*These single rooms, when two girls occupy each of them, as they may easily do, may be had without extra charge, each occupant paying $425.00 for board and literary tuition.

†In addition to the several really great concerts and lectures which may be heard in Nashville during the year, we have determined to bring to the auditorium of Ward-Belmont during the season ten or more of the finest and most educational entertainments in America, and at a cost of at least $3,500. The small fee will enable the student to hear these entertainments at a rate much lower than if she paid for individual tickets.

‡Accustomed, as they are, in their home churches, to make regular weekly offerings, students who attend the Nashville churches of their own family's choice, should keep up the admirable habit. The churches, too, naturally expect it. The small sum here suggested as a minimum, will not be burdensome, and parents will naturally be inclined to encourage their daughters to continue such systematic giving.

No voluntary subject, or "extra," will be commenced for less time than four months, and if discontinued will be charged accordingly

Pupils enter for the entire session or part of session unexpired at time of entrance. No reduction will be made for time lost during the first four or last six weeks of the term nor will reduction be made for absence during other periods except in cases of the protracted illness of the student herself, when the loss will be shared equally with the patron, if the illness has kept the student for six weeks or more out of the school building.

School bills are due on entrance and on January 1, and are subject to sight draft after these dates.

Clergymen in active ministerial work are allowed a discount of sixty dollars on the regular course, and twenty per cent on "extras."

For special booklets of the Schools of Music, Expression, Art, or Domestic Science and Home Economy or for a handsome book of Ward-Belmont Views,
