The 1981 Milestones Staff would like to thank Mr. David Wood and Mrs. Jeanne Zerfoss for their assistance with advertising and Miss Polly Fessey, Mrs. T.G. Pennington, Mr. Hap Minhinnett, Karen Fleming, Jenny Bond, Kathy McPherson, and Beth Guthrie for their candid photographs.

Individual portraits and group pictures were taken by Mr. Togue Uchida. We would like to thank Mr. Michael Doege for his photographs of the Alabama Shakespeare Players, Mr. Randy Tibbott for his contribution to the art work, and Mr. Bill Benson for his assistance to the staff.

Milestones is a publication of the Harpeth Hall School, Nashville, Tennessee, printed by Herff-Jones Yearbooks.

Dedication

Miss Patty Chadwell

In a time when Harpeth Hall is ever changing to adapt to new forms of art, new clubs, and certainly new faces, one lady stands out as an unchanging member of the school community. Having been with Harpeth Hall since its founding three decades ago, she is one of the few teachers who carry with them the legacy of Ward-Belmont. Forever a story-teller of Ward-Belmont days, she constantly reminds us of our heritage and of the people who have gone before us.

Under her capable direction, the physical education program has expanded to employ more teachers and to encompass more athletic events. In addition to teaching and coaching, she has been involved in other facets of the student life, including chaperoning several Winterim trips abroad.

Miss Patty is probably best known for continuing the traditional George Washington Birthday Celebration. Every February, she devotes her time to the freshmen, fitting costumes and rehearsing the minuet and sailors' dance. Though organizing a program involving such a large number of students may seem to be a formidable task, the presentation appears polished every year under her leadership.

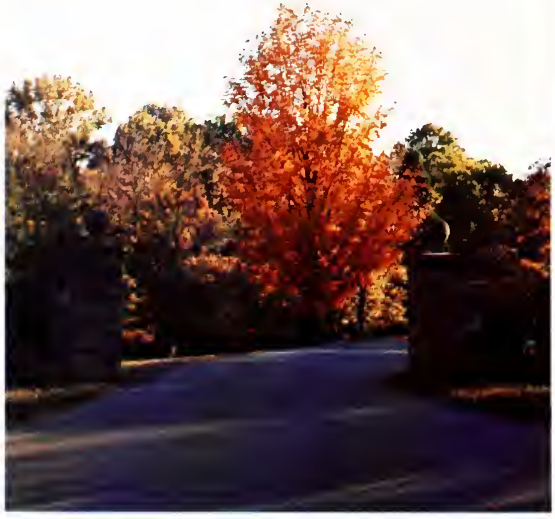

Because of her warm personality and strength of character and because of her devotion to this girls' school, past and present, the yearbook staff on this thirtieth anniversary of Harpeth Hall would like to dedicate Milestones 1981 to Miss Patty Chadwell.

Like the endless motion of a clock the days pass, one after the other, the clocks moving away the time that we are here.

Each day will bring the same hours, though different—as each moment is unique in the time spent and the way each girl spends it.

Like the hands of a clock we move, separately, yet together . . .

. . . filling our time with people . . .

. . . and moments . . .

often too simple to recall, but too precious to forget.

We will remember not the hours or even the days at Harpeth Hall, but the year as a whole . . .
the magic, the friends, the memories we made, the time we spent . . .

