The Senior Trip

Well, we're off on our long-awaited trip! Leaving Youngstown in the air-conditioned and reclining seat coaches via the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad we started on the first part of our journey.

8:15 AM. We arrived at Washington Union Station. After breakfast at the Gateway Restaurant, we visited the Bureau of Engraving and Printing; walked to Washington's Monument and visited the Observation Room where we viewed a wonderful panorama of the city; next, on to the White House, where we saw a number of rooms and halls; and on to the National Gallery of Art Building for luncheon in the Government Cafeteria. We walked a short distance to the Smithsonian Institute, thence on to the Department of Justice Building for a guided tour through the F.B.I., home of the "G-Men." We visited the U.S. Capitol for a complete guided tour of the Senate and House of Representatives. Time permitted so we traveled to the Library of Congress, before returning to Union Station. With our day spent we left Washington, with many memories, to travel on to New York.

Friday, May 23, we left the Hotel New Yorker for a lecture tour of Lower New York and Statue of Liberty: including Fifth Avenue, the Bowery, Battery, Times Square, Chinatown, and a boat trip from the Battery to the Statue of Liberty, terminating at Rockefeller Center.

Next day everyone looked tired, I wonder why?? In the afternoon we attended Radio City Music Hall, and in the evening we saw our first Broadway plays, "Little Abner" or "My Fair Lady." Saturday we boarded a bus for the United Nations Building and then on to a sightseeing cruise around Manhattan, on the Hudson, East, and Harlem Rivers.

Sunday morning we started the day off right by going to one of the many churches. We walked to the Empire State Building to visit the Observation Tower. That night we boarded the train at 7:05 PM and arrived in Youngstown on Monday morning, May 26, 1958.

What a trip! Everyone was happy to get home but also, at the same time, a little tired.

Class History

Taking a look back on the members of the class of '58, I see Gretchen Schroedel, Ronnie Fenn, Ruth Cratsley, Dick Wade, Maxine McKinley, Lynn Sutton, Pat Bloss, Gene Goss, and myself, Kay Keller, all entering the first grade and Miss Thompson, our teacher, welcoming us at the door. This is our first year of school and everything is so new and different but we will become accustomed to studying--and very soon. In the second grade the class is divided into two groups; and the honors are divided between Miss Thompson and Mrs. Porter. By this time we can read a little and even write our names. Mary Jane Papp and Alfred Wright have thought ours a good class so they have joined us. Dick Wade, has decided to go to Vernon this year. Onward we push to the third grade and there we meet Richard Alderdice and Crystal Waters. Mrs. Scott is our teacher and by this time we have been in a couple of the Christmas operettas, colored many pictures and made different gifts to take home to our proud parents. Fourth grade: we have company, the fifth graders. Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Scott share the duties of taking care of us. Altho we think we are capable of doing anything, they give us help in many ways. Russell Lauer, and Barbara Tittle have entered in our class and Dick Wade is back with us again. Mrs. Porter likes us, she must, because here we are in the fifth grade with her as our teacher. When Valentine Day comes it is a big treat because the box is so pretty and full of Valentines for everyone. "Will You Be Mine?" Rose Donaldson is our newest fifth grader.

Sixth grade with Mrs. Trunkay; and have we grown--well some of us anyway. Bill Mott is our addition this year. What a change in the seventh grade! We are big folks now and get to be upstairs with the upper classmen and change classes with them. We now have to make money to go on a senior class trip, and we get to have class parties too. Mrs. Garlock is our home room teacher in the seventh and in the picture of the eighth grade I see Mrs. Miller as our home room teacher. After our first 6 weeks in the ninth grade, Mrs. Garlock has come back and says she will be our advisor till we graduate. Richard Alderdice left us but Tom Gross has come to be in our class. Now in the tenth grade, Herb Noble joins us and helps make things go round. We have a lot of studying to be done this year. In the fall of 1956, Ardith Winningham enters the class, and with the addition of Richard Alderdice at mid-year the class is now complete. Our Junior play, concessions selling, St. Patrick's Day Dance, and Prom all keep us busy--not to mention a little studying now and then.

In the twelfth grade we number 21. This year goes so fast and we do so many things: Pep rallies are a "must" to support two active ball teams in the fall and winter, basketball games fill in evenings not used by band or other outside activities, there is the annual to get finished in February, the operetta to present in March, track meets, the wonderful Prom, baccalaureate, class night, and finally on May 20, graduation.

Your Crystal Gazer,

Kay Keller

I, Bill Mott, leave my grades to Jiggs Mott.

I, Herb Noble, leave my ability to keep out of trouble to Jeff Berry.

I, Mary Jane Papp, leave, wish I had something to leave but circumstances as they are I need all I've got and more.

I, Frank Quinn, leave my art work on the school paper to anybody who wants the job.

I, Gretchen Schroedel, leave my tall height and broad smile to Gerry Carmichael and Jim Christy, knowing they want it.

I, Lynn Sutton, leave my height to Mona Jones.

I, Barbara Tittle, leave my quietness to Floye Waters.

I, Dick Wade, leave Mrs. Garlock a quiet typing class.

I, Crystal Waters, leave - - -.

I, Alfred Wright, leave my ability to get along with the teachers to Jack Rathburn.

We, the Seniors of 1958, hereby declare and set our seal hereto on this, the twentieth day of May in the year one thousand and fifty-eight.

This year Kinsman had one of its most prosperous seasons on the hardwood. In the last of the season the Klippers made a sensational comeback against teams that had defeated us in the first of the season. Tournament time came fast and our team was rewarded for its fine work by being seeded number eight in the county out of the nineteen competing teams, thus, the team was offered opportunities to advance in the tournament.

Thanks to everyone who came out and cheered.
