My Darling Bertha: It is most train time, but I will send a few lines. My orders have not come. The morning mail may bring them if so I can be with you tonight I think.

I am sorry to disappoint my Sweetheart, indeed it is almost cruel but it seems the best that can be done now.

Do not wait for me tonight. If I come I will either call or go to the hotel for the night.

Hastily your Love

J. H. Harris,
3 P.M. I missed the mail this morning so you of course spent Sat. evening in suspense. It is all my fault. I am obliged to stay until Monday at least. I hope you may be rewarded for such patience. I love you just the same even if miles do compel us to be apart. I will write Monday morning again.

The work is going nicely.
your Love in suspense

J. H. Harris.

at night. Have some more work to do with agts and expect to send out one or two more.

I have seen nothing about my school work
yet. I would so much liked to have been with you over Sat. as I know it is so difficult to get lessons and visit at the same time. I want to be sure this time so Chae. I am at the depot now.