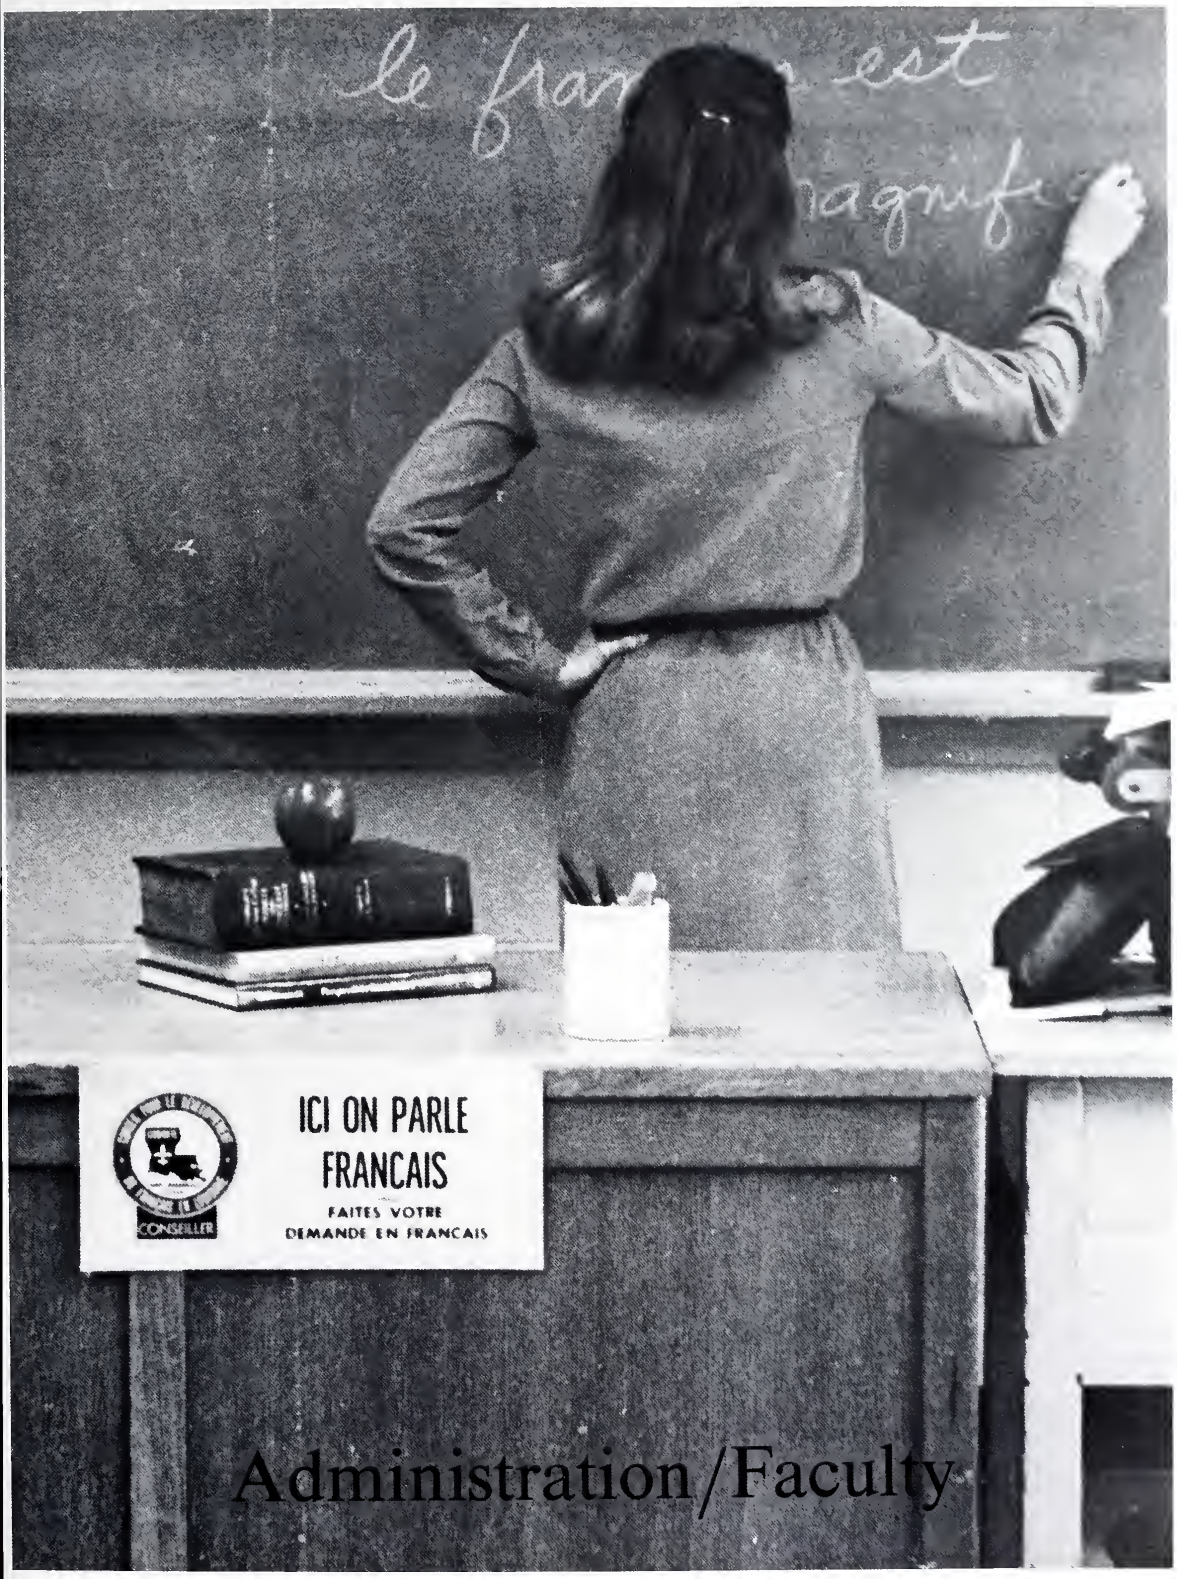

Time that blazes our future
as it ties us to our past.

Administration/Faculty

David Wood: Headmaster

Mr. Wood certainly has made his first year as headmaster of Harpeth Hall an exciting one for the entire school community. He has given students a new sense of enthusiasm for all activities and has participated with them. Along with this intense spirit, Mr. Wood has shown initiative in his plans for the school while retaining a balance with old traditions.

From rafting the Ocoee River with the Outing Club to being elected Angkor boy of the month, Mr. Wood has been a part of the variety of activities offered to students. His interest in sporting events has spurred a smiliar interest on the part of the student body.

Having had a great deal of experience in education as teacher at Battle Ground Academy, Director of Admissions at Vanderbilt University, and headmaster of University Military School in Mobile, Alabama, Mr. Wood has brought a variety of plans and ideas for expanding many school institutions. He has formed an Honor Council, attended a Leadership Conference for club and class officers and sponsors, helped initiate the Key Club, and planned and chaperoned a college trip for students. In these ways, Mr. Wood has indeed injected a special enthusiasm into Harpeth Hall.

Polly Fessey: Middle School Director

Miss Fessey, an indispensable individual in her roles of scheduling classes and faculty meetings and organizing various other school programs, is responsible for steering the Middle School in the right direction. Obviously, she is the one to whom a Middle Schooler would run with a problem, but she emphasizes her delight at having students, past and present, stop in just to say, "Hi."

Miss Fessey has been at Harpeth Hall since the opening of the Middle School in 1968 and has spent every year but one in the Middle School. She feels that one pleasant aspect of her position there is being able to acquaint herself with both students and faculty. Because of the close proximity between herself and the teachers and students, she does not feel "isolated."

Miss Fessey is particularly glad that the Middle School has begun to share more activities with MBA, and she proudly remarks, "Our activities have expanded to meet the changing needs and interests of our girls." She believes that learning is essential but adds that the enjoyment of the learning process is equally important. Miss Fessey is a remarkable woman, largely responsible for the special atmosphere in the Middle School.

Administration

Janet Hensley

Because of her numerous roles at Harpeth Hall, Miss Hensley works daily with students, parents, and faculty toward insuring smooth operation of the school and maintaining Harpeth Hall's high standards. She is a member of the Student-Faculty Committee, which establishes better relationships between students and teachers. Miss Hensley is also the sponsor of the Student Council, a student disciplinary body, and this year she helped to establish the Honor Council, which deals more specifically with honor offenses. As Dean of Students, she arranges Winterim trips abroad and work-study programs for upperclassmen. This project is her most time-consuming task. Because she does not become as well acquainted with the students through teaching as she did in the past, Miss Hensley feels that she must work hard to get to know the girls. She also hopes that Harpeth Hall will remain strong academically and will always instill self-confidence and a sense of responsibility in its students. Miss Hensley reflects these ideas in fulfilling her many roles in the administration.

Penelope Mountfort

Miss Penelope Mountfort, or "Miss Penny," as she is better known to students, faculty, and alumnae, is certainly indispensable to Harpeth Hall students, particularly to juniors and seniors. Her numerous duties especially benefit students as they select a college. She not only counsels upperclassmen concerning colleges, but she also writes students' recommendations and evaluations, fills out transcripts, teaches a college class for juniors, and administers entrance examinations and some standardized tests.

Miss Penny's background at Harpeth Hall has been vast. When the school was founded, Miss Penny taught biology, chemistry, and all other sciences. She was, in effect, the science department! She has also in past years been sponsor of the school yearbook. Certainly, with all of her experience and knowledge, Miss Penny is an essential part of Harpeth Hall's administration.

Peggy Herring and Lucile McLean

In the upper portion of Souby Hall work two ladies who are an integral part of the administration at Harpeth Hall: Mrs. McLean and Miss Herring. Because they do not have as much daily contact with the students as other members of the administration, many students do not realize the extent of their duties. Mrs. McLean not only sells textbooks and other materials, but she also teaches a typing course and helps handle school finances. Miss Herring serves as Director of Development and manager of school finances. She raises needed funds for equipment for the school and plans and meets the school budget each year.

We gratefully recognize these ladies' many contributions.

Polly Nichols

Although students may not know Mrs. Nichols very well, the Harpeth Hall alumnae depend on her to keep them up to date on the activities of their former schoolmates. Throughout the year, Mrs. Nichols makes numerous phone calls and writes several letters to Harpeth Hall alumnae, compiling information to be used in the Harpeth Hall Alumnae News, which she publishes. Not only does this publication tell of the latest news concerning Harpeth Hall graduates, but it also informs alumnae of what is happening on the ever-changing school campus.

Mrs. Nichols is an invaluable member of the administration, as she continues to link us to our past.

These are the people . . .

These are the people-
The faces of time
Reflections of yesterday
Visions of things to come.

Looking in each other's eyes,
One awed by a seeming wisdom.
The other perceiving a carefree innocence.

Feigning to look beyond the other,
One passes hurriedly on her way.
The other stares inquisitively.

Daring a quick glimpse back
Each catches the other's look
And smiles-

One a little more compassionate
The other a little more assured
(Reflecting on yesterday
Envisioning the future) . . .

In today walks tomorrow

Pernilla Stalfelt

A Special Senior

Among the new faces at Harpeth Hall this year is that of Pernilla Stalfelt, our winter term American Field Service student. Pernilla's home is in the small town of Orebro, in Sweden, where she attends a coed school of approximately 1,500 people. Hence, coming to a small all girls' high school has been quite a shock to her. Pernilla admits that the transition to the social and family life of the South has been difficult, but with her vibrant personality and enthusiasm, Pernilla seems to everyone at Harpeth Hall well adjusted to her new atmosphere.

When Pernilla leaves, Harpeth Hall will have lost not only another exchange student but also a person whose spirit and love of life have made her very special to everyone.

We made the deadline!

To most students, Milestones is simply a book in which they find their pictures and names in print and possibly something written about them. After they have looked at the "important" parts of the annual, they close it and put it up on some dusty shelf to keep company with annuals of years past.

To students on the Milestones staff, the annual is the product of their time, effort, and imagination. When looking through the annual, they remember Friday afternoons of cropping pictures, writing and typing copy, drawing layouts, and eating ravenously.

We, the editors, staff, and sponsor hope that you will view Milestones not as a picture book but as a reminder of the past year.

Penstaff is an organization which encourages students at Harpeth Hall to use their creative and imaginative abilities. Each year, the club asks that interested students submit three works to be judged for admission into Hallmarks, Penstaff's literary magazine. If all three works are accepted, the girl becomes a member of the club.

