Senior Class History

Well, here we are, Seniors, the class of 1950. In thinking of our graduation, it also starts us to remembering about our first day in school. As we think back the pages of the calendar seem to move in reverse. They move back until.....

It's a fine day in September, the year is 1938. Do you recognize some of us? Why look! There's Jerry Letcher, Bill Moore and Ed Morrison, and there's Dolores Rascsak and Joe Warner. Those five are all that are left of our original class of twenty. Miss Paden was our teacher in that bewildering first year of school. But before that year was over, Don Baxter joined our class. We succeeded, somehow, in passing the first grade. Our second grade teacher was Miss Johnson. Besides acquiring a new teacher we also acquired two more permanent members in our class, Lois Davis and Gene Robinson. Our next memory places us in the fourth grade and Miss Warman was our teacher for the second straight year. By the way, now June Rose joined our class. Our fifth year now rolled around and Edna Stevens joined our ranks. Our teacher, Miss Brown, helped us make the year a success. Oh boy! remember the sixth grade? At last we gained the top position in the first floor ranks. Miss Brown kept us "in hand" and the year ended and it was time for us to leave school once more. Then came the seventh grade, this grade was almost as hard to get use to as the first grade had been. Finally, we learned how activities were managed on the second floor and Miss Spievak held down the fort for us. During this term our class increased with three new numbers, Ben Hassell, Josie Hillyer and Loren Osborn. At the beginning of the next year, Miss Holiday was our home room teacher. The eighth grade found us with a class membership of thirty-one, almost double our present one of sixteen. With a groan, we remember the Freshman year-that's the grade when the Sophomores pinned our ears back at initiation. Our only consolation was that we would eventually get even by initiating the new Freshmen the following term. This year, as before, Mr. Wasik was our able home room teacher. Then we invaded the Junior room and were joined by Tom Bradely. Then with the help of Miss Harshman, we started our pursuit of that "stuff" called money. What with our Christmas card sales, the eats program at basketball games and our Junior play, our cash balance came up. Our financial worries were now over and we could settle down and enjoy the coming activities. The prom was held at Mahoning Country Club and our Junior-Senior trip that year was to Niagra Falls. That brings our memories around to our Senior year. After getting used to the novelty of being "high man on a totem pole" we settled down to work on the yearbook. We give credit to Mr. Schettino for the great amount of effort that he has put in to make our Senior year a great success. Our share of work was lessened by the presence of Joan Giroski and Margery Moore. Together they brought our class enrollment to the grand total of sixteen. It wasn't long until our Senior actors were chosen for our play. After all the acting we have done to cover for not having our studies done, well, we should have many good actors. Any need for money worries was stopped when the Senior play was over. The grand prom, given for us by the Juniors and our week-long trip to Washington are two memories that will last for a long time.

And so here we stand at the door which opens at graduation. Some of us will go on to college while some will find a business position to fill. We have worked hard for this chance so let's open the door to see what the future holds for us.

Last Will and Testament

We the Senior Class of 1950 do hereby will and bequeath our last will and testament to our most proud successors. Being signed and duly contested by our most honorable professors, this is officially our last will and testament.

To the Faculty we will our ability to make our classes interesting with our humor. To the Juniors we will all the headaches that go with being a Senior. To the Sophomores we will our ability to give excuses which we sincerely hope will work better than ours did. To the Freshmen we will our ability to make money. (Not counterfeit)

Don Baxter wills his skill in playing basketball to Alton Jewell.

Tom Bradley wills his ability to umpire ball games to Bob Byers.

Lois Davis wills her blond hair to Barbara Karr.

Joan Giroski wills her ability to participate in sports to Dorothy Symons.

Ben Hassell wills his curly hair to Howard Karr. (Try a Toni, Howard)

Josephine Hillyer wills her temper to Opal Rice.

Jerry Letcher wills her carefree ways to Grace Saltzman.

Billy Moore wills his shortness to Paul Stevens.

