DEDICATION

MISS PENELOPE MOUNTFORT

Many people, seldom realizing how much they mean to those around them, simply cannot be taken for granted. Certainly Miss Penny is one of these individuals. Although she is occupied with writing transcripts and helping seniors in college decisions, Miss Penny listens patiently to all problems and offers advice and encouragement. A much sought-after lady because of her background in counseling, science, and photography, she is always willing to give any help she can. Without her, Harpeth Hall seniors would not have made such a strong impression on colleges; without her, we would not have published so many fine yearbooks. People like Miss Penny, for whom dedication is a way of life, do not seek special recognition. Nevertheless, Miss Penny, we would like to take this opportunity to show our appreciation and love by dedicating to you Milestones 1977.

In an environment so carefully planned and plaid . . .

it's the special friends,

tradition,

and the surprises,

that make the time spent at Harpeth Hall a unique experience.

FACULTY AND CLASSES

MISS McMURRY

Idanelle McMurry: Headmistress—

When a new freshman at Harpeth Hall sees this impressive title on top of a tall doorway, it can be a bit frightening. However, when Miss McMurry greets this same girl later in the hall with a warm smile and calls her by name, that student has an opportunity to see the side of Miss McMurry that we all appreciate. As the president of the National Association of Private Schools for Girls and an active member in several other organizations, Miss McMurry carries a very heavy load: traveling to various cities for endless meetings and writing letters to numerous correspondents. Somehow, however, she always manages to have some time to spend with students and faculty. She helps to determine the class schedules, attends assemblies when she is in town, makes a point to be present at the George Washington celebrations and both class plays, comes to the All-Club Picnics, and even plays in volleyball games. This year, she has had the added responsibility of lessening the chaos caused by the construction. Miss McMurry does much for Harpeth Hall, but the quality we appreciate most is just that she is herself.

MISS FESSEY

The one person responsible for keeping the Middle School running in the right direction is Miss Fessey. Obviously, she's the one to talk to when a Middle Schooler has a problem, but she is also glad to have students stop in merely to say "Hi." Miss Fessey has been here since the opening of the Middle School nine years ago. She is seen at all its athletic events and other activities. To her, one pleasant advantage of her position in the Middle School is that she can get to know both the girls and the faculty well. "Of course," she admits, "you've got to fuss sometimes, but usually fussing isn't necessary." Certainly her theory that learning is important, but that the enjoyment of the learning process at the same time is equally important, is reflected in the happy atmosphere. Teachers in the Middle School believe that she is truly responsible for that special warm feeling there.

MISS HENSLEY

There are some members of our faculty who seem to have an infinite number of jobs. One of the most important of Miss Hensley's is that of chief coordinator of the Winterim Program. This job involves a tremendous amount of work, for she must make arrangements for all classes and trips and plan individually with those who choose an independent study or decide to pursue a career interest. Along with this job, she must shoulder the burden of a disciplinarian role which comes along with her sponsorship of the Student Council. In addition, she teaches a class of political science. Despite some conflicts because of disciplinary situations and the tight time schedule she must keep, Miss Hensley maintains a friendly relationship with the students at Harpeth Hall.

MISS HERRING

As Director of Finance and Development, Miss Herring has supervised the campaign to raise funds for the new classrooms and for the new building complex nearing completion below the Ward-Belmont Garden. She took the I.D. pictures of each of us this year and helped us with our magazine sale. Such responsibilities as budget administration and building maintenance occupy a large part of Miss Herring's time also. Harpeth Hall is certainly lucky to have such an efficient and hard-working member on the staff.

MRS. McLEAN

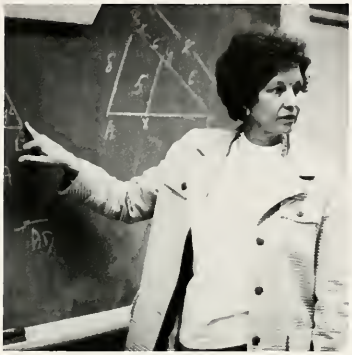

Did you ever wonder who spends hours laboriously copying down your grades on your report card? The answer is Mrs. McLean. However, copying grades on report cards is only one of her many tasks. Mrs. McLean spends most of her time keeping the general ledger, sending bills, buying books for classes, and helping prevent utter chaos in the general state of school affairs. She has the essential job of handling payrolls, receiving and recording donations, and taking care of the minute books for the Board of Trustees meetings. Somehow, she finds the time to teach typing classes and run the bookstore. Mrs. McLean has been a real asset in keeping business affairs straight here at Harpeth Hall since the school was founded. Now, with the enlargement of her staff, the number of her duties has decreased; yet she is still an important member of our staff.

MRS. NICHOLS

By her great industry and hard work Mrs. Polly Nichols, Director of Alumnae, keeps our career-oriented graduates well-informed of improvements and developments on the Harpeth Hall campus. This is achieved for the most part by the publication of the Harpeth Hall Alumnae News. Always wearing a smile, Mrs. Nichols works in Souby Hall with Miss Herring handling alumnae activities. Without the dedication shown by Mrs. Nichols toward her work, the graduates of previous years would not be able to keep so alive their memories of Harpeth Hall.

