DEDICATION

This year, the Milestones 1975 yearbook is dedicated to Mrs. Betsy Malone. Mrs. Malone, who came to Harpeth Hall in 1972, has taught biology, physiology, and IPS, and thus has been in contact with all four classes. As sponsor of the Class of 1975, she has provided enthusiasm, ideas, and support. Moreover, she has a great deal of rapport with all students and is always cheerful, energetic, and willing to help anyone. Thanks, Mrs. Malone, for everything you've done for us all.

Harpeth Hall is full of energy, full of moods, full of life. The year 1975: a collection of those events and moods that piece by piece make up the days that, when collected in the mind, make up the year.

“Our thought is the key which unlocks the doors of the world. There is something in us which corresponds to that which is around us, beneath us, and above us.”—Samuel McChord Crothers

"The power of thought—the magic of the mind."—Lord Byron

"The past is but the beginning of a beginning, and all that is and has been is but the twilight of the dawn."—H.G. Wells

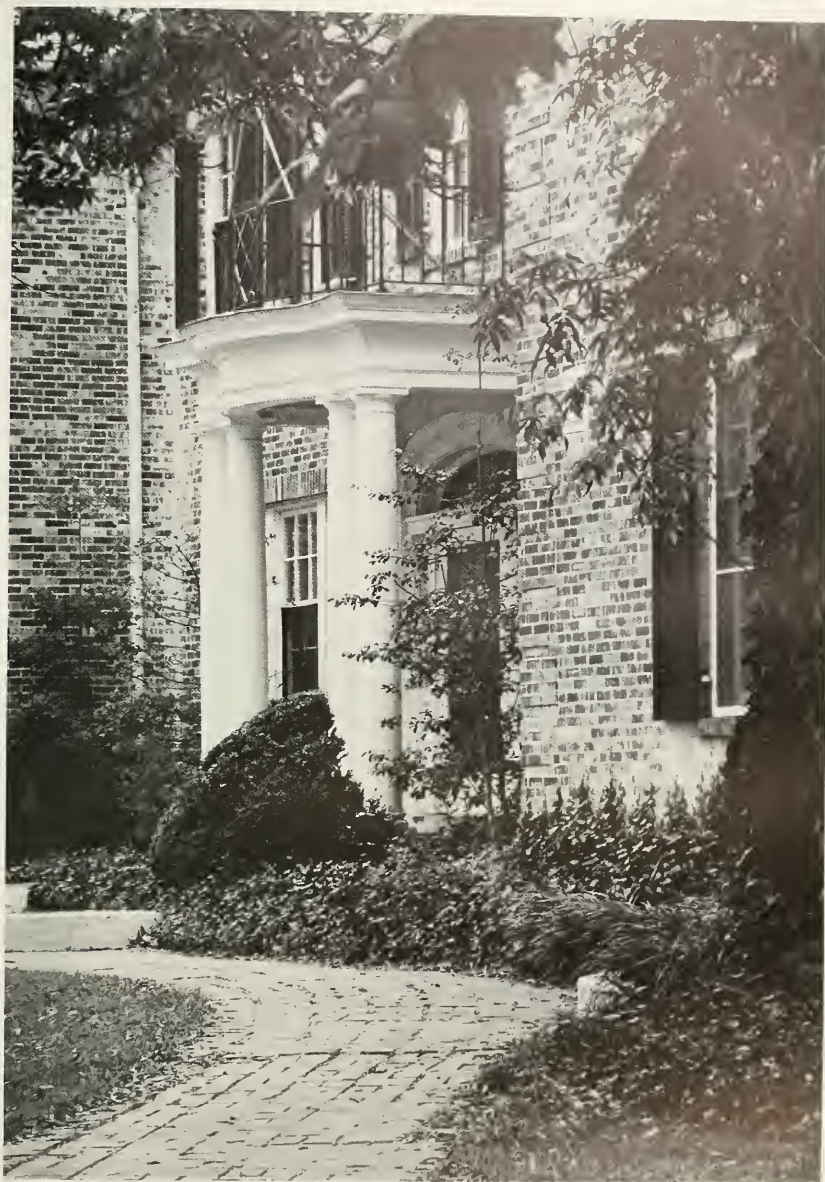

We are told that Harpeth Hall is here for tomorrow ... but we will remember today, for without today, there can be no tomorrow.

*Harpeth Hall is full of different (?) people who want to do what comes natural to all of us ... ACT
CRAZY!*

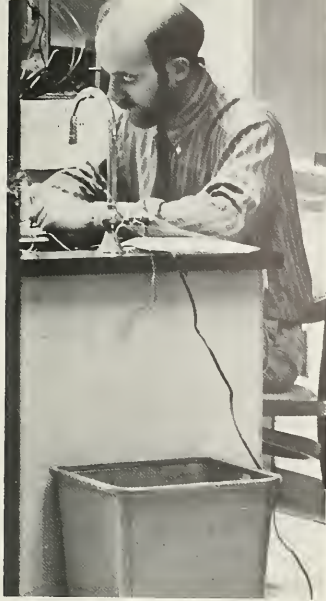

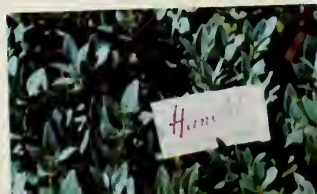

*Harpeth Hall is not just a few buildings on a hill—
it is what each girl decides it is in her own mind.*

*moods,
people,
and experiences ...*

This is Harpeth Hall.

MISS McMURRY

The task of being understanding and sympathetic as well as staying cheerful is one that few people can ever hope to achieve. One person on campus has managed to retain these outstanding traits: Ms. Idanelle McMurry, Headmistress of Harpeth Hall. It takes a lot of courage to cope successfully with the stress of running a private school, and Ms. McMurry has displayed that certain strength throughout her years at Harpeth Hall. Can you imagine having to be responsible for more than five hundred mischievous "young ladies?" Or can you imagine giving up the predominant part of your summer vacation in order to sort and plan out more than five hundred students' schedules? We at Harpeth Hall are extremely fortunate to have as dedicated a woman as Ms. McMurry for our headmistress. All that we can say is, "Thanks for helping us grow."

MISS FESSEY

DIRECTOR

MIDDLE SCHOOL

Through the leadership and ability of Miss Fessey, the Middle School runs smoothly from year to year. As well as making the decisions concerning the mechanical aspects of the school, Miss Fessey takes a personal interest in each girl. She knows every student by name, and, from the summer before entering the Middle School till the end of the eighth grade, the girls discuss academic and personal choices with Miss Fessey. She listens to any complaints or questions about school regulations, advises club and class presidents, and helps solve any problem teachers may encounter. Altogether, Miss Fessey is the bond that holds the Middle School together.

MISS PENNY

COUNSELOR

Name: Penelope Mountfort

Position: Counselor, yearbook sponsor

Comments: Miss Penny (as she is called) has the enormous task of sponsoring the yearbook, a job that calls for her using Friday afternoons to proof pages and harass editors. More important, she is responsible for helping every senior to apply to the colleges best suited for her.

