Securing the Future of Reform Judaism in Omaha

Temple Israel has signed a contract which will allow the congregation to purchase 14.2 acres in the southern portion of the former Ironwood golf course. While there are still many details to work out, this contract gives us an excellent foundation from which to begin the process of funding and building a new home for our congregation.

The attached aerial photo highlights the planned location on the existing Ironwood golf course. Temple Israel's new building will sit in the central portion on the south side of the parcel. Proposed immediately west of this site is a permanent green space that will be approximately eight acres. The Temple Israel location will offer excellent scenic views over the lake and green space. It will also have a strong presence from the entrance to the neighborhood on 132nd Street. Lockwood Development, the company developing this site, is now calling the project Sterling Ridge. In the coming months, you will see more news about the project and the excitement building in the area.

As I See It...

It happens very often that Jews get inspired over Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur and make all sorts of lofty resolutions – which are promptly broken. New Year resolutions, Jewish or secular, almost invariably lead to broken resolutions.

Our perception, as humans, is that we can be one thing today and something else tomorrow. The writer Marilyn Ferguson calls this “pendulum change.” She offers this critique: “Pendulum change fails to integrate what was right with the old and fails to discriminate the value of the new from its overstatement. Pendulum change rejects its own prior experience, going from one kind of half-knowing to another.”

Rabbi Aryeh Azriel

Judaism suspects this sudden shift and fears that it leads to an artificial existence that ignores the reality of life. We Jews tend to believe that to be human is to grow all the time. We are not one person today and another person tomorrow, but we are in a continuous state of becoming.

This does not mean, of course, that Judaism rejects the notion of conversion. But it sees conversion as a process, not as a sudden change. That is why it takes a long time in Judaism to convert. Even when a person has undergone the necessary rituals and examinations, he or she is made to realize that the process does not stop at that, but really only begins now. It is like this with all rituals in Judaism, including Bar and Bat Mitzvah.

Marilyn Ferguson calls this form of change “paradigm change,” - the new perspective, the insight - that allows the information to come together in a new form of structure. Paradigm change refines and integrates. Paradigm change attempts to heal the delusion of either/or, of this or that.” That is how she distinguishes between pendulum change and paradigm change: “Pendulum change says, ‘I was wrong before, but now I am right.’ Paradigm change says, ‘I was partially right before, but now I am a bit more partially right.’” The opposite of pendulum change is not stagnation, but paradigm change - repentance is a continuous process in which this season marks a stage. It does not impose a new life.

People often say that this is a more difficult path. I don’t think so. It is a less spectacular one and a less glamorous one. In a sense, I am suggesting that we choose the humdrum day-by-day growth rather than the dramatic change because I believe that humdrum is more likely to stick - it is also the authentic Jewish way. The whole system of Jewish observance is structured along the day-to-day life. Therefore, if we are true to ourselves and to our tradition, the only resolution that we need to make is not to make any resolutions. It is the quickest way to get to where this season wants us to be.

L'Shanah Tova Tikkatevu V'Techatemu.

Volunteer Opportunities

Ushers for the High Holy Days

Adults are needed to serve as ushers during the High Holy Days. Twelve ushers are needed for three Rosh Hashanah services on Wednesday evening, September 8 and on Thursday morning, September 9. Sixteen ushers are needed at seven Yom Kippur services on Friday, September 17, and throughout the day on Saturday, September 18. Please contact volunteer coordinator Toby Fellman, 399-0784, if you can help.

Indoor Sukkah Decorating

Have you ever noticed the beauty of the sanctuary on Sukkot? The indoor sukkah on the bimah is a work of art created for many years by congregant Gretchen Radler. If you can lend a hand and a little imagination, she would be grateful for your help. Please contact Gretchen, 556-4806 or 612-4383.

Temple Israel's Wish List

- Sponsor a Friday Night Oneg ($150)
- Color Toner Cartridges ($750)
- Cost for outdoor and indoor Sukkah ($1,500)

New Building Fund

As you honor or remember friends and family with donations, the New Building Fund is another fitting alternative. You can make a donation online or call the Temple Israel office, 556-6536.

Warmest Wishes For the New Year

The Board of Trustees of the Congregation, the Women of Reform Judaism, Men of Reform Judaism and all the affiliates join with the rabbis, cantor and staff in wishing all of our members and friends a healthy and happy New Year.

