School's Out For The Summer!

We Asked: What Are You Doing This Summer?

compiled by Sarah Chisolm

"I'm going to Ecuador and the Galapagos Islands, because my dad owns a travel agency," (Leslie Caldwell, senior).

"I'm going to Europe with a group of friends, and then to Japan, and to Canada and Florida with my family, and [volunteering] in the emergency room at Vanderbilt Hospital," (Ashley Beadle, sophomore).

"I put in an application to Belle Meade, to work there as a lifeguard, and I was thinking how rude it was that they hadn't gotten back in touch with me and it was two weeks into May.

I was talking to my Mom about it around Mothers' Day and all of a sudden my little brother looks at me and goes, 'Oh, did I forget to tell you? They called about a month ago, and you didn't get the job.' ...So now it's two weeks into May, [and] I don't have a job," (Anne Elizabeth McIntosh, senior).

"I'm going to Boston [with a church choir group]," (Jordan Jones, sophomore).

"I'm [working as] a nanny for the people behind me. They have four kids. They're all under six," (Melissa Batchelor, junior).

HH Is Hopping This Summer

by Sarah Chisolm
information from Ms. Emily Fuller

After the last exam, Step Singing, and graduation are over, the Harpeth Hall campus shuts down for the summer. The halls are deserted and the windows boarded up, right? Well, not exactly. Over the summer, Harpeth Hall will be overrun with younger kids participating in the many summer programs held here.

Among these activities is the Vanderbilt Summer Treatment Program, sponsored by the Vanderbilt Department of Pediatrics and Department of Child Development. Held for children from 5 to 10 years old who have been diagnosed with Attention Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), the program provides an opportunity both for treatment and for research.

Returning for the third year is Time to Rise, an academic and cultural arts camp for 40 rising fifth and sixth grade girls from inner-city schools. Ms. Emily Fuller, Director of Special Programs at Harpeth Hall, said of this program, "It is our hope that we can help these young women begin to develop the skills, self-esteem, and confidence to live in the global community." Members of the Harpeth Hall community working in Time to Rise include faculty members Elizabeth Salem, Ann Blackburn, and Fuller, Val Byrd (senior), Katie Jackson (junior), and alum Vadie Turner ('95).

And the list doesn't end there. Harpeth Hall will host Driver Training for about 200 fifteen-year-olds. Five- to seven-year-olds will be on campus for Young Horizons, where they will do art projects, creative dramatics, and computer activities. Girls who are rising third- to sixth-graders will be here for Expanding Horizons, a program of outdoor adventures, environmental studies, etc. The same age group will also be offered Adventures in Math and Science.

A group called the Traveling Troubadours will even venture off campus to perform Shakespeare's Much Ado About Nothing for child care and retirement centers around the city. And finally, Ms. Leslie Matthews and Ms. Jane Gross will offer Dance Workshops again this summer.

So if you wax nostalgic and decide to drop by the old Hall over the summer for a quiet walk down memory lane, be forewarned: there is much afoot at Harpeth Hall this summer.

Seniors take a break to pose for a picture on their last day of AP Calculus.

Senior Last Wills

I, Damali Ayeina Booker of partially sound mind and Atlanta-bound body, would like to leave the following things:

To Latoya Byrd: All of the fine African American men of Nashville that I'm leaving behind (keep 'em in check, girl)

To Brandy Hollingsworth: A big donkie butt and my little brother to share with...

Beth Sherrard (take good care of him Bootie), to whom I also leave my blackness and my love for black people

To Meg Funderburk: An appearance as a vocalist on star search and lunch with the cast of CB4

To Emy Noel: All the boys you can handle

To Catherine Workman: A hug and a smile for each of the ones that you've given me and all the happiness your hand can hold. If anyone deserves it, it's you. I love you much.

To Molly Martin: The Vanderbilt basketball team (HANDS OFF PAX, though)

To Anne Hancock: The UK basketball team (HANDS OFF RON, though)

To Allegra Marks: Underclassmen to scare and a phat J

To Megan Youngblood: All of my male friends.

To Mr. Wert: Tickets to the Shaquan world tour and a date with RuPaul

And to all the people that I forgot, charge it to my head, not to my heart. I love you all. It's been real, ladies. Peace art!

I, Mary Morgan Blackburn, will my telephone line to Becca White for many blissful hours of conversation with Chaddy!

I leave my YIG "social butterfly" office to Natalina Nanni for many happy dates with those Youth Leg boys.

I, Cristin Carter, leave Haley Rumore a fly swatter for all those late-night moths that unexpectedly come in your room.

I, Kelli Dunaway, leave Kate Tarleton the ability to withstand temptation even from the best of corrupters.

To Samantha Richter I leave the ability to be corrupted and to make Kate do the unthinkable.

