What I remember best about my Ward-Belmont days...I was a day student specializing in art and music. Miss Louie Gordon had a great influence on my life. Her classes were exceptionally wonderful. Mr. Lawrence Goodman and Mr. Arthur Henkle were equally remarkable teachers and each of them contributed to the enlargement of my cultural knowledge and enjoyment. As far as I know, all classmates of mine are no longer around.

Where my life has taken me... I have traveled extensively-married and widowed twice. I had two daughters, the oldest one is deceased. I have four grandchildren, eleven step-grandchildren, and all together I have 38 grandchildren. My daughter, Betsy, received her B.S. at Belmont University at age 65 in 2000! At 98 years of age, I find life interesting and sometimes frightening. So much has developed and changed in my lifetime. I wonder what the world will offer to all those great-grandchildren???

What I remember best about my Ward-Belmont days...I remember best playing tennis and loving it! Coming from a small town in Shelbyville in 1923 I had never even seen a tennis court! It opened up a whole new world for me—Eleanor Sapp, from Chicago, was my roommate and it was the first time I had close contact with a “Yankee” except on trips with my father. We got along very well because she put up with my crying from homesickness!

Where my life has taken me...At my recent 95th birthday I started counting my blessings—three children—two husbands—nice grandchildren—17 great grandchildren. It’s true, we do outlive the men! My family and my church have meant everything to me along with gardening, music, and geneology. If I live to be 100 maybe I’ll find another husband. Some of my happiest days were spent at Ward Belmont with my dear friend, Eleanor Sapp. It is a wonderful place for a young person!

What I remember best about my Ward-Belmont days...I was a day student at Ward Belmont. Most of my friends were day students and are all dead now. World War II was quite an experience for me. I learned to fly and was separated a year from my husband. He came back to the U. S. because his ship was blown up in the North Sea. He almost lost his life. Mr. Bray died in 1995. I live alone now. My daughter (Mrs. Lee Hilton) lives in Fredericksburg VA. My daughter Bonnie Clapp lives in Atlantic Beach. I have 4 grandchildren: Amanda Thomasson, Alice Williams, James Williams and Shannon Clapp.

Where my life has taken me...I went to George Peabody College for a degree in Physical Education. I married Bun B. Bray in 1936 and lived in Nashville with my parents for 1 ½ years while teaching Phys Ed for girls at Vanderbilt University. We went to Raleigh, North Carolina where I taught Phys Ed at Needham Broughton High School for 6 years. War came and I belonged to the Civil Air Patrol. I joined Wasp and went to Texas for training, my husband was a Navy Lt. Col. I left Wasp and went to work at Boeing Aircraft as an expeditor. When my husband came back to the States he was transferred to New York where I joined him. I worked for the Army getting train reservations