Margery Moore wills her quietness to Joan Morris.

Ed Morrison wills his ability to go steady to Pete Tupper.

Loren Osborn wills his intellect to Glenn Hall.

Dolores Rascsak wills her short haircuts to Beverly Gruver.

Eugene Robinson wills his wit and humor to Eddie Fair.

June Rose wills her sparkling blue eyes to Hallie Stafford.

Edna Stevens wills her love for chatting in study hall to Donna Fair.

Joe Warner wills his slow motions to Dale Draa.

This will does hereby serve to distribute our most valuable possessions as seen fittest.

Senior Class Prophecy

In the middle of the century, the Class of 1950 went out into the world to begin their careers. Now let's look ahead to 1960 and see how successful they have been.

Donald Baxter-Donnie his charm having failed him now has a New York apartment and heads a club called "Hopless Bachelors."

Thomas Bradley-That nationally famous "King of Hobos" is Tom, he always did want to travel and is quite an artist at making mulligan.

Lois Davis-After many years of practice and finally success Lois is now a beautician in an undertaker's parlor.

Joan Giroski-Having begun to play basketball in school, Joan has won world-wide acclaim with her team of six footers.

Edward Hassell-Ben has bought his father's farm, excelling in hog raising and has a very large collection of trophies for his unusual hog calling technique.

Josephine Hillyer-Josie has a very large fleet of Fords, running a taxi service from Burghill to Kinsman, "Service at any hour" is her moto.

Jerry Letcher-Now owning a large famous barber shop, Jerry caters only to red-heads (with curls that is).

Margery Moore-Margery went to night school to become a Secretary and is now the President's personal Secretary and right-hand girl.

William Moore-With many attempts and failures Bill has invented a wonder drug to grow taller and is now a millionaire, incidently he gained one inch.

Edward Morrison-Eddie with a bigger and better supply of cameras owns an exclusive shop and is Vernon's special Photographer.

Loren Osborn-Loren has long since been married and now writes a column entitled "Advice to the lovelorn and how to live happily ever after."

Dolores Rascsak-If you should suddenly become ill go to the new Doctor in town, Dolores is his assistant and will fix you up in a hurry.

Eugene Robinson-That new comedian you hear on your radio is Genie, he began his career by interrupting classes with his jokes.

June Rose-June went into nurses training to gain knowledge but only gained a handsome young Doctor who was on the staff.

Edna Stevens-Edna having nothing else in mind is baby sitter for the children of the tinner in Farmdale and full time partner in the business.

Joe Warner-Joe after school took over Thurman Tucker's place on the Cleveland Indian's team and became so successful that he now owns the Indians.

Class Poem

"THE LAST FINALE"

The curtain falls the play is through,
To the past 12 years we bid adieu,
Years of work with memories bright,
To lighten many a darkened night,

We've lived these years and had our fun,
But now we are glad the day has come,
There will be no fear or doubts,
For we await what we shall find without,

And so dear Vernon to you we give thanks,
And also to the faculty,
Who with steady nerves withstood our pranks,
To our parents also we owe a debt,
For a beginning not quite finished yet,

We may have said we'll miss you not,
But really to you we owe a lot,
And now as the time draws near,
For the cast of '50' to part,
We thank you Vernon with all our heart.

Class Song

"FAREWELL VERNON" Tune-Sentimental Journey

Now we're on a sentimental journey,
To bid dear Vernon good-bye,
Upon this eve so dear we are remembering,
Dreams of yesterday gone by,
Of classes spent in Vernon,
All but one day now has past,
'Twas altogether quite a march,
Since the time we crossed the arch

The years were packed with work and fun,
All are sad, all are sad,
Now that it is done.
But hold!
The future looms ahead,
While some of us go on,
Each will do his best,
Till at last he finds his rest.