CLASS OF 1977

The expression "save the best for last" holds true for the Class of 1977. In our junior year, we hired "The Fountain of Youth," alias Mrs. Marney, as our faculty guide to greatness. We have let down our barriers to become "Friends." With the loss of a friend, we learned that friendship and time are priceless gifts. We decided to "Celebrate" our last year together to learn from each other. Senior retreats, a new Coke machine in the Senior House—"Does anybody have a dime I can borrow?"—M&M's, crying over Advanced Composition and soap operas, Red-Rover, Red-Rover, breakfast at Shoney's, an extra Senior cut, our Senior skit, and the shared excitement of what the future holds, made our last year at H.H. the best.

Our Beloved Sponsor
(Thanks, Mrs. Moran!)

This year our Junior Class, under our fearless leader Sharon and our enthusiastic sponsor Mrs. Moran, proved that we could work together to build a stronger class. Our Halloween pumpkin sale turned out to be a great success along with our slave sale in which each Junior worked to earn money for the class. In addition to showing the rest of the school that the Juniors were really "cool," the Junior Play turned out to be as much fun to work on as it was to watch. As the year drew to a close, we took great pleasure in presenting the Seniors at the spring combo. In view of the fact that this has been our best year yet, we're hoping that our Senior year will be our best year ever!

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The Sophomores ("wise fools") overcame the burden of their name and showed their wisdom in many ways throughout the school year. For a class of 115 people, getting organized is somewhat difficult; but under the leadership of the Grays (Julia and Mrs.) they managed this organization with great success. On certain dates, the Sophs brought refreshments and decorations to cheer the days of the faculty and each class. Their class demonstrated a great deal of talent as well as spirit and dedication in the Sophomore Skit, a fitting end to a successful year!

FRESHMAN CLASS

It did not take long for the Freshman Class to overcome the confusion of the Upper School and unite to make this year special for everyone. The Freshmen joined in many activities this year. Their concern for the elder members of the community became evident through their Christmas project, a visit to a nursing home. The agility of the Freshman Basketball Team demonstrated the athletic prowess of the class. Finally, the Freshmen received their invitation into the Upper School as they marched and minueted for George Washington's Birthday. The Class of 1980 looks forward to making its Sophomore year as exciting as the year of 1976-77.

EIGHTH GRADE

The Eighth graders this year showed enthusiasm in all of their activities. The class united in the traditional fund raising project. Excited over the outcome of the stationery sales, the eighth grade began plans for what would become of their six hundred fifty dollars. After a band for the annual combo was hired, the eldest in the Middle School waited in anticipation for April, when they with their dates would "boogie" between eight and eleven o'clock P.M. The many hours of searching for a spiral staircase proved worthwhile when the theme, "Stairway to Heaven" turned out to be an excellent choice of background for the dance. Finally, after surviving the trials of the Middle School, this vivacious group is prepared for the Upper School.

In seventh grade we had a ball,
It started in the early fall,
We struggled through the sunny spring,
But didn't learn a single thing.
The year is over; we've got it made,
But now we've got to face eighth grade!

SIXTH GRADE

The sixth grade at Harpeth Hall is divided into two teams, the Greenie Meanies and the Greyhounds. At Christmas this year, the girls went to the Heads Up Development Center and gave their friendship to little boys and girls. They also served refreshments and presented the play The Night Before Christmas. On the day after Valentine's Day, the teams held a bake sale, from which the money earned went to the Heart Fund. Several times during the year the Greenie Meanies and Greyhounds challenged each other to a game of battle ball or solcum and sometimes to other athletic contests involving skills such as juggling. There were even spelling bees! Whether participating in a joint project or competing against each other, the Greyhounds and Greenie Meanies always had fun.

NEW ADDITIONS

Harpeth Hall has gradually realized its dream as the auditorium/gymnasium/art gallery complex nears completion. Ever since the ground breaking last May, the building has slowly grown from a gaping hole in the ground to a most impressive building. All students are anxiously awaiting September and the opening of our new building.

NEW ADDITIONS

In the early summer of 1976 the appearance of the Harpeth Hall campus began to change drastically.

Foundations for the Francis Bond Davis Auditorium, Marnie Sheridan Art Gallery, and Catherine E. Morrison Gymnasium rose quickly.

The rapid progress of the new buildings was watched carefully by students and teachers alike.

The construction caused some inconveniences such as the overcrowded parking lots . . .

. . . and a new situation because of the large male population on campus.

We eagerly anticipate the move into the spacious new buildings next year.

WALLACE WING

It's nice to have lockers that lock!

We're enjoying the spacious new classrooms, . . .

. . . but we surely miss the old auditorium!

Harpeth Hall will never be the same, except in memory.

