Whether coming from the Senior House, chorus room, or art studio, music has definitely influenced student life at Harpeth Hall. Because music impacts different people's lives by bringing ideas, memories, and thoughts to mind, the 1989 MILESTONES staff chose it for this year's theme. We hope this yearbook evokes the same nostalgia in each of you that your favorite song always has.

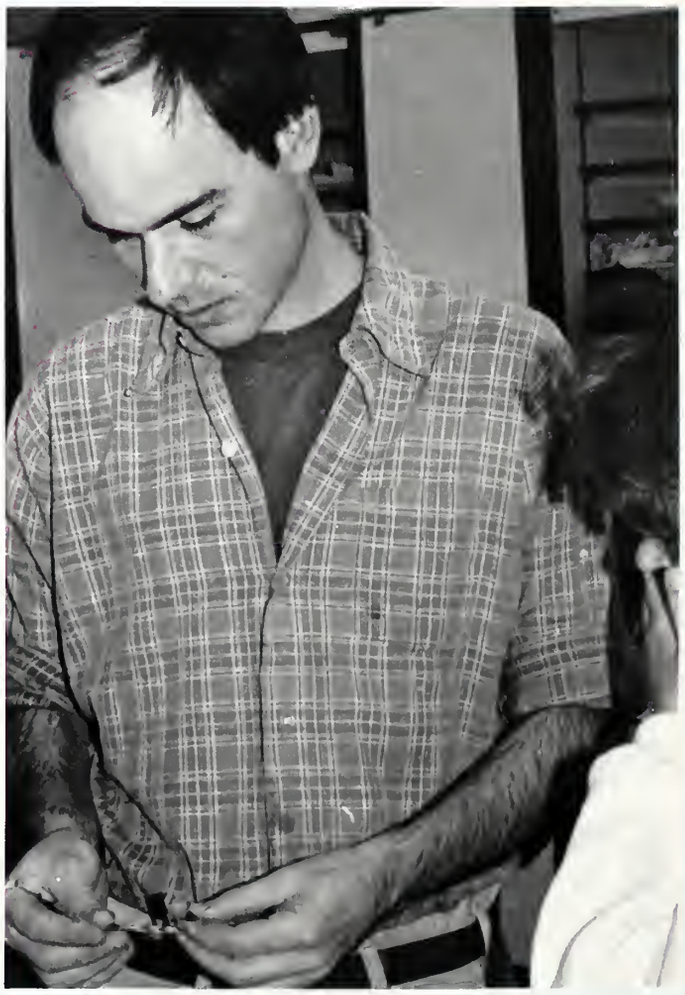

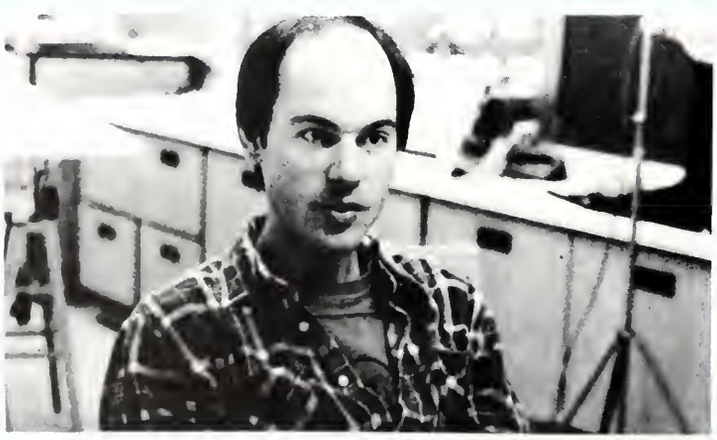

You Can't Keep A Good Man Down

In his seven years as an art and photography teacher at Harpeth Hall, this teacher has known his students as individuals and has allowed them freedom necessary for their art. As chairman of the fine arts department, a position he has held for three years, he has expanded the department to include a fuly equipped dark room, and he has left the art studio to be a full-time photography teacher. His unusual assignments demand that students think and be original. This teacher stresses individual creativity and wants students to learn about themselves through their work. His combined role of teacher and confidant allows him to know each of his students better. His co-sponsorship of the art club also gives students a chance to work with him outside of class.

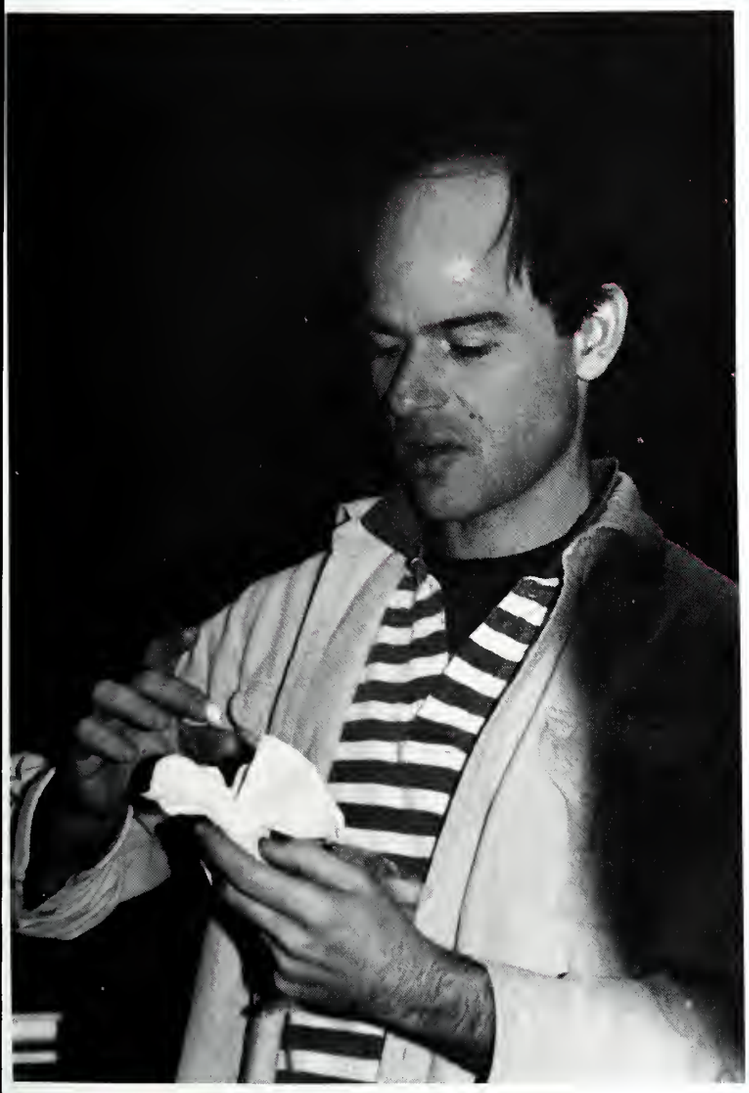

Aside from his departmental duties, he is an active advisor, often provoking political debates or pop art cookies with his advisees. His nonchalant attitude makes him accessible to every student, and he is always ready to listen and reassure. As a vocal member of the Student/Faculty Committee, he shares his opinions for the beneifit of students and faculty. His interest in the welfare of the students extends to his concern for the faculty. His periodic memos are always pleasant surprises in faculty boxes, and his almost perfect attendance at athletic events illustrates his support of the student body. One teacher noted that he is the "heart and soul" of the faculty, like "Reggie Jackson."

For his sense of humor, love of art, creativity, and sense of responsibility to the students and faculty of Harpeth Hall, the yearbook staff respectfully dedicates MILESTONES 1989 to Mr. Peter Goodwin.

You, who are on the road,

must have a code

that you can live by.

And so, become yourself

because the past is just a good-bye.

Teach your children well.

Their father's hell

did slowly

go by,

And feed them on your dreams,

the one they picked,

the one you'll know by.

Don't you ever ask them why,

if they told you

you would die.

Just look at them and sigh,

and know they love you.

And you, of the tender years,

can't know the fears

that your elders

grew by.

And so please help them with your youth.

They seek

the truth

before they can die.

Teach your parents well.

Their children's hell

will slowly go by,

And feed them on your dreams,

the one they picked,

the one you'll know by.

Don't you ever ask them why,

if they told you

you would cry.

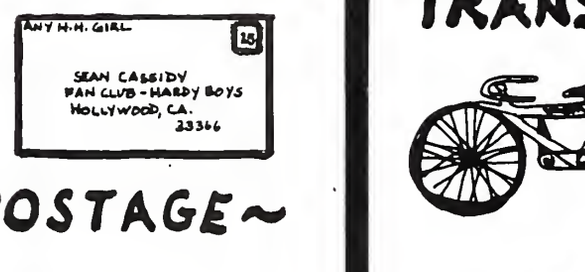

Just look at them and sigh,

and know they love you.

FACULTY
AND STAFF . . .
ANNE HIGHTOWER '81

For He's a Jolly Good Fellow

Mr. Wood has been Harpeth Hall's Headmaster for nine years. This year, he not only fulfills that position, but is also the college counselor. Mr. Wood does much of the behind-the-scenes work that maintains Harpeth Hall's excellence. He helps provide the best academic, athletic, and fine arts programs for the students. As Headmaster, he works with the board, administration, faculty, and students to create the best possible environment. In addition to his official duties, Mr. Wood annually plays Santa in the Key Club Santa pictures.

Mr. Wood's spirited presence at all school functions adds to the supportive atmosphere of Harpeth Hall. His overall interest lies in the happiness and education of every student, and he contributes creative ideas to the community with respect for faculty and tradition.

Happy Trails to You

Miss Polly Fessey, the first and only Head of the Middle School, is an invaluable asset to the Harpeth Hall community. She has been a part of the Middle School since it first opened in 1968. Throughout the years, she has touched the lives of many girls and has given them the fundamentals for successful careers both at Harpeth Hall and in the outside world. Miss Fessey commented that "There is a feeling and spirit which makes Harpeth Hall warm and caring. The students and the teachers are friendly and concerned about one another, which gives our school a very special atmosphere." In the Middle School, she emphasizes the importance of teamwork and community service as well as fulfillment of responsibilities and disciplined study habits. Due to her retirement, the Middle School dedicated their play to her in appreciation of making the Middle School plays possible. In March, Harpeth Hall honored Miss Fessey with a reception, complete with original entertainment and fond memories. Her concern for and dedication to the school demonstrates Fessey has been an invaluable faculty member for the past twenty years, and we regret that this has been her last year.

Troubled Waters

The one person at Harpeth Hall who can juggle motherhood, directing the Upper School, and having many other duties is Mrs. Susan Baughman. Having attended Harpeth Hall as a student, Mrs. Baughman understands the importance of Harpeth Hall's academic excellence and longstanding traditions. Because of her experience as a college counselor, Mrs. Baughman is an expert at discipline, planning the master calendar, supervising the daily operation of the school, and helping students schedule their four years at Harpeth Hall. Mrs. Baughman's philosophy is that "Everyone here is not a scholar, but everyone has something unique to offer to the school community. It is up to us to recognize and develop these talents." She could be described as the most valuable player of the Harpeth Hall team; we certainly could not do without her.

