Dear Joe: - With a very different feeling I grasp the pen tonight in answer to your welcome and sympathizing message.

I am very thankful to say that I am enjoying almost my usual health again. While I was not at all dangerously sick it has learned me to value more the blessings of health. I take your advice (I will call it) with all kindness and indeed thank you for the same and will try and show respect to the same in the future.

I perhaps did not take the best of care of myself dividing my interest between church and school work, but I was so much interested in the welfare of the young people that I felt I could do any thing in my power.

I have been and still expect to stay at Franks whenever it is stormy and at other times I enjoy the walks!

I expect to begin school again Mon. if nothing prevents! This has been the longest two weeks I have witnessed for some time. I have put this week in by knitting, sewing, reading, cooking and etc, which has made it pass away more quickly than last.

There was, to be a surprise (oyster supper) for forward tonight, as Pickering's & White's young people went by it brought a longing to be with the young people tonight but I thought I had better not go at night yet.
I am surprised at myself sometimes to know that I enjoy being with the young people here after the associations I enjoyed last year, but I am glad that is my disposition, but hope it may not partake of some of their ways.

Not that I wish to throw any shadow on the people of this neighborhood, but you know in what respect I speak.

I think our Y.P.C.O. consists of near sixty members now, and people are beginning to acknowledge his work.

I have nine more weeks of school, I have hardly decided how I shall employ myself, this summer, I think I can find something to keep me busy.

Hannah wants me to spend the time with her but I have not decided what I shall do.

Our entertainment is not progressing very fast at present.

It seems like a long time since holidays and I fear it will be longer till holidays again!

Mother says it is bed time so good night with a kiss!

Lovingly
Putha Lambert.