The smiles, the voices, the faces,

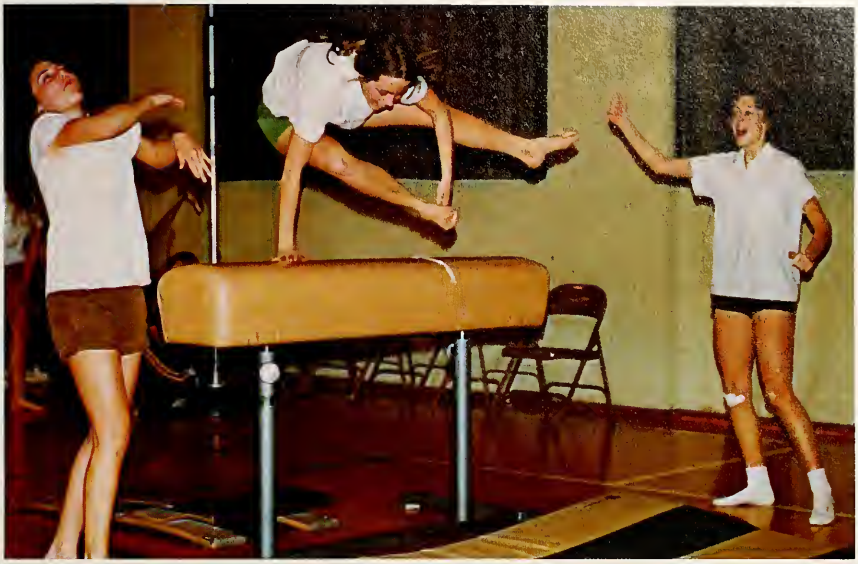

the moments that cannot be recreated,

even the appearance of the school as it grows,

are lost . . . .

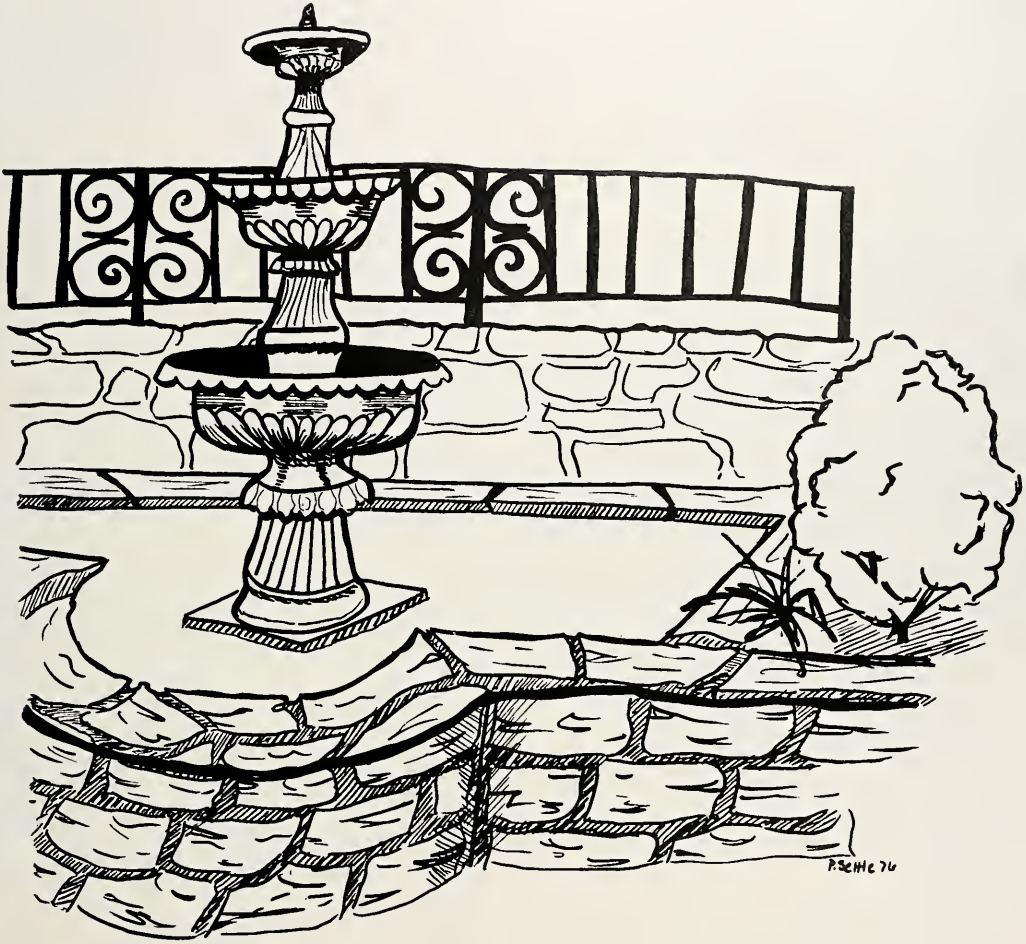

except to those of us who shared them.