New Building Project

What are the some of the key benefits of a new building for Temple Israel?

- West Central Omaha location, closer to the majority of our current membership
- A uniquely configured Sanctuary will accommodate our largest and most important gatherings and still allow us full use of our social place
- Social and meeting spaces will be larger as well as more flexible and efficient
- Educational spaces to meet the needs of life long learners for the 21st century
- An entry that will allow staff to see and to greet members and guests when they arrive, improving security while providing a more welcoming environment
- Make classrooms and staff offices contiguous to one another to improve communication and efficiency
- Outside spaces for worship, social events and educational opportunities
- Modern building systems (HVAC, lighting, sound, technology, kitchen and administrative)
- Best possible access in a fully compliant ADA building
- Energy efficient and environmentally friendly

How can I be more informed or involved?

Thanks for asking! Talk to other Temple Israel members. Call a member of the board and/or the building steering committee chairs and tell them about your willingness to participate. Watch for ongoing updates and upcoming opportunities to support the project.

In the News

Ted Seldin and the late Pennie Z. Davis were inducted into the Omaha Business Hall of Fame in a ceremony in April, attended by about 600 people hosted by the Greater Omaha Chamber of Commerce at the Qwest Center. They were among six people honored for their contributions to Omaha's development.

Manny Goldberg, founder of Keystone Pharmacy, received the 2010 Distinguished Alumni Service Citation from Creighton University School of Pharmacy and Health Professors in May. Manny earned his degree from Creighton in 1955 and opened the first of 16 pharmacies a year later at 24th and Leavenworth Streets.

Alan DePorte has been with Yellowbook for nearly three years and was just promoted to National Sales Training Manager. He trains initial new hires in various parts of the country, introduces new products and speaks at offices nationwide.

Lina Lander, Rabbi Eric Linder and Sophie Ambrose have been appointed to the Board of the Jewish Federation's Young Jewish Omaha (YJO), a Jewish community social group for 21 to 45 year-olds. Other Temple Israel members (or members of Temple Israel families) on the YJO Board are Lauren Brown, PJ Feinstein, Mark Javitch, Anne Muskin, Andy Ruback and Jamie Weinstein. Membership is free and open to singles and couples.

Temple Israel Religious School Coordinator Lori Bennett has been accepted by Gratz College's Jewish Studies Online Program as she pursues her Bachelor of Arts Degree in Jewish Studies and Jewish Education. This will be a three-year program for Lori who will remain at her position at Temple Israel while she earns her degree.

Dr. Magda Peck, associate dean for community engagement at the new College of Public Health at the University of Nebraska Medical Center, was featured recently in The Reader. A passionate champion of social justice throughout her professional career and personal life, Magda was instrumental in establishing the College in 2007. The College's new home, south of Dewey Avenue on 40th Street, is expected to be ready for occupancy in January 2011. It will be named the Harold M. and Beverly Maurer Center for Public Health.

Dr. Anne York, who developed an innovative Bioscience Entrepreneurship Program at Creighton University, was highlighted in Creighton University Magazine for assembling students of bioscience, business and law into teams charged with using their various skills to bring a bioscience product successfully to market. With a boost from a $500,000 grant from the National Science Foundation, Dr. York began putting together student teams that have invented medical devices, websites, etc. for marketing.

Please contact the Temple office, 556-6536 or mkube@templeisraelomaha.com, to make a dinner reservation.

Kol Rina Prepares for the High Holy Days

One of the most spiritual aspects of the High Holy Days is the voices of Kol Rina, Temple's choir, and the distinctive melodies of the Days of Awe. The choir has been practicing twice a week under the leadership of Jerry Brabec, music minister at St. Paul Methodist Church, who has conducted Kol Rina for nine years. Julie Sandene will accompany as she has for nearly twenty years.

The Month of Elul: Preparing for the High Holy Days

Shabbat worship services

Fridays, August 27 and September 3, 6 p.m.