Attitude: Even though she must fill in over 250 transcripts, Miss Penny is not one to complain—well, hardly ever. On occasion, she has been known to growl over a late transcript, turn frantic at yearbook deadline time, or chew out an editor. But she usually has a good reason for doing so.

Qualities: Miss Penny is versatile, having some knowledge of college admissions, science, yearbooks, and photography. She always tries to be helpful when asked for advice and does her best to get everything done on time.

Outside activities: traveling to college conferences, teaching photography, grappling with yearbook editors, and walking Honey (her dog).

MRS. CARPENTER

DEAN

Have a question about Winterim? A complaint? A problem? Then join the ranks outside Mrs. Carpenter's office and see just how understanding she can be. Her door is always open; and although she is officially advisor to the freshmen, it seems that everyone finds herself in this office at one time or another, whether it be for disciplinary reasons or personal ones. Armed with her telephone, note pad, wall-length Winterim schedule, and Student-Council minutes, our invincible Upper School Dean consistently and faithfully accomplishes the behind-the-scenes jobs that keep Harpeth Hall running smoothly and harmoniously. Says Mrs. Carpenter, "My job is like that of a traffic policeman at a twelve-street intersection: I keep everyone from running into each other. Seems they all run into me, though, at one time or another."

MISS HERRING

DIRECTOR OF FINANCE AND DEVELOPMENT

Harpeth Hall's new Director of Finance and Development is Miss Peggy Herring. She joined the staff in 1974, assuming responsibility for overseeing the financial activities of the school, working with our development program (that's "fund raising" to the uninitiated), as well as seeing to the appearance and good order of our buildings and other facilities. She likes her job, enjoying most her work with the volunteers on the Building Fund Drive. Her only complaint is that she doesn't see the students as often as she would like. If you ever see Miss Herring in the hall, ask her about the new gym-auditorium building. She'll be glad to know you're interested!

AFS STUDENT

JANE GARDINER

Our AFS Student this year is Jane Gardiner from Nigel, South Africa. According to Jane, the main difference between Nigel and Nashville is her family situation. In South Africa, she has three sisters and two brothers; in Nashville, her host sister is Nan Cheek. Jane graduated from a co-ed high school and has finished one semester of college. Her major is English and history. You can find her most any day on the tennis courts. In fact, Jane spent the month of January in Miami with a family who also loves tennis. Another one of Jane's hobbies is reading. Jane likes Harpeth Hall because the girls are friendly and energetic. She encourages everyone to take advantage of the AFS program. "I have learned how to get along with other people, but more importantly I have learned about myself."

For the Class of '75, Senior year was well worth the wait. There were many reasons "why" but the most important one was that the class was drawn together in a very definite unity—a unity that could have resulted from the common role of being the big wheels on campus, or from being together so many years, or even from a fear of parting; but whatever the reasons, it was there. Also present was a spirit of creativity, originality, and involvement that had been building up for years and was to become a trademark for the Class of '75. It was this spirit that took the monotony out of tradition and added a spark of life. That spark of life was responsible for transferring the fear of parting to the back to the Seniors' minds and thus, it brought out the intense striving to enjoy the final year and all the experiences it held.

The Seniors gathered together on a hot August day to paint what is known as the Senior House. After we had spilled paint all over the couches and the floors, we decided to go ahead and paint the floor. To commemorate the opening of the Senior House, we held an open house for the faculty. Next came the smashing Senior Play, which broke tradition, gave a view of Nashville tourist attractions, and featured a movie. Then there was the Ms. Harpeth Hall Contest.

Thanksgiving rolled around, and the Seniors celebrated with a landing at the infamous hole in the terrace, known as Harpeth Rock; a landing complete with Pilgrims, Indians, and turkeys. Before long, it was time to mail off those college applications, and there arose a mighty wail from those of us with 87.4 averages. When February 14 came up, the Seniors gave valentines to each other. Other things to remember include: the Senior Sneak Movie; rap sessions in the Senior House on most any topic; playing "Rover, Red Rover", "Red Light, Green Light" and singing songs on the terrace; and the refrigerator door with our faces on it).

Some things are never forgotten. "So keep the faith!"

JUNIOR CLASS

The Junior year has often been called the best year at Harpeth Hall because of the many projects that each student gets involved in. The Junior play brought us all together at various points during the summer, but we all realized how much we depended on each other as the fatal evening of the play approached. Surviving that, we only had heart failure six more times during the year as we faced a deflated treasury, exams, Junior-Senior Day, Miss Penny, and (gaspl) college, among other things. The Class of '76 really learned the meaning of unity during our Junior year, and we are looking forward to our final year at Harpeth Hall as the best one yet.

Ready to "Fight on for S-O-P-H-O-M-O-R-E-S," the Class of '77 entered the year of school known as the "Sophomore Slump." With lots of excitement we set about making school life more enjoyable for everyone. Along with the humorous "Sophomore Sweethearts" once a month, the Sophomores celebrated Valentine's Day by delivering singing Valentines to everyone. At the end of the year, after much hard work, the Sophomore Class presented their Sophomore Skit. This class, with their irrepressible enthusiasm, made an end of the term "Sophomore slump" and hopes that their next two years at Harpeth Hall will be even more wonderful than this year was.

Take two parts spirit, three parts love, and one part insecurity, put them together and what do you get? Why, the freshman class, of course. After getting over the confusion that always comes with new beginnings, and recovering from the excitement of setting new goals, we hope we have succeeded in making a suitable addition to this chaos called the Upper School. Maybe, as we become more unified, we can even make this year as enjoyable for the rest of the school as it will be for us.

FRESHMAN CLASS

"I'll remember the stuff we could get away with."—a Senior

"You don't have to spend a lot of money on clothes."—a Freshman.

"There aren't any boys, so you can be yourself."—a Sophomore

"It's safer here than a public school."—a Junior

"No one really cares what other people think, they just do what they want to do . . . except maybe sunbathe in front of the Senior House."—a Senior

"I don't think a student can possibly appreciate this school until she has been to college. Even students who hated it when they were here have appreciated it when they went to college and made straight A's . . . The students are too much a part of the school, the spirit, the clubs, the work to stand back and appreciate it."—a Faculty Member

"I hate the pressure but you're gonna have that at almost any school. You just don't have time for outside activities. As it is, I stay up until 1 A.M."—a Sophomore