Often looked upon as one of the most dashing and daring collections of students on the Harpeth Hall campus, the Student Council is most essential because of its accomplishments as a governing body. Doubtless its antics show school spirit and help to instill enthusiasm in other students. To preserve the sanity of the school, they sponsor events such as combos and "duds days." However, they must also deal with complaints and suggestions coming from the students and faculty and impose discipline on unruly members of the student body. It is a favorable reflection on the school that we elected for 1976-1977 a group able to fulfill these duties so admirably.

STUDENT-FACULTY COMMITTEE

The Student-Faculty Committee added interest this year to our regular assembly programs. They planned a series of stimulating programs concerned with the performing arts. A few of the programs we saw were in the areas of mime, chamber music, and theatre, which the students seemed to enjoy very much. The Student-Faculty Committee's main function is to encourage communication between the student body and the faculty. A group of teachers meets every week with representatives from the student body, and if any student wishes to come to this meeting, she may. Altogether, the Student-Faculty Committee is an important assemblage at Harpeth Hall.

PRESIDENTS' COUNCIL

It is a point worth considering that the events sponsored by various clubs and classes during the school year never seem to conflict. This is due largely to the meetings of the Presidents' Council, which discusses projects suggested by different groups. It is because of their efforts that annual undertakings such as the Thanksgiving Project and Eccowasin Talent Show prove so beneficial and enjoyable for the school. In addition, the members of the Presidents' Council act as hostesses for testing days when the school wishes to show off some of its best citizens.

PENSTAFF

Being a member of Penstaff means several things. It means that you enjoy writing and are proud of your work; it means you like to hear other people's ideas. It means that you want people to know what you have to say, that you believe that your thoughts are important. Members of Penstaff are exposed to many personalities, problems, emotions, and different views of familiar situations. The work that goes into Hallmarks is the kind that can be both entertaining and enlightening.

LOGOS II

Five times a year, the Harpeth Hall newspaper staff produces a publication telling us exactly who's who and what's what on campus. This great feat is the Logos II. The staff members on the Logos II work long, hard hours to produce their newspaper, which covers such items as athletics, campus gossip, life histories of teachers, and upcoming monthly happenings to plot upon your calendar. The Logos II staff is headed by Mrs. Ward; under her command are various talented young journalists who always succeed in keeping the girls at the Hall informed.

MILESTONES

To confine the spirit of even one day at Harpeth Hall, let alone an entire year, and place it on the pages of a book is an unrealistic goal. Photographs, artwork, and words cannot relate the smell of popcorn in the Senior house, or the stench of burning cardboard that chased everyone out of Little Harpeth in February. They cannot recreate the chills we felt when it was only sixty degrees inside or the stir of excitement at finding it was finally as warm outside. Even the sounds of the last bell on a Friday afternoon, a teacher offering advice or encouragement, and the referee's whistle in a tight basketball game always escape when any effort is made to put them in print. However, there must be some reason for the Friday afternoons sacrificed and the patience and cooperation exhibited by the Milestones staff when confronted with petty annoyances and constant frustrations. Perhaps, while this book can only suggest the instances and the sensations of the year, its value increases when our eyes are closed.

This year was the first ever for T.S.S.A.A. volleyball; and the Harpeth Hall Honeybears, under Miss Webster's dedicated coaching, stunned the city with their super performance. The long, hot afternoons spent practicing certainly paid off as the team finished the regular season with a 12-0 record. Taking first place in the district by defeating McGavock, after which Lisa Lee and Alison Floyd were named members of the District All-Star team, the Honeybears then traveled to the Regionals where they finished as runners-up to McGavock. Next in line was the State Tournament, where the Honeybears earned the respect of both coaches and players throughout the state as they almost defeated Chatanooga-Kirkman in the first round. The Honeybears won one game from them, a feat that no other team has accomplished before this year.

This year's track and cross country teams have done exceptionally well once again. Due to the coaching of Steve Kramer and the devotion of the team members, who practiced in sun, rain, and snow, the cross country team succeeded in taking the city, regional, and state titles. The track team easily captured the district meet and also made an impressive showing in the regional meet. The members of both teams were well rewarded for these efforts by their frequent successes. Although the seniors will be sorely missed, the track and cross country members look forward to equally rewarding seasons next year.

Margaret Groos has certainly claimed a place of honor during her years at Harpeth Hall. She has set records in the mile, 880, and 440 in the Green Hills Relays, the Optimist Relays, and District Meet, as well as mile and 880 for National, State, and Regional records. It remains for her now only to break her own records. She has run against both Russian and West German Junior Teams and is a 1980 Olympic hopeful.

However, Margaret has also proven herself capable in school work and in the fields of music and photography. Because she has contributed her utmost to the school, we would like to pay tribute to her and express our appreciation for all that she has done.

The basketball team, coached by Miss Webster, had a fine showing this year. Their enthusiasm was apparent as they sponsored bake sales, duds days, raffles, and a student-faculty game in order to pay for their new uniforms. Two players won special recognition for their talents: Allison Floyd became a member of the All NIL Team, and Lisa Bass received honorable mention. Harpeth Hall is proud of the talent and school spirit displayed by this year's basketball team.