We're Your Dreamgirls

Mrs. Hilrie Brown, Director of Admissions, gives that all important first tour of Harpeth Hall. Mrs. Brown introduces each girl to the important aspects of Harpeth Hall and answers any questions girls might have. She recruits new students and encourages prospective students to enroll after they have taken the entrance exams. She also organizes the Open House for prospective students and their parents and sponsors the Student Admissions Assistants. In addition, Mrs. Brown became the proud sponsor of MILESTONES this year and cheerfully attended the Friday meetings.

Mrs. Polly Nichols, being an alumna of Harpeth Hall, understands the need for a strong fundraising department at Harpeth Hall. She not only takes on the Annual Giving program, but is also in charge of fundraising for capital needs and the endowment fund. Through Mrs. Nichols' help, Harpeth Hall is very successful at fundraising. She also helps in developing important relations in Nashville by sending out letters and publications. Mrs. Nichols has stengthened the fundraising department at Harpeth Hall and is a strong asset to the school.

Mrs. Leigh Atkins, Director of Alumnae Affairs, is another vital member of the Harpeth Hall staff. She helps in organizing alumnae functions and makes sure the alumnae are aware of present school life. With her help, the alumnae remain an important part of Harpeth Hall. Mrs. Atkins helps publish an alumnae bulletin that is sent to all alumnae of Harpeth Hall. With her help, former Harpeth Hall girls are reunited through activities and stay in constant touch with their ALMA MATER. Mrs. Atkins is very important to Harpeth Hall.

Parents Just Don't Understand

Mrs. Fuller is Harpeth Hall's Director of Special Programs. She has worked here for the past eight years filling a variety of positions. She taught Algebra I and Algebra II her first four years at Harpeth Hall. She then added the position of Winterim director, and for the past two years she has been our special programs director. She organizes the summer programs such as the dance classes, computer classes, and Driver's Education. She is busy year round organizing many activities like the Leadership Conference, Winterim programs, the Bear Patrol, and the Bookstore. In addition to her varied duties, she works with the Development Office and the Parents' Council. Mrs. Fuller also works with the Tennessee Association of Independent Schools. Mrs. Fuller is the woman who makes it possible for us to have the great opportunities to experience many things.

Every task you undertake . . .

If you have a major or minor problem, complaint, or simply need a place to sit down and drink cocoa or cider, just walk in and make yourself comfortable in Mrs. Lentz's office. Over the past three years Liza Lentz has become a vital member of Harpeth Hall's community. Not only does she help individual students, she also helps to bridge the gap between students, faculty, and administration.

She is a sponsor of the Class of 1990, which she has faithfully guided since her arrival at the Twin HH Ranch. This year, Mrs. Lentz added co-sponsorship of the Student Council to her counseling duties. At the beginning of the year, Mrs. Lentz organized peer counseling groups that met once a week to increase the students' abilities to express their problems and to cope with them. Renowned for her exciting and quite original activities, Mrs. Lentz has promised that she has more than enough to go around for next year.

Brother, Can You Spare a Dime?

Harpeth Hall could not function without the common sense and money managing skills of Mr. Hayward. Mr. Hayward is the Business Manager for Harpeth Hall and handles all of the money, which, if you know him, would make you nervous. Actually, his money managing skills are reflected throughout Harpeth Hall and especially by his teaching the Economics class, where students learn marketing skills. You know your money is secure in the hands of Mr. Greenthumb himself, Mr. Hayward.

"Girls, money makes the world go 'round."

Ms. Peg Herring serves as the Accounting Manager for all of Harpeth Hall working with Mr. Bill Hayward to keep the school's finances in order. The first of the year finds her taking care of the taxes so "we can keep it all legal" as she says. She handles everything from Duds Day profits to candy sales, and she particularly enjoys the contact with students. Her fifteen years' experience at Harpeth Hall make her an asset to the school.

It's the Little Things You Do Together

The internal workings of Harpeth Hall take place in the magical offices of the special staff on second floor Souby. Mrs. Ayers, Mrs. Armfield, and Mrs. McMurray aid the administrators of Harpeth Hall from that locale. Their expertise floats down the stairs to Mrs. Green and Miss Reed who keep the attendance, answer phones, and ask everyone how she is today. Their secretarial skills skip to the Middle School where Mrs. Mabry acts as Miss Fessey's right hand woman. The special staff then switches to the library where Mrs. Manier and Mrs. Ramsey open our eyes to the resources of the HH library. After a jaunt to Mrs. Fuller's office where Mrs. Smith helps organize Winterim and other functions, the special staff returns to Souby, kept in constant repair by Mr. McMahon.

Don't Know Much About History

Mr. Hayward, Miss Wynne, Mrs. Duvier, Dr. Cooper, Dr. Echerd, Mr. Springman.

Twas in 1800 and 53, on June, the thirteenth day . . .

The History Department this year, chaired by Dr. Echerd, has expanded even more than last year with six strong courses offered to the students. The number of students taking social science has "skyrocketed" over the past two years, according to Dr. Echerd who feels that the dramatic increase of interest in the department is due to the "dynamic leadership of its chairman." In previous years students have been content to take only two courses in the social sciences, while now many take three and in some case four before they graduate. The History Department has also benefitted over the past two years from the Youth in Government club that gets students involved in Youth Legislature and Model United Nations.

Dr. Echerd thinks that the participation is fabulous and speaks for the whole department when he exclaims that "We are overjoyed to be teaching such an abundance of wonderful students!"

Don't Know Much Trigonometry

Two and two are four, four and four are eight.

For some people, the hardest part of school is math, and it could not be taught better by anyone than the Harpeth Hall Math Department. Harpeth Hall is fortunate to be able to support such a strong math curriculum taught by teachers who are intelligent and caring. The teachers not only know what they are doing, but how to teach others to understand difficult concepts. Carol Oxley, the head of the math department, stresses that the goal of the department is to give each girl the finest possible math education in accordance with her ability. The various levels of math make it easy to build every year upon principles learned in the past; therefore, the learning is cummulative and easier to retain for longer periods of time than from Monday to Monday.

Mrs. Svaren, Ms. Wieczerza, Mrs. Wills, Mrs. Burr, Mrs. Oxley, Mr. Jones, Mr. Wert.

Don't Know Much About the Science Book

Mr. Jones, Mr. Sellers, Mrs. Norris, Miss Felkel, Mrs. Nash, Ms. Trzuskowski.

What do you see?

Harpeth Hall's Science Department gained two new faculty members this year: Mr. George Sellers, who is the new Upper School chemistry teacher and Mrs. Trzuskowski, a Middle School science teacher who replaced Mrs. Larimore. All of the faculty in the department, including Mrs. Nash, who teaches seventh and eighth grade ICP and earth science; Mrs. Norris and Miss Felkel, the chemistry, biology, ecology, and botany teachers, and Mr. Jones, physics master, have a Bachelor degree in their field. This highly qualified group has built a department that now offers over half a dozen courses. When Harpeth Hall originated in 1951, there were only two science teachers, and girls who dared to take physics went to M.B.A. for their class. The Penny-Felkel team set the basis for a strong science department that is truly great and will continue to grow.

Don't Know Much About the French I Took

Mrs. Couch, Mr. Tuzenu, Mrs. Foster, Ms. Renkl, Mr. Lauderdale, Mrs. Ward.

The Foreign Language Department at Harpeth Hall is an extensive one. Harpeth Hall requires that each student complete two levels of the same language. There are courses offered in Latin, Spanish, and French. There are also A.P. level courses in these subjects. There are language clubs for all of the languages and the Foreign Exchange Club is a strong part of the Language Department. F.E.C. sponsors a celebration in the fall in which students set up rooms in the school representing different foreign countries and their cultures. There is a Dessert Fest in the spring during which desserts from different countries are represented. The language clubs have dinners, fiestas and meetings that bring students together, using the language they speak. The Language Department is an important part of the Harpeth Hall curriculum.

You're one of my kind

What a Wonderful World It Would Be

What do you want from me this time?

Mrs. Archer, Ms. Renkl, Ms. Myers, Ms. Eveleigh, Mrs. Nelson, Dr. Sellers, Ms. DesJardin.

This year, under a new department head, the English Department is continuing its tradition of literary excellence. Dr. Murray Sellers, the new department chairman, is quite pleased with the faculty, students, and the current four-year plan. One of the merits the department provides for Harpeth Hall students is the diverse group of teachers who have formed close working relationships and who share lesson plans. The communication between teachers leads to another one of the most beneficial factors of the English Department — the inter-grade development. Every year, the students are not only given a sound survey of literature for their current grade level, but teachers also lay a broad and strong foundation for the students' following years at Harpeth Hall. The English Department places its greatest emphasis on writing, one of its major standards of excellence. Many students do not understand why they have so many writing assignments now, but they will be glad to have had the experience when they get to college. The Harpeth Hall English Department works hard to combine old and new in order to provide students with the best college preparatory education possible.

Your True Colors

Mr. Goodwin, Mrs. Paschall, Mrs. Klocko, Ms. Matthews, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Hamilton.

The Fine Arts Department of Harpeth Hall offered a variety of courses in art history, studio art, photography, choral music, acting, and dance this year. Headed by Mr. Goodwin, the Fine Arts Department expanded to include more photography classes and improve upon the already excellent studio art course. Students rushed to the arts complex more than ever before and participated in many different arts experiences. The drama department wowed the stage with two fabulous performances as did the dance department with its greatest concert to date. The chorus displayed its talent in two concerts, and the art department hung more shows than ever. Many students spent their Winterim perfecting their visual art, and the department also curated a faculty show.

Stuck on you.

Let's Get Physical

Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Russ, Ms. Matthews, Mrs. Moran

The PE/Dance Department at Harpeth Hall is a very enriching part of our community. The PE Department, headed by Mrs. Moran, teaches PE classes and sponsors and coaches extracurricular activities. Ms. Matthews teaches the dance classes, and she directs the Jazz and Modern clubs. Together Ms. Matthews and Mrs. Hamilton work to present the annual Spring Dance Concert. All of the teachers have a Health and Physical Education degree, and they work hard to provide the best possible physical education. Their main goal is to produce a well rounded student in as many physical activities as possible. We are very lucky to have such a dedicated and experienced PE/Dance Department at Harpeth Hall. They do a great job with the students by providing fun and enriching activities.

Harpeth Hall operates on an Honor System based on mutual trust between all members of the school. The Honor Council exists to protect this system. To quote from the student handbook, "The Council endeavors to instill in the students truthfulness, regard for the property of others, and honesty." Each class elects representatives to the council: two freshmen, two sophomores, four juniors, and five seniors. The Council then meets to elect the seniors of the offices of president, secretary, and two sergeants-at-arms.

On the Leadership Conference the Council met and learned the proper procedure by acting out some mock cases. The Honor Council deals with cases involving only lying, cheating, and stealing. After hearing a case, the Council makes a recommendation to the Faculty Disciplinary Committee about appropriate punishment. All of the Honor Council proceedings are kept completely confidential to protect the privacy of the students.

