Dear Paul,

It's getting near that time I dread every year as far as shopping goes. The way things are now, I would prefer you take the enclosed check & pick up some little thing for the children for Christmas & do whatever you want with the rest. I'll still probably send a small pkg. but it's getting more difficult to buy for them. They really have to get their own clothes. I even have trouble buying clothes for Emily without her with me.

John had their quarterly meeting Wed. nite & then they went to Doris for dinner. Just after they Started eating, Norman (who was next to John) started having trouble speaking. He wound up at Clara's to a bad stroke. John was pretty shook up over it as they all were.

I don't know if this will interfere to our Florida plans right now or not.
It may have a very strong impact on United Habit Corp.
We just never know what will happen from one minute to the next. - At our age, health is the crucial area. Strokes are so completely debilitating.
That's what John's Dr. is trying to avoid.

I don't imagine much is going to happen before election & probably not too much soon afterward.

Have to close now I get going. Any thoughts yet Re computer - ? ? -

Hope this finds you all healthy. Will talk to you soon. Love to all,
Sharon