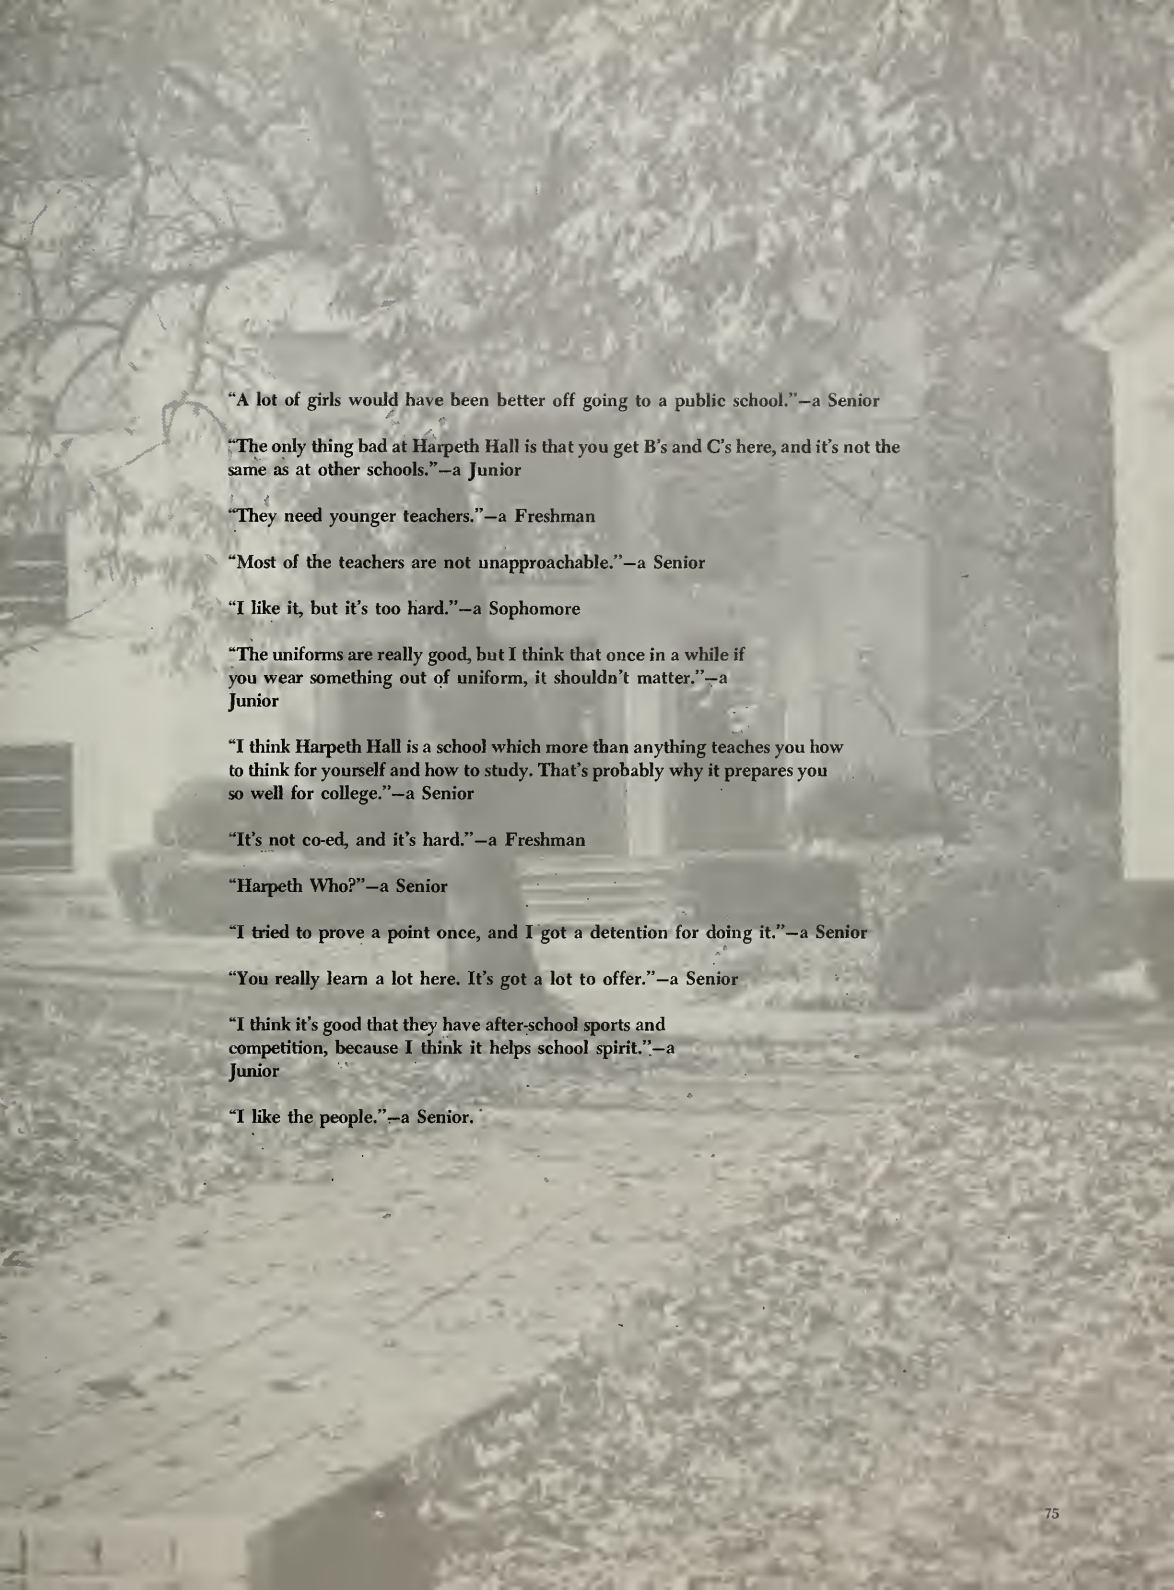

"I'll remember the hard work."—a Junior

"I feel so safe here because I know everybody. I don't know what I'm going to do next year . . ."—a Senior

"You learn something at least."—a Freshman

"Well, you learn a whole lot. You have to study, but it gives you a good academic background. It gives you a good preparation for college—I guess, I haven't been to college yet."—a Sophomore

"I'd definitely send my kids here."—a Senior

"A lot of girls would have been better off going to a public school."—a Senior

"The only thing bad at Harpeth Hall is that you get B's and C's here, and it's not the same as at other schools."—a Junior

"They need younger teachers."—a Freshman

"Most of the teachers are not unapproachable."—a Senior

"I like it, but it's too hard."—a Sophomore

"The uniforms are really good, but I think that once in a while if you wear something out of uniform, it shouldn't matter."—a Junior

"I think Harpeth Hall is a school which more than anything teaches you how to think for yourself and how to study. That's probably why it prepares you so well for college."—a Senior

"It's not co-ed, and it's hard."—a Freshman

"Harpeth Who?"—a Senior

"I tried to prove a point once, and I got a detention for doing it."—a Senior

"You really learn a lot here. It's got a lot to offer."—a Senior

"I think it's good that they have after-school sports and competition, because I think it helps school spirit."—a Junior

"I like the people."—a Senior.

This year's Student Council strived to accomplish two goals: to offer a more diverse range of activities for the student body and at the same time incite enthusiasm for the school through these activities. The Council started the year off with a bang by presenting the first Harpeth Hall Student Council-sponsored play, Arsenic and Old Lace. While audiences laughed at the antics of Abby and Martha Brewster, the Council was busy seating people, taking up tickets, and searching for fuses. Following the play, the Student Council, inspired with Harpeth Hall girls' abilities, challenged MBA to the first Harpeth Hall-MBA tug-of-war. After a hard fought battle with MBA, the Student Council proceeded to fight voter apathy by using voting machines for the Student Council elections. Finally, the Council ended the year with the "Nearly-Wed Game" and a county fair complete with pie-baking contest and square dance! All in all, this year's Student Council has made everyone's year more fun, diverse, and exciting.

