HARRY CLIFFORD BOSTER

Dedication

We, the Class of 1951, dedicate this annual to Harry Clifford Boster, loved and respected by all for his unselfish effort and many years of service.

MRS. ELSIE MILNE

Within our Book of Memories

Are happy ones of you--

The fun we had together

The things we liked to do,

The way you understood us,

Your thoughtful kindness, too,

Within our Book of Memories

Are happy ones of you.

W. R. .TITUS

To Mr. Titus, who so capably carried out his duties as superintendent of Kinsman High School, we, the senior class, would like to express our sincere appreciation.

The "little things" he did to benefit us were innumerable, and they will live on forever in our hearts as true tokens of ardent faithfulness and never-failing friendship.

He is truly to be congratulated on his shining success in his first year at Kinsman.

WARD E. BANNING

Our annual would not be complete without a word of thanks to a person we'll never forget.

Mr. Banning is popular with all of us because of his good-nature and teasing ability. His being our class advisor for the last five years has brought us to think of him as a friend, not just a teacher. We have greatly appreciated all the work he has done to help us with our many projects. Without him they wouldn't have been so successful.

In the words of Longfellow, we sincerely can say, "Thanks, thanks to thee, Our worthy friend, for the lessons thou hast taught."

LUCILLE CAMP

Noted for her dignified manner, Lucille plays saxophone and piano as well as singing in chorus. In her spare moments she studies or plays basketball, that is, when she isn't skating or swimming.

KEITH BOWER

Unlike Coolidge, our three-term president did choose to run. He also chose to be in all extra-curricular activities, thus proving himself a very fine clarinet player, singer, and actor in "The Skeleton Walks", and member of the National Honor Society, as well as an excellent basketball forward.

ELSIE CARMICHAEL

An invaluable asset to the Class of '51, Elsie is an honor student, sings in chorus, keeps score at all ball-games, and also keeps track of the class money as befits a good treasurer.

The Class of "51"

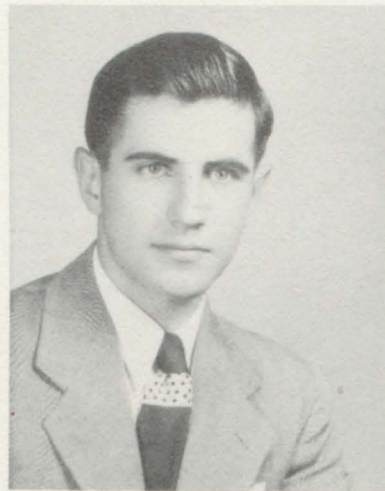

JOAN HANNOLD

As secretary of the class Joan has had a lot of corresponding to do this year. She also is a good artist, drummer, singer, and track star. Another member of "The Skeleton Walks" cast.

RHYS FORD

The student body president and glamour-boy. Rhys is the star baseball pitcher, basketball center, and an excellent singer. He also showed dramatic ability in "The Skeleton Walks".

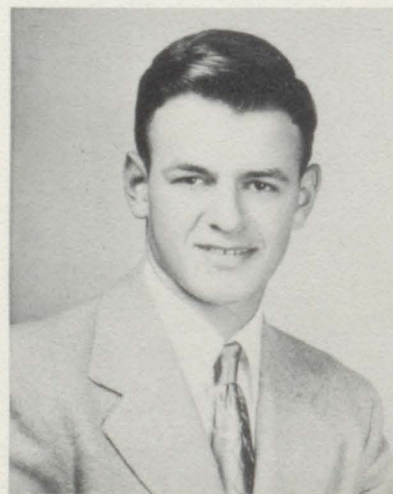

JOYCE JEWELL

Besides having been the feminine lead in "The Skeleton Walks", Joyce always serves on committees cheerfully. She is also a sharp dresser, and participates in Chorus and athletics on and off.

HENRY INNOCENZI

Active in all athletics, and good at them too, Hank claims that he is not bashful. It remains to be seen! Meanwhile, we must give Hank credit for contributing a good voice to the chorus too.

BARBARA MATHEWS

Never having been out-talked, Barbara went on to become Secretary-Treasurer of the Student Council, star feminine athlete of the class, member of band, chorus, and the Junior Play, and also timer for ball-games.

CLAIR KNEPPER

Never too tired to stop and tell how editing "The Et-cetera" makes him too tired to stop and tell, etc. In chorus (tenor), band (sax), and "The Skeleton Walks" (villain)!

LAURA McMILLEN

A quiet lass in this class is news indeed, and Laura is that welcome news. She dutifully took pictures for "The Spotlight". Laura also took part in chorus and glee club.

WENDELL PANAK

As artist super swell, musician, and many other things, Wendell says, "I'm bashful, who are you?", thus reminding us that he is bashful. (Oh, yeah?)

CAROL MYERS

An all around athlete, good actress, especially in the Junior play, cheerleader, singer, in short a bundle of energy for such a small package is our Carol.

EDGAR PAPP

Ed's favorite class is athletics, another is chorus. As for such things as American Government the less said, the better (say's Ed). One of Ed's favorite pass-times is building model airplanes.

BEVERLY REED

Still water runs deep, is the adage Bev follows. She plays baritone, sings and studies when she's not too busy. At what?--You guess!

DICK WHITE

Another athletic demon, Dick is a wonderful catcher and basketball guard. He has a nice bass voice and can act too, as has been proven on Kinsman's stages many times.

MARYELEN SHAFFER

Maryelen can't decide between music and academic studies, but she does all right in both. Proof of the former, she plays trumpet very well and has a pretty soprano voice. For the latter part, she belongs to the National Honor Society, and won second place in the state in the Ohio History, Ohio Gov. and Citizenship test at Ohio University.