Sparks Beneath the Surface

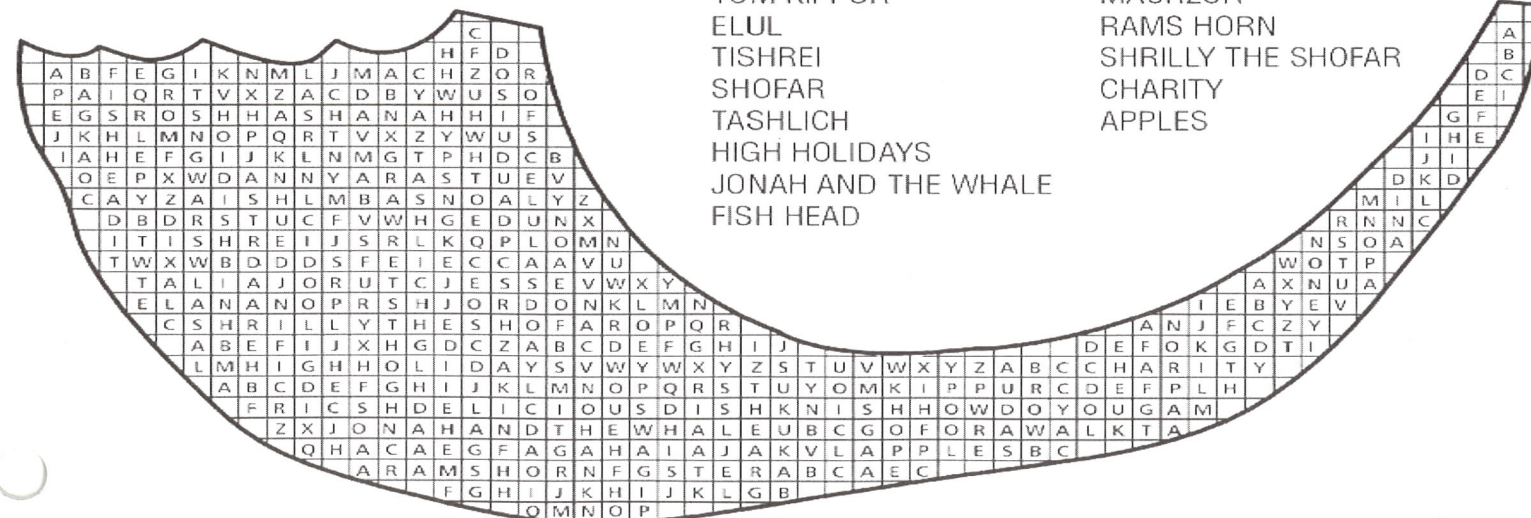

Saturdays, August 28, and September 4, 9:15 a.m.

Elul is the sixth of the twelve months of the Jewish calendar. It's called "the month of repentance" and "the month of forgiveness." Elul is the month of preparation for the High Holy Days of Tishri and the month that Moses ascended to Mount Sinai a third time for forty days and descended with the second tablet of the covenant.

Temple Israel's clergy will also lead us toward preparing for the High Holy Days. "At all these sessions," explained Rabbi Linder, "we will be focusing on liturgy and teachings regarding this preparation."

At Shabbat evening worship services, the clergy will focus on getting gregants ready for Rosh Hashanah which begins on Wednesday night, September 8, the last day of the Hebrew month of Elul. The first day of the Hebrew month of Tishri is Rosh Hashanah, Thursday, September 9.

Shofar Word Search

Elul calls us to forgive others whom we have wounded wittingly and unwittingly by words, and by actions. She bids us speak words which stick in our craw like leftover morning gruel clings to the pot, and to ask forgiveness, and to grant forgiveness. (Vicki Hollander)

Questions to prepare for the High Holidays:

1. What are the elements in my life that I'm ready to leave behind in 5770?
2. What elements are missing from my life that I want to embrace in 5771?
3. During this month of Elul, what steps do I need to take to prepare for the High Holy Days?
4. Who am I going to need to speak with to ask forgiveness?
5. What am I going to have to forgive myself for?

Elul is a time not only for introspection but of inspection. Your state of being should be checked out by professionals –physician, mental-health specialists – and by those important to you –spouse and friends. (Zalman Shalomi)

Conversion גיור

We welcome Ron Beach and Jessica Cohn who have recently chosen Judaism: May they go from strength to strength!