STUDENT-FACULTY COMMITTEE

The main objective of the Student-Faculty Committee is to serve as a link between the student body and the faculty and administration. Those elected to this committee work together to help the two halves of our school communicate more effectively. Six members of the Committee are students and four are teachers. Together they organize the seminar in February, which, this year, was concerned with the media and communications. Speakers from the Nashville area came to Harpeth Hall and talked about such subjects as the effects of the media on society and a day of reporting. This committee also carried on a campaign for the improvement of school lunches following an in-depth survey conducted by the Mothers' Auxiliary. In general, they try to work out conflicts and complaints which may arise within the school. Since it was founded two years ago, the Student-Faculty Committee has served a useful and valuable function.

Ideally, the Milestones page would need no copy, for the book should speak for itself. However, upon glancing over the pages of the yearbook, it is easy to forget the hours, the planning, the creativity, and the excitement that went into the book, and the hysteria, the frenzy, and the flunked tests that resulted from the enormous amounts of time devoted to the book. To those who have helped in the production of Milestones and especially to the editors, the book is a mark of achievement, the product of many minds working together to capture and relate a year in the life of Harpeth Hall.

LOGOS II

This year the Logos II staff was informal so that more students would get involved. Instead of expressing the opinions of only a few girls, Logos II encouraged everyone to write articles, and almost all articles were printed. The staff was open to new ideas and was successful in making Logos II an original as well as informative paper.

PENSTAFF

Penstaff is composed of those girls with a poetic bent of mind. Through their efforts the school's literary anthology, Hallmarks, is put out at the end of the year. Poems, short essays, and short stories, along with student drawings and photographs are contained in Hallmarks. These girls are the ones who are ardently searching for meanings in life.

A.F.S.

American Field Service is a national organization which seeks to promote the understanding of world cultures through the exchange of students. In order to raise money, the A.F.S. Club at Harpeth Hall held the annual "Celebrations in Many Lands." A.F.S. members turned the school into a "miniature world," and it was possible for a person to play a game of dreidel, take part in a South African folk dance, sample French pastry at a bistro, celebrate Christmas in Germany by eating spritzel cookies, watch a Spanish dancer, etc., etc ... in just one night! Recipes for many of the traditional dishes of the countries represented were sold, also. This was a night enjoyed by all who came, but most important, a better understanding of various cultures was achieved.

PEACE CORPS

The Peace Corps is a service club formed to raise money in order to help build a school in a foreign country where the people can't afford to build one themselves. One of the many projects Peace Corps sponsors is running a concession stand at the Harpeth Hall Horse Show. Another infamous project is the pie-eating contest. Other projects such as bake sales helped the Peace Corps attain their goal. Thus, with the money raised, the Peace Corps enables many children to get an education.

ANGKOR

Once again, the Angkors had an outstanding year. A Thanksgiving charity project helped to pull the club together and make it a working unit. The club's spirit grew as the year progressed, and the "Angkor jocks" won the hockey, basketball, volleyball, and table tennis championships and trophies. An important tradition that the Angkors carry on is the "Angkor Boy-of-the-Month," where each club submits its nominations, and the Angkors vote on the final decision. Spirit, fun, and friendship make the strong foundation of the Angkor Club.

The Eccowasin Club of 1975 succeeded this year in incorporating innovative and traditional ideas to make an interesting and productive year. As the other clubs do each year, Eccowasin elected officers and Angkor Boys-of-the-Month, and participated in various fund-raising and charity projects. One unique tradition of the Eccowasin Club is its sponsoring of the Eccowasin Talent Show, and this year was no exception. The 1975 Eccowasin Club spread its enthusiasm throughout the school by giving much more than taking.

Enthusiasm is the word which best describes the Triad Club. We show our enthusiasm by collecting food for families on welfare for Thanksgiving, and singing at the Knowles Home. Every year at the last hockey game the Triads crown a homecoming queen and serve cider and doughnuts. When the All-Club Picnic is over at the end of the year, the Triads will have charmed the teachers with their song.

SENIOR PLAY

In "Behind Closed Doors," Betsy Koonce, Sr. Class President, was kidnapped by the "Red Demon" and was stuffed into the maid's closet 5 hours before the play "was supposed to go on that night." Captain Colton immediately set up HQ in the Senior House and dispatched Harpie units to search Perennial Park, Shoney's, Sprinter's Alley, and M.A.B. A hilarious film set to Vivaldi recorded the search's progress while searchers ran into Francis E. Carter, hippies, and a tourist family. Finally, Sonar and Colton stumbled upon Betsy in the maid's closet 5 minutes before curtain time that evening. She made it just in time, and the play within a play was over. "Francis . . . E . . . CARTER!" "If she isn't here, she must have attained the perfect peace: Nirvana!" "Now stand in front of it so no one will notice. Not that it's wrong or anything . . . Henry, get the station wagon." "This is no time to splurge! We've got to watch our budget!" "This is the school, Harpeth Hall . . . Sometimes the lower classes get out of hand. That's where we come in. We wear a beanie." "I told y'all we should've worn knee socks!" "Hey Mom! Was that lady a—"

JUNIOR PLAY

The Junior Class play this year was "Bricks Are Red You Zool," a slight revision of the 1939 classic "The Wizard of Oz." Dorothy of the Junior Class was anxious to graduate a year early, and decided to go see Sam of Souby City so that her wish could be granted. On her way, she met a cowardly Frosh, a Soph with a slump, and a Senior who had no brains. Sam told Dorothy to get the beanie of the wicked Senior witch, but when she reached the Senior House, OREO guards were marching in front of it. As soon as Dorothy obtained the beanie, she realized that she was not part of the Senior Class—she was a Junior, and "There's no class like the Junior Class!" "Follow the red and white road!" "Hi! I'm Rick Carter, future headmaster of M.B.A.!" "Phyllis, if you don't shut up, I will bust!" "Cadzooks! You're wasting my time! I could be at a horse show this very minute!"

WINTERIM

Winterim has proved to be a valuable learning experience in more way than one. Instead of teaching academic knowledge per se, Winterim provided a chance to acquire other types of knowledge and skills. For the Juniors and Seniors who chose an off-campus work-study program, Winterim could have been working with a veterinarian, attending court sessions, learning urinalysis at the Veterans' Hospital, being a page in Congress, working with autistic children, teaching children, or anything that might have helped one decide about a possible career. For those who remained on campus, many courses were offered including sex and society, physical fitness, self-defense, guitar, bridge, dance, French music, car mechanics, . . . etc. Trips to New England and Italy were very "broadening," and the stay in Seacamp also proved very worthwhile. Another benefit derived from Winterim was that people living or working together became good friends, having shared many funny incidents.

