ADMINISTRATION

LEO W. DIFFORD

It is my privilege to extend congratulations to the graduates of 1969.

During the past years I have enjoyed my association with the fine students of the Joseph Badger School District, and my interest in your accomplishments will continue.

I wish the very best in the future to each member of the graduating class and all other members of the student body.

Superintendent of Joseph Badger School District

STANLEY WASIK

It is with a great deal of mixed emotions that I leave as Principal of Badger High School.

During this time many happy and pleasant hours were spent with the faculty, parents, and students of Badger High. These I will never forget.

Mr. Mellinger, your new Principal, is back at Badger. Many of you can recall the excellent leadership and guidance he has given you in the past and will continue to give you now.

In accepting the vacancy created by Mr. Difford, our new Trumbull County Director of Vocational Education, I will strive to continue to give you the fine educational leadership you have received in the past.

Principal of Badger High School

ROBERT MELLINGER

To the members of the Class of 1969 I offer my heartiest congratulations. I hope that the lessons and experiences which you have met over the past four years will help and guide you during the coming years.

Chapter 3 THE BEGINNINGS IN THE UNITED STATES

The roots of American government reach deep into the past. Our system of government did not suddenly spring into being as if the voice of some political angel had spoken. Nor was it pulled out of thin air by the

The Colonial Period

Our English Heritage. The French, Spanish, Dutch, Norwegian, and other Europeans settled in parts of what was to become the United States. But it was the English who came in the largest numbers. And it was the English who came to control the thirteen colonies that stretched for 1,500 miles along the Atlantic seaboard.

These early pioneers who cleared the wilderness and fought off the Indians had to work out their own government in the New World. But they came here in search of greater freedom and they brought much of their political ideas with them. The American people began to develop a sense of independence, a feeling that they should govern themselves. We shall now discuss the early beginnings of these feelings.

men and they brought much of their political ideas with them. The American people began to develop a sense of independence, a feeling that they should govern themselves. We shall now discuss the early beginnings of these feelings.

SETTLERS AT WORK

Early Americans had to live together in harmony, or they would not survive. This was called "government in order to live," the beginning of our government today.

of which are to be found today—unity, strength, loyalty, courage, and justice of the peace, for example. And all of these were well known in England long before the first Englishmen were born in America.

(1) The First Concepts of United Government and Civil Liberties. They brought with them, too, the twin ideas of limited government and civil liberties. That is, that government is limited by what it may do, and, respectively, that it is limited in the sense that each man has certain rights that government cannot injure or take away. These great principles of freedom were proclaimed in such historic English documents as the Magna Carta in 1215, the Petition of Right in 1628, and the Bill of Rights and the Act of Toleration of 1689.

(2) The Concept of Representative Government. A third vitally important concept brought to America in English ships was that of representative government. For centuries there had been developing in England the