New Members

University of Wisconsin Badger fans, Karah and Justin Debroux moved to Omaha in June 2009, so Karah could begin her residency in emergency medicine at the University of Nebraska Medical Center. The Milwaukee duo are doing their best as they adjust to life in Huskerland. Karah is now in her second year of residency and seldom has any time off, but she counts cooking as something "I love to do" when she has some spare time. Justin, who works for the Veterans Administration processing retirement, pension and disability claims, loves college sports especially baseball and football. They both enjoy going to the Henry Doorly Zoo. Perhaps they'll even find some badgers there.

Elvira & Mikhail Ginsburg Mikhail is from Kiev, Ukraine, and came to the United States in 1990. A structural engineer working for Leo A. Daly, Mikhail has worked on the First National Tower, Lakeside Hospital, and many other projects here and around the world including a 75-story building in Moscow.

Elvira, a translator and teacher of Russian, English and Turkish, was also working on the project in Moscow as an interpreter. "This is how we met," Mikhail explained. Elvira came to Omaha in 2008, and the two were married. She is currently a part-time student in paralegal studies. Their family also includes nine-month-old Miriam.

Carol and Steven Bloch are long-time members and volunteers in the Omaha Jewish community. Carol, originally from New York City, moved to Omaha in 1964, after marrying Steve who was born and raised here. A former first grade teacher, Carol has been and still is a dedicated volunteer. Steve is an attorney. Both like to travel. But Carol says her favorite thing is being with her grandchildren. Steve also enjoys collecting art. Their family includes another Temple family, daughter Jennifer who is married to Scott Meyerson and their children Jake, Brady, and Cody. Son Michael and his wife Melissa and their children Theo, Evan, and Meredith live in Reno.

Lester Katz and Jack Becker recently moved to Omaha from Tennessee. Lester grew up in Memphis; Jack grew up in Minnesota. Lester was in the day spa and salon business in Texas, Washington, D.C., and Connecticut. He headed the interior design department for a Tennessee architectural firm before opening his own business, LK Design, now relocated to 3624 Farnam Street. After completing fellowships at the Smithsonian and National Gallery of Art, Jack was the curator of an art museum in Connecticut and CEO of a botanical garden and art museum in Nashville. He's the new executive director/CEO of Joslyn Art Museum.

Ed Thompson, from Beatrice, NE, likes city life. "I lived in Hackensack, NJ, and went to New York City a lot," he said. He lives in Lincoln now but loves Omaha. Ed describes himself as "a history freak." As he read about other faiths including Judaism, "no other religion grasped me as making any sense," he said. Judaism "sounded more like me."

He converted last September. A truck driver for 20 years, Ed has worked for Nebraska Atlantic Transportation for nine years. He estimates he drives about 140,000 miles a year! He also enjoys traveling anywhere he can go on his motorcycle.

Social Justice

Community Forum on Immigration

Sunday, August 29, 2 p.m.
Jewish Community Center

Temple's Social Justice Committee is a co-sponsor of this Immigration Forum along with the ADL, NCJW, B'nai B'rith, and the Nebraska Appleseed Center for Law and the Public Policy. Co-Chairs are Susan Rothholz and Mimi Silverman. Speakers include Amy Peck, immigration attorney; Charles Harper, Creighton sociology professor; and a speaker from the Nebraska Appleseed Center.

Breakfast at Stephen Center

Sundays, August 29 and October 31
Social Justice Chair Mimi Silverman, 740-2201, needs four to five volunteers to purchase, cook, and/or serve breakfast at Stephen Center.

Omaha Together, One Community

During the past several years, Temple Israel has re-evaluated its place within OTOC (Omaha Together, One Community). During July's Board meeting, our Board decided to end Temple Israel's participation in this organization.

This decision does not diminish Temple's commitment to social justice, freedom or equality, and we are working hard with our Omaha partners to ensure that our social justice efforts remain strong to our ideals.

Women of Reform Judaism

Join "Race for the Cure!"

Sunday, October 3

How many women do you know among your family and friends who now have or have had breast cancer? Unfortunately the answer is too many. YOU can help. National Council of Jewish Woman (Omaha Section) and Women of Reform Judaism (Temple Israel) have joined to sponsor a team to walk, run or just sleep in for the Susan Komen Breast Cancer Race for the Cure. For information about sign up, visit our WRJ page on the Temple Israel website, templeisrael-ne.org.

Community Sisterhood Event

Monday, October 4, 7 p.m.

What a great idea! The sisterhoods of Beth El, Beth Israel and Temple Israel have decided to spend an evening together shmoozing and sharing a Gary Rosenthal craft. Watch the eTidings for more details.