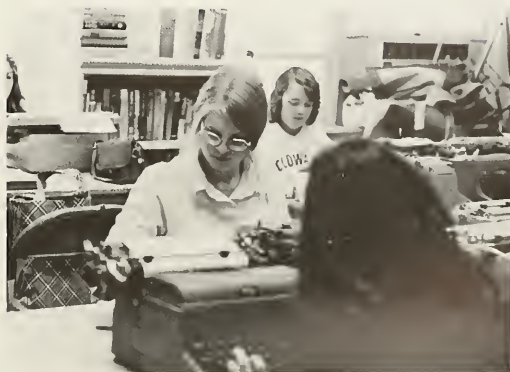

"Winterim is whatever a student makes of it. If a student is at all intellectually curious, she will benefit from an opportunity to learn on her own."—a Senior.

"That's gotta be the best thing about this school—Winterim."—a Sophomore.

"Winterim is the best thing that ever happened to this school. It made us become aware of the people, and the people aware of us."—a Senior.

"It was pretty good. I wish we could go off campus but since we can't drive, there is no way. I just wish they would offer a few more interesting courses. For it being my first Winterim, I was impressed!"—a Freshman.

"Winterim should definitely be continued next year. It is really a learning experience. I know a lot more now than I did before Winterim. I met so many interesting people and became very close to them. I hated to have to quit my job and return to the routine of school. This was the first job I ever had and it was great! I hope to see some of the people again, and I also hope to get a job there in the summer."—a Junior.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

Yes, those are 18th century soldiers you see, with red and white striped pants and triangular hats; and those are sailors doing the hornpipe. And who are those ladies and gentlemen in their fancy attire, the ones having such a good time dancing? Well, they're all friends of George and Martha Washington, whom you can see sitting on the platform enjoying the presence of their excited guests. Of course, it isn't really George and Martha and the United States Army and Navy, but actually Susan Thornton, Trudy Ward and the Freshman Class. This isn't something new; the celebration of George Washington's birthday happens every year. This year, the school was treated to a vision of life in the early years of our country. The event resulted in a more united Freshman Class and the recognition of one of our country's most important figures: George Washington.

SEMINAR DAY

Academic knowledge does not constitute a complete education in this busy world: exposure to the affairs of society is vital. Recognizing this need, the Student-Faculty Committee sponsored a Seminar Day and chose as this year's topic the role of the communications media in our society. Harpeth Hall was privileged to have many prominent speakers directly affiliated with radio, newspaper, and television communications share their own knowledge of the media with the students. The day was most profitable in adding to the students' education and was highly successful in increasing the students' understanding of what goes on "behind the news."

JUNIOR-SENIOR DAY

Once again the rivalry between Juniors and Seniors erupted on Junior-Senior Day, and once again it rained. But the wetness didn't deter the determined foolhardy little girls and boys from snatching others' hair, hats, or teddy-bears. The afternoon competition proved to be a neck and neck race. The Seniors won the running events and the broad jump, while the Juniors won the clothes relay, among other things. However, the totals showed that the Seniors were the victors and thus were the recipients of the trophy. At the dinner, the Seniors raised a toast to all: "It's been real! It's been fun! It's been REAL FUN!!"

With a scrutable smile of confidence and a quip of the lip—"I only visit friendly capitals," he told a welcoming wag who asked him why he did not stay longer in Washington—Henry Kissinger returned last week from a ten-day 18,400-mile tour of the Middle East and Europe. The Secretary of State assured President Ford and members of Congress that he had created the momentum necessary to break an impasse in the disengagement negotiations between Egypt and Israel. The test will come in two weeks when he returns to Cairo and Jerusalem for a further round of more exacting shuttle diplomacy. But even with the momentum revived, Kissinger admitted privately, the odds on a second-stage success in his step-by-step approach to negotiations are still no better than fifty-fifty.

The Spirit of '75

The year you'd never have believed 12 months ago.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., bowed out yesterday as chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee in the new Congress after holding that post for 16 years.

Mills' decision, relayed through a friend to Speaker Carl Albert and by Albert to newsmen, came after a series of events involving Mills and stripper Annabel Battistella, who plunged into the Washington Tidal Basin in October after a party that left Mills scratched, bleeding and, according to police apparently intoxicated.

A Progressive New System with a Rebate

This great country of ours stands at a crucial turning point in its history. We face new and serious problems and uncertainty as to the future.

Two hundred years ago, our founding fathers stood at a similar crossroads. Beset then by grave doubts, they ultimately resolved to stake everything on a handful of ideas and ideals.

They forged those ideas and ideals into founding principles and then fought to uphold them. The American Revolution brought forth a new system of government based on freedom, justice, and individual rights.

Today we are called upon to maintain and improve that system and to fulfill those principles in a world growing increasingly interdependent. We are called upon to resolve our problems in many areas such as the economy, education, the environment, equal opportunity, freedom of choice.

Ban the Bullet

The campaign to regulate the sale of handguns more closely has consistently been thwarted by the argument that limiting a person's right to buy a weapon is an unconstitutional abridgment of his liberties. Now Susan Sullivan, a housewife in Winnetka, Ill., is trying a new and imaginative approach to the problem that might be summed up: If you can't ban the gun, ban the bullet.

Nagging Questions of Stability

On a Panacea for Inflation

Speaking grimly at a crowded Detroit press conference, Chrysler Chairman Lynn Townsend repeated a somber theme that he has been sounding ever more urgently since the collapse of U.S. auto sales last fall. "We need leadership out of Washington, and in my opinion we're not getting it," Townsend said, calling for deep tax cuts and much more ease in monetary policy. He added: "We're in a very, very serious recession. The spiral is still going down."

The shift to high birthrates in the U.S. after World War II now appears to have been a comparatively short-lived aberration. The historical downtrend has reasserted itself. To be sure, births and the birthrate probably will rise within a few years because the girls born during the big baby boom are maturing, but the increase is likely to be of modest proportions.

A complete halt in U.S. population growth is a real possibility by the middle of the next century. Bureau of the Census projections even include one that would lead, many years hence, to an actual decline in the nation's population.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

This year was the third year in the TSSAA for the Honeybears, coached by Miss Webster and Mr. Kramer. In District 11 Class S play, the Honeybears held an 11-5 won-lost record. Their overall record was 17-6. Tiger Lee led all scorers with a 25 point average. Lisa Lee was the next highest scorer with a 10 point average.

There were many exciting games in which the Honeybears came from behind and won. The only district games lost were those with archrival Brentwood Academy, T.P.S., and Hillsboro (Wmson. Co.).