Each year, Penstaff has a fall skit to announce tryouts for Hallmarks and to explain the club to new students. This year, the theme was "the diversity of Penstaff."

During the winter months, Penstaff held a potluck dinner to celebrate the holidays and to initiate new members.

The Penstaff club hopes that students see the opportunity to express themselves in Hallmarks and encourages all interested to try out.

Cross Country

The 1980 cross country team completed a most successful season. Coached by Mrs. Susan Russ and Mr. Brad Williams, the team had an untainted record in dual meets and proceeded to win the district, regional, and state meets. Under the leadership of three seniors—Sloan Burton, Tracey Hill, and Kathy McPherson—this phenomenal team also won all four invitational meets it entered: the A. O. Bridges, the Bradshaw Invitational, the Lexington Invitational, and under the stiffest competition of the year—Virginia—the Tri-State Meet at Bristol.

At the end of the regular season, Sloan Burton, Ginger Sullivan, Michele Granda, Lynn Kitchel, and Kathy McPherson continued their rigorous training in order to compete in the AAU National Meet in Pocatella, Idaho, among more diversified teams. All runners turned in excellent times, fast enough to earn third place for the team.

With three of the top five runners returning next year, the team should remain impressively strong.

Soccer

Because there are no other girls' high school soccer teams, the Harpeth Hall varsity team played such college teams as Alabama and Vanderbilt in addition to the regular youth league teams. They also played for the Goaldiggers, an independent women's team. For the season, the team boasted a seven win-one loss record.

The Middle School soccer team had a tremendous season with a 6-3-1 record. Finishing second in the H.V.A.C., the girls highlighted the year by beating Northside and Ensworth. Ashley Clements and Becky Lee made the all-tournament team, leading the Middle School to third place in the tournament finals.

Softball

The Middle School softball team, coached by Mrs. Nancy Duvier and Mrs. Jean Hoover, has certainly demonstrated its dedication and desire to win. After tryouts were held and new members were chosen, these seventh and eighth graders began rigorous practices on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons to prepare for their five games in April and May.

The sixth grade team, coached by Mrs. Nelson, Jane Mabry, and Gayle Smith, also held practices each week for their upcoming games.

With the amount of time and energy which the two teams have contributed, there is no doubt that they will achieve their goals.

Basketball

The Harpeth Hall varsity basketball team worked very hard this year to finish the season with an 11-11 record. The starting players were Ann Webb Betty, Tracey Hill, Lisa Meyer, Helen Berry, Lisa Crockett, Melanie Patterson, and Gayle Smith. Ann Webb Betty made All Class AA second team and was mentioned for the All NIL team. Gayle Smith received Honorable Mention for the All Class AA Second team. The team was coached by Mr. Byrd and Mr. Williams.

The freshman team had much to cheer about when it placed first in District Nine. The team, coached by Mr. Goodwin, ended up with a winning season of ten victories and six losses.

The Middle School teams had a very successful year. The varsity team placed third in HVAC, and the junior varsity finished second in the Junior Athletic League and third in the HVAC. The varsity team was coached by Mrs. Lee and Mr. Young, and the junior varsity coaches were Mrs. Davis and Mr. Welhoelter.

Tennis

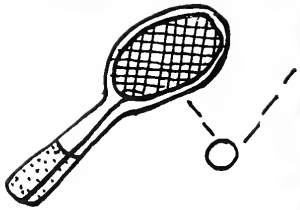

Harpeth Hall's Upper and Middle School varsity tennis teams completed very successful seasons for 1980-81. Coached by Miss Patty Chadwell, the Upper School varsity worked very hard to remain undefeated in all six NIL matches. At the Rotary tournament in Chattanooga, the Honeybears rallied to second place. In TSSAA tournaments, the varsity demonstrated remarkable talent by placing first in the district and the regionals and in the state.

In Middle School play, Kendall Hagan and Laurie Overfield led the Honeybears to a winning season, defeating their rival, Brentwood. Under the leadership of Mrs. Pat Moran, the Middle School team completed a rewarding season.

Tennis

A definite "10"!

Track

The Harpeth Hall varsity track team is one of the most outstanding teams in our region. This year, the fabulous Honeybears have proven themselves once again by achieving the type of record which has become a standard at Harpeth Hall.

Coach Susan Russ insists on strenuous training. The team runs every day during the season, but distance runners run from five to twelve miles a day the entire year.

The team's record reflects the talent, dedication, and hard work of its members. The girls are defending State Champions in the AA District and are also the NIL City Champions. Harpeth Hall is very proud of the team's achievements and has high expectations for the future.

For many students at Harpeth Hall, sweat pants, track shoes, and team records are a way of life. These girls are always on the go, practicing in their free time and planning schedules around their school work. The Harpeth Hall teams have become renowned for their records, but these girls' individual performances are responsible for the team's success.

For other girls, athletic pursuit consists only of physical education classes and intramurals. The dreaded ten laps around the gym and exercises become a dull routine in their lives. Intramural interest, increased in recent years, serves as a chance not only to participate in team sports but also to compete against friends outside school.

The sports program, then, encompasses the interests of each student, whether she is a devoted athlete or not.

Harpeth Hall Sports Stars

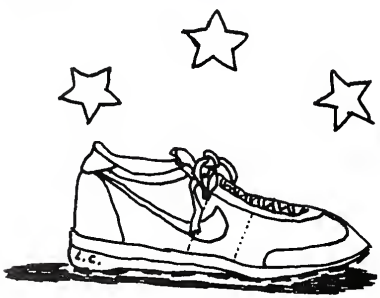

Though Harpeth Hall boasts many fine athletes, certain individuals especially excel in their respective sports. These girls have been named All-Star or Honorable Mention or have received another prestigious title.

Two celebrities have earned much recognition: Sloan Burton in cross country has been named All-American, and Tracy Caulkins in swimming has received numerous national and world awards. Also, Melissa Bradford has won numerous golf titles.

In recognition of their accomplishments and devotion to their sports, Milestones would like to salute these "sports stars" at Harpeth Hall in their athletic pursuits.

These Were The Days . . .

Dud's days, costume days, snow days, bake sale days, days with lunch meetings and Student Council assemblies; hectic days before a term paper, pre-exam study days, chemistry test days, theme days; days in the spring spent "soaking up rays," cold blustery days in the senior house when soap operas were exciting . . .

Mondays, Fridays, and all the days in between; Days when the hours dragged by and those when there wasn't enough time . . .

Wacky days, ordinary and special days . . .

These were the days that made life at Harpeth Hall unique.

KEY CLUB

Leadership Conference

This year, many students and teachers have commented on the smoothness and organization with which club meetings have been led this year, the reason stemming not only from the excellent leadership in the student body but also from a very special retreat held in August. The retreat, held at Camp Hy-Lake, was attended by officers of every organization on campus along with sponsors and teachers and was directed by Mrs. Warterfield, Mrs. Justus, Mrs. Davis, and Mrs. Schmid. Its theme was "Leadership 1980" and was designed to educate the leaders of clubs at Harpeth Hall on the steps of parliamentary procedure and hints for effective leadership. Various teachers held workshops on delegation of authority, practical planning and public speaking.

The days were interspersed with games designed to acquaint everyone and to recognize the goals of some smaller groups.

Of course, the weekend did have a few mishaps, such as the midnight raid of mice in a cabin; but along with the problems came some surprises, such as when Mr. Wood drove up to camp with a carload of cokes.

The weekend proved to be not only informative but also enjoyable as students became acquainted with each other while learning about leadership.

"Let me tell you about my experiences as a stewardess."

Club Activities

This year each of the four clubs presented a program to the student body. Ariston gave the annual Halloween Party, complete with a chant read by witches from the English department, a costume contest, and an eating competition. A new club activity was Triad's Queen of Fools Day, during which Angkor's Norita Riegle was crowned the Queen for 1981. The traditional Eccowasin "gong" talent show was held, during which the distinguished Drs. Marney and Gower read trite poetry amid a shower of paper wads thrown by a disgruntled audience. Beth Guthrie won the competition with her unfortunate rendition of our national anthem. On Angkor Day, each locker was decorated with a fresh flower, and gallons of homemade ice cream were served at lunch.