WRJ Welcomes New Members at Anytime

We offer a complimentary one-year membership to new female Temple Israel members. Please contact WRJ Vice President of Membership Marlen Frost, 330-3186 or minyfrost@cox.net, to get involved.

WRJ Book Sorting

Sundays, September 12 & October 24, 10 a.m.

Donations for Used Book Sale

Please drop off any gently used books, CD/DVD, music, VHS tapes and books on tape in the Temple Israel office. Contact WRJ President Susie Norton, 391-7333, to schedule a book pick up once your books are packed in grocery size bags or small boxes, if needed.

Men of Reform Judaism

In what was to be a triple header (but not all on the same day), Temple Israel won the first softball game against Beth El on May 23. In game two on June 27, Beth El got the win because not enough Temple Israel players showed up, invoking the "most Jews" rule (whichever team had the most members show up wins the game) which gave the nod to Beth El. Both games were played at the Jewish Community Center Field. The rubber game will be August 29, 10 a.m. As they say in the big leagues - just wait until next year!

Seminar To Prepare Temple Israel Leaders

A group of individuals has been invited to enroll in a Temple Israel leadership seminar. "Your Leadership - Our Future" is a series of seven sessions, beginning in August with Shabbat worship service and dinner.

Additional meetings include To Be a Jew Means to Be Responsible for Other Jews...and Others, L'dor V'dor: Lessons of Leadership, It Takes a Village (and a Balanced Budget!), Reforming Reform Judaism, Where is Spirituality in All of This?!, Putting It All Together, and Leadership Skills and Jewish Living.

Sponsored by the Jon Meyers Leadership Fund, the seminar is an educational opportunity for current and future Temple Israel volunteers.

Ongoing

Adult Study with the Clergy Orientation

Thursday, October 7, 10 - 11:30 a.m.

Following orientation, Cantor Shermet will begin on October 14 with "The History of Judaism in England," an exploration of the culture of Judaism in England, Ireland, and Scotland.

On January 20, Rabbi Linder will explore "Jewish Concepts and Popular Media." Segments of movies and TV programs will be screened and then examined for Jewish themes and concepts.

Rabbi Azriel takes a look at The Book of Psalms beginning March 31. He will peer into lives of ordinary people experiencing adversity, anxiety, doubt, injustice, and joy.

Save the Date for Upcoming Scholars

Sponsored by the Hermene Zweiback Center for Lifelong Jewish Learning

Judith Shulevitz

Friday, October 29 - Sunday, October 31

Judith Shulevitz, a journalist, editor and literary critic, will lead off the weekend at Temple Israel with "The History of the American Sabbath," followed by an intergenerational retreat at Fontenelle Forest on Saturday to examine "The Sabbath World: Glimpses of a Different Order of Time." On Sunday, she will be at Temple Israel to chat about "Making Room for Shabbat."

Dennis Prager

Friday, November 19 - Sunday, November 21

Radio talk show host Dennis Prager will begin with the topic, "Happiness is a Mitzvah - Not a Feeling" at Shabbat worship services on Friday night at Temple Israel. On Saturday morning he will be joined by the Temple Israel clergy for explanation of "Why the Torah Is My Guide." That evening at the JCC, his topic will be "Can You Be an Observant Jew Without Being an Orthodox Jew?" On Sunday at Temple Israel, he will conclude with "Judaism's Five Greatest Lessons."

Adult B'nai Mitzvah Class

Tuesdays starting October 5, 6:30 - 8 p.m.

The Bar/Bat Mitzvah class will help adults enhance their spiritual identification and define themselves as Jews as they learn Hebrew, understand worship services, chant Torah, become familiar with the liturgy, and experience Shabbat in Reform, Conservative and Orthodox traditions. Na'ama Artzi will be the instructor along with Temple Israel's clergy. The class concludes with a B'nai Mitzvah ceremony on May 13. Contact Program Director Wendy Goldberg, 556-6536 or wgoldberg@templeisraelomaha.com, with questions and to register. Fee: $250 per individual, $450 per couple. Confidential scholarships are available; contact Executive Director Dennis DePorte, ddeporte@templeisraelomaha.com.

