Dear Pauline,

A word of "Thanks" from one of Dick Harris' nephews! I appreciated so much your letter - it is evident to me that you had a special feeling for Dick and I want to thank you for being his friend and for carrying the burden of settling his estate.

My experiences with Dick took place when I was a little boy (under 10). He was the Uncle that came from far away at Christmas time and he could always fix any toy I had broken. When Dick was with us, and Dan, - the house would ring with their laughter from all the corny jokes they told.

Jim, Dan, Dick; it was quite a combination always fun to be around them. My father (Jim) died when I was ten - after that we lost contact with the Harris family. To this day I cannot have Christmas without thinking of Dick. I reestablished contact with Dan in 1976 - He and I occasionally write or talk on the phone.

Thank-you for the list of my cousins - I am embarrassed to say I do not know them. Also we appreciated the copy of "Peace Pilgrim". My wife has read it, now it's my turn. How strange to hear the voice of my grandmother. I do not know if I ever met her, but it was eerie to hear her voice, know^{ing} who she was.

Thank you for all your help in this family business.

Sincerely,

Ambassador Cards

Jim Messenger-Harris

May you have a Blessed Christmas!