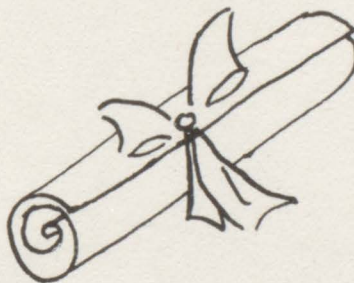

MARVEL SISLEY

One girl who won't forget cheerleaders, naturally not, she was one for four years. Marvel is a good alto singer and athletic star, as well as being vice-president of the class. Among former accomplishments was a part in the Junior Play.

MAE THOMPSON

The Editor's work is never done, or so Mae thinks, after editing this Spotlight. Nevertheless, she also found time for chorus and in her Junior year a part in "The Skeleton Walks".

Class History

In the fall of 1939 some 20 little monsters started on a great adventure, namely they were entrusted to the care of Miss Thompson, who was, and I might add, still is the first grade teacher at Kinsman Public School. Among those gentle (?) children were Maryelen Shaffer, Carol Myers, Barbara Mathews, Keith Bower, Wendell Panak, Joyce Jewell, Mae Thompson, and Marvel Sisley. The aforementioned were therefore throughout their school days old veterans of Kinsman and always initiated new members with glee and a superior air. To five and six year olds, that year was full of never ceasing wonders. One of the first lessons was--"Don't be a me-first!", which advice, I am afraid, was not very well followed by them that year. Taking part in operettas, building playhouses (the work done mostly by Mr. Noble the janitor) making stuffed animals, drawing self-portraits, and displaying artistic abilities by disfiguring other objects; also along that line, making clay figurines, and building snowmen (the latter our own idea) filled the year to overflowing and perhaps served as a vocational guidance course, who knows?

The next year, as second graders, we followed much the same path, with the exception that there were two ladies working to drive knowledge through the tiny, but dense heads. They were our old friend, Miss Thompson, and a new arrival, Miss Stephens. There was also a Halloween party, with all the grade school masking, and afterwards eating doughnuts, sandwiches, and cider; and again at Christmas there was a party plus an enormous tree and an exchange of presents. On Valentine's Day there was a big letter box and an improvised post office where one could mail his valentines, and several mail carriers, appointed by the teacher, delivered them. Thus, one more year ended happily.

In the third grade, we added making all kinds of scrapbooks to our list of activities. The teacher was again Miss Stephens, who did a good job of teaching us to recite poetry in unison.

During our fourth year of school, Dick White and Elsie Carmichael joined the class, and we caused Mrs. Allen many a headache for it was in that year that many of us started on band instruments (and continued band work through our senior year) and were out of class as much as two or three times a week. But when she listened to Barbara Mathews, as drummer; Wendell Panak, also drummer; Maryelen Shaffer on trumpet; and Keith Bower as clarinetist, she realized that it was worth while. That was the year Mr. Demintez organized us with a few others as a junior band, and we were very proud when we participated in the concert with our own little group. The rest of our spare time was spent in playing Chinese Checkers and other games.

Sometime during our fifth year of school, Lucille Camp and Joan Hannold decided that Kinsman would be a nice place to finish school and so, being 10 years old, joined our class. The members of the junior band of the year before became senior band members which greatly pleased them. Mrs. Brooks, who is the only other grade school teacher who is still in Kinsman was the teacher that year along with Mrs. Allen. Another honor came to one of the members of the class - Maryelen Shaffer was chosen for the main part of the operetta as the fairy queen. When all of us heard that we had passed into the sixth grade a sigh of relief came over us, only one more year downstairs!

Having discontinued spelling bees, we started competing for the title of best writer in the class. Almost three-fourths of the class received writing specimens stating that we were excellent penmen. This pleased Mrs. Brooks immensely. A play was given that year for our mothers and the five lower grades. It was a fairy tale complete with costumes. Cast as King was Keith Bower; Prince, Wendell Panak; Queen, Maryelen Shaffer; and Princess, Lucille Camp. All other members of the class also took part and everyone had a good time getting out of class to practice for it. Another theatrical performance was given in the Christmas Operetta that year by Wendell Panak, as one of the bad elves, and Joyce Jewell, Mae Thompson, and Carol Myers as good fairies.

As seventh graders we moved upstairs with admonitions still ringing in our ears that life would be harder there. However, with more freedom to roam about, we found life easier until the fateful day that we received our first report cards. Here we also found that classes were organized and so we elected Elsie Carmichael, president; Mr. Jones, advisor; and a secretary, treasurer, and vice-president. Dues were set at one dollar per person. Miss Brown was our home-room teacher, and we spent many a delightful hour listening to her interesting stories. The band under Mr. Suchanek, also a new teacher, went to Kent District Contest and received a "one" rating. The boys who went out for basketball also had fun playing games with neighboring towns. The girls took part as cheerleaders. Our first class parties took place that year, and we played in the gym and then ate downtown with a movie afterwards. We had our own chorus that year and the next, and it was a splendid one, too.

When we became eighth graders, one new member was added, Henry Innocenzi. We reorganized the class, choosing Keith Bower, President, and Ward Banning, advisor. Those were about the only changes made that year with the exception that dues were lowered to 25 cents because of our financial situations. We sang carols for the grade school operetta.

The first real year of high school brought along lots of new class-mates. These consisted of Laura McMillen, Rhys Ford, Edgar Papp, and Clair Knepper. We kept the same president and the same advisor. Miss Fitts became our new home-room teacher. The band renewed its claim as a top band at Kent and went on to Columbus to spend a weekend and become top in the state. Solo players consisted of Marvel, Lucille, Keith, Wendell, Maryelen, Joan, and Barbara. It was our first year in the high school operetta, which was "Belle of Barcelona." Everyone in the class took part in the chorus of Spanish students. One thing mustn't be forgotten, we were initiated properly by the upperclassmen. Marvel and Barbara did very well on the softball team as did Elsie and Carol. In boys' sports, Dick and Rhys played on the baseball team, Dick and Keith were on the varsity basketball team, and Rhys was on the reserves. Edgar, Henry, and Wendell were substitutes. Carol and Marvel proved that they could be capable cheerleaders as well as softball players.