College Trips

One of the headmaster's numerous innovations for the 1980-81 school year was the college trip, offered to girls in the spring of their junior year. In addition, this year Mr. Wood took a group of seniors on a similar tour during the fall.

The purpose of these trips was to expose the girls to a wide variety of colleges and universities at a relatively small cost. Students were able to experience the college atmosphere and, in some cases, to attend classes.

Both trips involved one week bus tours to approximately sixteen institutions in the South and East. Both juniors and seniors felt that these trips were very valuable to them and hoped that the program would become a tradition at Harpeth Hall.

Assemblies

During the school year 1980-81, students enjoyed many interesting assemblies. At one assembly, Representative Bill Boner addressed the student body, delivering a very impressive speech with several humorous anecdotes. The Penstaff club presented a witty skit satirizing the club in order to encourage students to join. Musical assemblies were very popular this year. The Glee Club demonstrated the results of its many hours of practice by performing several selections. During one assembly, Suzi Ragsdale sang with the Gordon Kennedy rock group. Other musical programs featured Kathy Lazenby with the group High Tide and the popular White Animals.

Assemblies

Suzi Ragsdale charms the audience in one of her many concerts.

The seniors held their annual lunch auction, with delicious lunches being sold to the highest bidder. The cast of Oklahoma performed a few scenes from the musical for the student body. On a more serious side, the nominees for Student Council President presented campaign speeches for the first time. During another program, all the visiting American Field Service students introduced themselves and told something about their countries. The assemblies this year offered an opportunity for students to relax and enjoy interesting activities.

Halloween at Harpeth Hall

Although to many people Halloween is a very frightening event, to Harpeth Hall students the words, "Halloween party" mean excitement and entertainment. Sponsored by the Ariston Club, the event included a costume contest judged by certain members of the faculty, a doughnut-eating contest, a skit performed by the English teachers, and a generous amount of delicious food.

Middle School Grandmothers' Tea

This fall, the Middle School hosted the traditional Grandmothers' Tea. In the Sheridan gallery, students and their grandmothers gathered to have tea and talk with each other and with various faculty members. The seventh and eighth grades performed a selection of songs from the musical, Oklahoma!, under the direction of Mrs. Ray Berry. Both students and their grandmothers enjoyed the opportunity to chat and tour the school.

Alabama Shakespeare Festival: Two Gentlemen of Verona

A special joint project between the Harpeth Hall and M.B.A. student bodies was the Shakespeare Festival presented by the Alabama Theater Company on October 27. In workshops held by the company the morning of the performance, sophomores, juniors, and seniors participated in demonstrations given by the talented actors in the play. Students witnessed the art of fake punching, harmless falling, and realistic sword fighting. That night, students and parents were able to view these feats again as the company performed Two Gentlemen of Verona.

Fall Combo Featuring: The Piggy's

The annual fall combo had a unique atmosphere this year as the student body developed a theme around the name of the band, the Piggy's. Piggy's buttons and posters were seen decorating the halls as everyone prepared for the dance on Saturday night, November 1. "Piggy mania" was even carried to the point of putting a statue of a pig on the front lawn.

The night of the dance, students danced to the rhythm of the '60's music until they could "jump and shout" no longer. The cold soft drinks furnished by the Student Council and the food made by various individuals were welcome refreshments to the crowd. Students who wished had their pictures taken against an autumn backdrop of leaves, hay, and straw.

A.F.S. Celebrations of Many Lands

A very popular event at Harpeth Hall is the annual "Celebrations of Many Lands," held one evening in the fall. It is the creation of the American Field Service Club, a chapter of an international foreign exchange organization. These exchange programs are designed to allow students to stay in different countries or within regions of their own countries.

The "Celebrations" is not only a fundraiser for the club, but it is also an opportunity for students, parents, faculty, and the public to learn about and experience the food, customs, and history of other countries. Each of the sixteen rooms depicted a different country, with food, dancing, and costumes of the particular land.

Oklahoma!

On the nights of Friday and Saturday, December 5th and 6th, the Drama and Glee Clubs of Harpeth Hall presented the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, Oklahoma! Actors, singers, and dancers from Harpeth Hall and other schools rehearsed for over two months, practicing lines, songs, and complicated dance routines.

The main cast included Lucy Sensing as Laurey, Denise Smith as Aunt Eller, Kurt Denny as Curly, Miles Carlsen as Ike Skidmore, Doug Trapp as Will Parker, Jim Parker as Judy Fry, Giny Adkins as Ado Annie, Steve Halprin as Ali Hakim, Mebbie Jackson as Gertie Cummings, Frank Lee as Andrew Carnes, and Ed Brown as Cord Elam. In addition to these main characters were soloists, dancers, and a lively chorus.

Under the direction of Mrs. Sandra Davis and Mrs. Ray Berry, the production seemed very professional and delighted all who saw it.

Winterim

What do Harpeth Hall girls think when they hear, "Winterim '81": the slopes of Switzerland, the beauty of Salzburg, the night life of New York!! Whatever the girls think of, they all consider Winterim '81 a great experience.

As usual, freshmen and sophomores stayed on campus and plunged into the interesting classes offered by the various departments. The juniors and seniors, however, were given the opportunity to visit many exciting places. For example, many upperclassmen traveled to Germany, Switzerland, Austria, New York, Italy, Washington, Norway, and Japan. While these girls experienced a first-hand encounter with foreign lands, the on-campus underclassmen had had a chance to take courses about the countries such as, "C'est la Vie en France," "Glimpse of Life in France," and "Cosas Mexicanas." Also offered were courses concerning art, physical education, social science, and sundry other courses such as typing and bridge.

Other upperclassmen stayed in town to pursue work/study or independent study programs concerning science and technology, special education, psychological services, student teaching, and music industry programs. Some girls even designed their own Winterim programs. Through these experiences, the girls broadened their interests in the world.

The Wizard of Oz

On the evenings of Friday, February 13th, and Saturday, February 14th, the Harpeth Hall Middle School presented the musical, The Wizard of Oz. Under the direction of Elizabeth Williams and music director Ray Berry, the students, parents, and other faculty members created a fine production.

The leading parts of Dorothy, Toto, Scarecrow, Tinman, and Lion were played by Kathie Jones, Kathleen Kral, Dallas Hagewood, Karin McEwen, and Mandy Haynes, respectively. In addition to the main cast were Munchkins, girls of Oz, generals, skeletons, jitterbugs, and a chorus of sixty. The hard work of all involved was appreciated and made for an enjoyable evening.

George Washington's Birthday

Once again, Harpeth Hall's traditional celebration was held in honor of our first President. This year the original George and Martha Washington of the first birthday clebration at Ward Belmont were present at the annual pageant presented by the freshman class. The show included the sailor dance, the soldier marches, the minuet, and a ballet, as the school saluted Melanie Patterson as George and Allison Wills as Martha, with Jane Mabry as the alternate George for the evening program.

As she has every year, Miss Patty Chadwell directed the program, upholding an important Harpeth Hall tradition.

Language Week

During March this year, Harpeth Hall participated in the National Language Week. To celebrate, the French, Latin, and Spanish clubs submitted five proverbs each to the annual proverb contest. These sayings were so challenging that no one was able to figure out all fifteen of them. In addition, the French club held a French breakfast with delicious beignets, hot chocolate, French bread, butter, and jam. The Spanish club also added to the week with its taco bar offered during lunch, a welcomed change from the regular school meals. The clubs highlighted the week with Costume Day, during which language teachers and students donned outfits from countries all over the world. The week was especially enjoyable in that it involved all students learning foreign languages at Harpeth Hall.