Adult Education on Wednesday Nights

Wednesdays, September 15 - April 27

Adult education classes begin with "Approaching the Season of Atonement," followed by Hebrew, hands-on volunteering, the applicability of the commandments, a book club, death and mourning from a Jewish perspective, Torah as a parenting guide, and the anatomy of the prayer service. See the adult education brochure for more information.

A Note From the Coordinator

Lori Bennett

I love the start of every school year. I still buy myself a box of Crayola crayons - the smell of opening the box for the first time and the anticipation of using those crisply-sharpened colors still makes me feel like a kid on the first day of school. Every first day of school for me was filled with clean desks and shiny floors, unmarked books and sharpened pencils. That first day was always fresh and filled with possibilities. And I always marveled at the magic of how it happened. After all, everyone had summer off from school.

Okay...so not everyone has summers off, I discovered. There are a lot of people who work hard behind the scenes here, during the vacation months, to make sure that, hopefully, every Temple Israel student will feel that magic walking into Religious School on Sunday, September 12.

Many thanks to teen aides Jacob Arnold, Yaniv Azriel, Zane Fletcher, Danny Glazer, Jordan Jensen, Emily Katz and Hannah Perry for cleaning classrooms, sorting and delivering new supplies, labeling books, organizing crafts, cupboards and bins, and a hundred other odd jobs this summer. It is a fun way to spend time with you and we accomplished some impressive tasks!

By now, you should have received the Religious School Handbook - pretty cool, I think. Program Director Wendy Goldberg created our school "logo" and color palette, as well as conceptualizing the layout and look for the handbook. Misty Weidner was so patient (with my changes!) and diligent in organizing the myriad of information from a multitude of sources. Tov Maod to you both!

Maureen Kube has been sharing her daily work time between the front office and Religious School office this summer and will be joining us in the school wing Wednesday afternoons and evenings. She has been getting a good "education" this summer about our school!

Next time you see Lonnie Williams and Scott Anderson, thank them for making the floors sparkle. That sounds like an easy task, but sweeping, mopping, waxing (three coats) and polishing the floors means moving out all of the desks, chairs, shelves, etc. out of 16 classrooms, and moving it all back! Plus, without fail, they complete a list of odds and ends, and are on-the-ready whenever needed.

Our upper hall and several classrooms got a much-needed facelift thanks to a crew of volunteer painters. Social Justice chair and Religious School mom Mimi Silverman recognized a need and organized three painting events. Many thanks to everyone who helped out - we appreciate your efforts each time we step into a classroom.

I am so lucky to have a job in a school. For a school supply junkie like me, opening every box of new textbooks is a treat and having a reason to shop at Office Depot makes my day. And, I still get to walk into the building on the first day of school, and feel the magic of another year filled with fresh possibilities.

Parents of consecrants will be called to the bimah during the worship service for blessings and a special presentation. Please contact Lori Bennett, 556-6536, if your first through sixth grade student has never been consecrated. It's not too late!

Eat at Julio's Sunday, October 10! Raise Money for Religious School!

Julio's restaurant will donate 20 percent of proceeds to Temple Israel's Religious School. So go enjoy some tex-mex cuisine between the hours of 4 and 9 p.m. and imagine what a mitzvah you're performing! Julio's is located at 123rd and West Center Road. Diners must bring the fundraiser "coupon" for presentation at the time of ordering. Look for those in your email boxes closer to the date!

Thank you Julio's owner Rick Fox!

Summer Fun at Camps!

Like many Temple kids, Aaron Norton and Asher Rosenquist spent part of their summer at camp. In this case, the boys chose Olin-Sang-Ruby Union Institute in Wisconsin.

Omaha Temple Youth Group

OTYG Rush was a Success!

Amy Katz, OTYG Advisor

A good time was had by all (24 participated) on Sunday as OTYG kicked off the year with their annual "Kidnapping" of the incoming freshman. We toured the city in a Limo bus, one by one waking up the freshman at their homes. The parents were in on the secret and did a good job keeping the surprise. Breakfast at Village Inn was enhanced by Lori Bennett and Rabbi Linder joining in the fun. After a stop at Starbucks we took the bus out to Mahoney State Park for a day of swimming, mini golf and paddle boats. The weather was perfect! We look forward to our next event: "Back to School Thrifting" with OTYG on September 26. A combination clothing drive and shopping trip around Omaha.