Everybody Have Fun Tonight

lark Elam, Carrington Nelson, Julie Riven, Mrs. Foster, Murray Polk, Mrs. Lentz

This year's Student Council, led by Carrington Nelson, Julie Riven, Clark Elam, and Murray Polk, kept the student body busy with many fun and exciting projects. The Student Council sponsored the Back-to-School Submarine Party, a Spring and Fall dance, the Valentine exchange with MBA, and several stress-release assemblies. The Student Council ran the Bear Necessities, providing new and innovative school supplies. A new event this year was the Harpeth Hall-MBA Student Council Exchange. Our student council visited the MBA student council and attended classes one day at MBA. Another day the MBA student council joined classes at Harpeth Hall. The exchange gave both schools an idea of what the other is like.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Lentz, the officers and members of the Student Council suceeded in providing the students with many fun and worthwhile events.

We Can Work It Out

One of the many factors that contributes to Harpeth Hall's exceptional atmosphere is the Student-Faculty committee. This is an organization which brings together various faculty members and interested students to openly discuss problems concerning the school. The Student-Faculty statement of purpose says that the committee represents the student body, the faculty, and the administration in order to encourage communication and active progress that will enrich the academic, extra-curricular, and daily life of Harpeth Hall. The committee is the only forum where students and faculty talk about important issues on an equal level and not one of teacher to student. Christine Johnston, the president of the committee said, "I have seen the committee attract increasing interest and become an influential factor in the decisions of our school. Our goal is to establish the committee as a working organization, easily accessible to members of the Harpeth Hall community." Whenever a student has a question, problem, or a complaint concerning the school, she can go to the group and voice her opinion to the people who can help. This committee is a great advantage for Harpeth Hall because it provides each student with the opportunity to make a difference.

"Put On A Happy Face"

Aside from the three publications at Harpeth Hall, there is a special group called Quill and Scroll that honors those girls who are editors of any of our three publications. Quill and Scroll is a national honorary society that recognizes excellence in journalism. The requirements for Quill and Scroll entail that members must be in the top third of their class acaemically and an editor of a publication or an outstanding two year member of a publication.

The French Honor Society is a group of outstanding French Students who have maintained an A-average for a minimum of two years and have shown enthusiasm for and interest in the language. In 1982, the American Association of Teachers of French granted a chapter of the Societe Honoraire de Francais to Harpeth Hall and since then the school has been commending deserving students. Mr. Tuzeneu sponsors the group, and it continues to represent excellence in the study of French.

We're Off To See the Wizard!

Mu Alpha Theta is a national honorary society for exceptional math students. For thirteen years, Harpeth Hall has sponsored a chapter of this society made up of students who, after three years of Upper School math, have a combined average of above ninety. This year, under the direction of President Susan Chang, Mu Alpha Theta continued to offer peer tutoring which gave members a chance to share their understanding with other students. Mrs. Carol Oxley, the chairwoman of the math department, is the sponsor of this society. Mu Alpha Theta is certainly a goal for which younger students can strive in the field of mathematics.

Girls in White Dresses . . .

The Harpeth Hall Cum Laude Society recognizes those girls who maintain an exceptionally high level of academic achievement. Cum Laude is similar to Phi Beta Kappa, the collegiate academic honor society. The inducted members are the top ten percent of the junior class and the top twenty percent of the senior class. Faculty members who hold Phi Beta Kappa keys are also members of Harpeth Hall's Cum Laude Society.

This year's officers are President Susan Chang and Vice- president Suzanne Armfield. Miss Polly Fessey acts as both secretary and sponsor of the grade-based society. Returning members form 1987-88 are Suzanne Armfield, Carrington Nelson, Sarah Ruccio, Sally Sprouse, Marla Connelly, Carolyn Palmer, Adrienne Parker, and Susan Chang.

With a Little Help From Our Friends

The Key Club is an active organization at Harpeth Hall that encourages students to get involved in volunteer activities. Every year, events such as preparing the annual Halloween party for physically handicapped children and singing Christmas carols to patients at General Hospital get students motivated and aware of the community outside of Harpeth Hall. As one Key Club member states: "The Key Club definitely offers a valuable experience that helps you learn about yourself and the community you live in."

The Student Admissions Assistants' purpose is helping Mrs. Hilrie Brown, our Director of Admissions, with prospective students. The group of 25 girls held a meeting to preview the slideshow, and they helped Mrs. Brown at the Open Houses. The assistants also helped on testing day, and when prospective students came to visit Harpeth Hall for the day, they took them to their classes and introduced them to teachers. These girls helped give prospective students a better insight into Harpeth Hall than they would have received by just seeing the slideshow or having a tour of the campus. Mrs. Brown is very grateful to these girls because they did such a good job and made her job so much easier.

Thanks For the Memories

The most important requirement when creating MILESTONES is to make it a collage of the memories from the past school year that have meant the most to everyone at Harpeth Hall. These criteria are pretty stiff for a staff of only eighteen students. They work hard all year writing copies, cropping pictures, and recopying layouts. Friday afternoon meetings often ran until dark as the staff fusses with difficult typing or finding the perfect head for a page. Each staff member creates a special tribute to her friends and school by providing them with the gift of a permanent record of the school year. This year's staff has displayed an incredible amount of patience and good humor in dealing with a group of first year editors and some chaotic deadlines. MILESTONES 1989 is a result of that perseverance and dedication. Thanks to staff, editors, and Mrs. Brown for helping this year!

Have you ever wondered where all the pictures in the yearbook come from? MILESTONES photography is the organization that snaps pictures all year long of everything at Harpeth Hall. They have weekly meetings where they print and develop pictures. Sally Sprouse and Allison Smith, the photography editors, divide the assignments between the fifteen members. No previous photography experience is required as it is for people who like taking pictures, and want to help with the production of MILESTONES.

It's Tuesday afternoon, and Satan is whirring away. Equipped with the latest technological advances, AND with the TCBY flavor of the day, the editors of The Word of Harpeth Hall are busily writing, editing, laying out, and typing another issue.

LOGOS II, the Harpeth Hall newspaper, was the product of many long hours and many people's commitment to getting the most stimulating news, art, and photographs from Harpeth Hall. The paper, published five times this year, began with an indepth interview of Mrs. Baughman in her role in a piece titled, "Sue B. Takes Over Souby." The staff also produced an entire Christmas issue in which every headline was the title of a Christmas carol.

Indeed, it was the combination of humor, computer literacy, and a great sense of dedication and commitment to Harpeth Hall and LOGOS II that made every issue of the paper this year a success.

Penstaff is the Harpeth Hall literary organization designed for students to critique and improve their creative writing. Ms. Meyers sponsored the group, and Suzanne Stockard served as president. Members occasionally held their biweekly Wednesday night meetings at Dragon Park or at people's houses. Not only did Penstaff discuss poetry, short stories, and art that members liked or have written, but it also published the annual Harpeth Hall literary magazine, HALLMARKS. At the end of the year, interested students submitted their creative expressions to the group who then voted on works for the literary magazines of which Ginger Pickard was the literary editor and Lihbin Shaio was art editor. Penstaff is a combination of students' works ranging from poems to drawings, and it is a great way for students to express themselves.

I Am an Innocent Man

Two Harpeth Hall teams participated in the 1989 Mock Trial Tournament on Saturday, March 4 at the Metro Courthouse downtown. One of the two teams consisted of seven seniors and the other consisted of eleven sophomores and juniors. The team of seniors placed second overall, while the second team's maiden performance proved to be a very promising beginning for a future first place mock trial team. All of the participants truly enjoyed the competition and many of the underclassmen who participated are eager to compete again next year. The all day event tested the knowledge of each girl involved in a positive way.

Youth in Government is a group of students who want to learn more about our government. This organization sponsors two main functions. Model United Nations and Youth Legislature. Model U.N. is a conference in which a group of five students, representing a country, presents a bill in favor of their country. If the bill is passed, it will then be presented in front of the General Assembly. The organizers attempt to model the seminar directly after the events of the real United Nations. Youth Legislature gives students the opportunity to propose bills and hopefully vote those bills into laws. Youth in Government has formed a foundation for government learning in its first year at Harpeth Hall.

Students Thinking Straight became the newest addition to Harpeth Hall's many organizations last fall. Seniors Tina Adams and Julie Riven developed the group with the purpose of working with students to provide drug-and-alcohol free activities. Fifty-five students joined the club and spent the year outlining their goals and preparing for next year with the hope of sending representatives to the Leadership Conference. The group has several important activities planned for next year such as connecting with the Y.M.C.A.'s Safe Rides program and working with MBA's Students Thinking Straight group.

The Upper School Chorus had a very successful year under the direction of their new teacher, McLauren Foster. The chorus had a Christmas assembly as well as concert. During the Christmas concert, Cari Yates, Kara Sitton, and Beth Sullins performed "O Holy Night" as a trio. The chorus also performed a Spring Concert featuring music from the 1940's including such as "Mr. Sandman". This year's chorus consisted of fourteen dedicated people who worked hard and had a great year, just in tune with the theme of MILESTONES.

Shawn Hodde, Eleanor Fuqua, Carrington Nelson, Jennifer Lindahl, Mr. Sellers.

The Science Club flourished this year, including the work of Shawn Hodde, the collector of the fifty cent dues from each of the twenty-five members. Mr. George Sellers sponsored the club and helped to plan outings such as a viewing of THE LAND BEFORE TIME, a pizza/movie night, a club dinner, and a trip to the Vanderbilt observatory. Members volunteered at Cumberland Museum exhibitions in various malls and formed the first "Adopt A Whale" program at Harpeth Hall.

Like a Rolling Stone

This year the Foreign Exchange Club played an active role in life at Harpeth Hall. The club sponsored such interesting activities as Celebrations and Foreign Language Week. President Ann-Kristen Sundell, Vice-President Suzanne Armfield, Secretary/Treasurer Margaret Wirth, and Publicity Chairman Eleanor Jones worked with Mr. Tuzeneu to take language study into the mainstream. The goal of FEC was to raise money to support an exchange student at Harpeth Hall. This year, FEC sponsored Monica Bonilla's year in America.

Secretary/Treasurer Margaret Wirth, Vice-President Suzanne Armfield, President Ann-Kristen Sundell, Mr. Tuzeneu.

The Rain in Spain

This year, the Spanish Club helped spread the Spanish culture throughout Harpeth Hall. The club sponsored many activities including dinners at San Antonio Taco Co., breakfasts, and participation in the FEC Celebrations. The Spanish Club also had its annual piñata bust where students gathered around and dove for candy once the piñata broke. The Spanish Club has also been glad to have a new addition, Monica Bonilla, an exchange student from Spain.

I like Paris in the Springtime

Led by President Samantha DeFrance, Vice-president Susan Chang, and Secretary/ Treasurer Jenny Walker, the French Club sponsored many events to promote French culture at Harpeth Hall. One of the club's major events was its participation in FEC Celebrations where students decorated French rooms and prepared native cuisine. Other events included movie outings to Sarratt. Members also helped those students struggling in French. This year, the French Club had a lot of fun spreading its influence throughout Harpeth Hall.

A Funny Thing Happened . . .

This year's JCL, the Junior Classical League was sponsored by Mrs. Ward, and the president was Lihbin Shiao. In the Fall they had a Saturnalia party and a dinner at Caesar's. Rome's birthday was celebrated on April 21 by launching colorful balloons. March 10 was the Mid-State Latin Convention and from there they later travelled to Memphis for the State Competition in April. The Latin club also participated in the many FEC Celebrations and in Foreign Language Week.