To Lisa Householder I leave the ability to find the good in even the simplest of kitchenware.

To Beth Sherrard and Molly Martin I leave the legacy of Fujimara and Macmymama! May they live on forever.

To Mr. Goodwin I leave the ability to calculate the number of letters in a word.

To Mr. Wert I leave a big sticky mess.

I, Brianne Frazier, being of sound mind and body, leave the following items:

To my sister, Kathryn, all the phone messages I've never given her, our brother, George (because he'll be there forever), and the ability always to lose at HORSE

To Margo Martin, "my deal," because she's always wondered what it was

To Katy Manier, a date with Andy

To Susan Wesley, a car ride with Rob Hancock and the Cats soundtrack

To Tiffany Watson, another greeat soccer season and another red-haired boyfriend

To Tallu and Kate, care of the neighborhood

To Haley Rumore, many trips to Knoxville and my admiration for Vanna White

To Katie Tidwell, I give back everything I've ever borrowed, and I leave her all my love advice plus "the secret."

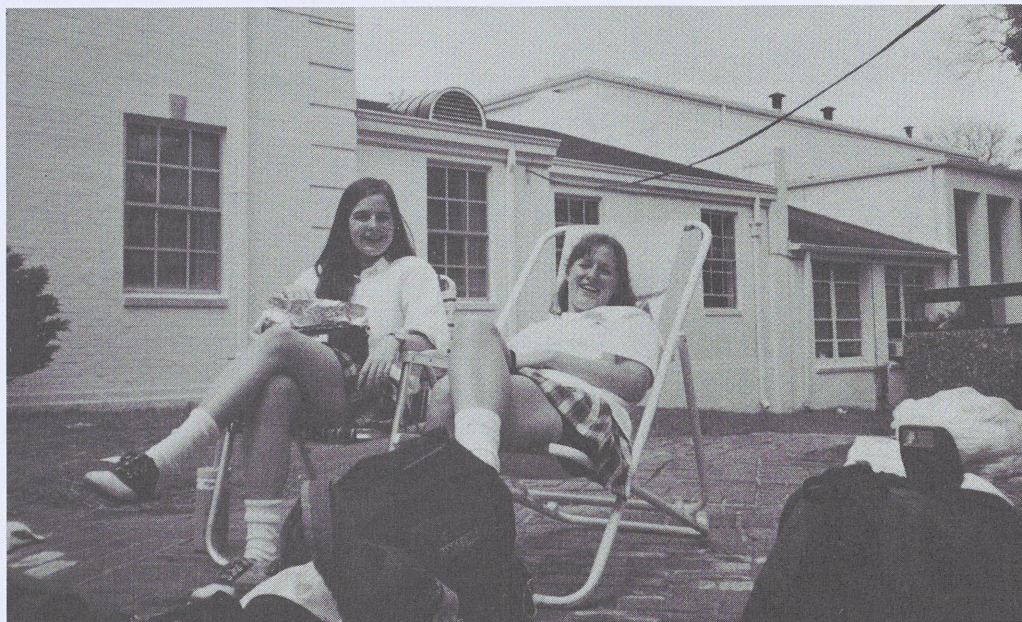

To KJ, "Smoke in the Water" and other "S.A.T.C.O." songs

To Carrie Smith, an orange cake. another night with Kelly, and enough mailboxes to replace all the ones she's hit

To Britany Foster, another confusing relationship

To Melissa Batchelor and Lauren Tweel, Latin V

To Kristen Campbell, my political news, a permanent parking spot at Big Lots, and a yellow card

Seniors Allison Bishop and Grace Hodo enjoy their last lunch by the Senior House.

To Julia Brown, the planning of Community Service Day, my love of Clifford Currey, and the Bruegger's boycott

To Katie, Carrie, and Courtney, season tickets to Starwood.

I, Kimberly Irion, leave the following things:

To Beth Kautzman, a large pair of magnets, "Let's calibrate this bad boy!", "Engage!", another year of soccer, the Peter Gunn song, a HH/AP Chem. gripe session, and most entrustingly, I leave you the plaid of the universe.

To Natalina, my pseudo-suede jacket, NYC forever, and a vegetable.

To Susan Rankin, something "fabulous," some wodka, a random laugh/cry attack, NYC forever, and most of all a Christian Camper.

To Holly Meadows, a hiccup, NYC forever, and a G-string and a cowboy hat.

To Emily Perdue, my butt, and 12 layers...AH! AH! AH! 13 layers!...AH! AH! AH! and a change of clothes every fifteen minutes.

To Susan Harris, my choir loft spot and the knowledge to get there if the communion table is up.

To Blair Davis, a crisis-free day and many more crushes on every boy you meet.