“Why I go to School”

Well here it is, a bright Monday morning and it seems the Juniors are all here, even Grace Bradley. Mrs. Wilt brings the class to order and devotions are given. Attendance and the lunch count is taken before the bell rings. Look out! Here comes Biggin tearing for Typing class to pound on the keys, while the others come in more slowly. There is the usual one minute speed tests, with everyone madly trying to locate the right keys. There's the bell and most of us go to study hall, except those in German class. Dale always looks forward to this. In study hall everyone crams for current events. Since Irene brought the paper everyone tries to get the same current event, this makes a very good class discussion. Bookkeeping class is next but nobody seems to be doing much studying. (it must be easy) There's the bell and here it is Bookkeeping class. Eileen begins by asking Mr. Wasik her famous questions. During his discussion Jewell manages to go to the wastepaper basket with his "saved gum" and class resumes but not for long as there goes the bell. Why is it that Perry chooses this time to tell about his previous dates to Biggin? It's History class and time for current events. What an interesting class discussion we have. Lucky the bell rings as Mr. Schettino has a dry throat from so much talking. It's English class and it seems Dick can't leave "Dot" alone long enough to concentrate on English. Class is interrupted for a ten minute class meeting with Gracie Saltzman (President) racking her brains thinking of ways to make money for the class. The bell rings and it's noon. After eating we wander around to the store or elsewhere. Opal has managed to locate Loren and George the "twins" which is nothing unusual. Noon ends and it's time for afternoon classes. Study hall is first and there must be a test in Shorthand today the way Delora, Margie and Virginia are studying. Byers tries his luck at Chemistry, probably thinking up a big explosive. Study hall is interrupted by Hallie with one of her famous announcements. As the bell rings, it's time for Chemistry class and it's the usual argument between Coleen and Glenn to see which one will do the experiment, but Morris with his big boots steps in and settles it. Let's turn to the afternoon Typing class where we see Donna and Joanne racing over the keys to reach one hundred words a minute. The bell ends this mad session and it's study hall again. Stevens and Tupper manage to cat nap before basketball practice next period. The bell rings and it is the last period. Karr and the other players dash for the gym to be coached by Mr. Wasik. The last bell rings and it's time to go home. Since we are only Juniors the Seniors proceed us in line and we are on our way. Gosh! What a day, I wonder what tomorrow will hold?

Besides trying to teach the three R's, we have given some aid in P.T.A. Programs. We also contributed to the Armistice Day Program.

The big event of the year for the elementary grades was the Christmas Operetta "The Obliging Clock". Jack, Ronald Wolford and Jill, Mary Alice Steadman, were both sorry to have Christmas end so quickly so they asked Mr. Clock, Rickey Smith, to change his ways of ticking so that they might have Christmas every day of the year. The Infant New Year, Gary Edeburn, sobbed as if his heart would break because Jack and Jill no longer wanted him. A host of holiday friends, the Easter Bunnies, Fourth of July, Vacation-Chums, School-Chums, Halloween passed one by one through the children's bedroom. This made Jack and Jill realize that it would be terrible to never see them again. Thanksgiving Day finally changed their minds and finally Jack and Jill begged Mr. Clock to stick to his regular schedule. All the holidays forgave Jack and Jill and they all gathered round to sing-----

"There is joy that is clear
in EVERY day of the year."

"ME AND MY SHADOW"