This year, the Harpeth Hall tennis team members, guided by Miss Patty, set out to retain their control over the NIL by winning for the fifth consecutive year. Their biggest goal was to win the Regional State Championships. Southern ranked players Kathy Denton and Liz Jamison led the team in its winning streak. The rest of the line included Edie Carell, Tracy Goldman, Susan Crenshaw, Dana Buttrey, and returning seniors Libby Evans, Allison Floyd, Julie Carell, and Debbie Denton. The team played a heavy schedule of matches against local schools during the week with larger tournaments on the weekends. They participated in the Rotary Tournament in Chattanooga. Under Miss Patty, their sponsor, this team has helped to continue the winning tradition of Harpeth Hall tennis.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

The Freshman Class did an exceptional job with this year's celebration of George Washington's birthday. The Class of 1980 did not show any signs of stage fright during the two performances for students, faculty, and parents. Amy Grant and Lisa Bass, as Martha and George Washington, celebrated his two hundred and forty-fifth birthday in grand style. The sailors performed their hornpipe, the soldiers marched their drill, and the distinguished ladies and gentlemen danced the minuet. The addition of some new costumes provided even more interest for the program. Under the direction of Miss Patty, this annual event was again a success in bringing the Freshman Class together and honoring the father of our country.

SENIOR SKIT

The Senior House created the perfect setting for Linda Pargh and Melinda Smith to reminisce about their past four years at Harpeth Hall. The Seniors shared memories of what it was like to be freshmen looking at the Senior house with uncertainty and their fear as sophomores of Sergeant Marney. Eight singing Reeses Cups, Miss Penny's famous Junior College Class, and two obese Seniors comically depicted their last two years. The theme of the play was revealed at the end of the skit when the Seniors sang "We're Seniors in the World. Recalling all the times that we've had; We're Seniors in the World, Don't you think that time goes by fast . . ."

JUNIOR PLAY

"Hello, I'm Betty Marney and I don't like you." "But Mr. Kramer, we love your body." "I'm sorry, girls, I cannot hear you." "Mr. Kramer, we love your body." "Certainly that's true!" "Buy Converse tennis shoes. They're the best. Billy says so!" "Sit down Ginger." "That's WaRterfield, Joan Metz Warterfield. . . ."

Even though it got off to a late start, the Junior Play turned out to be a great success as the result of many early mornings and late afternoons spent practicing. This year's play, dedicated to the Seniors, paid tribute by sharin' our C.O.O.L. as a "class offering of love."

YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU

The three dramatic productions under the direction of Mrs. Nancy Gray, You Can't Take It With You, The Crucible, and the final production of several short skits in "Exit Laughing" inspired enthusiasm by actors and audiences alike. The drama department is certainly to be congratulated for its dynamic performances.

"EXIT LAUGHING"

THE CRUCIBLE

COMBOS

The social events of each season are always the Harpeth Hall combos. This year was no exception! The Student Council sponsored two combos, and the Junior Class gave its annual prom for the seniors.

Belle's Saloon was the scene for the fall combo, as new freshmen had their first chance to ask out their favorite guys. Spring came; and everyone spent an evening at "The Alley," decorated with scenes of gangsters with guns and girls with brightly colored boas.

The Junior Prom, festive with suntanned girls in long dresses, gave the juniors an opportunity to entertain for the seniors.

Not everyone is a steady combo-goer; but those of us who are retain memories of last minute blind dates with our best friend's cousin, slow dances spent frantically trying to think of something to say, and the good-night kiss that was not quite as great as expected.

PIRATES OF PENZANCE

With a remarkable combination of talents, the MBA Chorus and the Harpeth Hall Glee Club joined in Gilbert and Sullivan's The Pirates of Penzance, produced by Mr. Gerald Author and Mrs. Gail Wolery, directed by Mrs. Nancy Gray, and accompanied by Mrs. Ann Bishop. Performed for Harpeth Hall, MBA, both of their auxiliaries, and various other schools, the musical was a smashing success.

ASSEMBLIES

Many Harpeth Hall students feared that this year's assemblies would be entirely unbearable because of the lack of an auditorium. These fears were not realized, as the quality of the programs compensated for the lack of comfort. Including everything from student-faculty athletic competition to programs based on the arts, assemblies raised an enthusiastic response from the student body this year.

WINTERIM

WINTERIM

January of 1977 found Harpeth Hall students scattered from Italy to Wyoming, from Mexico to New England. Meanwhile, in Nashville, other H.H. students were wishing the snow would melt so that they could start school again. Do you find this odd? Probably not—if you know about Winterim.

The especially messy weather this January hampered some students' programs, but everyone still gained a lot from the time that she could spend. On campus, the freshmen and sophomores enjoyed the usual variety of mini-courses ranging from Vegetarianism to "arm-chair" tours of England. The students working off campus spent their time in banks, recording studios, hospitals, and newspaper printing companies.