No longer greenies, but Sophomores, we welcomed Beverly Reed to our class. Rhys was made the new president, Mr. Banning, still the advisor. Once again Marvel and Barbara were catcher and pitcher for the girls' softball team, which won every game. Carol and Mae played as substitutes. Dick was catcher, Keith first base, and Rhys center field and pitcher for the boys' baseball team. They won 60% of their games that year. Basketball was not so good as all games were lost, but the team worked hard. Rhys, Dick and Keith were on the Varsity, Edgar and Henry on the Reserves. The latter team won 6 of their games. Marvel and Carol resumed their job of being excellent cheerleaders. Keith, Clair, and Rhys, the last a blackface, received parts in the operetta "An Old Kentucky Garden". At the tournament basketball games the Sophomores had a check-room which netted them a nice little income. The band journeyed to Kent again and won first, then went to Springfield for the weekend, and there kept their title, or rather added to it, because they received a "one-plus", the first rating of that kind ever given. Marvel, french-horn; Barbara, drum; Wendell, drum; Lucille, saxophone; Joan, drum; Beverly, baritone; and Clair, tenor saxophone; played the lead parts at state. Mrs. Hoffman, our home-room teacher, was glad to get rid of us.

The following year Bill Burr joined the class about Christmas time. Mr. Jones was the home-room teacher, Mr. Banning, class advisor, and Keith president. Clair Knepper became associate editor of the Telenews, our school paper, but he really ran it that year. Wendell was artist; Elsie, typist; Maryelen, music editor; and Keith, sports editor. The junior play was given in November. "The Skeleton Walks" was as spooky as it sounds, and Joyce and Clair with the leads and their supporting cast of Carol, Rhys, Marvel, Keith, Joan, Barbara, and Mae played their parts exceptionally well. (Elsie and Beverly were prompters, and Dick and Maryelen gave readings and songs, and Beverly with a baritone solo made interesting listening between acts.) The high school chorus went Christmas caroling that year at the suggestion of the juniors. The girls' softball team was the runner-up in the county and Marvel, Barbara, Carol, and Joan were four of the girls who helped get this honor for the school. The boys team under Coach Francu also won all their regular games but lost in the semi-finals. Rhys, Dick, and Edgar were on this winning team. The basketball team won four league games. Henry, Rhys, and Dick were on the varsity. Edgar was on the reserves. Marvel once more did a good job as one of the cheerleaders for the varsity and reserves. We were also busy learning how to handle money, especially Elsie who was treasurer, for we sold pencils with the basketball schedule on them, salt water taffy, and had concessions at all the ball games. We spent some money for class rings and the Junior - Senior Banquet. Keith gave the welcome to the Seniors, and Beverly played a baritone solo with Maryelen at the piano, Maryelen and Clair sang a duet, accompanied by Lucille, and Joyce and Mae played piano duets. Two members of the class received quite an honor that year, Keith and Maryelen were elected to the National Honor Society. The dances in Mrs. Milne's last operetta at Kinsman were taken over by us that year. We portrayed brooms, bakers, trains, etc. The band under Mr. Sulek again went to Kent, and again won first rating. This entitled them to another trip to Springfield which was made by bus and there they received another "one" rating. The commencement leaders were Rhys Ford and Joyce Jewell. Baccalaureate leaders were Keith Bower and Beverly Reed. Of course, we played in the commencement orchestra and sang in the baccalaureate chorus thus sending our old friends, the seniors, out into the world.

During the summer before we went back to school as seniors, we were saddened by the news that our superintendent, Mr. Boster, had died.

Coming back to school that year for the last time, we took particular note of everything that happened so that we would always have some good memories of our school days. Clair again headed the newspaper staff and renamed it the "Etcetera". Elsie, Maryelen, Keith, Wendell, Joan, Beverly, and Mae, were on the staff. Mae was the editor of the Spotlight and the whole class ably assisted her. The boys won all their baseball games but two with Dick catching, Rhys pitching, and Edgar and Henry playing a wonderful game. The girls were runners-up in the county in softball. Barbara was pitcher, Marvel catcher, Elsie scorekeeper as she was the year before, and Carol held down a position too. The class sponsored the "Saddle-Mates" and other shows. About this time, Maryelen Shaffer was one of the top 98 in the state in the Ohio History, Ohio Government, and Citizenship test and went to Athens to Ohio University where she placed second in the state. Mr. Banning was our homeroom teacher as well as being class advisor, Keith was president, Marvel vice-president, Elsie treasurer, and Joan secretary. Mr. Titus was our new superintendent. The boys had a good basketball season with Henry, Dick, Keith, Rhys, and Edgar playing on the team. Marvel who had been a cheerleader every year during her high school years was one that year, and a very good one too. Of course, we put on a wonderful operetta directed by Mrs. Price, and had a good band also. There was a beautiful baccalaureate, classnite, and commencement. And afterwards, an exciting trip to New York. We were initiated at the Alumni banquet after we returned. We look back over the years with a happy heart at all the good times we had in school and hope that we added to the school's fame in some small ways. But, as we have always done in the past, we are looking to the future with courage and knowledge that if we heed our lessons taught in school we shall be successful in this new world we have entered.

Hope is the thing with feathers
That perches in the soul,
And sings the tune without the words,
And never stops at all.

Story of the Play

The plot is laid in a lonely old house situated on a small island connected to the mainland by only one bridge. To this deserted place come Elaine Blair, her lawyer-fiance, and her mother to look over the property which Elaine has inherited at her uncle's death.

To their surprise they find the house in the possession of a suave and mysterious physician, Dr. Fersig by name, his sinister housekeeper, and her deaf-mute son.