Paint Your Palette Blue and Gray

"Fastest Draw in the South" is an appropriate slogan for Harpeth Hall's Art Club. Led by President Carrie Smith, Shawn Coker, and Karen Dismukes, the Art Club sponsored a variety of activities. They began in the Fall with a sketching session held downtown. Members attended more sessions throughout the year during which they painted a mural. The Art Club also sponsored excursions to dinner and "artsy" movies. The club provided an excellent opportunity for expression of artistic ability.

There's No Business Like Show Business

The Harpeth Hall Playmakers are the driving force behind every production of the drama department. The group actually puts the shows together. They have work calls every Saturday during rehearsal to construct, paint, wallpaper, furnish, and make the set come alive. The Playmakers also sell tickets and publicize each performance. Playmakers also hold an annual banquet in May when they present awards for serious work and funny traits. The organization also inducts members into the International Thespian Society.

The Middle School Student Council was very busy this year leading those Honeycubs! President Alexis Reed worked closely with Vice- President Beth Johnsen and sponsor, Mrs. Mabry, as well as the council of representatives elected by each homeroom to organize exciting activities for the Middle School. The council successfully planned and helped with orientation, the honor code assembly, the Grandmother's Tea, the talent show, and the girls even held a hot chocolate break after mid-term exams. Also, the council kept the Middle Schoolers busy all spring with tension-breaking assemblies. They did a super job this year in putting together fun events for the Middle School.

When Brutus Was in Caesar's Land

The Middle School Latin Club had a busy and Roman year. The officers worked with their sponsor, Mrs. Ward, as well as club members to have a successful Latin banquet. The club participated in both the Mid-State and State Latin Conventions where they deomonstrated their Latin ability.

Mrs. Ward, Meg Vaughn, Paige Puryear, Noni Nielsen, Lee King, Eva Jane Rawlings.

C'est La Vie

The Middle School French Club had a year full of fundraisers, contests, and fun. They began with initiation at which all the new members wore paper moustaches and beards. They organized a French banquet where they presented original skits and played games. The French Club held two fundraisers for an Easter egg hunt in the park for needy children.

The group of eleven loud and dedicated cheerleaders kept the spirits of the Harpeth Hall basketball fans high at every game this past season. Ten cheerleaders, along with the Honeybear, worked hard all year chanting, cheering, and rallying spirit. During the last week of July, they attended Vanderbilt cheerleading camp and began developing their own unity and spirit that made the cheerleaders such a great squad.

This year the Harpeth Hall Freshman volleyball team soared to great heights under the direction of Coach Pat Moran. Due to the fact that the girls came from different schools, it was difficult at first to organize them into an aggressive and challenging team. But organize they did, and by mid-season the girls were playing extremely well together and they showed signs of a winning team. The team fought hard and finished the season 11 and 1. They also showed off their abilities in the tournament where they progressed to the finals. Overall, the girls worked toward a successful season and had a great time in the process.

Up in the Air, Junior Birdman

The Harpeth Hall volleyball team had a successful season, and, with a lot of hard work, they went all the way to the district tournament and won. With lots of spikes, bumps, and serves, the team had 27 wins and 9 losses. When Georgianne Larimore had to leave in the middle of the season, Mrs. Russ successfully filled the role of coach and supported the girls as a whole. Volleyball became a varsity sport at Harpeth Hall in the mid 1950's, and, since then, it has grown to consistently bring recognition to the Honeybears. The talented athletes put in many hours making the team a success. Adrienne Parker and Katie Braden received All Regional awards while Katie Braden, Adrienne Parker, and Canyn Russell garnered All-District awards. The leadership and unity of the team made it a winning season.

It was almost impossible for any other team to have worked as hard as the Upper School Cross Country team worked this fall. The team began practicing in early August; when school began, the team ran after school until 5:00. Mrs. Russ and Ms. Trzuskowski coached the girls and helped them gain confidence while becoming better runners. Overall, the team had a successful season, winning the All-Metro meet and grabbing the second place spot in the regional meet. The girls felt that the most rewarding quality of cross country was not only the gained running experience, but also the mental discipline they acquired.

Although the Honeybears had a young soccer team this year, they were still very strong. Under the instruction of new head coach, Kathy Wieczerza, and assistant coach, Tad Wert, the Honeybears finished with a 12-3-2 record. The team tied the then unbeaten Franklin Rebels, 0-0, which was a victory in itself for Harpeth Hall. This game helped convince the girls that they were beginning to work as a team.

The Honeybears advanced to the Regional Finals where they played and lost to Father Ryan, which was very upsetting since Harpeth Hall was the favored team. The Honeybears proved they were as strong as ever both individually and as a team. They were finally able to play their first "home" game on the new field where large crowds came to support them.

The 1988-89 varsity basketball team began working in December to start off a great season. This work paid off, and the Harpeth Hall Honeybears watched their team have the best season the school has seen in a long time. Mary Margaret Crowell, Jenny Walker, Marla Connelly, Adrienne Parker, and Shawn Hodde were the five seniors on the team, and they made their last season their best one. Mr. Springman, in his second year of coaching, worked with the team everyday at the practices and games, and at the end of the season, was named Coach of the Year. During Winterim the basketball team and cheerleaders went to Mobile, AL for a tournament at the school where Mr. Wood had previously been headmaster. Mary Price Russell and Alison Brooks were named all district players and the team placed third in the district.

This year's swim team, under the direction of Coach Kathy Moore, had a very successful season. Although the team was only two years old, interest and participation in the swim team was great. The Honey-baracudas this year included a diving team in addition to the swim team. For the first time, Harpeth Hall had a four member group who competed in the State Diving meet and did very well. That team competed in an out-of-town meet in Knoxville while the others were in Murfreesboro. practices took place at Pearl-Cohn High School, and the team practiced with Hillsboro's team occassionally. The strong freshman participation on the team supported an already solid foundation.

Tell me, Baby, straight up!

The divers on Harpeth Hall's first diving team plunged into the waters of Pearl-Cohn's swimming facilities beginning in early November. The members practiced diligently every Friday afternoon perfecting their diving skills. Although they did not participate in any meets during the season, they did go to the State Tournament in Knoxville where three of the members placed. Ms. Moore, a former Harpeth Hall teacher, voluntarily coached the team and taught the girls new diving techniques while helping them practice their form and old dives. For a beginning and competent team, the divers certainly made a splash in practice, competition, and team spirit.

It's a Long, Long Race

The Harpeth Hall Upper School Track Team had an excellent season this year competing in the Triple A conference. After staying in the top six throughout the season, they managed to come out fifth in the state meet. Mrs. Russ and Mr. Jones were fabulous coaches and led the track team to a surprise victory over Brentwood Academy with a landslide of 57 points. The two-mile relay team had an especially excellent year. Runners included Marychar Creson, Eleanor Fuqua, Emily Haynes, and Carrington Nelson. Eleanor Fuqua also made it to state where she placed second in the 800 meter run. Alison Brooks contributed to Harpeth Hall's big wins by placing second in discus and third in shot put in the state meet. The honeybears made huge tracks this season and enjoyed the great team spirit and wonderful comraderie.

This year's softball season was one to remember. With coaches Tony "the Tiger" Springman and Art Echerd, the honeybears won an exciting game against BGA that enabled them to participate in the district competition, a first for Harpeth Hall softball.

Tryouts were held several days before the season began, and, with almost no practice time, the team was in the midst of an exhausting schedule of four or five games a week.

After much anticipation and a needed reprise from the monsoons, the team got to christen their new park. The season was successful and rewarding for the players, and the leadership of Seniors Jenny Walker, Marla Connelly, Canyn Russell, and Michelle Wolfe helped give the team focus.

Harpeth Hall's tennis team was hard at work this year playing in both the Rotary Tournament, the State, and in Harpeth Hall's own Patty Chadwell Invitational.

With Coach Pat Moran, the team was undefeated in district competition, and they were victorious through the district finals with a win over David Lipscomb. Meanwhile, in the individual districts, Harpeth Hall's Deena Raja defeated Adrienne Parker. Number one doubles team Julie Riven and Jody Bainbridge beat Becky Trautman and Murray Polk. Harpeth Hall won in both individual and team matches in the regions. During the regions, Harpeth Hall defeated Goodpasture in team competition but lost to the team in the individual region finals. Harpeth Hall again faced itself as in the district tournament with opposite results. In the Sub-State competition Harpeth Hall claimed victory by defeating Hendersonville.

The 1988-89 Middle School cheerleaders greatly supported the Middle School Basketball team. At every game, the dedicated cheerleaders encouraged the team and led the fans in rousing cheers. In December, the girls joined the squad, and from then on the Honeycubs practiced once a week at school and often on weekends at people's homes. Sponsored by Ms. DesJardin, the girls encouraged everyone to attend the basketball games and to support the Middle School teams. They succeeded in improving their cheerleading skills and in increasing school spirit.

The 1988-89 Middle School cross country team had a very fast-paced season. Coach Marie Burr led the thirteen runners to a 3-3 season record with a fourth place finish in the final meet. Over half the team consisted of sixth graders, and Mrs. Burr was "pleased with the participation" of the sixth grade runners. Consistently, three of the top five place runners were sixth graders, and six runners were top ten finalists. Kristin Jones placed seventh overall in the cross country season, and she received a medal for her great accomplishment. Overall, the Middle School cross country team had a very successful season.

This year Harpeth Hall's Middle School soccer team had a great season. Coached by Tad Wert, the team was finally able to play on the new field and to have home games here at Harpeth Hall. The team consisted of sixth, seventh, and eighth graders. The sixth and seventh graders show promising talent for next year, and the eighth graders will definitely help out the upper school team. The soccer team was very strong defensively, and had very few goals scored against them. The team also had a lot of fun and learned a lot about working together.

In her second year as a coach for the volleyball team, Mrs. Des Jardin helped and supported the team during their one and a half month season. Heather Hodde and Lydia Lara were the leaders of the pack and were named most valuable players for the 1988-89 volleyball season. The team had a fun-filled season and most look forward to continuing their volleyball careers at Harpeth Hall, leading the Honeycubs and Honeybears to future successful seasons and tremendous fun.

Sweet Georgia Brown

This year, Mrs. Moran and Ms. Trzuskowski coached the successful Middle School basketball team. They had a young team consisting of nine seventh graders and five eighth graders. Although the team's record was 3-8, they worked hard and greatly improved by the end of the season. They improved so much that they beat a team during the HVAC tournament that had beaten them by more than 15 points. Lydia Lara and Akin Vaughn were named All- Tournament, even though the Middle School basketball team did not win the HVAC tournament. Mrs. Moran said that the group "made steady improvements and are ready for a strong team next year."

This year the Middle School track team had a successful season. With the dedication and skill of its two coaches, Mr. Wert and Ms. Trzuskowski, the track team broke several HVAC records. The 400 relay team that consisted of Mary Southwood, Lindsley Wellborn, Tina Noel, and Mary Creagh, broke the HVAC record that was set eleven years ago. In the final meet Harpeth Hall came in third overall out of eight schools with Mary Southwood finishing first in both the 100 open and the 200 open races. The sixth grade class participated heavily in the track team, and together the Middle School had a great season!