The result of all this? Everyone learned a lot about life outside Nashville, career possibilities, and most important, about themselves. We were all glad to find that, at the end of the month, Miss Hensley had survived with hair, good humor, and sanity intact, having accomplished a major feat again this year.

WINTERIM

ARTS FESTIVAL

The first annual Harpeth Hall Arts Festival was kicked off with Pirates of Penzance, sponsored by the Harpeth Hall Glee Club and the M.B.A. Chorus. Thursday was filled with surprises as the Student Council kidnapped the entire upper school for a picnic and games in the park. Friday brought the Clothesline Art Show and a dinner theatre, featuring singing followed by the Drama Club's presentation of "Exit Laughing." Certainly the week was a success, and everyone exited laughing.

JUNIOR-SENIOR DAY

HONORS AND GRADUATION

ALL-CLUB PICNIC

When the days in Nashville finally begin getting warmer, and memories of September become blurry, the girls at Harpeth Hall await excitedly the last day of classes and the All-Club Picnic. This annual event is a day for endings and good-byes, when the school honors those who have excelled throughout the year.

This year several special happenings marked the picnic. Angkor broke the Triad winning streak in the club song competition. Miss McMurry announced Mrs. Ottarson's retirement and awarded her a permanent position as an honorary member of the faculty. Students were recognized for their achievements in citizenship, athletics, attendance, academics, and spirit. Frances Diefendorf and the Student Council said good-bye after a year of outstanding accomplishments.

The day ended with smiles and tears, as exams approached and another school year came to an end.

CUM LAUDE SOCIETY

The Harpeth Hall Chapter of the Cum Laude Society strives to uphold its motto of "Areté, Diké, Timé." The literal translation of these Greek words is "excellence, justice, honor;" but each contains a deeper meaning. Areté refers to excellence in virtue as well as scholarship; Diké embodies that which is proper and suitable; and Timé applies to dignity and merit with honor. The girls chosen for membership include those students with the highest scholastic average from the Junior and Senior classes. Because of the absence of an auditorium during this year of change, the Society was not able to perform one of its main duties—that of coordinating chapel programs. The girls did, however, continue their student tutoring program with great success. The members of the Cum Laude Society maintain the standards for which Harpeth Hall was founded.

Old Members: Kneeling: S. Barge, M. Groos.
Standing: N. Hammonds, Mrs. Ottarson, A. Cross, J. Charlet, N. Swystun.

New Members: Kneeling: L. Ferguson, S. Holmes, B. Adkins, D. Tedesco, L. Bourner, T. Welch, S. Naylor, L. Muller, F. Charlton, J. Oglesby, M. Diddle, L. Montague, G. Tipton, S. Byrn.

NATIONAL MERIT

Finalists: S. Holmes, N. Swystun, N. Hammonds. Not pictured: K. Akers.

Commendees: Seated: A. Cross.
Standing: L. Berry, L. Montague, D. Freeman, A. Hall, N. Diehl.

This year Harpeth Hall was proud to have among its graduates two winners of National Merit Scholarships in addition to its several finalists and commendees. The recipients of this prestigious award, Nancy Hammonds and Nancy Swystun, will use their scholarship at University of Virginia and Rice University respectively. This honor is bestowed on the basis of scores on the PSAT/NMSQT's, which are administered in the fall of the junior year. The National Merit Scholarship Corporation recognizes those students in the top 2% of the nation as commendees and awards to those in the top .5% of the nation the title of National Merit Semi-finalist. Semi-finalists must submit an application and school recommendation to become finalists. Scholarships are then awarded to some finalists, based on their high school records and activities.