Cum Laude

The Cum Laude Society at Harpeth Hall strives to uphold its motto of "Areté, diké, timé." The literal translation of these Greek words is "Excellence, justice, and honor"; but each word contains a deeper meaning. "Areté" refers to excellence in virtue as well as in scholarship; "diké" embodies that which is proper and suitable; and "timé" applies to dignity and merit with honor. The girls chosen for membership comprise the top twenty percent of the senior class and the top ten percent of the junior class. Also recognized are the faculty members who belonged to the collegiate honor society Phi Beta Kappa. Certainly, this society has maintained the standards for which Harpeth Hall was founded.

Composition: Red and Green

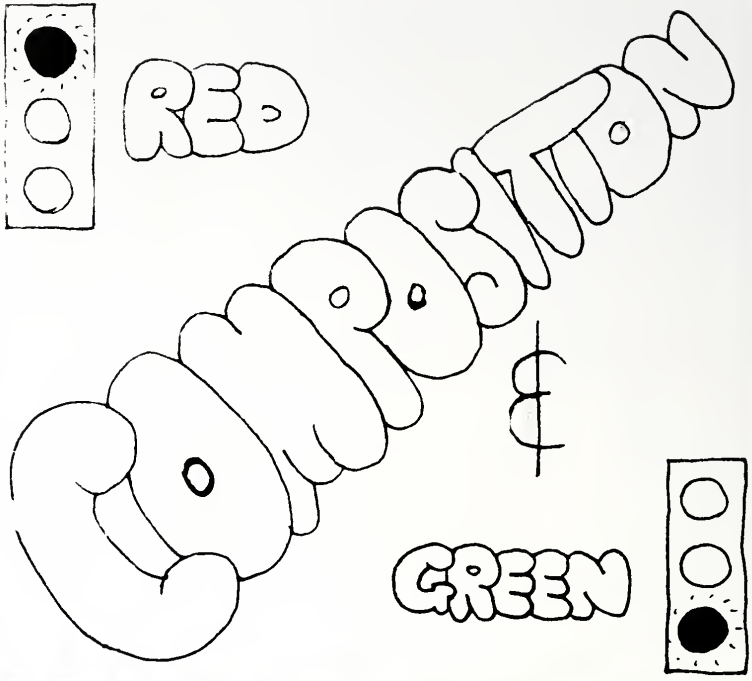

In the spring, students from Harpeth Hall and M.B.A. combined their creative talents during a week appropriately entitled "Composition: Red and Green."

The festivities began on Tuesday evening, April 7, as the Glee Clubs of Harpeth Hall and M.B.A., under the direction of Mrs. Ray Berry and Mr. Gerald Arthur, presented a program of traditional and modern selections at M.B.A. A reception followed in the library.

On Wednesday evening, the schools held a joint student art opening and reception at Harpeth Hall, and afterwards the Alfred Hitchcock film Psycho was presented.

On Friday, both schools gathered in Harpeth Hall's gym for lunch and some student musical entertainment.

Finally, on Friday and Saturday nights, the Drama clubs presented The Night of January 16, ending a very successful fine arts week.

The Night of January 16th

On the evenings of Friday and Saturday, April 10th and 11th, the Drama clubs of Harpeth Hall and M.B.A. presented Ayn Rand's The Night of January 16th. This exciting murder mystery consisted entirely of a courtroom trial, with the jury chosen randomly from the audience attending the play. The main cast included Ed Brown as the district attorney Flint, Denise Smith as the defense attorney Stevens, Giny Adkins as Karen Andre, Lattie Brown as Nancy Lee Faulkner, Alex Grimsley as John Graham Whitfield, Anne Shoulders as Mrs. John Hutchins, Carol Coles as Roberta Van Rensselaer, Mebbie Jackson as Alana Jungquist, Lulu Rogers as Magda Svenson, Robbie Wright as Jane Chandler, Frank Lee as Larry Regan, David Edwards as Homer Van Fleet, Jordan Asher as Dr. Kirkland, Jim Parker as Officer Sweeney, and Ridley Wills as Judge Heath, as well as a strong supporting cast. Both Mrs. Davis and the cast worked for many hard hours to present a fascinating and professional production.

Celebration!
Junior-Senior Prom

On the evening of Saturday, April 25, the junior class honored the seniors with the junior-senior prom, held in the Morrison Gym. Seniors, each carrying one carnation, were presented with their escorts through an arch decorated with balloons and the theme word, "Celebration." For the first time at Harpeth Hall, the students elected a prom queen, Charlotte Booth, who was presented flowers and was spotlighted in a dance with her date. Her court included senior representative Pernilla Stalfelt, junior Kathleen Jackson, sophomore Anna Amacher, and freshman Argie Oman. The picture backdrop included a wicker love seat, yellow and white potted daisies, and pastel colored balloons with "Celebration '81" printed on them. The juniors also provided delicious refreshments as well as entertainment by the band "Black Widow." By 12:00 Saturday night, the Upper School girls and their dates had certainly "celebrated."

Dance Concert

The Year of the Dancer . . .

During the second semester at Harpeth Hall, the dance clubs practiced many long hours and held several rehearsals. The culmination of this work came on Friday and Saturday, May 8 and 9, when director Mrs. Leslie Mullins and the dance clubs presented the 1981 Spring Dance Concert, a magnificent program of modern dance, tap, jazz, and ballet pieces.

The Ballet Club, under the direction of Mrs. Stephanie Hamilton, performed a series of light, inspirational segments in a piece called Papillon. Karen Goss performed a modern dance solo, Shades of Dusk, which she choreographed herself and dedicated to Mrs. Mullins.

Dance Concert

One of the most original pieces of the program was The Beginning, by the Modern Dance Club. The Tap Club performed a difficult piece called Foot Frolic but succeeded in making it appear quite easy. The Jazz Club opened the second act with a rendition of David's Suite, and the Ballet Club followed with an entertaining dance, Sassy Slippers. Mrs. Hamilton added variety to the evening with a dance from Jules Styne's Funny Girl. The show ended with the dance extravaganza, The Greatest Show on Earth, a circus scene complete with a ringmaster, a tightrope walker, acrobats, aerialists, clowns, and lions.

Certainly anyone who attended the Dance Concert would agree that the dance clubs presented a program of talent, grace, creativity, and originality.

Junior Senior Day

Junior-Senior Day is a Harpeth Hall spring tradition when juniors and seniors can break the monotony of the final weeks of school by reverting to the carefree days of their childhood (at least for one day).

This year, as always, the juniors donned the garb of little boys and played their roles well, constantly teasing the seniors who were dressed as little girls. After a morning of play, the two classes assembled on the hockey field for a picnic and games. After losing to the seniors in the wheelbarrow race and the clothes relay, the juniors redeemed themselves by winning the balloon toss. Finally, the girls returned to class tired, wet, but happy.

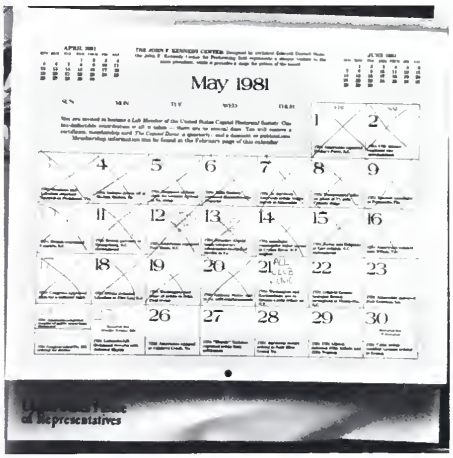

Two juniors starve their way to Florida.

End of School

As the end of school approached, students became busier and busier. Angkor, Ariston, Eccowasin, and Triad held early morning song practice for All-Club Picnic. The juniors and seniors were constantly calling last minute rehearsals for Step Singing. The Glee Club worked many hard hours on their selections to sing for graduation. Of course, seniors were hurriedly preparing for graduation, from shopping for long white dresses to sending out all of their invitations. Everyone (except those lucky exempt girls) was cramming for final exams, some learning material that they had never seen before. As in every year, a feeling of restlessness and thoughts of the summer filled the air.