The old house is worthless, but both Elaine and Dr. Fersig know that a large sum of money is secreted somewhere on the premises. Thinking the visitors have left the island, and wanting to search for the money unmolested, Dr. Fersig directs the deaf-mute to blow up the bridge. But to his chagrin they return, having stopped at an old well on the island to eat a picnic supper. Because the bridge is destroyed, they decide to spend the night in the old house.

And now things begin to happen. Strange, ethereal noises are heard. A skeleton walks through the dim shadows of the house. Elaine suddenly disappears, Bill, her fiance, makes a strange discovery. After loosing and taking out two bricks in the fireplace, Bill finds the money in a metal box, and presents it to Elaine. Dr. Fersig comes in and finds, to his dismay, that the money has been found and he is very angry saying that anything found on the property belongs to him. At this very exciting moment Mrs. Hubbard and her son Ollie enter, taking off their disguise and revealing themselves to be the famous Jack Dow Detective and his wife, Jane. They seize Dr. Fersig and take him to Sing Sing, return Mrs. Donahue's diamonds to her, and help Elaine and Bill establish claim to the house.

The play was prompted by Elsie Carmichael and Beverly Reed.

Serving on the Program Committee were Lucina York, Laura McMillen, and Lucille Camp.

Ticket takers were Edgar Papp and Henry Innocenzi.

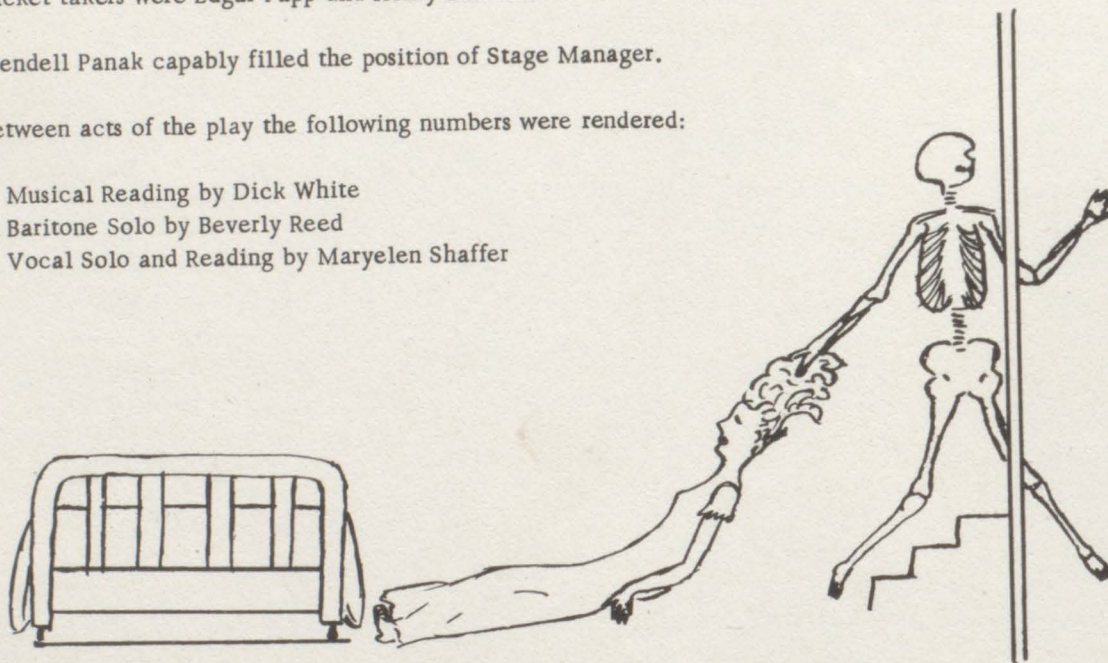

Wendell Panak capably filled the position of Stage Manager.

Between acts of the play the following numbers were rendered:

A Musical Reading by Dick White

A Baritone Solo by Beverly Reed

A Vocal Solo and Reading by Maryelen Shaffer

MAGIC CARPET

As I put my magic carpet into first gear I decided to visit Kinsman, Ohio and look up the Class of 1951. I had been told they were really doing things in the world.

As I landed in Kinsman I inquired of a lady where I might find the said class. I discovered she was Joan Hannold, a housewife, and one of two members who had remained in Kinsman. She told me I might find quite a few in New York. She informed me Carol Myers was a housewife in Kinsman, however, and worked as a butcher's assistant.

I put the rug in reverse and upon arriving in New York landed on the Empire State Building. There I found a man quite high in the world, Clair Knepper, who as a Certified Public Accountant, had his office on the 80th floor. He told me Keith Bower, who was Chief Electrical Engineer, had his offices practically next door on the second floor of the First National Bank Building. Acting as his main secretary was Elsie Carmichael.

As I flew to another part of New York I saw Lucille Camp, famous interior decorator, decorating J. D. Rockefeller the III's mansion for the third time in her career.

At the Art Gallery there was great commotion over the fact that Wendell Panak, a student of art, had painted a picture greater than the Mona Lisa.

In Carnegie Hall I saw Maryelen Shaffer, that well-known singing star of stage, screen, and radio, who had studied in Philadelphia, helping an unknown to reach stardom. She told me she was going to Los Angeles soon to make another picture.

I warmed up the motor of my Flying Carpet and as I was flying over Philadelphia almost ran into Edgar Papp, who was flying Commercial Airlines biggest plane. Also I saw Bill Burr, who as head of the Penn. State Patrol, was speeding to make an arrest.

I stopped at Ohio Wesleyan University to look up Mae Thompson, who I had heard was Dean of Women and found that she was Pres. of the College. She wondered why I didn't run up to Cleveland and see Joyce Jewell, so I did. I found her at St. Luke's Hospital sitting in the Director of Laboratory Technicians chair.

Hurrying along, I stopped in Minnesota and found Laura McMillen who seemed very happy with her $20,000 year job.

