

Friday

Dear Dick: —

I hope you got the leather coat all ok. I sent it last week so you should have it by now.

Work going as well as usual. I have to sing at three different churches Sunday so have been getting ready for that.

We are studying the various instruments of the orchestra in a class that I have today and it is a very interesting subject. Enclosed is a program which the Conservatory Symphony gave last week. It surely was a great program & the orchestra surely did itself justice.

Has the glee club started out yet on its trips? Where will you go this year?

Tomorrow I am going through a private art gallery which is located in an immense building across from the Conserve. It is the largest

+ most elaborate art collection outside of New York City + has been collected by a wealthy family here for several generations.

Be sure to see Marie Dressler in "Reducing". I saw it and it surely is crazy.

Write and tell me things.

Love, Jammie.
