and "Say a Little Prayer," members also performed songs they had worked on individually as well as provided backup for Ms. Calloway and Ms. Rothrock's performance of "Respect." Highlights of the night, as testified by audience members? Margaret Riley and Katie Tompkins energetically serenading one another in "Ain't No Mountain High Enough," senior V.J. members donning their cat-eye glasses as they crooned the 1995 Lisa Loeb classic, "Stay," and director Lynne Rothrock's tribute to Dr. Echerd's baldness. The ensemble, which consists of ten juniors and seniors, gave such a lively (and arguably flawless) performance that their own director claimed to not know the girls on stage, as they had transformed so magically from rehearsal just hours before.

MS Athletic Banquet

Throughout the year, the middle school girls have been hiting the courts, fields, and greens throughout Nashville and Willimason County. Swinging racquets, shooting hoops, running laps, and swimming strokes were nothing but ordinary for these girls, and this special ceremony celebrated all their hard work and effort that began on the first day of school for many. Awards like the traditional MVP and Most Improved were given out in addition to an outstanding athlete award for each grade. Despite the usual excitement, there was no major drama at this year's awards except for the mad rush to the food tables after all was said and done, and the relief of parents and athletes alike that the annualshindig ran shorter than it had in years past.

Honoring All Athletes

US Athletic Banquet

On the night of May 16th, all of Harpeth Hall's prized athletes gathered in Morirson gym to be honored and recognized by their coaches and parents. The banquet started out witha fried chicken boxed dinner, and while the crowd munched away, a video highlighting the individual sports was played. Next, the long-awaited athletic loot was given out -certificates, bags, blankets, and the like. Then, each coach spoke about their team and had different awards to give, including the usual MVP and Most Improved awards. Becky Brown gave a teary-eyed senior speech thanking all her coaches and teammates throughout the years. New to the program this year was the recognition of 2 new sports - bowling and lacrosse. At the end of the evening, the girls started getting a little restless during Mrs. Russ's famous closing speech, as the juniors and seniors looked forward to the promise of a fun-filled junior/senior night looming on the horizon.

MS Awards Assembly

While the upper school was gathered in the auditorium with a little bit of extra time to sleep in, the middle school was herded into the auditorium to award and celebrate the academic achievements of its students. Awards are given for each subject area based on merit and passion for that subject. Perhaps the most awards given are those of the language that died years ago. The Middle School Awards Assembly marked the final day of rolling out of bed and into a plaid skirt for the eighth grade, while the rest of the middle school was content with the fact that they only had one more uniform-wearing day to go.

Upper School Awards Day

Although confined to Morrison Gym due to the threat of rain, the 2002 Upper School Awards Day proved to be as entertaining as always. The final day of school before exams (and the last chance to pull on the plaid), awards day began with the ever-popular song competition between the four intramural clubs in which medleys once again proved to be the winning choice. The rest of the morning consisted of the distribution of awards, the announcement of the Lady of the Hall and her court, and the dedication of the yearbook. The upper schoolers somehow sat patiently, if not restlessly, through their final few hours of school.

May Day Step-Singing

Held the Sunday before graduation, Step-Singing remains an annual Harpeth Hall tradition that dates back to the days of Ward-Belmont. It has persisted as an event in which the Lady of the Hall and her Court are recognized and a ceremony in which leadership is passed down from the seniors to the juniors. Becky Brown, who was voted this year's Lady of the Hall without nomination, addressed the audience with both her honesty and humor. Afterwards, the Class of 2002 sang their Senior Song, "Remember." The juniors then followed with the recitation of the senior pledge and the singing of "When You Come Back Down." Finally, Anne Prosser, a graduate of Harpeth Hall who was chosen by the Senior Class as step-singing speaker, reflected on her personal experiences involving September 11 and escape from the World Trade Center and the changes she has faced in her life.

MS Honor Day

For many, Memorial Day is a school holiday. For the middle school it is a day to honor their 8th graders as they make the transition across the lawn, across town, or even across the country to a new environment in upper school. Graduates gather early Monday morning for one last group picture in the Horton Garden. All in their white dresses, they move to the gym to line up for procession. After a ceremony filled with speeches, songs, awards, and the presentation of certificates, the new freshmen join in a chorus of their class song..."Are you a freshmen..."