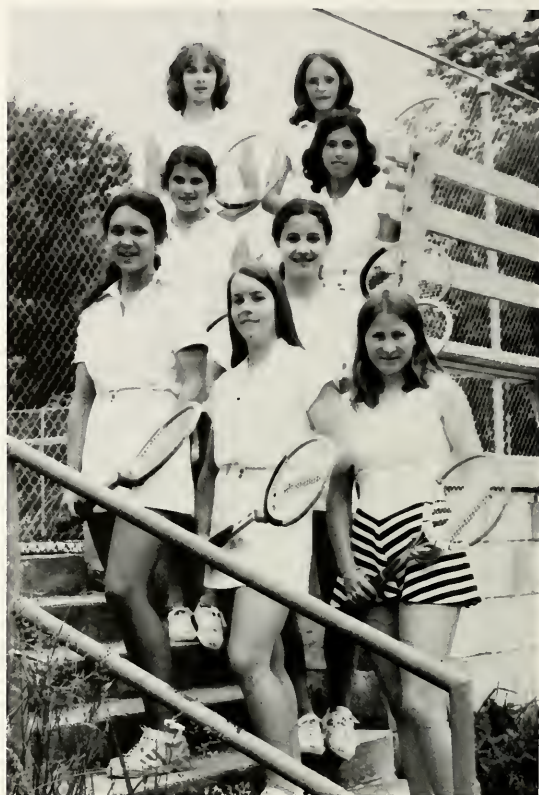

H.H. pulled out a narrow win over St. Cecilia, 38-37, after trailing throughout the second and third quarters. The clincher for the Honeybears was a high-pressure, last second foul shot made by Tiger Lee. Harpeth Hall was invited to the Tennessee Prep Tournament in Jackson, and won first place. The team also received awards for sportsmanship and competitiveness. Tiger was voted Most Valuable Player of the Tournament, and both she and Karen Duvier were on the All-Tournament team. In a home game with Hillsboro (Wmson. Co.) Harpeth Hall lost by a narrow three point margin. But not before Tiger had poured in 49 points and Karen had hauled down 10 rebounds. In revenge for their loss last year, the Honeybears rallied and edged past Lipscomb 46-45. Tiger had 31 points aided by Allison Floyd's 10, and Susan Thornton grabbed 15 rebounds. By keeping cool, HH won out by making crucial free throws. Harpeth Hall entered the District 11 Tournament against Hillsboro (Wmson Co.). Although the Honeybears lost, Allison Floyd had 15 points, and the Honeybears ended up fourth in the district. Not bad at all for such a young team!

TENNIS

The one sport in which Harpeth Hall has dominated other schools during the past 25 years is tennis. This year was the fourth consecutive NIL championship for the Honeybears. Leading the team efforts were Laurie Copple, Liz Jamison, and Linda Evers, playing first, second, and third singles respectively. Rounding out the tennis "ladder" were Susan Bradley, Frances Berry, Grace Trammell, and Caroline McNeilly. In addition, the school had so many talented tennis players that 20 girls have played at least one match for the team. And from all the matches that were played Harpeth Hall lost only 2 of them, and remained undefeated in the NIL. The team participated in the Rotary Tournament in Chattanooga, and out of all the teams in the Southeast that also participated, Harpeth Hall powered their way into third place, the best that HH has ever done. In the NIL championship game, HH allowed Lipscomb no matches and blew them off the courts for a total win. The district tournament was another first place trophy for Harpeth Hall, and Laurie Copple placed first. In the Region 3 Tournament, good ole HH ran away with the top three places, over Lipscomb and Hillwood. Again, Laurie Copple took first place, while Linda Evers placed second, and Liz Jamison placed third.

Front row: L. Evers, S. Bowers, G. Peterson, S. Whittlesey, A. Wire. Back row: S. Thornton, F. Berry, V. Draper, C. Pelster, Miss Webster, K. Duvier, T. Lee, D. Culbenk.

First row: G. Moran, S. Bowers, L. Reeves. Second row: J. Jones, D. Ezell, S. Fillebrown, B. Gibbs. Third row: M. Bounds, K. O'Brien, H. Hazlehurst.

Though the team is still young, Harpeth Hall's tracksters have done exceptionally well. Early in the season, Harpeth Hall won a dual meet with McGavock, but lost a meet to Hillsboro. In the Optimist meet at Overton, Margaret Groos set a national record in the mile run, clocking in at 4:59.05 minutes, and she also won the 440 yard dash in 58.09 seconds. The mile relay team (Dottie Whiteaker, Carol Smith, Lissa and Leslie Burton) placed second with a time of 4:16, Carol Smith ran the 880 yard run and placed second, Susan Thornton outshot everyone with a 38 foot effort, and Lynn Wolfe placed fifth in the long jump with a 14'7" leap. These combined team efforts gave us second place in the meet over NIL powers Hillsboro and Overton. Harpeth Hall moved into second place in the mid-state, and second place in the NIL, right behind TPS. Then the Honeybears moved up into the high echelons of track by pulling out the state championship over thirty-four top teams from across the state. Margaret Groos (who else?) won the mile run with a time of 4:52.3, a new state standard, and she won the 880 yard run, clocking in at 2:11.5. Susan Thornton's efforts gave her fourth place in the shot-put. Hence, Harpeth Hall has its first state track title, and we hope there are more to come!

COMMENDEES

ALL-CLUB PICNIC

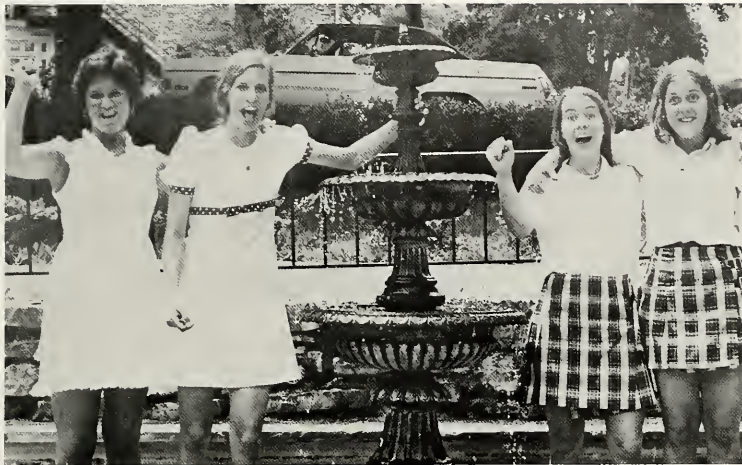

The All-Club Picnic marks the end of classes for the school year, and at this time, awards are made, songs are sung, tears are shed. Not that it is a sad occasion, but the realization that the year—which began so long ago and took so long to struggle through (except maybe the last few weeks which flew by)—is over, and in reflection, it all seems just like yesterday when we started out. But the other realization, that of the end of studying, writing papers, etc. (after exams), is reason to rejoice. Mingled with these thoughts, and with the birds, the heat, the trees, the chiggers, and the friends, is a certain wistful sadness that accompanies the end of all good things. But after the last awards are made, and the picnic is over, the main focus shifts to finding a swimming pool or studying for a Friday exam.

CLASS

LADY OF THE HALL

The words that best fit Ellen Hobbs are those of George Bernard Shaw's quote about men who dream of things that never were and ask "Why not?" But there is one major difference between Shaw and Ellen: Ellen doesn't merely dream—she gives her ideas impetus. Realizing her accomplishments, the student body accorded Ellen the honor of Lady of the Hall. As Student Council President, Ellen often fought uphill battles in order to carry out new ideas. The results: Arsenic and Old Lace (which Ellen directed), the HH-MBA tug-of-war (which she arranged), and the Country Fair. Perhaps her best qualities are perseverance and determination, and if you have read the blue and green poster in Mrs. Overholser's classroom, you know that those qualities will solve the problems of humanity. Indeed, Ellen hopes to become a lawyer and enter politics someday. So we wish her the best of luck. Again, congrats, Ellen, you really deserve this honor!

