

Oh yes, our daughter and son-in-law bought a home in Knoxville from a woman who taught at W-B.

*Where my life has taken me...The role in life has been centered around family with two sons and a daughter, the granddaughters and five grandsons and as of 9/2/04 our first great-grandchild. I've been President of the Junior League, my PEO chapter, YMCA Board (member, president), Red Cross volunteer, Pink Lady at the hospital, United Way and all the usual church and community activities—Bible School director, Sunday School teacher, Circle and so on. My husband had a stroke 22 years ago so I have been involved in a stroke support group as well as other activities. I play tennis twice a week and volunteer at church desk.

*What I remember best about my Ward-Belmont days...If you wore heels to school you were required to write your name in the heel book! Miss Morrison got you good if you allowed a slip to hang out the leg of your gym shorts. Good memories of May Day—even practice on the dewy lawn at 8 a.m. in the morning! Miss Annie was a wonderful role model who hoped all her girls would turn out to be young ladies. Her remarks on monthly report cards made you want to be your best.

*Where my life has taken me...I have remained in Nashville where I have reared my five children and now have seven grandchildren. My foreign travels have included England, Italy, Germany, Switzerland and South Africa—also a bit of Canada and Nova Scotia.

*What I remember best about my Ward-Belmont days...I remember how safe I felt considering all the World War II stories circulating at the time. I was never a scholar, but felt great support and comfort from the faculty in general—and from the conservatory (Ms. Malone, voice teacher) in particular. I had modest success as a singer. I went to study opera in New York City with a world famous teacher. I attended heavily chaperoned “dances” with young Air Force cadets training in the area. I worked at St. Thomas Hospital as a nurse aid during the War. I was a soloist in several choirs over the years. Started choirs at St. George's, and St. Bart's in Franklin.

*Where my life has taken me...I have traveled all over the World—Hong Kong and China, the Holy Land, Russia, all over Europe 52 times, and Central and South America. I am an Ordained Priest in the Independent Catholic Church, a Dame Commander in Templor organization. My proudest moments were when I was ordained into Church in Santa Fe and when I was elected to Dame Commander in Knights Templor. I have won many awards here and in England for flower arrangement. I am very happily married to Mr. R. Gulbenk with whom I have much in common interests, including music, antiques and world travel. We donated clothes of mine to the U.S. Embassy in Paris and they were unveiled in April of '04—Baron Rothschild kissed my hand!