For the last time this school year, the 6th grade chorus wears their crisp white shirts and serenades the Class of 2006.

The Closing of Club 2002 US Graduation

The morning of Monday, May 27th, each of the eighty-eight seniors rolled out of bed to be faced with the glorious fact that yes, the weather forecasters had been wrong, and that no, it wasn't going to rain on graduation this year. As the 137th graduating class, as well as the first class to graduate in front of the Ann Scott Carrell Library, the Class of 2002 gracefully processed into the commencement ceremony moments after last-minute hair stresses and scarfing-down of popcorn. "Years ago, I came up with the bizarre notion that as a graduate processed across the stage to receive her diploma, the song of her choosing would play in the background, like at an awards show when the actress of the winning television sitcom walked to receive her award," remarked Becca Durnin, elected senior speaker. Although no graduation theme songs were played this year, the ceremony still proved memorable. Thankful to be wearing white dresses of their choosing rather than the dreadful cap-and-gown duo of neighboring schools, the newly-graduated seniors resisted the urge to grab their diplomas and run and instead sat through the ceremony like the eloquent women their school has taught them to be. Immediately afterward, they chanted their senior chant one last time, "just for old time's sake."

Smart Business Woman

Able to Communicate

Be so strong that nothing can disturb your peace of mind. Talk health, happiness, and prosperity to every person you meet. Make all your friends feel there is something special in them. Look at the sunny side of everything. Think only of the best, work only for the best, and expect only the best. Be as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own. Forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future. Give everyone a smile. Spend so much time improving yourself that you have no time left to criticize others. Be too big for worry and too noble for anger.

enduring FREEDOM

Tuesday, September 11, 2001, will be remembered as a tragic day that changed the world. That morning, a plot, masterminded by terrorist Osama bin Laden and the al-Qaeda network, was put into action. Two hijacked commercial airliners were flown into New York City's World Trade Center Towers, ultimately causing their collapse. Immediately following the incident, another hijacked airliner crashed into one side of the Pentagon in Washington, D.C, and a fourth plane crashed in Pennsylvania. Thousands of lives were lost, citizens were terrified and the world was in shock.

Following that mournful day the United States experienced anthrax scares, continued security threats and the reality of war. Despite the horror, fear and heartache, U.S. citizens united and their patriotic spirit soared. President Bush promised: "We will not tire, we will not falter, we will not fail." Through that statement and the remarkable sense of national pride exuded by U.S. citizens, it became evident that no threat, great or small, could deter the United States resolve for enduring freedom.

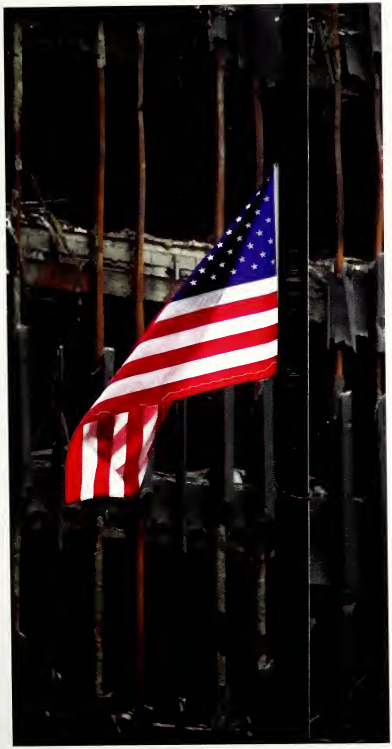

In response to the shocking tragedy, President George W. Bush addresses the nation offering strength, comfort and patriotism.

Ailing airlines urge citizens to defy terrorists' attempts to disrupt lives by reboarding airplanes.

Thousands of people world-wide donate blood and volunteer their services to aid U.S. recovery.

An overwhelming spirit of unity and national pride arises out of the smoldering ashes and human devastation from the September 11 attacks on the United States.
