My dear

Mr King,

As the time for our commencement exercises is approaching, I am writing to let you know about the clothes that will be needed for the various affairs.

For graduation on the evening of May the thirty first: a long white dress of mousseline de soir, chiffon, or organdy, with some sleeves or cape, and back not lower than six inches below the neck line. This dress should not cost more than $15 or $20 and could be gotten for less. White slippers must be worn. For Baccalaureate Sermon, Sunday, May the thirtieth: any simple white sport dress with white shoes.

Hoping that I shall see you on both of these occasions, I am

Sincerely yours,

Annie Allison
