NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

CONTENTS

CLASSES	16-17
ORGANIZATIONS	44-45
SPORTS	60-61
FEATURES	66-67

INTRODUCTION

Busy hands—groping, molding, forever writing,
 Grabbing double handfuls of joy,
 Hands tensed on the hockey stick,
 Working with compass, test-tube, microscope.
 Hands learning to join with others in co-operation.
 Hands growing steady and careful;
 Hands stretching toward the future.

HEADMISTRESS

Two years ago Miss McMurry became the guiding hand at Harpeth Hall. Since that time we have witnessed the results of her experienced leadership. Directing each of us with an able hand, smoothing out scores of problems with care and skill, and joining hands with us in all we do, Miss McMurry gives her own touch to Harpeth Hall. From the moment she welcomes us to the school until she hands us our diplomas, we feel the warmth and strength of her influence.

Fourteen years ago, in May, 1951, Dr. Daugh Smith was one of a small group who signed the Charter of Incorporation for Harpeth Hall. In the years that have followed, Dr. Smith has worked continually for the growth and development of our school.

As Secretary-Treasurer and later as Chairman of the Board, he has given countless hours of his time to fund-raising, to planning, and to improving the future of Harpeth Hall. We are as much in debt to Dr. Smith for the beauty of our campus as we are for the survival and success of our school.

Because we as students have had little opportunity to show our appreciation, we dedicate the 1965 MILESTONES to Dr. Daugh W. Smith in gratitude for all he has done.

MADAME FOUNTAIN

This year Harpeth Hall is losing one of its most youthful teachers, Madame Fountain, who has taught French here for many years. By expecting much of us, she has been a constant challenge, but also a patient friend. She has gone far beyond her responsibility as a teacher with her real interest in every girl. We will miss her fine teaching and her effervescent personality.

Merci et au revoir, Madame!

MRS. GREGORY

We shall miss Mrs. Gregory in the years to come. She was one of the first influences in our high school life, and she has remained one of the most important. From her we learned to read with understanding and to write with clarity. She showed us, by example, how to consider each other as important but different individuals. By treating our problems with respect, with understanding, and with insight, she helped us to grow. We shall miss a teacher and a friend.

Farewell and thank you, Mrs. Gregory

Features

Each year the Freshman Class at Harpeth Hall, with the help of Mrs. Gregory and Miss Chadwell, presents George Washington's Birthday Celebration. Traditionally, the freshmen honor two members of the Junior Class by selecting them to portray George and Martha Washington. This year Margaret Sharp was George, and Carol Procter was Martha. Highlights of the event were the horn-pipe dance, the waltz, the soldiers' march, and the minuet. The celebration was presented for the enjoyment of both the student body and the parents and visitors.