Polly Nelson, Seventh Grade Herald; Debbie Couch, Sixth Grade Crownbearer; Frances Diefendorf, Sophomore Maid; T.I. Bond, Junior Maid; Amy Grant, Freshman Maid; Betsy Koonce, Senior Maid; Rachel Smith, Eighth Grade Herald.

Opposite: Jennifer Braden, Flower Girl; Ellen Hobbs, Lady of the Hall; Kathryn Lane, Flower Girl.

SOPHOMORE PLAY

The Sophomore Play this year was not one play, but a conglomeration of short spoofs known as "Loose Ends," and it was under the direction of Mrs. Williams, who was assisted by Mrs. Carden, Dr. Cundiff, Mrs. Marney, and Mrs. Thomas Muller. The twelve skits were: "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," "Sybil and Cyril," "Romeo," "Cave Art," "Forgotten Men," "Old Man," "Coffee—A Relativity," "The High and the Flighty," "In Bed With Reader's Digest," "Strutter's Ball," "The Arts," and "In Concert." With all their acting talent, these Sophomores should have quite a Junior Play next year.

SENIOR BANQUET & STEP-SINGING

What with the Pink Elephant, the theme of the Class of 1975's Senior Banquet was "Happy Hours." The toasts were quite varied, and some of them were set to songs. Mrs. Malone was given a scrapbook as a memento of all the things that she has gone through with the class—such as plays and turkey days.

At Step-Singing, the Juniors sang their play song, and the Seniors sang their Junior Play song and an original song written by Vanessa Draper. The Seniors recited (incited?) the pledge and gave their gift—a donation for the new building—to Miss McMurtry, and Betsy Koonce handed over the office of Senior Class President to Mary Stamps.

THE KATIE WRAY AWARD

Not surprisingly, the Katie Wray Award this year went to Betty Andrews. It should be pointed out that Betty's intelligence is not the sort of fact gathering associated with living one's days out in the library, nose stuck in textbook. Indeed, she knows and understands what is in those textbooks, for who knows how many people have desperately sought her out before a test, wanting some obscure concept explained? For the record, Betty had a 4.3 average throughout four grueling years of H.H. (evidently they weren't all that grueling for her). In addition to the Katie Wray Award, Betty received the Pickens Science Award and the Presidents' Council English Award. Her other honors include Honorary Mention in the A.E.D.S. Contest, membership in the Cum Laude Society, ranking locally and regionally in the areas of French and mathematics, National Merit Finalist, and National Merit Scholar. Also, Betty had the second highest amount of citizenship points and was Photography Director for the yearbook her junior year. She was a Student Council Representative this past year, and has been active in Penstaff and other school organizations. Next year she will enter Washington University (in St. Louis) where she will be a Dean's Scholar, and she will put to use her National Merit Scholarship. She will major in environmental engineering. We wish her the best of luck, and hope her knowledge will benefit many.

CITIZENSHIP BRACELET

To some people, citizenship points means nothing more than brownie points. But they're not. They serve as an indicator of participation, loyalty, and attitude that no conduct grade can measure. And this year's recipient of the Citizenship Bracelet is Ellen Hobbs, who made her appearance earlier on these pages as Lady of the Hall. Ellen has been the "complete" Harpeth Hall person. She was President of her Freshman Class, Junior Class Vice-President, and Student Council President. She was also a member in the Cum Laude Society, and was active in Penstaff. Ellen's total of citizenship points was well over 500, and thus, she was the recipient of the Quing Award. But there are other honors that she has received. She was President of the Tennessee Junior Classical League during her Junior year, and no doubt this added to her recognition as a leader. Drama and forensics should be added to her list of interests, for she directed the Junior Play, the Student Council Play, and participated in the one act plays at MBA this spring. The list of her accomplishments could go on forever, but be it known that Ellen Hobbs is capable of doing whatever she sets her mind to, and will no doubt be a leader someday. Maybe as the first woman President of the United States? Could be.