MIDDLE SCHOOL HONOR DAY

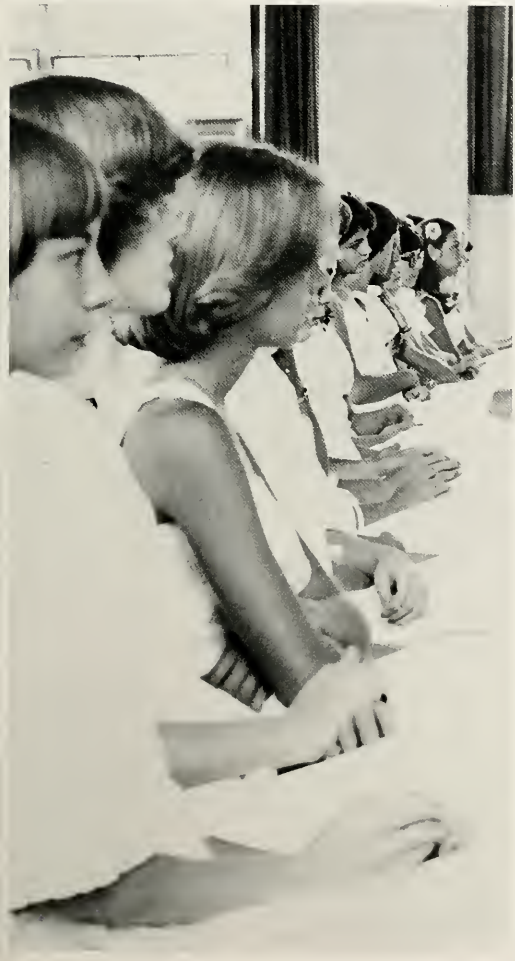

For some, Honor Day came slowly and signified only the end of a long school year. For the eighth graders it was a more meaningful event. This day represented a major turning point in their lives as they now move on toward high school. Along with the presentation of the girls' hard-earned certificates of graduation came the announcement of the recipients of several awards. Sissy Poole, Leslie Wallace, and Leslie Rodgers received the spirit awards for their respective classes, and Joanne Rosenblum and Allison Harper were honored for their exceptional work in Latin and French respectively. Triad won the citizenship cup and Angkor once again received the sports trophy. These honors gave the sixth and seventh graders incentive for further participation in the Middle School and the eighth graders a sense of pride in the completed accomplishments of their Middle School years.

SENIOR BANQUET

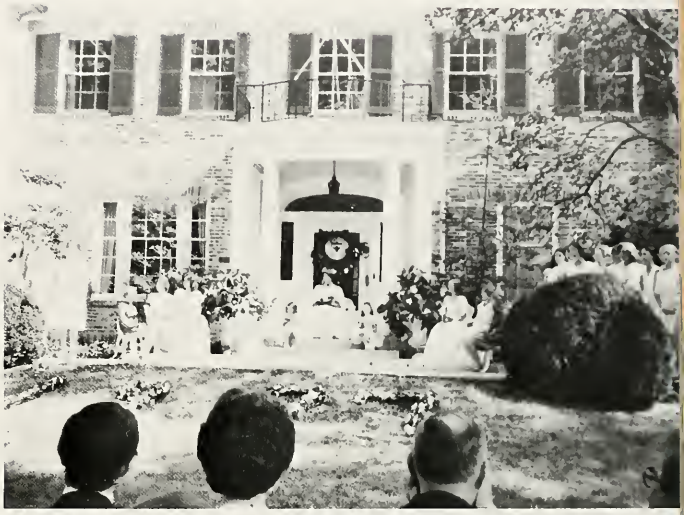

STEP SINGING

Each day it seems we draw a little closer
We're independent yet can unify
Sharing fears, expressing hopes and feelings
As friends together watch our childhoods fly
Making friends for the world to see
In these friendships we've got the strength we need
Standing all together we can reach our height
If your friends are there then everything's all right.

It seems to me a crime that we will end
These happy days we've had both great and small
These times we neither can or shall replace
As friends together we are one in all
Making friends we'll forever keep
In these friendships we've got the strength we need
Standing all together, we can reach our height
If your friends are there then everything's all right
If your friends are there then everything's all right

Through the years we have strived to find
Friendship and the love that we deserve
We've worked hard to be together one
And unified and happy we've become
We've seen the hard times
We've seen the good times
We see there's hope ahead
And maybe our bright spirits
will guide us through.

We have strived to find some peace of mind
Through problems we are faced with every day
Still we are a personality
Free to make the world what it should be
We've seen the hard times
We've seen the good times
We see there's hope ahead
And maybe our bright spirits
will guide us through.

We are faced with life ahead of us
We can't tell the future what to bring
We have made our aim to become
The special people in the world today
We've seen the hard times
We've seen the good times
We see there's hope ahead
And we know our bright spirits will guide us through.

The Lady of the Hall is traditionally the senior "who most exemplifies the ideals of Harpeth Hall." As president of the Student Council, Frances Diefendorf has had a rather unique opportunity to do this by helping to shape the standards which Harpeth Hall holds as its ideal. Therefore, the honor of being Lady of the Hall is a special one for Frances. The school has shown her that it respects both what she is and what she has tried to help the school become. Of course, Frances' willingness to take responsibility is itself a trait which Harpeth Hall values, and one which she has displayed throughout her time here in both church and school. Her record is very impressive: she has been an officer in numerous clubs; she was a member of the Presbyterian Youth Council, a Senate page at the State Legislature during Winterim of her junior year, an attendant for Lady of the Hall, and the winner of the D.A.R. award for citizenship this year. However, the school elected Frances Lady of the Hall not out of awe for her list of accomplishments and achievements, but out of a genuine admiration for what she gave to them: dedication and enthusiasm. Frances has spent quite a bit of time, energy, and patience in devising new projects for the Student Council as well as taking care of the traditional duties, which include organizing combos, plays, and raffles. Falkhasmjaks day is a rather exceptional example of her determination. Frances certainly "exemplifies the ideals of Harpeth Hall" in the best way possible—by defining, recognizing, and accomplishing them.