Song practices occupied many mornings in the last weeks of school.

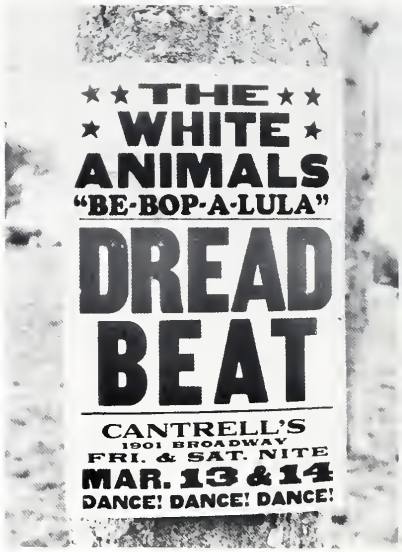

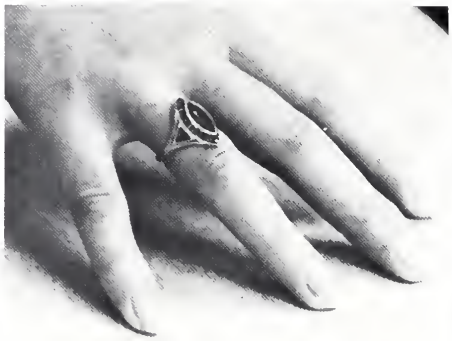

Student Life 1980-81 . . .

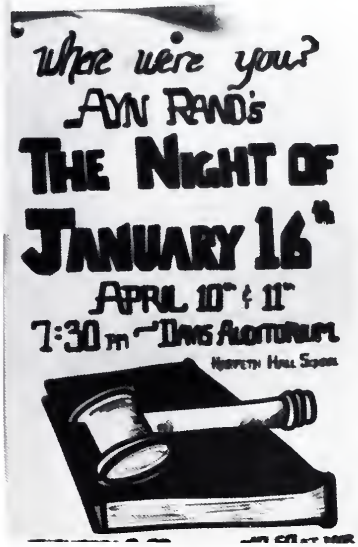

The traditional plaid kilt returned to Harpeth Hall this year, as did pony tails and ribbons, the "prep" look, spring break diets, and pre-exam jitters. Students talked of the Piggys and the White Animals, the currently popular bands. Balloon bouquets were delivered to many girls at school on their birthdays or on Valentine's Day. As in every year, the student life of 1981 included a mixture of both the old and the new.

. . . the Year at a Glance

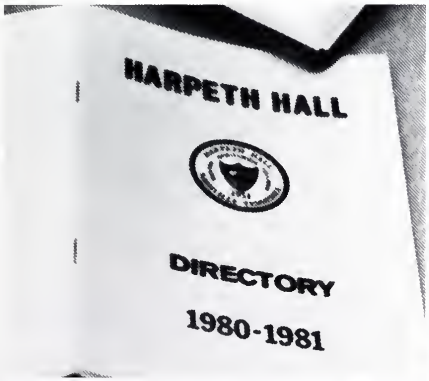

The year 1980-81 was a unique year in many ways. The country elected Reagan as President and received fifty-two released American hostages. Carol Burnett won her long-pending suit against the National Enquirer, and John Lennon was killed. President Reagan was shot, but he recovered quickly.

At Harpeth Hall, a new headmaster arrived. A school-wide slumber party, a donkey basketball game, a fall dance, and a service project for Try-Angle House highlighted the year.

The Twelfth Hour

Seniors of 1981: A Touch of Class

With the new guidance of a headmaster this year came the fresh leadership of eighty-two seniors who made up the Class of 1981. Their goals and interests paralleled those of many preceding classes, but their individuality set them apart as true pace-setters. Among the group appeared varied talents—from nationally known swimmers and track stars to many talented singers. Perhaps more special to the school than these accomplishments, however, were simply the smiles and personalities of 1981.

Participating in one of the first successful Leadership Conferences this summer, the seniors holding offices set the tempo they wished to follow and took great strides in reaching their goals. In directing numerous clubs, these innovative seniors beckoned the underclassmen to follow.

Going out in style . . .

Perhaps the most special day for the seniors was Senior Recognition Day, when they were ceremoniously capped with gray and blue beanies. Other activities included the grapefruit sales and junior-senior day. Spring found the seniors talking of college choices and exemptions . . .

Finally the roses were ordered, the invitations sent, and the seniors turned their title over, upon reaching "the twelfth hour"—graduation.

Middle School Honor Day

The Middle School Honor Day marks a very special time in the lives of all Middle Schoolers, both for the graduating eighth graders and the numerous underclassmen who are also recognized. This year the Reverend T. Hartley Hall gave the opening remarks, which were especially meaningful for his daughter Leigh, a member of the graduating class. In the Honor Day tradition, the seventh grade chorus performed songs dedicated to the graduating eighth grade. Miss Fessey, Director of the Middle School, then presented awards to students for excellence in all areas of school life. Class spirit awards were given to Anne Smith, Carol Cavin, and Sarah Sitton. Also, many students were recognized for academic achievement and attendance. The Junior Classical League Award was presented to Karin McEwen for her outstanding record as a Latin student and as a member of th JCL. Amanda McPherson, Mandy Haynes, Lindy Speight, and Karin McEwen were presented certificates of participation in the statewide Algebra I contest. Eccowasin won club awards for highest citizenship point accumulation and excellence in sports. Also, Eccowasin club members Jennifer Cox and Dallas Hagewood won the first annual Club Bowl, an academic quiz bowl modeled on television college bowls. Eighth grade diplomas were then awarded, and afterwards a special honor was announced, the Polly Fessey Award. This new award, not necessarily to be given each year, recognizes the eighth grader who has shown outstanding loyalty, service, and leadership to the school; and this year's recipient was Elizabeth James. Thus, the graduates looked on to their high school future, as the Middle School year drew to a close.

All-Club Picnic

All-Club Picnic is a very special and sentimental occasion concluding the school year when outstanding faculty and students are honored. It is also a time for skits, the initiation of next year's Student Council officers, and final inter-club competition. This year's All-Club Picnic was especially memorable because it will probably be the last year of the four club system. The Triads won the traditional club song contest with a new rendition of an old favorite. At this time the total club points for overall inter-club competition were tallied, and Eccowasin captured the award for highest accumulated points in academics, athletics, citizenship, and respect for school rules. The clubs and classes then presented spirit awards to those who had shown the greatest enthusiasm and involvement throughout the year.

Many smaller clubs recognized outstanding achievers, and in academics, awards were presented to language students who had excelled in national contests. As always, the Sophie Dobson blankets were awarded for excellence in academics and athletics. Along with these presentations, the Lady of the Hall and recipient of the Citizenship Bracelet were announced, honoring these girls with two of Harpeth Hall's most prestigious awards. Also, citizenship totals for underclassmen were announced, and Lucy Graves held the highest total for seniors in their final year.

The Student Council members surprised their schoolmates with a last reminder of their humor and creativity, a skit and a Baskin-Robbins' sundae treat. Also, several departing faculty and staff members were recognized, including Miss Patty, Mrs. Pennington, Miss

All-Club Picnic

Parker, Dr. Iano, and Mr. Williams. Publication dedications were announced at this time honoring Miss Patty and Mrs. Pennington, and the faculty and students thoughtfully gave Miss Patty a set of luggage for her future travels. Pernilla Stalfelt, this year's American Field Service student, also reflected on her American experiences and said good-bye to her school friends. Finally, the picnic ended on a tearful note as the students sang the Alma Mater, realizing that this was the last All-Club Picnic for graduating seniors.

Citizenship Bracelet

Jane Harwell

The Citizenship Bracelet is an honor given to the senior who has accumulated the highest number of citizenship points during her years at Harpeth Hall. This year, Jane Harwell was the recipient of this award.