To Katy Manier, a love affair with my car, a love affair with one of my friends, Pippin, a hug a fun car ride home, another Sr./Frosh bonding night, but overall I leave you...Sass! (Share him with Ellen.)

To Ellen Bucy, a resolved boy crisis with "Shadow/Charles," a secret love affair with Miles, the Age of Aquarius, a disco night, and most importantly...I leave you Sass! (Please share with Katy.)

To Lauren O'Neill, a meeting with Ms. Rhys about the male anatomy, the Maharishi and Muhamad, fuzzy bug stickers.

To Melissa Batchelor, Montreat, a harmonizing session with Amazing Grace and Going to the Chapel, Fol de Rol and Fiddle Dee, a two-hour-long guy chat in Holiday Inn bathroom, NYC forever, a G-string and a cowboy hat, a trauma-free senior year (hey, "It's Possible!"), and the Laudate Choir (take good care of it).

To Kate Rose, a naked man, the P-game (Shackle P-), an annoying noise, a slippery pair of tap shoes on a linoleum floor, HaHaHeeHeeHoHo...!, Prince Charming (all for you!), and the Bra drive (make sure the traditional carries on).

To Julia Brown: Listen up, lovey dovey, I leave you a late-nite physics study session, a crisis-crisis all your own, the P-game, NYC forever, Bra drive, something OH, so lush! OH, so plush, Beauty and the Feast, Moltar King of the Desert, the DMX showtunes game, Wreeeeent!, a ticket out of the Worst Kiss Physics Club, an exercise program and a Naked Man! Naked Man!

To Jordan Jones, Montreat '95, we just won't go there, phnymnrhodd, you tainted him!, the ability not to lose your purse, tighty whities on the doorknob, a bag of pretzels and an addiction to Coke, the youth groupies, Brian Jarvis (watch over him until I can return!), a stalker policemen, Amazing Grace, and most deservingly...Mark Bittles!!! (Alleluia! You earned him! Don't forget to share!) Jordan, you are like my surrogate sister, and I will miss you so much next year so most importantly...I'm leaving you a ticket to come see me at college next year and a free phone (use at anytime!).

I, Courtney Jones, leave to Nicole Lewis and Christy Hunt memories of Spam and LATISHA.

To Kim Allen I leave my leadership position in the Vandy basketball fan club.

I, Liz Ligon, with classified mind and body (I could tell you but then I'd have to kill you), do bequeath the following:

To Lauren O'Neill—the power of blue light, a new dictaphone, a boy who likes girls, Poetry boy

To Lauren Tweel—another year of partying like a rock star

To Carrie Gilmore—
Hayes House to protect and love
when I am away

To Melissa Batchelor—a nice expensive meal at Une Deux Poop

To Julia Brown—a napkin
bra

To Susan Rankin—five-minute breaks and Tabouli's

To Sarah Norris—my address at school so that you can send me every poem you write since I'm your #1 fan

To Natalina Nanni—a "large" furry feline and some vegetables

To Amber Worrell—Mr.
Goodwin to have for your very own

To Emily Purdue and Holly Meadows—a timers that "dings" so you'll know when to change clothes, and Jonathan Brandis

To Kate Rose—"K" for Katie, "R" for Rosie. "K and R" for Katie Rosie.

To Katy Manier—a blanket for which you have my permission to find a new buddy

To Christy Hunt—my jacket that lived in your closet for a year

To everyone—the courage to cry, as I have done daily at this school, and the strength to survive it.

I, Anne Elizabeth
McIntosh, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath the following items to the following persons:

To Amber Worrell, eternally stained uniform clothes and the fabulous smell of sepia toner

To Brittany Foster, my boyfriend traumas as well as a "mother's" love

To Haley Rumore, two more years of football season even though, "Guys, it's OVER!"

To Meredith Mallard, lots of nude models

To Lauren Kitchell and Nicole Mynatt, SAP South
Seas Parties

To Tallu Schuyler, my brother

And, last but not least, to the rest of the upper school many fond memories of a very special place.

I, Mary Beth
Scherer, being of not so sound mind and body, leave the following things to the following people:

To Ruth Duncan (a.k.a.
Odette-Serge), my fun-dilled job at Elrick and Lavidge and Mrs. Benn's e-mail address so you can reminisce over old French class days

To Carrie Smith, many more physics computer labs

To Meg Funderburk, a funnel—you know what to to with it!

To Catherine Workman,
Jeff—a permanent date to all Harpeth Hall dances

To Britany Foster, Camp
Webe memories.

I, Kristine West, of exhausted state, give my pea greens to whoever wants them.

To the track team, I leave the following things:

Beth—the pleasure of harassing some other quiet person.

Please see Sr. Wills, p. 4.
Anne—thanks for coming