I flew down to the University of Wyoming and ran into two old friends, Henry Innocenzi, who was physical ed' teacher and coach of that famous schools basketball team, and Barbara Mathews who had given up a brilliant career as a professional baseball and basketball player to become coach of the girls' equally successful team, as well as one of the colleges science teachers.

As I flew eastward again I stopped at the Nation's Capital and found that famous leader of the leathernecks, Rhys Ford, and Admiral Richard White in conference over the situation in Antartica.

Up in Boston, Marvel Sisley who married a multi-millionaire, after teaching school a year following study at Mt. Union, was giving a formal dinner party.

Just before I flew off the Continent to go back to Arabia, I spied the quiet little town of Provincetown, Mass., and there I saw Beverly Reed, who had built a tremendous costume styling and manufacturing school and now headed it.

As I left Provincetown I hoped to find all of the Class of '51 in as good positions the next time I visited them.

BACCALAUREATE AND COMMENCEMENT -- 1951

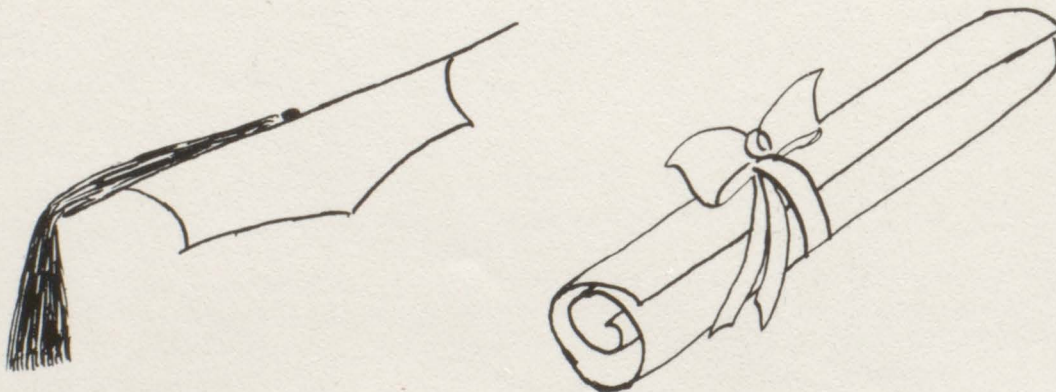

The annual Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises for 1951 took place in the Kinsman High School Auditorium, with many friends, relatives, and parents of the members of the senior class in attendance.

The Baccalaureate program, which was given on May 29th, was highlighted with a stirring address by Rev. Ralph P. Thompson, minister of the Kinsman Presbyterian Church. The local high school chorus, directed by Mrs. Anna Price, rendered several assorted selections from their beautiful repertoire. The invocation and benediction were spoken by Rev. Aubrey A. Crawford from the Kinsman Methodist Church.

With the conclusion of the Baccalaureate program, we seniors looked forward with great anticipation to the Commencement exercises, from which we would receive our official charters for venturing out into life. The long remembered night was on May 24th, and the setting was much the same as that on Baccalaureate evening, with our thrilling colors of scarlet and silver adding the finishing touches to the "51" motto, "Success Awaits At Labor's Gates." The invocation was given by the local Presbyterian minister, Rev. Ralph P. Thompson. The keynote of the program was sounded when Dr. Dwight L. Arnold from Kent State University in Kent, Ohio, gave a very realistic, resounding address. The music was offered by the Kinsman High School orchestra, under the most able direction of Mr. Rudolph Sulek.

Presentation of the diplomas was made by Mr. Dewitt Marsh, president of the Kinsman School Board.

Looking back, we of the senior class of 1951 can truthfully state that our graduation exercises were the best in local school history, and that they certainly started us off on the right step forward.

JUNIOR - SENIOR BANQUET

The Juniors and Seniors held their annual banquet at the Colonial Tea Room in Kinsman on May 6, 1950. The banquet hall was beautifully decorated with many balloons of varied colors tied to streamers suspended from the ceiling. A Maritime theme was portrayed with small sailboats and sailor hats.

As an introduction to this program, the Jr. President, Keith Bower, welcomed the seniors of '50. The response, given by the Sr. President, Bob Lauver, worthily expressed their feeling of appreciation. We were then served a delicious ham dinner with all the trimmings.

At intervals during the meal a musical program was presented by members of the Junior class. The special numbers were as follows:

Piano Duet - - - - -	Tea for Two - - - - -	Mae Thompson
	Sympathy	Joyce Jewell

Vocal Duet - - - - - Serenade - - - - - -Clair Knepper
Maryelen Shaffer

Baritone Solo - - - - - Garnet - - - - - Beverly Reed

When the meal was completed the Juniors gathered on the steps of the Inn to have their pictures taken, after which both classes departed for an evening that will long be remembered by all concerned.

The Student Council started the year by electing officers. Rhys Ford was chosen president and Barbara Mathews secretary. As part of its activities during the year it ordered and showed noon time films throughout the year. The order of their showing is as follows:

"Feudin', Fussin' and Fightin',"
 "Gung Ho",
 "Pardon My Sarong",
 "Spirit of Culver",
 "Tap Roots", which was a color film,
 "Wild Beauty",
 "Daltons Ride Again",
 and "Red Canyon", which was also a color film.

They also booked other activities for the students' pleasure, they were:

Kirk Bennett, the man who knew Lincoln,
 The Pattersons, who were acrobats,
 The Hollands, who sang Dutch songs and etc.,
 A Chalk Talk, in which Ken Smith entertained and drew pictures with chalk at the same time.

SENIOR CLASS NEWS

After examining the minutes and attending the class meetings, this reporter finds quite a busy senior class. Since the publication of the last paper, the Seniors have chosen their annual company and are very busy working on the Yearbook. When the ring salesmen were here, some of the seniors chose necklaces, pins, and bracelets. We seniors are having our pictures taken next Tuesday. We have also ordered our announcements and personal cards. We wish to thank all who attended the Saddle Mates Program and helped to make it a success.