Jane's participation in organizations at Harpeth Hall has been exceptional. She was a member of the Junior Classical League for four years, serving as its treasurer her sophomore and junior years. She was also a member of the Glee Club for three years and the Outing Club for two years. As president of the Honor Council and photography editor for Milestones this year, Jane has certainly demonstrated the qualities of leadership and responsibility.

Jane's scholastic achievements are as impressive as her extra-curricular activities. She served as president of the Cum Laude Society and was a member of Mu Alpha Theta, also. She received the Sophie Dobson Award for academic excellence her freshman and sophomore years and was named a National Merit Finalist this year.

As the recipient of the Randolph Macon Award her sophomore year, Jane "best exemplified the ideals of the school." Certainly, she embodies the goals and ideals of Harpeth Hall, and we wish her continued excellence in all she endeavors.

Katie Wray Award

Gina Klein

The Katie Wray Award is given each year to the senior with the highest four year grade point average, and this year's award went to Gina Klein. Gina has shown an outstanding competence in academics during her years at Harpeth Hall. She was initiated into the Harpeth Hall chapters of Cum Laude and Mu Alpha Theta in the spring of her junior year in recognition of her past academic achievements. In her senior year she received the Mu Alpha Theta Award for having the highest grade point average in Upper School math. As a National Merit Scholar and recipient of a one thousand dollar scholarship, Gina will attend Yale University next fall.

Gina is an outstanding student not only in scholarship but also in participation in the school community. For three years she played on the Harpeth Hall varsity tennis team. Throughout her four years at Harpeth Hall, she was a strong supporter of the French Club, and in her senior year, she served as president. She also took part in the 1981 drama club production of Oklahoma and was an active member in A.F.S.

In her last two years of high school, Gina began to participate more seriously in gymnastics, placing second in state competition as a senior. With these credentials, Gina will enrich any community.

Lady of the Hall

The title of Lady of the Hall is given each year to the senior who best exemplifies the ideals of Harpeth Hall. This year's recipient, Denise Smith, truly meets and surpasses the standards of this honor. Throughout her years as a student, Denise has radiated an aura of creativity, caring, dedication, enthusiasm, and intelligence.

She has accomplished numerous goals, including serving as secretary of the junior class and as president of the senior class. As an active member of the Thespian Society, Denise was elected Best Actress. She also proved her creative talents as a member of the Tap and Modern clubs for four years. As a senior she earned Second Honors and the D.A.R. Award. Chosen to represent the graduates of 1981, Denise gave the senior class remarks during graduation. Denise is the representative not only of her class but of Harpeth Hall.

Senior Banquet

This year's Senior Banquet was a festive event providing the Class of 1981 and the faculty the occasion to relax before the complicated weekend of activities honoring the graduates. On Friday evening the Parsons hosted an outdoor party, and Tracey Hill, Peaches Salyer, Jeannette James, and Norita Riegle entertained the crowd with the poems bestowing a unique superlative on each senior. Even Mr. Wood and Mrs. Gower were included in these awards in verse. Also, the graduates received a copy of their last will and testaments. On a more serious note, Robbie Wright spoke to the graduates about their years at Harpeth Hall and their future away from the school. Denise Smith then recognized classmates who had been helpful to her during the year. Thus, the Class of 1981 and their teachers parted in anticipation of step singing and graduation.

Step Singing

This year's step singing ceremony was part of an eventful afternoon following Baccalaureate and the junior-senior parents' tea. Under cloudy skies the juniors and seniors assembled to honor the Lady of the Hall and her maids as they were crowned.

Following the presentation of Denise and her attendants, the junior class officers arranged the Daisy Chain on the lawn. Next, the seniors sang their junior song, and Lee Ann Sullivan presented Mr. Wood with a check for a video recorder as the senior class gift. Senior class president Denise Smith then transferred her books to Louisa Gibbs, president of the class of 1982, and the seniors recited the school pledge. The seniors and juniors sang their class songs and ended the afternoon by joining in the Alma Mater.

Do you know? Can you see?
The changes that are coming over me, recently.
Do you feel it too?
Has it taken hold of you? . . .
I need to know, is it something that we share?

Maybe it's just something in my mind
Or something that we all are going to find, eventually.
It's of the future, not of now,
Yet I feel it near somehow—
The future's here inside me all the time and everywhere.

In today walks tomorrow
In every drop, a stream
In every dawn, a new day
In every thought, a dream
In now, a new beginning
In ourselves, a whole new way . . .
To walk with tomorrow in today.

Do you feel that you've learned?
Have all the gifts you've given been returned and bridges burned?
Have all the dreams you've dreamed come true?
Did you take the time to see it through?
And do you feel a comfort in the dreams you've yet to find?

Now we're coming to an end.
Do you think you have the strength to start again and somehow win?
When you think you've crossed the finish line . . .
It seems it's always starting time.
Tomorrow stands before us like a mountain yet to climb.

In today walks tomorrow . . .

Graduation

The Twelfth Hour

In a perfect circle we move through the hours of the day as we now stand on the twelfth;
in the shadow of a timepiece
we move step by step,
across plaid and ivy brick
into an expansion of snowy frontier . . .
Spiraling down,
the hour glass is almost empty;
with the chimes ringing in our ears
we realize it is now high noon, and we move forward
together, apart
into the void of tomorrow . . .

—Melissa Norton

Graduation marks the twelfth and final hour in each senior's Harpeth Hall career. After completing the ceremony, the graduates enter a new time frame and begin to seek new successes. This theme was perhaps best exemplified in Denise Smith's remarks from the graduates. Here, she emphasized the interrelationship of different time periods by the continual impact of past experiences. She concluded that Harpeth Hall and shared experiences therein would leave an imprint on the lives of all graduates, as a reflection in a pond. Judge Ruth Kinnard addressed the graduates on the importance of searching for truth and of seeking the strength of God.

Along with the presentation of diplomas, many other awards were announced in academics, athletics, and citizenship. At this time, three new awards were announced: the Tracy Caulkins Award established by the Massey Corporation for an outstanding contribution in athletics, the Patty Chadwell Award for participation in the greatest number of intramurals, and the Phyllis Thorpe Pennington Award for outstanding achievement in chemistry. The retiring Chairman of the Board, John Beasley, was also recognized for his service to the school from 1977-1981 by the presentation of a Harpeth Hall chair.

Graduation

Seven Year Veterans

The ceremony concluded with the singing of the senior class song and the Alma Mater, and the seniors parted realizing that this era in their lives had ended. With extremely mixed emotions of achievement and of loss, these girls looked forward to a vital, promising future, having celebrated the attainment of this twelfth hour.

Editor's Note—

As Harpeth Hall closes its doors for the summer, remaining traces of the 1980-81 school year are covered and new trends begin to mold the next year. This yearbook lasts as a permanent reminder of the year: its innovations, successes, and inevitable disappointments. Long after the 1981 senior house has been refurbished for the next class, new beanies ordered, officers chosen and schedules planned, our memories of this year will be intact; it is the staff's hope that these pages bring alive the female community which for over 175 days has met and grown together.

Milestones 1981 revolves around the theme of time—the time which we have spent and which we have made, the way in which we filled our time and the way in which it has slipped through our fingers. With the graduation of the Class of 1981 comes the rise of a new group of seniors—pacesetters who will create their own tempo as we and thirty classes before us have. They will be as individual as every new day and year and as traditional as the school. Finally, time will bring them, too, to this point.

Our annual is a time for remembering—for paying tribute to the year in which we all played a part, moving with the hours and days toward our individual goals, for . . .