The Middle School tennis team recovered very well this year from the loss of their number one player, Deena Raja, who moved up to play varsity. The team, coached by Miss Reed, consisted of only two eighth graders: Malena Salberg and Stephanie Smartt. There were six seventh graders: Mary McGee Thym, Anna Ruth Brown, Katie Marchetti, Marianne Stuart, Robinette Weiss, and Erika Zepernick. Two sixth graders, Lacey Galbraith and Whitney Samuels, also played. The team only lost one team match during the regular season and that one to Ensworth. They also came in second only to Ensworth in the HVAC tournament. Miss Reed was very pleased with the team's performance this year and says that "they did their best and were a great group of girls." Losing only two eighth graders next year, the team should have a good season again.

And a Softball Fell into my Glove

This year's Middle School softball team, under the direction of Coach Nancy Duvier, had a great season. They worked hard throughout the season and came away a very unified group of girls who played tremendously well together. The highlight of this season occurred midway through the season when the team first played on Harpeth Hall's own softball field; spirit flew like softballs! During the season the team, consisting mainly of seventh graders, improved and had a great time!

Lead Me On

Every aspect of Harpeth Hall life requires teamwork. The group effort is necessary for success both in extracurricular activities and in the classroom. The 1988 Leadership Conference stressed this very important characteristic. "It Takes a Team" was the motto that was going through everyone's head by the end of the conference. While there, students learned how to lead a group discussion and how to participate within the group to instill the idea of teamwork. The Leadership Conference gave students a chance to make last minute arrangements about approaching events, and the conferees discussed new and interesting ideas to provide for a more successful year. Although the main goal of the Leadership Conference was to plan events, organize ideas, and teach new skills, the students found the weekend to be an enjoyable escape from Nashville and a chance to catch up with old friends.

We All Live in a Yellow Submarine

Harpeth Hall students looking for a good party found one on their last Friday night of summer vacation. On Friday, August 25th, the Student Council held the annual Back-to-School Party. Complete with watermelon and music, the event had something for every member of the Harpeth Hall community. Soccer and Frisbee kept the party thriving after students and faculty ate sub-sandwiches. The party started off the year with an enthusiastic blast. Students left the Back-to-School Party with increased anticipation of a great school year!

Whenever I see your smiling face.

There's Talk in the Classroom

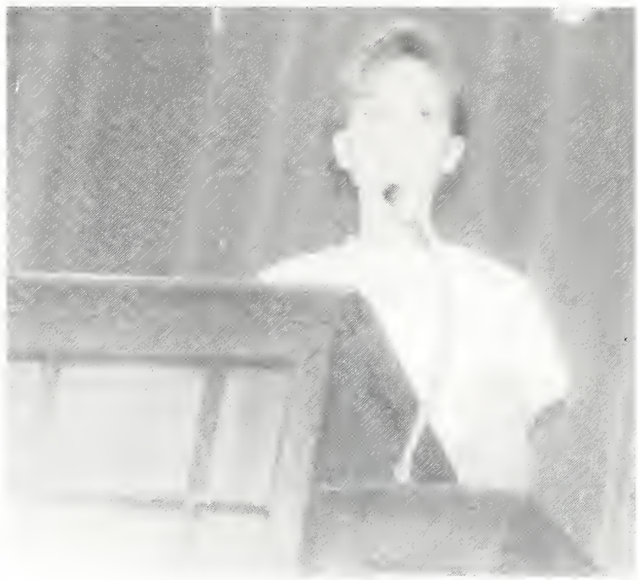

It was back to school for the Honeybears on August 29, 1988. With brand new shoes and notebooks, the entire school went to the first assembly. An excitement filled the air for the 1988-1989 school year, and students hurried to find their seats. Mr. Wood introduced the new Harpeth Hall faculty: Mrs. Pascal who taught art in the Upper School, McLauren Foster who directed the chorus, Mr. Sellers who taught chemistry, Dr. Sellers who taught junior English and became the new department head, and Mrs. Klocko, the drama director who was not officially introduced when she came last year. Mr. Wood said he felt this year would be the best year Harpeth Hall had in a long time. Then, as leaders of the school, the spirited class of 1989 sang their class song as they left to go to 4th period. The year started off with a bang, and everyone looked forward to the best year ever.

Be True to Your School

Everyone makes mistakes, oh yes, they do.

"A code of ethics governing the conduct of the students of Harpeth Hall in all matters pertaining to personal honesty and integrity," is the definition of the Harpeth Hall Honor System. The honor system is the basis for Harpeth Hall community life. President Kate Davis; Vice-President Tina Adams; Secretary- Treasurer Suzanne Armfield; Sergeants-at-Arms Susan Chang and Ellen Maguire preside over the Honor Council's thirteen members — five seniors, four juniors, two sophomores, and two freshmen. Mrs. Baughman is sponsor.

At one of the first assemblies this year, the Honor Council introduced itself to the student body and taught them the importance of the Honor System at Harpeth Hall. The officers and members of the Honor Council took their oath of installation, and Suzanne Armfield administered an oath of integrity to the student body. Tina Adams explained that the Honor Council is used "to foster a spirit of honor at Harpeth Hall."

Are You Going to Scarborough Fair?

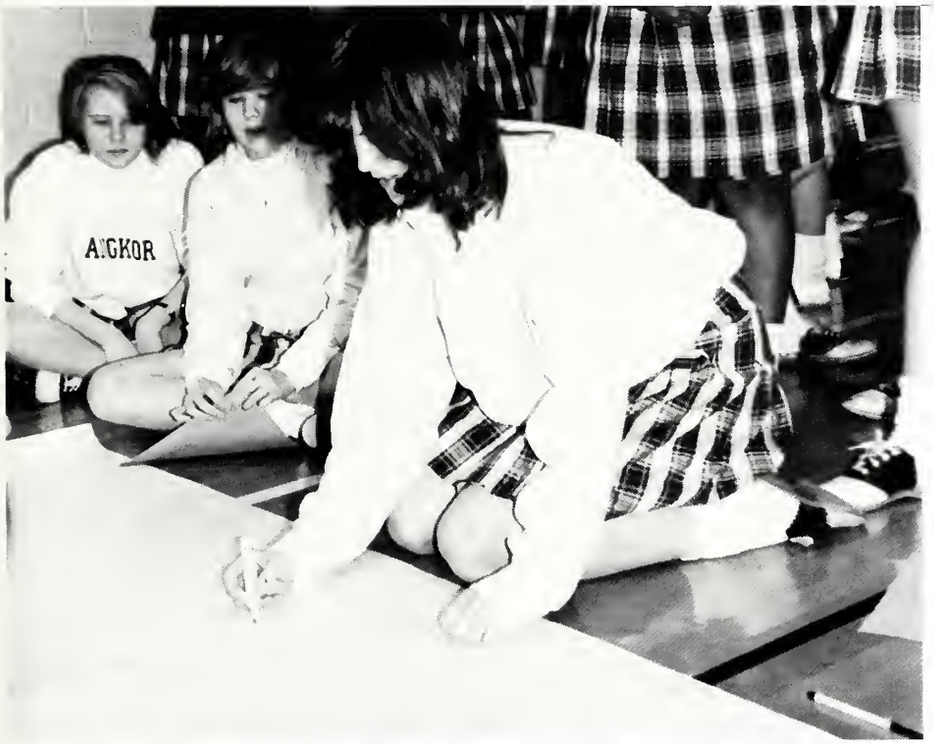

During the assembly period of September 1, the upper school students quickly filled Bullard Gym for Harpeth Hall's annual Club Fair. Girls returning from last year began searching for the clubs in which they had participated in the past and the ones they had regretted not joining last year. Trying to learn about the many clubs, the new freshmen frantically scurried about the gym and waited to sign up for the clubs of their choice. This year's Club Fair turned out to be a great success and enabled all students to become more involved in Harpeth Hall.

We'd Pick Out the Captains and We'd Choose Up the Teams

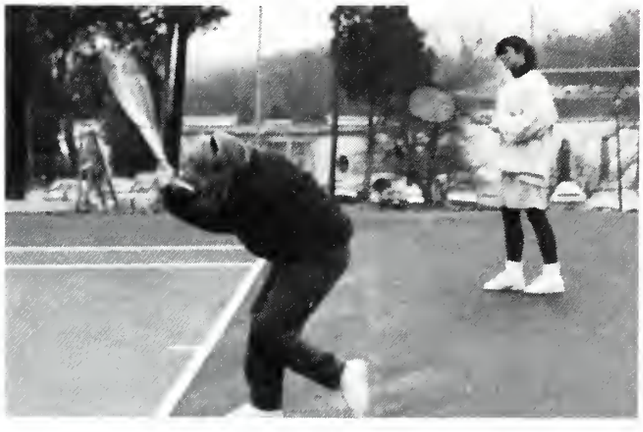

The intramural club system is made up of the four clubs at Harpeth Hall: Angkor, Ariston, Eccowasin, and Triad. The main function of the intramural clubs is to provide a relaxed athletic atmosphere. Members compete in all sports from ping-pong to bowling. Clubs also participate in activities such as the famed quiz-bowl and battle ball games, sponsored by the Student Council and in the Club Song Contest at All Club Picnic.

The club presidents — Ariston, Jessica Gutow; Angkor, Suzanne Stockard; Eccowasin, Beth Sullins; Triad, Katy Dunlop and Paige Ferragina — planned various activities with the Student Council. They also led the clubs in preparation for the Club Song Contest and recruited people for the sports competition. The intramural clubs help develop the unity of the student body by including all students in their diverse activities.

R-E-S-P-E-C-T!

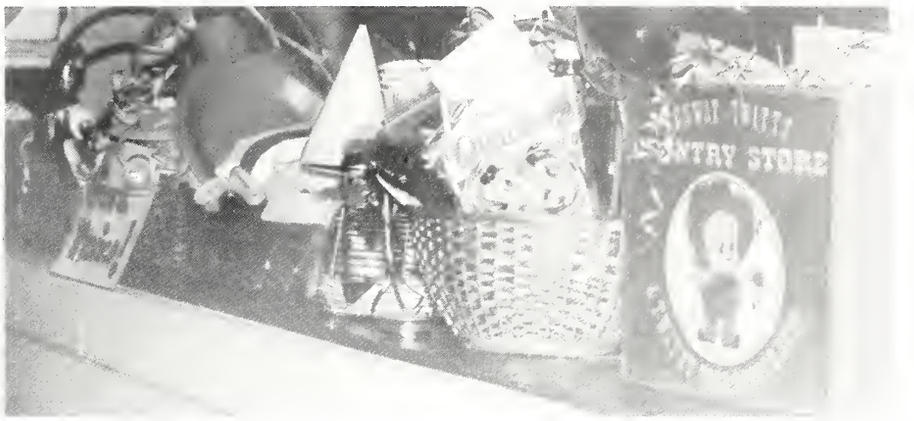

On September 19, there was a feeling of seniority. The Class of '89 anticipated the receipt of their beenies on Senior Recognition Day. Eleanor Fuqua, Senior Class President, Carrington Nelson, Student Body President, and Susan Chang, President of Cum Laude, gave speeches citing the wonderful qualities held by the Senior class. Eleanor promised "that the Seniors are looking forward to their most exciting, most memorable year, and they hope to leave Harpeth Hall full of positive, happy memories."