MIDDLE SCHOOL HONOR DAY

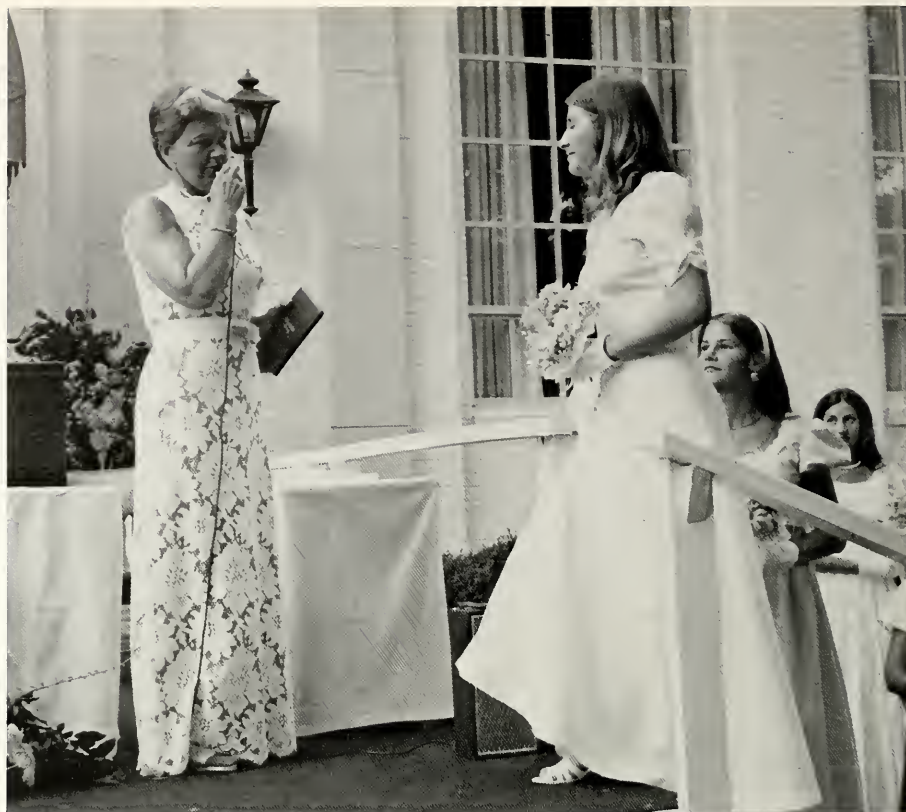

GRADUATION

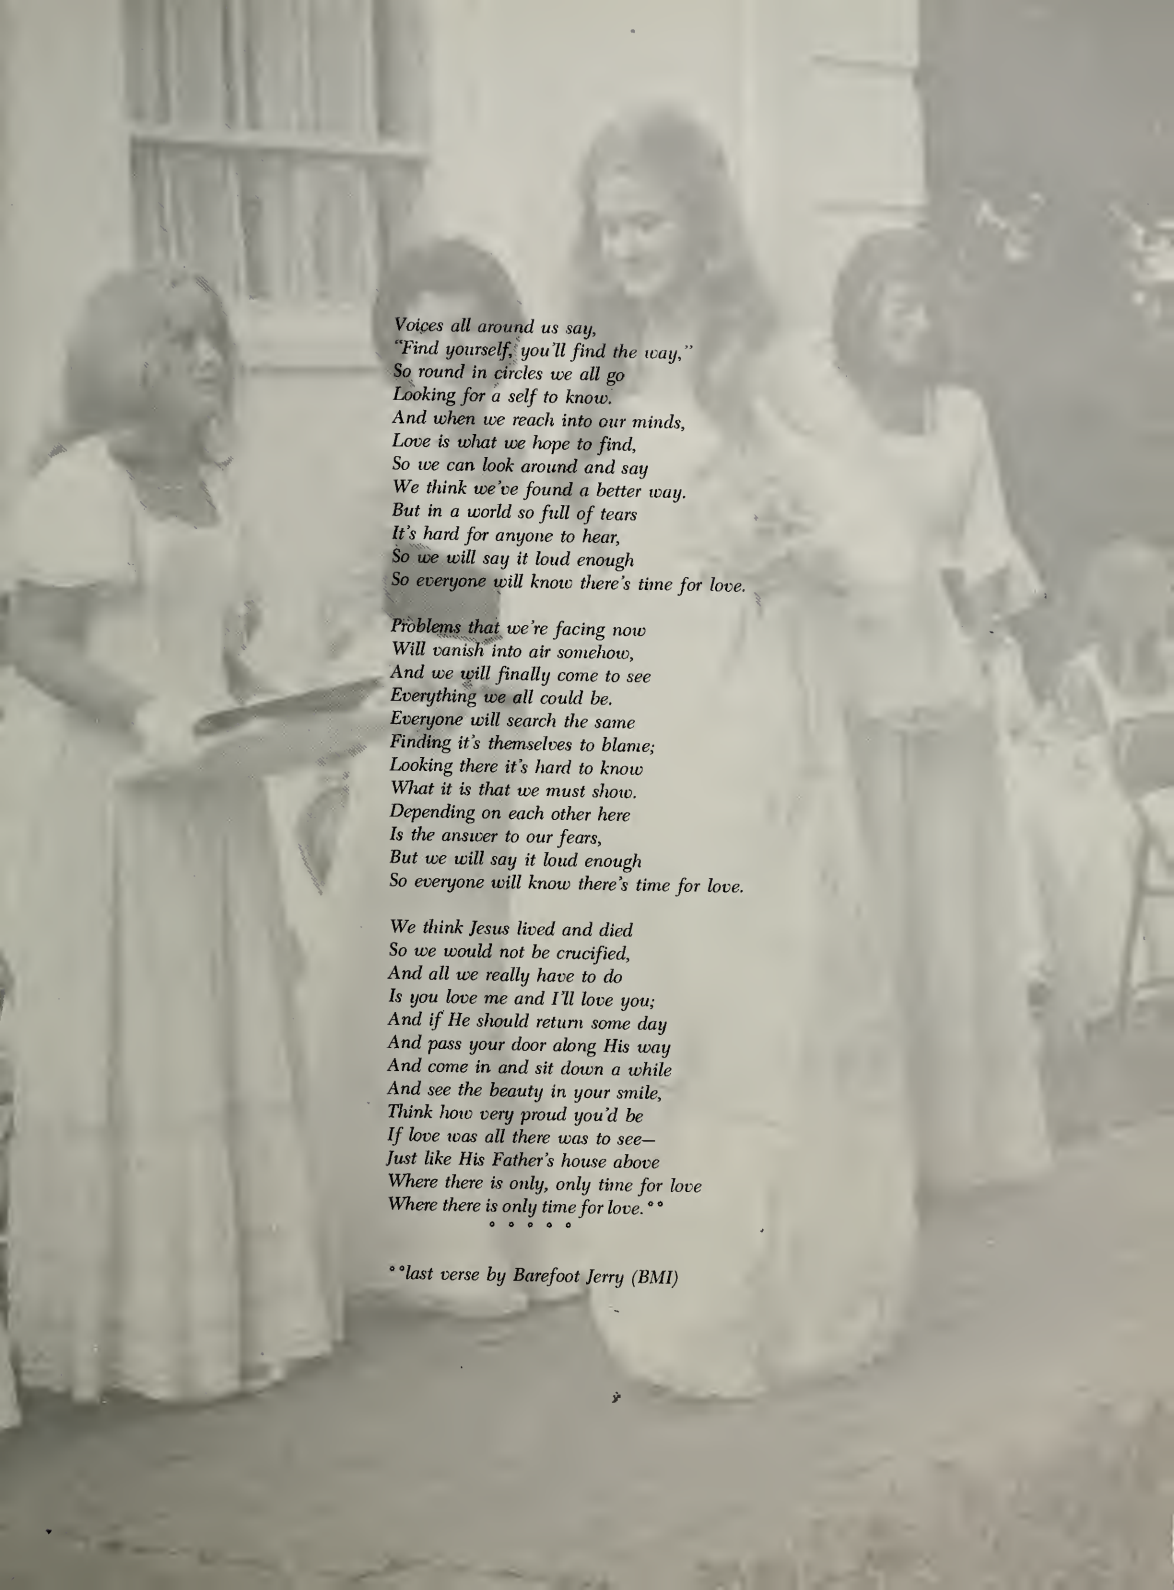

"Reach right out, here's your diploma!" Two things were different about this year's graduation ceremony. First, the Class of '75 gave its final concert, and second, the Class played its final prank (remember the balloons which rose during the concert?). Graduation is more than flowers or diplomas. It marks the end of our years at Harpeth Hall and begins a moving on to new places and situations—namely, college. We must move on, because life is change, and few things remain the same forever. But as for going our separate ways forever, that is not an absolute certainty; neither is the concept of the past as just a goodbye because our past experiences are a vital part of us and cannot be thrown out; otherwise, our time here has been a waste. There is a sadness mixed with joy at the realization that once you have descended that platform, you have graduated. And yet, we still can't believe we did it! We will leave together in spirit, and as a result, we will be leaving stronger.

Exeunt Class of 1975

Voices all around us say,
"Find yourself, you'll find the way,"
So round in circles we all go
Looking for a self to know.
And when we reach into our minds,
Love is what we hope to find,
So we can look around and say
We think we've found a better way.
But in a world so full of tears
It's hard for anyone to hear,
So we will say it loud enough
So everyone will know there's time for love.

Problems that we're facing now
Will vanish into air somehow,
And we will finally come to see
Everything we all could be.
Everyone will search the same
Finding it's themselves to blame;
Looking there it's hard to know
What it is that we must show.
Depending on each other here
Is the answer to our fears,
But we will say it loud enough
So everyone will know there's time for love.

We think Jesus lived and died
So we would not be crucified,
And all we really have to do
Is you love me and I'll love you;
And if He should return some day
And pass your door along His way
And come in and sit down a while
And see the beauty in your smile,
Think how very proud you'd be
If love was all there was to see—
Just like His Father's house above
Where there is only, only time for love
Where there is only time for love.