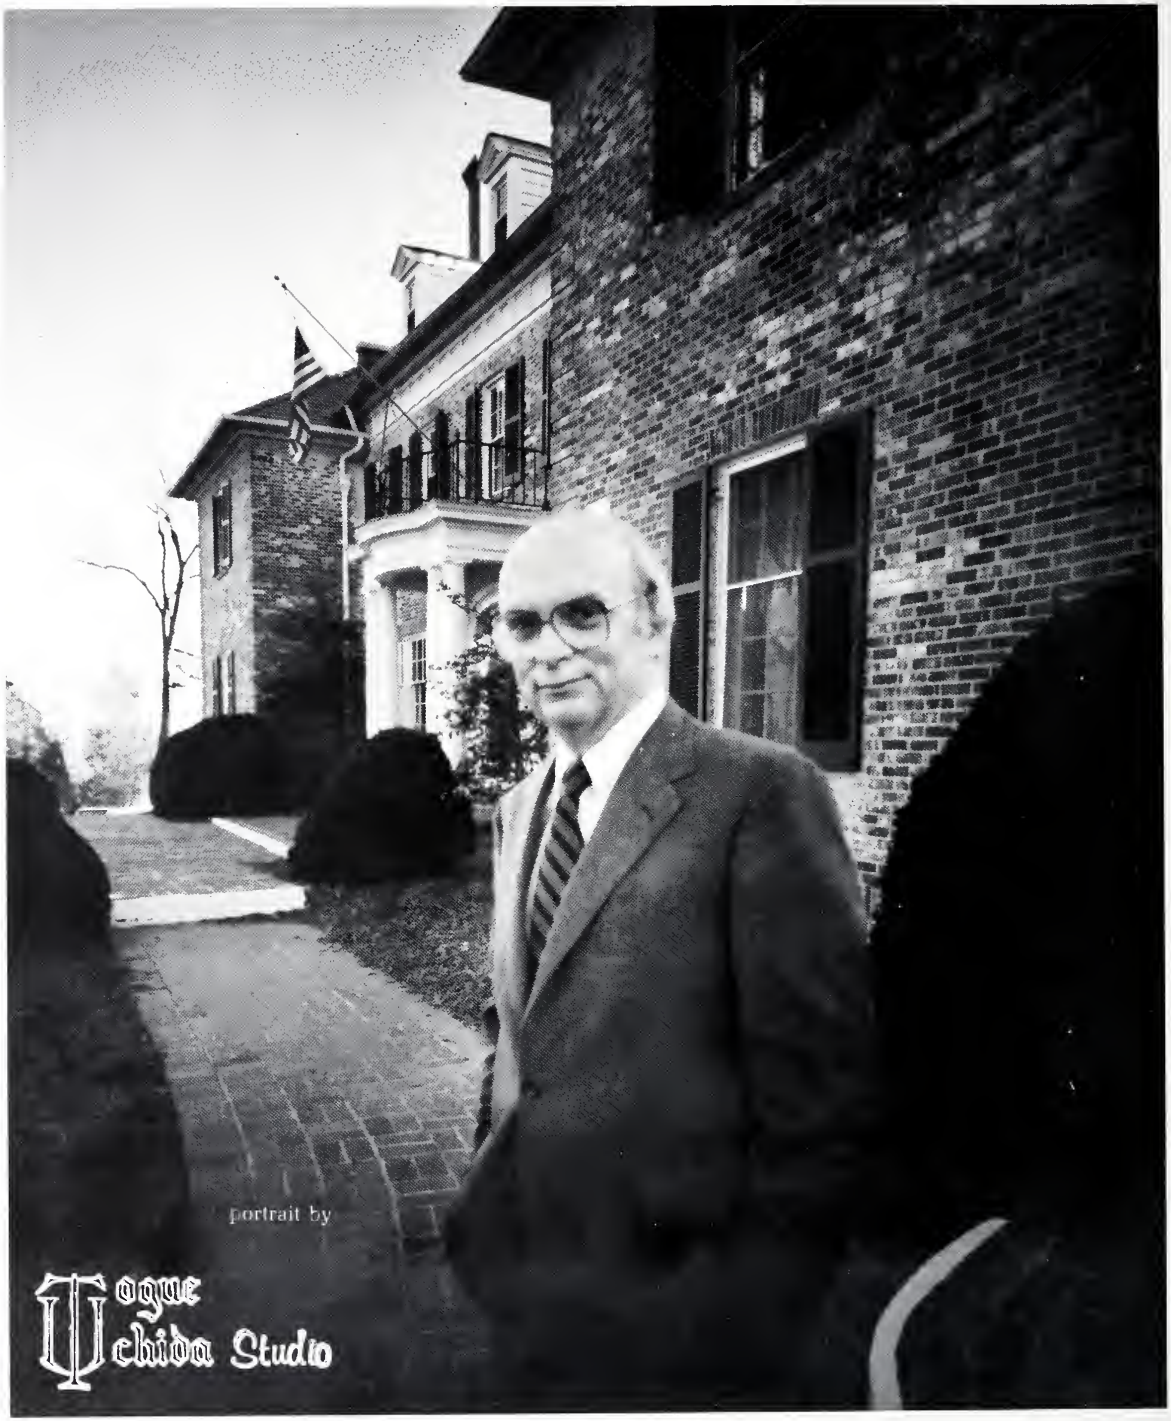

. . . like the hands of a clock we now move apart . . .

WHAT TO EXPECT WHEN YOU DINE AT

JULIAN'S★

This small, immaculate French establishment has a national reputation. If you are new to this city, the indisputable charm of this small restaurant is something you won't want to miss. They are famous for their use of fresh ingredients. Be there at 11 o'clock a.m. and watch the deliveries come in. Flats of fresh eggs, pounds of creamery butter and cheese, incredible cuts of meats, beautiful, fresh vegetables and fruits. What sets Julians apart is that they always buy the best available, at any price, and prepare it in the traditional French manner to preserve every ounce of flavor. Julian's French sauces, luscious and smooth, are prepared with heavy cream from the dairy, wine from their own cellar and creamery butter. The vinaigrette salad dressing is prepared from 27 fresh herbs and vegetables squeezed in an old-fashioned mill brought from France. The difference, the height of flavor, is something you may never have tasted before.

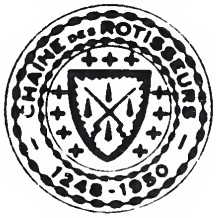

It takes the staff an entire day to prepare for your dinner. There are some 45 loaves of bread to be made each day. There is even a man who does nothing but come in and open two barrels of fresh blue point oysters each day. When Julian's decided to serve fresh trout, nothing but the best would do. Marineland of the Pacific supplied the fresh water tank that nourishes the trout. To get trout any fresher you'd have to catch them from a mountain stream yourself.

The veal dishes are outstanding, largely due to a very knowledgeable chef who does his own butchering. In addition to the veal on the menu you'll find that the Plat du Jour is usually a fine new veal dish, an added testament to the chef's skill. The lamb and duckling are excellent. A wonderful new dish just went on the menu . . . quail stuffed with grapes, wrapped in puff pastry and served in a delicious wine sauce.

Everyone should take advantage of the pastries at Julian's. All are made fresh and in every selection you'll find one of the wonders of French cooking, the lightness and exquisite flavor of fine French desserts. Creme Caramel has become a favorite—a delicious cold custard with a very, very light touch of caramel. Fresh raspberries or strawberries or blueberries (in season) are enjoyed with huge dollops of fresh whipped cream. And cakes. Local people make it a point to come to Julian's on various nights just to experience the many different cakes the pastry chef offers. Like the mysterious Black Forest Cake or the white and chocolate sponge cake layered with chocolate butter cream, spread like a fan and iced with real milk chocolate. The list goes on and on.

In a world where quality seems to be disappearing, Julian's is one restaurant that makes dedication to their art, a day-to-day practice. Beautiful linens, gorgeous fresh flowers, measured service and quiet classical music await you. Enjoy!

The address is 2412 West End Avenue. Reservations are suggested but not required. (327-2413) Excellent Bar. Dinner from 6 pm. Closed Sunday. Major credit cards honored. Dinner: $11.75-$15.95. Parking free at Rich Schwartz, two doors down.

Owner John Haggard has been appointed member of famed gastronomic arts group, Chaine des Rotisseurs, founded in the year 1248.

Julian's has the distinction of being the first restaurant in Nashville to earn the coveted four-star rating from Mobile Travel Guide.