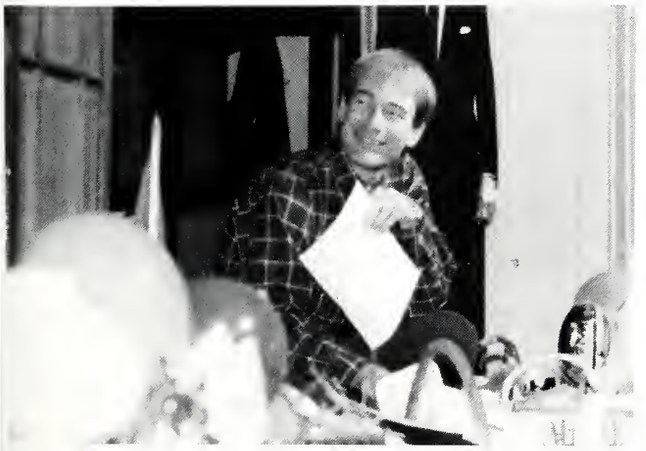

Cheeseburger in Paradise

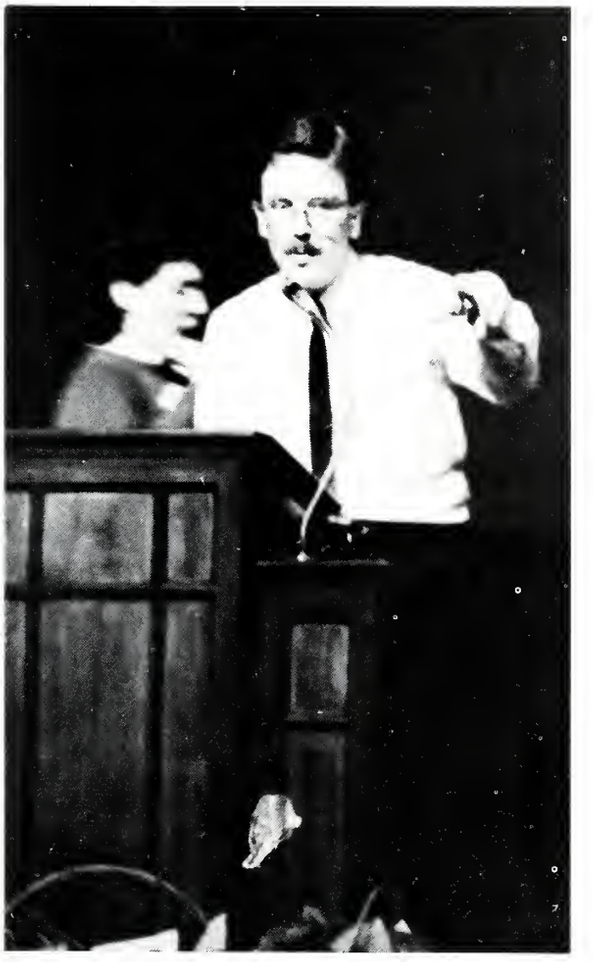

On October 20, the upper school filled the auditorium and began bidding at the annual Senior Lunch Auction. Seniors had prepared lunches of all kinds, including Chinese, sub-sandwiches, pasta salads, and even a generic lunch. Mr. Tuzeneu, the auctioneer, and his sidekick, Dr. Echerd, provided excellent commentary for each lunch auctioned. This year, lunches included favors such as magazines, sunglasses, Halloween candy, toys, and Music Row memorabilia. The Senior Lunch Auction was a great success. The Senior class made a lot of money, and students enjoyed great food.

Welcome to the Jungle

One early Saturday morning, 70 restless Freshmen and several teachers drove to Camp Cedarcrest for their annual fun-filled weekend retreat. The rain did not dampen their spirits. The girls played a lot of "Getting To Know You" games including a favorite — Chubby Bunny. They participated in relays and skits, but the highpoint of the retreat came when the Juniors visited their Little Sister Class. They arrived bearing food and fun and gave the teachers a breather. By the end of the retreat, the Freshmen realized that missing necessary social events (the MBA football game, of course!) was not the end of the world. As one Freshman said, "It was amazing! I became much closer to new students as well as teachers."

Make new friends, but keep the old . . .

Goodness, Gracious!

You Can Come Crying to Me

Don't ask me why.

The Advisor/Advisee system gives students and teachers a chance to know each other in a non-academic atmosphere. Mrs. Lentz assigns each Upper School girl to a teacher, who meets with his or her group monthly to give out report cards and to discuss any issues of student or teacher concern. Advisor/Advisee groups plan group dinners throughout the year. During the fall, the groups participate in a cookie decorating contest that lightens report card trauma. Each year the students look forward to knowing a new group of advisees and a new teacher.

"C" is for cookie; that's good enough for me!

If I Could Put Time in a Bottle

Girl, you really got me going.

Why can't they be like we were, perfect in every way . . .

The Fall Concert took place in Morrison Gym on Saturday night, October 29. The theme was "Remnants of the Past," and couples wore costumes from their favorite decade ranging from flappers to punk rockers. The couples danced to The Remnants who played a lot of classics but also added some of their own music to the night's repertoire. Because the dance was close to Halloween, students got the chance to show off some interesting duds. It was definitely a successful venture by the Student Council.

It Was a . . . Flying Purple People Eater

They did the Mash, the Monster Mash.

On October 31, the annual Student Council Halloween Party made Monday a lot easier to bear with candy and funny skits. It began with the traditional pumpkin carving contest where there was an upset victory by the Sophomores. The Seniors, however, did save their reputation by winning the skit competition, and their take-off of a Prince concert showcased the musical and creative talents of a top air band. Even those who did not get any candy enjoyed themselves.

Celebrate Good Times, Come On

Harpeth Hall's Foreign Exchange Club gives students from other countries an opportunity to come to the United Sates and share in life at our school. The club's annual fundraiser, FEC Celebrations, took place on November 1, was a huge success and many students participated in the festivities. The students picked countries to represent and then prepared native foods and decorations. Many countries were recognized on the night of the festivities. The cuisine ranged from beans and rice from the Dominican Republic to miniature hamburgers found in the United States' room. Eager onlookers roamed from room to room and everyone was able to find a favorite dish. The night ended with great success and many content people. The Celebrations helps to sponsor our exchange student, who is Monica Bonilla this year.

Food, glorious food!

And perhaps a sticky bun!

A Whiter Shade of Pale

My blood is running dry

On November 4th the Red Cross Bloodmobile visited the Bear Lair. Any girl who was 17 or older and weighed at least 110 pounds was eligible to give blood. The Red Cross rewarded the student and faculty donors with cookies and brownies to help build up their strength. Many felt the gratitude of self-satisfaction at having helped save another person's life. The Bloodmobile Honor Roll consisted of 27 Harpeth Hall donors. These donors, with a positive and unselfish attitude, gladly gave of themselves. These special people proudly represent Harpeth Hall.

On November 14, the eighth Great Works seniors decorated the gallery with candles and greenery in anticipation of the annual Renaissance Banquet. That evening the students, Ms. Myers, Ms. Shoaf, Dr. Sellers and John Hays arrived appropriately attired in costumes and sampled a variety of 16th century food such as lemonwhyt prepared by the class. Entertainment for the guest included Renaissance dancers and jugglers. The Great Works class holds the banquet in conjunction with their reading of KING LEAR.

I'm a Little Teapot

Talkin' about my generation

The Grandmother's Tea is a wonderful tradition of the Harpeth Hall Middle School that allows grandmothers to come together in a fun and old-fashioned atmosphere. On November 21, the 7th grade chorus entertained with a variety of songs known by young and old alike while some nibbled on sandwiches and cakes provided by the Mother's Auxiliary. Many god-mothers and long-time friends joined Middle Schoolers as well. Students were able to spoil their grandmothers just once by treating them to hot spice tea and good conversation. As usual, grandmothers found themselves bragging about their precious granddaughters, pulling out pictures and memories. Overall, both grandmothers and granddaughters enjoyed themselves at this fun and lively event.

On November 18, 19, and 20th, Playmakers presented 42ND STREET. Mrs. Klocko, Mrs. Hamilton, and Mrs. Foster directed, and the cast rehearsed for three months. In 42ND STREET, singing and dancing are essential, and everyone involved learned new tap steps and kept time to the music played by a ten piece orchestra.

The story focuses on a chorus girl's struggle in show business. Julia Sutherland played the lead role of Peggy Sawyer, while Paige Ferragina, Jessica Gutow, Eleanor Jones, and Sarah Ruccio portrayed other leads.

The most outstanding part of the show was the tap routines and choreography. The audience certainly appreciated the hard work and wonderful performances of 42ND STREET — it was standing room only on Friday night, and the show played to a full house both Saturday and Sunday.

Sing, Sing A Song

The Harpeth Hall Holiday Choral Production has always been a success and this year was certainly no exception. The chorus was small in size, but their new director brought the talent of the twelve voices to the forefront. Mrs. Foster came to Harpeth Hall this year and certainly made the Holiday Choral Concert a great complement to the festive season. The production was a success because it brought holiday cheer to everyone.

If you want to sing out, sing out!

Join in with this song!

Put on Your Red Shoes and Dance the Blues

Good tidings we bring to you and your friends.

'Twas the weekend before Christmas, and all through Harpeth Hall, the girls came in dresses to the gallery for a ball! Well, not exactly a ball, but on Saturday, December 17, the Student Council and Mother's Auxiliary held the third annual Holiday Dance. With the great music of Red Hot Shoes, the event supplied a super way to begin Christmas break and forget about that last exam. Everyone enjoyed dressing up, asking a date and joining MBA in the festivities.

Me and my girl!

Wouldn't It Be Good

During the month of January, while the upper classmen were working, traveling, and having fun, the Sophomores took on the role of seniors. Winterim on Campus this year was a very successful and rewarding experience. Students were required to take certain courses, but, in addition to the usual math, science and English, there were courses offered in acting, movie making, and learning about Nashville history. Another interesting class that was offered was "The Strange World of the Pinhole Camera" in which students constructed cameras out of styrofoam boards and took pictures with them.

The words get in the way.

They can never tear us apart.

To Be in Your Shoes

All in your mind.

Every Wednesday, the classes were shortened in order to allow for a three hour Common Experience period and historic Nashville field trips. Common Experience topics ranged from AIDS education and career choices to games, rest, and relaxation. While most of the students shared their Common Experiences, the two historic Nashville classes were learning about the city from the top of the Hyatt and through tours on buses. The Winterim experience was very rewarding and fun for everyone. Winterim on Campus is an educational break that was greatly anticipated this year.

There's no such place as far away.

This Is the World Calling

This year Harpeth Hall juniors and seniors had the opportunity to participate in various off-campus Winterim programs including work/study programs, independent study, and academic travel programs. Through the work/study programs, students explored various fields of work. Many found that their Winterim internships interested them as future positions. Many worked for doctors and physical therapists. Other students taught, while some helped in special education for the mentally and physically handicapped. Students also worked for lawyers, architects, newspapers, television programs, merchandising, or entered the music industry.

Do you know what you're looking for?

It's been a hard day's night.

Get a Job

Stairway to Heaven

In the Independent Study Programs, students worked in areas such as photography and music. Others worked on art projects and added murals to the walls of Harpeth Hall's classrooms. Several students travelled to Washington D.C. to work for senators and congressmen. This was an especially exciting time for these students since they were in the capital during President Bush's Inauguration. Another group of students travelled to Greece and Egypt. There they visited many sights and learned about the culture of these countries.