3 Act Farce-Comedy

J. Vincent Barrett

Roy Harrington is a young attorney whose mother-in-law, Mrs. King, has never exactly approved of his marriage to her daughter, Arleen. Arleen is learning First Aid and practices on everybody she meets. She is going to a lecture in a neighboring city and hates to leave her young husband alone, so she induces Roy's friend, Dr. Bruce Douglas, to spend the night with Roy. On his way back home from taking Arleen to the bus station, Roy saves a mysterious young East Indian girl from being run over by a train. She is unconscious when Roy brings her home to see what Bruce can do for her. Both boys are amazed when the girl comes to and declares that because Roy has saved her life she now belongs to him. Henceforth he will be her "Master" and she will be his "Slave". The boys try to show her where this line of reasoning is all wrong, but in spite of their repeated efforts to get rid of her-- she stays. To further complicate matters, Mrs. King arrives unexpectedly and there is a nosey neighbor whose interference makes things that much worse. It seems that the girl was deliberately thrown on the tracks. The would-be murderer makes an attempt on the girl's life and, failing in that, tries to kidnap her. In the darkness, however, he gets the mother-in-law instead! Then Arleen comes home and things really happen! Further complications are caused by Susan, the Harrington maid. One funny situation tops another with such bewildering rapidity that the audience is almost in hysterics by the time the sudden and surprising conclusion is brought about by no other person than Mrs. King herself, who is instrumental in the capture of the would-be murderer and kidnapper.

"HERE COMES CHARLIE"

A Three Act Comedy

By Jay Tobias

Larry Elliot, Bob Biggin, a young broker, thinking he is becoming guardian of a small boy, is jolted to find he has taken a girl to raise, seventeen and pretty. Charlotte, Eileen Ediburn is called Charlie, hence the error. Why the jolt? Well, Larry is engaged to the imperious Vivian Smythe-Kersey, Dot Symons and is further hen-ridden by a snobbish aunt, Grace Saltzman. To have another female in the house delights him not. Neither does it delight Vivian nor the aunt. Charlie arrives from Arkansas accompanied by Uncle Aleck Twiggs, Perry Coxson, like herself a true product of the Ozarks. She starts by calling Larry, "Papa," and by displaying artless, but warm, affection. Larry likes the attitude, but it fails to smooth Charlie's way with the women. The latter assume active enmity and plan to oust the "hillbillies". Farcial situations develop from the social blunders of the new arrivals, especially when Aunt Fanny Farnham, determined to make Uncle Aleck earn his board and keep, tries to turn him into a society butler. Conspiracies against the Ozarkians recoil; but Larry's position is made so uncomfortable that, to save him punishment, the pair departs, only to return after some months, so different! Charlie is barely recognizable in her successor, the glorious Charlotte, who flutters all masculine hearts. Uncle Aleck too, has undergone an amazing change. A play of plot in which farce-comedy is tempered by heart interest and touches of pathos. Minor roles include Larry's cynical college pal, Paul Stevens; a haughty society matron, Opal Rice; her sappy son, Bob Byers; a comical Irish maid, Joanne Burdine; and her Irish policeman fiance, Howard Karr.

Stage manager, Alton Jewell. Advertising, Dale Draa and Hallie Stafford. Stage, Glenn Hall, George Letcher, Pete Tupper, Paul Morris and Dale Draa. Tickets and programs, Irene Flowers, Opal Rice and Coleen Betts. Make-up, Grace Bradley, Margie Babos, Irene Flowers and Virginia Holler. Prompters, Donna Fair and Coleen Betts. Our softball team was reorganized under the hands of Mr. Mallett after not having played for a year. There were twenty girls out for the team this year. All the players were new to the game. We suffered our first defeat against Lordstown. The team decided they needed more practice so we spent many nights after school learning the game. After many nights of practice we played Cortland. Our spirit was renewed as we were piloted to a brilliant victory under the capable pitching of Colleen Betts and the excellent fielding of the team. We kept right on practicing evenings, but we lost our next game to Braceville. Those two games were our only home games. Mr. Schettino did a fine job of umpiring, but even so we could not hold our own against the veteran squads. Our next game was a practice game against Kinsman which also turned out to be in our opponents favor. Our last game which we lost was against Bristol. This closed the season for girls' softball.

Our season proved to be less successful than we would have liked it to be, but next year we hope to have one of the best softball teams in the county with an entire team of experienced players.

A decorative vertical line runs down the center of the page. At the top, it features a fleur-de-lis. The line itself is a wavy, ribbon-like shape. At the bottom, it terminates in a detailed illustration of a classical oil lamp with a flame. The lamp has a rounded body with a scalloped band, two ornate handles, and a tiered base.
