

Journal #1 ~~2020~~ September 11. memories
This monitor is running a special

The monitor is running a special section to mark the one year anniversary of the Sept. 11 attacks.

As a part of the commemoration, we'd like readers to share their memories of where and when they heard about the attacks.

Include your reaction, that of those around you in vivid detail; capture the dialogue.

It was in the morning at breakfast when I heard the news, about the attack. Then we went to class, and the teacher turned on the t.v, and we were watching the news all morning. The teacher was shocked. I didn't think anything about it, or my friends we just started talking, and joking around. Many were talking about it, and a lot of teachers were coming in to see what had happened. Some girls were crying and some were crying about the people who had ~~died~~ died in the fire. They were talking about it for a week. Then we were going outside to give a moment of peace for the people in ~~the~~ the