Students learned a lot during Winterim this year and experienced new and exciting opportunities.

Following a week of stressful exams, the middle school students relaxed with a week of fun-filled days in Interim. The teachers offered many non-academic classes, some of which were off campus. This provided an exciting change of pace for the students. Ranging from gingerbread house making to paper creations and calligraphy, the students were able to find new interests and improve old skills. The International Sampler group tried foreign restaurants throughout Nashville for lunch every day, while other students headed down to Ice Centennial to learn tricks on ice.

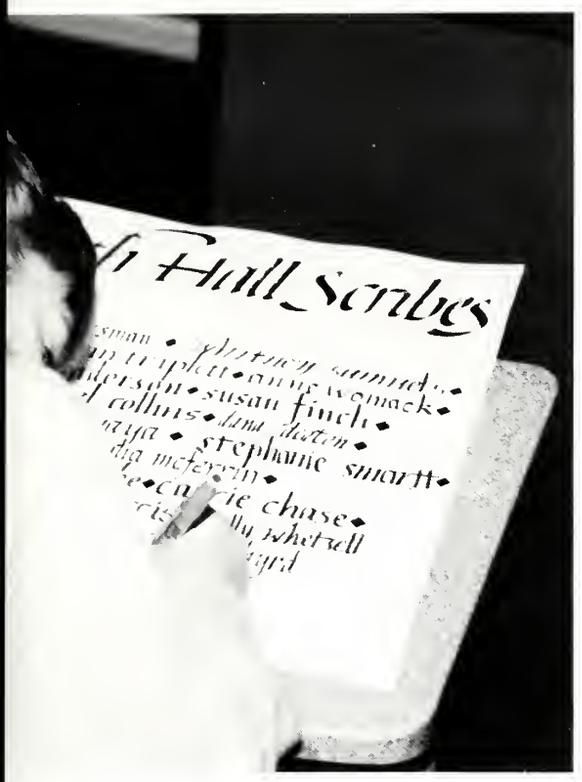

Tell her to make me a chambray shirt.

What's the matter here?

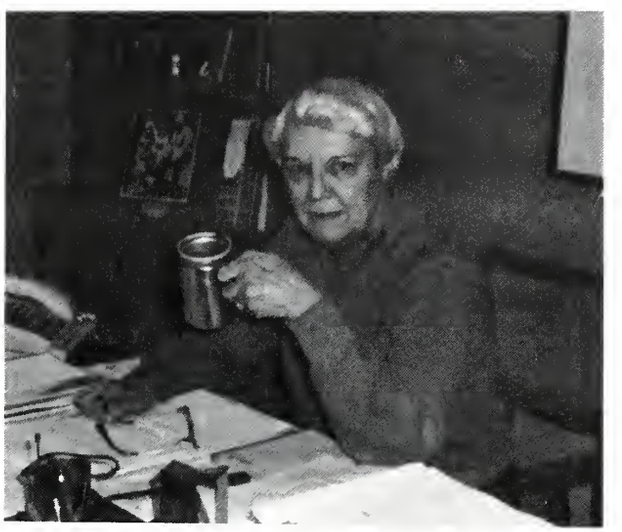

Somebody Give Me a Break

Every single note of that was written by me.

The students felt that this break allowed them not only to make friends in other grades, but to get to know the faculty in a relaxed setting. One student remarked, "I got to do . . . different hobbies I'd never tried before, and my favorite thing was that there was no homework." To wrap up the exciting week, they had an opportunity on the last day to display all that they learned.

Without no seams nor needlework.

Happy Birthday to You

"Soldiers, attention! Soldiers, space out!" If someone had entered the Harpeth Hall Gymnasium on February 16, they would have been surprised to hear these sounds. No, it wasn't P.E. class, it was the annual George Washington Celebration. Harpeth Hall students, faculty, and guests watched as the seventh graders, who were hardly recognizable in their soldier, sailor, and ballroom costumes, performed a tribute that has long been a tradition at Harpeth Hall. Soldiers marched, sailors danced the hornpipe, and ballroom dancers waltzed as the President and Mrs. Washington looked on. For the celebration, the seventh graders elect two eighth graders to the honored position of George and Martha. This year's first couple was Alexis Reed and Malena Salberg.

SNOOPY, this year's Middle School musical, was a stupendous success. The Harpeth Hall version of the production that is based on Charles Schultz's famous comic strip, PEANUTS, was directed by Mrs. Klocko with musical direction led by Mrs. Foster and choreography by Stephanie Hamilton. The leads in the play were Genevieve FitzGerald as Woodstock, Claire Thornley as Peppermint Patty, Kelley Bourke as Lucy, Julie Asbury as Sally, Lauren Marler as Linus, Malena Salberg as Charlie Brown, and Sarah Walton as Snoopy. The play was a musical that featured such favorites as "Edgar Allen Poe," "The Big Bow-Wow," and the finale, "Just One Person." SNOOPY was also dedicated by the cast and crew of the play as a farewell to the retiring Middle School Director, Polly Fessey.

On March 4, the curtain went up on a new Harpeth Hall production — a vaudeville show — staged to benefit the Heart Association in honor of George Burns' wife, Gracie Allen. A call went out in the end of January for anyone to help create the extravaganza. The cast of about twenty students from both Harpeth Hall and MBA performed a variety of acts. From Brad Griffin's hilarious skit on the piano with Wilson Hardcastle to the more serious poetry recited by Kate Asbury and Tara Scarlett, the show was an entertaining blend of culture. The skit with Gracie and George (played by Julia Sutherland and Rob Howell) was a highlight, but Christine Johnston's rendition of Ethel Merman in the finale, "There's No Business Like Show Business" was a real showstopper.

Charleston! Charleston!

An American in Paris

And it's time to pour the milk.

Hablas espanol? Parlez-vous francais? Dicis-ne Latina? Harpeth Hall celebrated National Foreign Language Week March 6-10. The week was filled with diverse activities that sought to widen our cultural perspective. Tuesday night, March 7, students gathered in the gallery to taste everything from Mexicale to chocolate fondue. On Wednesday Virginia Scott, from the Vanderbilt Foreign Language Department, spoke to us about big "C" Culture. She encouraged students to broaden their horizons and to understand American Culture before being critical of other foreign practices such as shaving and wearing bras after living in Europe for 18 years. Students also participated in a quote contest in which they attempted to decipher ten obscure foreign quotes to win dinner at Dalt's.

Wolf down the sandwich, la, la, la.

Flintstones, Meet the Flintstones!

Private eyes, they're watching you . . .

Yabba Dabba Doo! The Spring Dance was on Saturday, March 11, and it had a very exciting and appropriate theme. From nine 'til twelve, Morrison Gym rocked to the tunes of "The Bedrockers," and the theme of the dance was "The Flintstones." Posters of Fred, Barnie, and Wilma greeted everyone at the entrance of the gym, and the backdrop for the pictures was a huge dinosaur. The students enjoyed themselves very much at this prehistoric occasion while dancing to the music of "The Bedrockers." The band was a very talented group playing both classic and post-modern music. The band was enthusiastic, which helped the crowd have a great evening. The dance was well attended, and, as usual, the annual event was a blast. Everyone had "a gay old time!"

We'll have a gay old time!

On October 26, the Harpeth Hall eighth grade left for their long awaited class trip. The group went to Dauphin Island, Alabama. Dauphin Island, located south of Mobile, has a sealab where students of high school and college levels take classes involving oceanography. Here the girls spent two days and three nights. They lived in dormitories and took classes during the day. Classes were held indoors and outdoors, where they could participate in hands-on experience. Students explored the marshes and areas near the ocean. The class also rode a ferry boat to Ft. Morgan, where they learned about the history of the area. The girls had a lot of fun, and the trip was a valuable educational experience for all.

This year, the Mother's Auxilary's annual fund-raiser took on a new identity. As the Student Faculty skit so aptly illustrated, the Round-Up gave way to the Main Event. Cowboy Sid died a noble death as Rocky came in and took over. This identity change did not cause an identity crisis. The parents had a dinner and live auction on April 7, featuring such items as jewelry and glamorous vacation packages. The students grabbed the auction spirit with an all-day silent auction in Bullard gym with such priceless items as an airplane ride, piloted by Mr. Sellers, a breakfast prepared by Mrs. Baughman and Mr. Wood, and a touch football game with six of your favorite faculty members.

And the money kept rolling in

It's the Thrill of the Fight

Light one candle

As usual the Main Event included a Saturday night dance for the students of Harpeth Hall. This year, party-goers danced to the tunes of Rub the Buddha and had a great time. On April 8, the band rocked Morrison Gym all night, and a diverse crowd truly enjoyed the music. Students also participated in the last Main Event raffle ticket sale. With special dispensation from the District Attorney, girls were able to raise the bulk of the funds generated during the Main Event; everyone sold all she could to make the last raffle the best. Everyone, especially the juniors, greatly appreciated the holiday before Prom. Once again, the annual event was a Main Event and a giant success.

Shake it up, Baby now!

Listen Children to a Story

If You're Happy and You Know It

On the nights of April 14th and 15th the Harpeth Hall stage was transformed into the Haworth Parsonage where the Bronte family lived in the 1840's. MASTERPIECES, by Arthur Bicknell, was this year's spring drama; the play reconstructs the tragic story of the least known Bronte, Patrick Branwell. The play centers around the fear of anonymity shared by all the four Bronte children. Branwell, played by Jason West, Emily, played by Julia Harrison, Anne, played by Cari Yates, and Charlotte, played by Sarah Ruccio, all fill their childhood years creating imaginary worlds in notebooks. It is Branwell who rules the imaginary world, and he is responsible for inspiring his sisters to create characters that one day return as the protagonists of their novels. The entire audience thoroughly enjoyed the outstanding production.

The Cum Laude Assembly was held on April 17 in Davis Auditorium to recognize both old and new members of the chapter. Five juniors and seven seniors were inducted at the assembly and each received a certificate presented by Mr. Wood and President Susan Chang.

The Upper School Chorus, directed by Mrs. McLauren Foster, sang the Cum Laude Anthem. Afterwards, Vice-president Suzanne Armfield introduced the speaker, Mrs. Betty Nelson.

Mrs. Nelson addressed her speech, which was "brief and sincere," to the students, urging them to utilize their abilities to full capacity and to recognize learning as a duty not only to themselves, but to each other as well in the spirit of the Cum Laude Society.

On the evening of Wednesday, April 26, Harpeth Hall students and their fathers boarded the General Jackson Showboat for a night of dinner, dancing, and entertainment. The boat was full of father-daughter couples strolling on the deck admiring the beautiful view of downtown Nashville and getting pictures taken to commemorate the annual Father/Daughter Banquet sponsored by the Harpeth Hall Men's Club. The entertainment was an original experience. The band, Sound Therapy, consisted of several physicians accompanied by guest singer Paige Ferragina. They performed a wide range of songs to satisfy the varying musical tastes of the audience. The dance floor was always crowded, and the sixth grade presented an original skit that parodied their fathers. Julia Sutherland and Brad Griffin entertained everyone with their rendition of "A Couple of Swells." This year's evening was the best Father/Daughter Banquet to date.