The softball team started the season with one thing in mind this year and that was winning the county championship.

The score of the first game may well show the determination of the girls. Kinsman won over Bazetta 33 to 7. They went on to win the remaining 4 games of district competition thus winning the district trophy.

They then traveled to Perkins Park in Warren to play Gustavus in the semi-finals. Kinsman came out the winners by a score of 13 to 10. On the return trip to Warren for the Trumbull County playoffs, the story was not quite the same. Kinsman was defeated by Braceville 10 to 1.

Although they didn't reach their goal they added two trophies to the new show case; the District cup and Runners-up trophy.

The softball team will lose four players through graduation: Marvel Sisley, catcher; Carol Myers, first base; Barbara Mathews, pitcher; and Lucille Camp, outfield. We will also lose Elsie Carmichael who has served as manager and score keeper the past 2 years. The scores of the games and batting average are as follows:

The boys' baseball team got off to a flying start this year by winning their first 3 games before dropping a 3 to 1 decision to Bazetta. This defeat did not discourage the boys but encouraged them, for they went on to win 5 more before the return game with Bazetta. A victory for Kinsman would tie them with Bazetta for leadership in League III. With this thought in mind the Klippers went on and beat the Eagles 5 to 2.

The two teams then journeyed to Warren for the district playoff. Although the Kinsman boys fought hard, they were forced to bow to Bazetta's fast-ball pitcher. The final score: Bazetta 3 - Kinsman 2. This game brought the 1950 baseball season to a close at Kinsman.

We are hoping that next year's team will come home with a county championship. The Klippers will lose five boys through graduation this year: Rhys Ford, pitcher; Dick White, catcher; Edgar Papp, right field; Keith Bower, left field; and Henry Innocenzi, pitcher. The results of the games, pitching records, and batting averages are as follows:

The basketball team well deserves the honor of being rated as one of the best teams in the county. Their record of 17 wins and 2 loses clearly shows the reason for such a rating.

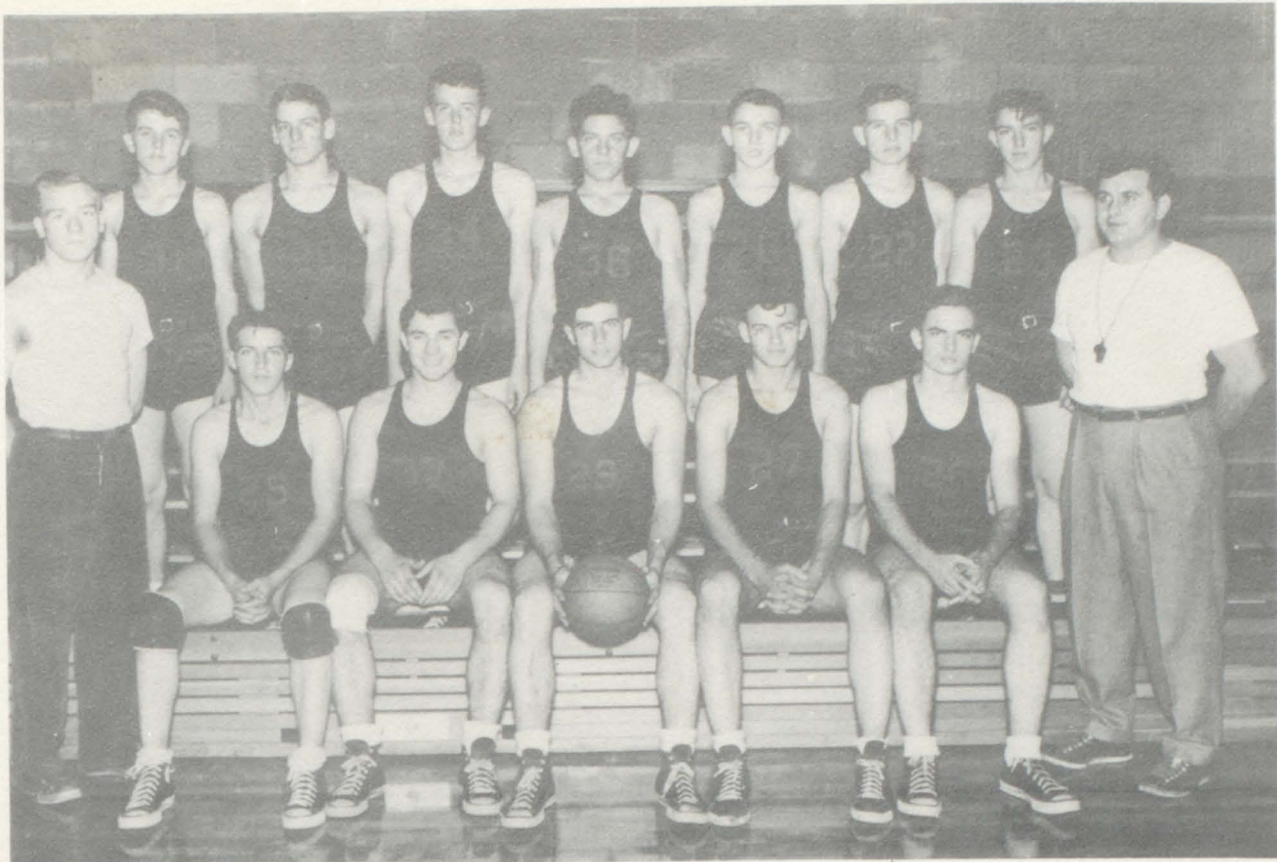

The Klippers chalked up 9 straight wins before dropping a 42 to 38 decision to Cortland. After 4 more wins the Klippers lost another heartbreaking game to Mineral Ridge by a score of 56 to 46. This is one game the Kinsman fans won't forget for sometime. Due to the fact that Kinsman has only one more league game left to play, we may feel free in saying the Klippers will be winners in League III with a record of 10 victories and 0 defeats.

