

To My Valentine (For My Boys)
However much you love me
And your love has been complete
My love to you my darlings
Is many times as great For only one as yet may know
The depths of parents' love
And that a father true and brave
As any in the land (over)

But you with me will quite agree That any mother should just love a little harder than any father could.

So however much you love me and your love has proved complete,
my love to you my darlings
at many times as great Mother

Richard L. Harris