

What I remember best about my Ward-Belmont days... was Miss Morrison, who terrified me! She called me into her office one day where I feared she would tell me I'd been expelled-especially when I found my mother there. Miss Morrison, coincidentally, had been my mother's teacher as well as mine. Anyway, it turned out that my mother had bought a dress for me which I was to wear to an event coming up immediately, and she wanted to see if it would fit. And it did, except for being too long. So in the office my mother and Miss Morrison got on their knees and pinned and measured the hem so that the dress could go to a seamstress immediately. I continued to be afraid of Miss Morrison though!!

Where my life has taken me...I am married, have three children, seven grand children and three great grand children. I've been an award-winning newspaper reporter, assistant city editor of The Birmingham Post, a magazine editor, a D.A.R. recruit, President of the Bedford County chapter of the A.P.T.A., a scout den mother, a Sunday school teacher, and various other things.

What I remember best about my Ward-Belmont days...I enjoyed my contacts with many boarding classmates.

Where my life has taken me...I had two wonderful trips with the Ward-Belmont group. I went to Franklin Roosevelt's Inauguration in Washington D.C. in 1933. I also went on a trip to New York in 1935.

What I remember best about my Ward-Belmont days...In 5th grade, we played on a neighbor's wooden porch. The porch gave way. We were in big trouble, and had to each go alone trembling to see Miss Annie Allison. For dress code: pleated navy gym bloomers, gray cotton swim suits that stretched and kept stretching when wet.

Seriously, Miss Majors taught 7th and 8th grade arithmetic. She emphasized, "Read the Problem through." That applies to so many things in life.

Where my life has taken me...My roots are deep in Nashville. Even though I have not moved around, life has been very good to me!

What I remember best about my days at Ward-Belmont...My four years of boarding in high school at Ward-Belmont were happy years, all four of which Betty Carlisle of South Bend, Indiana, was my dear roommate and we kept our friendship through the years. I participated and enjoyed all the sports, excelled in none!

I remember well that I spent a lot of time at the bookstore with Miss Nell Handly (Mrs. Avery) who held down the fort there, and took me under her wing at age barely fourteen.

My aunt, uncle and cousins were residents of Nashville, so they made me part of their family and I spent one weekend a month (all the school would allow) with them. During college, I lived with them.

Where my life has taken me...One humorous occasion at school occurred one day at baseball. Emmie Leake, my cousin, was quite plump and quite jolly always. Miss Morrison blew her whistle as only she could do and announced, "Get out there girls, and Emmie, you cover the field!" We all just cracked up and laughed for years and years later, whenever we recalled it. I met my future husband, Mack Glasgow, during high school and we married in 1939, out in Tacoma, Washington, where I had grown up. Betty Rye Caldwell, my good friend and I took the business course in college, long before computers of course! Unfortunately! Mack practiced law for 60 years, and my career was raising four children (two boys and two girls), dogs and cats, and quite a lot of church and community volunteer work, which I thrived on. We have been greatly blessed. Mack is a fine Southern gentleman, and we have 8 grandchildren and we just celebrated our 65th happy wedding anniversary.