The Klippers this season have scored a total of 879 points to their opponents' 711. This is an average of 46.3 points per game. The reserves won 16 out of 19 games this season, losing one more than the varsity. High scorer for the reserves was David Mathews, with a total of 138 points.

The season records and individual scoring not including the final game with Hartford are as follows:

Kinsman's annual High School Operetta was presented April 6, 1951, under the direction of Mrs. Anna Price.

Cast of Characters

Hans Maier	Edgar Papp
Louisa	Barbara Mathews
Captain Kinski	Henry Innocenzi
Bumski	Dick White
Rumski	Jerry Reeves
J. Jennison Jones	Rhys Ford
Jigo	Keith Bower
Ilona	Beverly Reed
Arthur Crefont	Clair Knepper
June Pennington	Maryelen Shaffer
Jonas H. Pennington	Wendell Panak
Lady Vivian Delancy	Joan Hannold
Tourists, Burgers, Viennese maidens, Waiters, Gypsies

SYNOPSIS OF SCENES

Act I Garden of Wurtzelpraeter Inn, Vienna, at carnival time.
Act II A Gypsy camp near Vienna, that evening.
Act III Same as Act I, the next evening.

Story of the Operetta

Jonas H. Pennington, an American millionaire pickle manufacturer, with his daughter, June, arrives in Vienna amidst preparations for the annual carnival. To his consternation the finds Jones, his advertising expert, advertising Pennington's Peter Piper Pickles too well. An old acquaintance, Lady Vivian, a wealthy Englishwoman, also arrives on her annual quest in search of her daughter, who was lost near Vienna at carnival time when a baby. Kinski, the pompous police chief, plots to substitute the lost child of Lady Vivian and marry her for the fortune.

A band of Gypsies visits the carnival led by Jigo, the chieftain, and his supposed daughter, Ilona. Events lead all to the Gypsy camp, where a magic pool reveals the face of Lady Vivian's daughter. Arthur Crefont, a poor artist, wins recognition of his art and also the hand of June Pennington. Lady Vivian consents to become Mrs. Pennington; Kinski's plot is exposed; Ilona is restored to her mother and Jones is rewarded with success in his campaign for the hand of Ilona.

WHAT WOULD WE DO?

If Elsie wouldn't keep score at every game
And didn't know the player's names
What would the school do?

If Rhys of the Student Council wasn't head
Its activities would probably be quite dead
What would the student body do?

If Bill couldn't jump so high
We'd like to know the reason why
What would the track team do?

If Laura started talking and wouldn't stop
My eyes would certainly pop
What would yours do?

If Hank didn't shoot so many fouls
The coach would surely growl
What would the Klippers do?

If Joyce wasn't so slim
All her dresses wouldn't look so trim
What would Joyce do?

If Dick couldn't catch a baseball
To him that would be quite a fall
What would the pitcher do?

If Marvel wasn't a cheerleader every year
It would certainly be queer
What would the team do?

If Clair stopped laughing some day
He wouldn't look half so gay
What would he do?

If Barbara couldn't talk so loud
She'd have to speak to a smaller crowd
What would the class do?

If Ed wasn't so quiet
I bet he'd cause a riot
What would the girls do?

If Joan couldn't play the drum so swell
The band wouldn't sound so well
What would Mr. Sulek do?

If Keith couldn't play his clarinet
Wouldn't that be a predicament
What would the band do?

If Mae decided she wouldn't edit the Spotlight
O'er who would do it, there'd be quite a fight
What would the annual do?

If Wendell forgot how to draw
He might have to take up law
What would the art studio do?

If Maryelen couldn't sing a note
Or lost her western coat
What would she do?

If Lucille for one date wasn't late
I believed that I would faint
What would her date do?

If Beverly in bookkeeping didn't get good grades
Because she didn't know the banking trade
What would Mr. Jones do?

REMEMBER WHEN

The Seniors' Spanish Class wouldn't answer Mr. Jones.
Maryelen was being towed around the typing room on a chair.
A certain few seniors skipped school a half day.
Carol wasn't tied down with a guy.
Rhys was being pursued by Roberta.
Mae was the center of Bill's attraction.
Dick spent Saturday evenings in Warren.
Elsie had nothing to do.
Wendell had his short summer romance with a girl from Arizona.
Keith and Joyce were amiss for words on stage.
Hank didn't have the pleasure of reading his Conservation.
Marvel chocked on a cookie.
Clair went for a walk eighth periods.
Joan was fancy free.
Lucille had a definite reason for going skating.
Laura began her photography career at the Jr. Play.
Bill automatized his squirt gun.
Barbara wasn't first at school to get a seat by Rhys.
Edgar had a crush on a girl.
Beverly and Keith led the class of "50".
Eight banqueteers had a flat tire in Cleveland.
Joan, Joyce, Mae, and Beverly had a brief cheerleading career.
Seniors really got the point in Conservation-"tack point that is".
We needed teachers to tell us what to do.
The Senior boys wore knee pants and the girls shirt tails.
Ward had black hair and lots of it.
Lucille, Maryelen, and new roaster table tipped over when shocked
by Mr. Jones.

Last Will and Testament

We, the class of Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-One, being of feeble mind and stubborn disposition, do bequeath all our various outstanding characteristics to faculty, classes, and students.

To the faculty we leave the peace of mind that we took from them 12 years ago.

To the seventh grade we leave Mr. Banning and hope they take better care of him than we did.

To the seniors of '52 we leave our learning ability because we know they need it.

To the juniors, we leave our leadership ability.

To the sophomores we leave, and know they're happy to see us go.

To the freshman we leave anything that happens to be left, which isn't much.

I, Dick White, leave my basketball ability to Frank Nephew, and hope it doesn't tire him too much.

I, Mae Thompson, leave my height to Patty Knepper, because I know she needs it.

I, Marvel Sisley, leave my cheerleading ability to Bobby Endsley, and hope she doesn't get laryngitis.