KATIE WRAY AWARD

This year the Katie Wray Award for the student with the highest four year average went to Nancy Swystun, who graduated with a 3.103 average. Besides this well-deserved award, Nancy also received at graduation the Presidents' Council Award for the highest four-year average in English and the Mu Alpha Theta Award for the highest average in four years of mathematics. Besides her other academic achievements which include placement in local Math IV and Algebra II contests; the N.C.T.E. Achievement Award in Writing; the Sewanee Club Award for outstanding character, scholarship, and citizenship potential; and the Sophie Dobson Award all four years; she is quite active in school organizations. Nancy has contributed much time and effort to all of the literary publications at Harpeth Hall. She has been a member of the Logos II staff and was Sports Editor her junior year. She has been a member of Penstaff, the literary club, for four years and has contributed poems to Hallmarks. A very hardworking member of the yearbook staff her junior year, she became Managing Editor of Milestones her senior year. Her academic excellence won her membership in the Mu Alpha Theta Club and in the Cum Laude Society her junior year. Nancy, who has already begun pursuing her career interest at the Purdue Summer Engineering Seminar preceding her senior year here, will continue in the field of engineering at Rice University on a National Merit Scholarship. Although we at Harpeth Hall hate to see Nancy go, we know that she will be a tremendous asset to Rice and to the field of engineering.

CITIZENSHIP BRACELET

The Citizenship Bracelet is awarded each year to the Senior who has earned the greatest number of citizenship points in four years at Harpeth Hall. These points indicate the student's attitude in the classroom, interest in outside activities, and willingness to accept responsibilities in both areas. Amy Cross, this year's recipient of the award, is certainly a fine example of these qualities. Her scholastic achievements earned her membership in the Cum Laude Society at the end of her junior year. She was selected to represent Harpeth Hall in the Math Contest several times, and the Senior Class chose her as one of six students to go to the High School Quiz Bowl at University of Tennessee, Nashville to compete with other schools. Everyone at the Quiz Bowl was amazed at her ability to answer all the history questions. Amy served as treasurer of the Cum Laude Society her senior year. She was active in the Red Cross Club throughout her years at Harpeth Hall because of her concern for those about her and was president of this organization her junior year. Amy's diverse talents and interests culminated in her participation in the staff of Logos II, the school newspaper. She held the positions of Business Manager, Correspondence Editor, and finally Co-Editor-in-Chief and could always be counted on to do an excellent job. Amy is interested also in Historic Preservation, a career which she will pursue next year in the Honors Program at the University of Tennessee, and one in which she will no doubt succeed.

GRADUATION

As the Class of 1977 bid its final farewell to Harpeth Hall, it was with the hope that we would not be forgotten. The seniors of 1977 left their mark in the many changes they made, such as having the Senior Banquet at a senior's home and consolidating Lady of the Hall and Step Singing ceremonies. Even at graduation, the class' mark of individuality was present as we had the first student speaker. Undoubtedly, Harpeth Hall has also made its mark on each of us, and we will never forget the time we have spent growing and learning together. Thus it is with great hope the seniors leave: our individual hopes for the future, and the hope that our past together will continue to hold great importance for each of us and for those who knew us. With this thought . . . . . .

Exeunt Class of '77

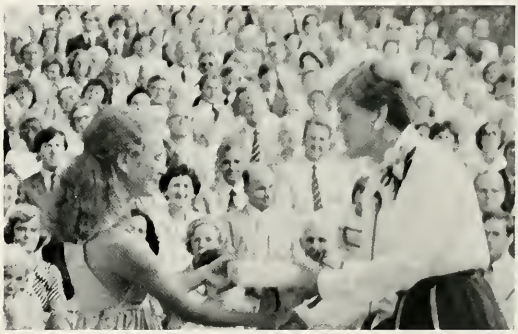

For his many years of dedicated service, the faculty and staff awarded Daugh W. Smith a sundial dating from the early 1700's inscribed, "In appreciation to Daugh W. Smith—he did not count the hours."

Dr. Smith was also the second individual in the history of the school to receive the Dede Bullard Wallace Award for Distinguished Service.

Come on and celebrate Celebrate the seasons
All the golden seasons of your life
Sing out and celebrate Add up all the reasons
To celebrate the seasons of your life

When we are little children, the world's an open door
And our lives are great adventures every day
For we're given sounds and colors and places to explore
And the world is bright and new in every way
Hey hey hey
Come on and celebrate Celebrate the seasons
All the golden seasons of your life
Sing out and celebrate Add up all the reasons
To celebrate the seasons of your life

The sunny days of childhood so swiftly tumble by
And the days of youth are here without delay
All those years of quests and questions and wondering how and why
And the search to find a light to light our way
Hey hey hey
Come on and celebrate Celebrate the seasons
All the golden seasons of your life
Sing out and celebrate Add up all the reasons
To celebrate the seasons of your life

And then one day we look around and youth is left behind
And it seems that we've grown up in every way
But there's always time for giving in the heart and in the mind
So let's sing and celebrate anew each day
Hey hey hey
Come on and celebrate Celebrate the seasons
All the golden seasons of your life
Sing out and celebrate Add up all the reasons
To celebrate the seasons of your life