Grown up; just like me

Every year the Harpeth Hall JCL participates in the State Latin Convention. This year 46 girls from the Upper and Middle School Latin classes attended the convention that took place on April 21 and 22 in Memphis. They spent many hours preparing for various academic and athletic competitions, and their efforts paid off. For academics, Harpeth Hall received several ribbons for participants' scores in Roman History, reading comprehension, academic pentathalon, and mythology tests. Girls also received awards in the creative arts for poetry, art, English oratory, and Roman costumes. Harpeth Hall Latin students showed that they can excel not only in academics, but in athletics as well. They received several ribbons in track and swimming competitions. Harpeth Hall won the second place trophies in the Olympics and in the overall sweepstakes.

Did You Know that You're My Hero?

Although it is hard to single out teachers from the Harpeth Hall faculty, Faculty Recognition Day, sponsored by the Men's Club, gives the school a chance to recognize outstanding teachers and the entire faculty. On April 26, the traditional Harpeth Hall chairs were awarded to Bill Lauderdale and Jane Norris for their many accomplishments as both mentor and friend. Originally a Middle School teacher, Mr. Lauderdale moved to the Upper School this year and continued to teach French. He attended Rhodes College and went on to Vanderbilt where he received his MAT. Mr. Lauderdale can be seen participating in school musicals or perhaps riding his motorcycle around town. Mrs. Norris, Chairman of the Science Department at Harpeth Hall, teaches biology and chemistry. She graduated from Carnegie-Mellon University and then attended Peabody College and Vanderbilt where she received her BA and MS. Mrs. Norris is known for her lively Winterim Evolution classes as well as for frog funerals on Frog Day. Also during the ceremony, Mrs. Ward received an award as a superior Latin teacher, and Miss Fessey was recognized with a strand of pearls for her tremendous job as Middle School Director.

And We Danced, Swept Away

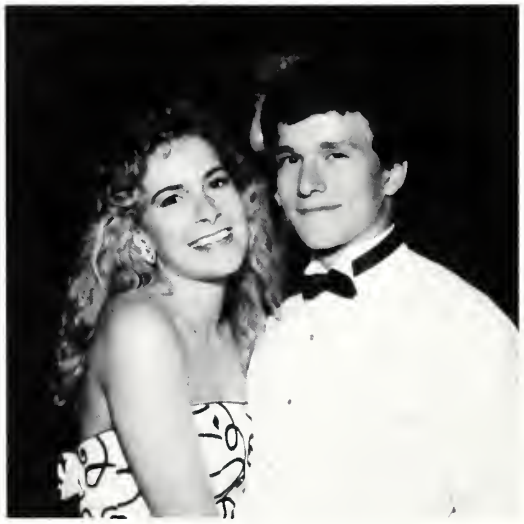

Together in perfect harmony

And you ask "Y B Normal?" — well that's exactly what Prom 1989 was not. On April 22 the Junior Class gave the seniors a prom they'll never forget. With the theme "Mystical Mirage" and the band Y B Normal, the gym and gallery were decked with fuschia, black, and silver. When was the last time the gym ceiling was disguised by streamers instead of the wornout parachute that has been used year after year? Or when was the last time a working fountain was found in the center of the gallery? There were decoration changes, and people stayed until the band finished. With much hard work the Junior Class pulled off a successful and unusually different prom that the seniors really enjoyed. The senior favors were also incredibly beautiful and appreciated.

On the last day of March, the Student Council sponsored the Concert on the Lawn which was more affectionately known as the Concert on the Floor, due to the inclement weather. Will and the Bushmen entertained the crowd with an abundance of soft alternative music. Most people sat on blankets and absorbed the music, while others danced near the stage. Everyone brought food such as sub sandwiches, chips, cookies, and lots of grapes. Katherine Bomboy received the title of "Cookie Queen" by offering the band Milano cookies. The concert has been a success for the past few years and is a great annual event.

The First Day of May

Sing out loud, sing out strong

The underclassmen held in awe the Class of 1989 during the annual Senior Week. The festivities started off with a bang on the morning of May 1. The seniors wore duds to participate in the cookout that was held during lunch. The girls flame-broiled lots of very tasty burgers on the patio in front of the Senior House. The tastebuds of the underclassmen watered as the students walked by. The senior class really enjoyed the cookout which was a refreshing change from the brown bag. The cookout was a great way to start off the fun week.

If Growing Up Means It Should Be

Senior Week has long been a unique tradition at Harpeth Hall. This year the tradition continued with a little more enthusiasm than expected.

Beginning on Monday, May 1, the seniors came to school each day in specified attire. The themes included class colors, college colors, senior dress-up day, and the infamous Junior/Senior day. The seniors also held a cookout in front of the Senior House — to the disdain of jealous underclassmen.

I know where I'm going.

And I know who's going with me.

Beneath my Dignity to Climb a Tree

Annie, get your gun!

Unquestionably, the high point of the week was the Junior/Senior Day, which raised heated controversy among certain juniors and seniors. The "little boys," according to some "little girls," got a bit out of hand with their machine guns and toilet paper, not to mention water balloons. Apparently the 'I'm rubber and you're glue" jingle does not take chocolate syrup into consideration.

But aside from a few unfortunate incidents, the children had a good time and kept joking and lighthearted attitudes and a fun atmosphere for the day.

And the seniors, ending the week with a lunch outing, enjoyed a variation from the norm.

Something in

With the help of Leslie Mathews and Stephanie Hamilton, members of the dance clubs produced and performed this year's Dance Concert. The show began with the wonderful piece "Hoping the Bes,t" which was written and sung by Paige Ferragina. Next came "Rhapsodality," the beautiful ballet piece. The Tap Club impressed everyone with their quick movements in "Girl Crazy." The Modern Club danced a favorite of the evening: "Patterns," which explored reoccuring designs. The Jazz Ensemble's "Take 3" had an energetic nightclub theme, and the Jazz Club ended the evening with "Ode to the Sierras" danced to three 1960's songs. Everyone in attendance agreed that the dancers' hard work paid off, and they gave an excellent performance.

On May 17, athletes and their families gathered in the gallery for the annual Upper School Sports Banquet. It was a time for all teammates to be together before the close of another year. The coaches for every sport talked about their season, presented individual awards, and each member went up front to be recognized. For each year of participation, members received a gift. First year athletes received a certificate; second year received jackets; third year members were given blankets, and fourth year athletes received athletic bags.

Seniors then spoke about what athletics at Harpeth Hall had meant to them. Following the presentations, everyone ate dessert, and athletes laughed and cried while sharing special memories.

Yummy, Yummy, Yummy, I've Got Love in my Tummy

On Tuesday, May 16, the honeycub athletes all gathered together in the cafeteria for the fourth annual Middle School Sports Dessert. Mrs. Susan Russ, Harpeth Hall's athletic director, organized the evening. Middle School coaches presented certificates to all participants, teddy bears to most valuable players, and t-shirts for most improved players in the various sports. The most outstanding sixth grade athlete was Kristin Jones, the seventh grader was Mary Pillow Kirk, and the eighth grader was Lydia Lara. Coaches thanked each athlete for her enthusiasm and sportsmanship in the athletic program, and they all left the dessert with a feeling of accomplishment.

On May 20, the traditional All-Club Picnic occurred on Souby Lawn. Girls lounged on blankets, and the Student Council provided popsicles. This All-Club Picnic produced great songs from tearjerkers to GREASE'S "We Go Together." Triad won the song trophy, and Angkor won the intramural competition. The top five girls in each class received the Elizabeth Pope Evans Awards, and a variety of awards were given to other students. Certain juniors received book awards from different colleges. Next year's publications staffs were announced, and Mr. Goodwin received the 1989 MILESTONES dedication. Mr. Wood revealed the Lady of the Hall, Paige Ferragina, and her court. The Student Council presented a musical fashion show and swore-in new officers. All-Club Picnic was a special time for students to be together before the year ended.

Don't I Know You From

Buddies and Pals

I'm Robin Leach, and welcome to LIFESTYLES OF THOSE GLAMOUROUS SENIORS! I joined the girls on May 25, at Canyn Russell's home: site of the Senior Banquet. The festivities were grand; I dined with several faculty members in attendance. Girls, dressed in summer finery, gathered at pool-side enjoying pasta and chicen salads and luscious desserts. Thanks to the mothers who catered the event!

Next, the twenty-years-from-now list was read, and a sentimental slide show induced lots of laughter. After an impromptu rendition of "Everything I Own," out came the senior gifts — hand-painted mirrors! Cameras flashed as seniors smiled and reminisced. The banquet culminated all!

Looking Ahead, Leaving Behind

Middle School Honor Day is a time to recognize the Harpeth Hall eighth graders as they graduate to the Upper School. The seventh grade chorus sings in honor of the eighth graders. After the chorus sings, there is always a speaker, and this year the speaker was very special. This year was Ms. Fessey's last year as Director of the Middle School, and she spoke to the girls, parents, and guests. After Ms. Fessey's speech, numerous awards were given to deserving girls in the eighth and some in the seventh grade in various areas. The Middle School Honor Day this year was very special, and a very special part of Harpeth Hall, Ms. Fessey, made it so.

Lady of the Hall Shannon Paige Ferragina

The Finest Years I Ever Knew

On Sunday, May 28, Harpeth Hall students, faculty, and friends gathered on Souby Lawn to honor the Lady of the Hall and her court. Paige Ferragina received this year's crown. Susan Chang and Helena Lamb accompanied the presentation of the court with piano and violin as each attendant processed with a beautiful magnolia flower in hand. Following the presentation, juniors and seniors performed the traditional Step Singing. During the ceremony, Senior Class President Eleanor Fuqua presented Mr. Wood the Senior Gift of $3,000 to the scholarship fund. Carrie Oliver, Class President of 1990, received the Senior Books and led the juniors in the Senior Oath. Afterwards, Marguerite Weaver Patterson, Class of 1964, and this year's alumna speaker, spoke about the lessons of history and the lessons of Harpeth Hall.

And the Goodbye Makes

Speak to me softly, and tell me no lies

The bell rang six times, and the graduating Class of 1989 silently processed to their seats in front of the library on Souby Lawn. Graduation had begun.

May 29 was beautiful, the sun shone on the seniors as they walked to the platform to receive their diplomas and to complete their education at Harpeth Hall. The weather only complemented the group, however, because their list of achievements and college acceptances was impressive indeed. Mr. Wood announced the college choices of the Class of 1989 and spoke about what the class had given to Harpeth Hall. Mrs. Baughman then presented the top three honors to Marla Connelley, Suzanne Armfield, and Susan Chang, each a worthy recipient academically as well as extracurricularily. Lady of the Hall Paige Ferragina also received her gift.

The high point of the ceremony, aside from the presentation of the entire class to Board Chairman Mary Stumb, was Christine Johnston's speech. Christine spoke about the passage of time and said that the Class of 1989 was a fitting conclusion to this decade, and that their tenth year reunion would be a celebration of achievements worthy of closing a millenniun.

After the final singing of "Hoping the Best," the students joined with the audience in singing the Alma Mater and acknowledging for the first time the actual, green "standard from the hilltop." Soon, tears began flowing as the seniors said goodbye to each other as a class and welcomed the opportunities for which Harpeth Hall had prepared them.