I, Maryelen Shaffer, leave my many accomplishments to anyone who works hard enough to master them.

I, Beverly Reed, leave my pleasant smile and pleasing personality to Patty Roberts.

I, Wendell Panak, leave my artistic ability to any worthy Jr. if there is one.

I, Carol Myers, leave first base to Roberta Endsley and also my ability to go steady.

I, Barbara Mathews, leave my ability to play base drum to Mary Agnes Hurd who will definitely have to learn to count to four.

I, Laura McMillen, leave my quietness to Eugene Barr, alias Perry Como.

I, Clair Knepper, leave the newspaper and its many headaches to Shirley Camp.

I, Joyce Jewell, leave my 22" waistline to Jean Sisley, on the condition she follows her diet carefully.

I, Henry Innocenzi, leave my basketball ability to Dick McCurdy, and advise him to eat his Wheaties every day.

I, Joan Hannold, leave Richard to his class, on the condition that no certain one gets grabby.

I, Rhys Ford, leave my athletic ability to Donnie Glowe and suggest he grow a few more inches.

I, Elsie Carmichael, leave the baseball score book to Cornelia Agema.

I, Lucille Camp, leave my mastery of swimming to Judy O'Rielly and advise her never to stay under the water too long.

I, Bill Burr, leave my ability to study to Eldon Carkhuff.

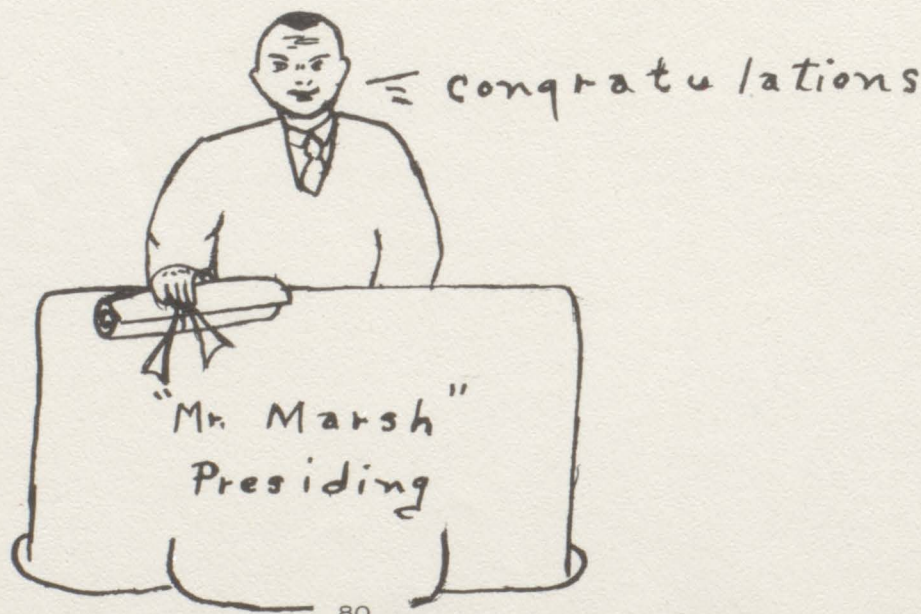

I, Edgar Papp, leave my basketball skill to Charles Carmichael.

I, Keith Bower, leave my clarinet playing ability to Richard Meredith, in hopes that he can also master the distinguished art.

Signed, sealed, and declared to be the last Will and Testament of the Senior Class of '51.

Autographs

Reputed to be slightly absent-minded, he is a good basketball player, member of chorus, and has nice big brown eyes.

Secretary of class, soprano, band drummer, and gym student, she was once a shrew and was tamed.

Noted for that far-away look about a certain someone, she is a baritone player, music editor of Spotlight, and came to Kinsman in her Sophomore year.

Ash blonde hair, blue eyes; chorus member, commencement leader in her junior year, she really headed the class (of '50, that is).

An athletic terror, secretary-treasurer of Student Council, sports editor of Spotlight, a nice soprano voice, witty, talkative, and a good mixer.

One of '51's brighter hopes, she is a member of National Honor Society, takes her music seriously, pretty soprano voice, trumpet player, Sr. Ed. of Spotlight, likes acting, former class secretary and vice-president.

Hard working Spotlight "snap-shooter", she is neat and courteous, and a member of chorus.

Our most studious lad, that's how he got that National Honor Society pin, he is also a good bass singer, clarinet player, basketball hero, and class president in his Freshmen, Junior, and, of course, Senior year.

One of the main athletic heroes of the class; see record in basketball, baseball, and track; has a very nice bass voice, good-looking and popular.

One of the class comedians, pole vaulter, and bass singer, he is noted for his easy attitude toward life.

Busiest man on the grounds is our baseball pitcher, basketball center, track team member, student council pres., former class-president, and he is as well a beautiful bass singer, and a good student when he feels like it.

Mixture of quietness and laughter, good athlete, chorus member, one of the farm boys in the class.

Has musical inclinations as proved by her alto voice; she is vice-pres., former secretary of class and a very good athlete.

Having been in Kinsman the Editor of the Spotlight, member of soprano section of chorus, and former treasurer of the class, she's going to continue her studies at Ohio Wesleyan next year.

Distinguished for his wit and his guffaw, he is Editor of Etcetera, has a tenor voice, is a sax player, former vice-president, talkative, and yet dignified.

Of an artistic temperament; reference, see Spotlight sketches; former class secretary, drummer in band, and stage manager for plays.

Curly headed maestra, the photographer's right hand man, she is a sax player, gym student, neat, pretty, dignified, and courteous.

This popular girl about school has been a softball player, soprano, former vice-president, and has pretty dark hair and eyes to match.

This girl who "gets" more work done than anyone else is an honor student, scorekeeper for ball games, and class treasurer, and is noted for her cheerful disposition and willingness to work.
