Today was clear & cold A.M. and clouding up with snow during the afternoon. It has warmed up a bit but it is still cold. Temperatures today were low - 9° high 7° . Larry came up this morning and helped me get my car running. At noon I drove to the hospital & took Chad with me. We stayed there about two hours and then came on back home. Pearl is still feeling good but they haven't told her yet just what day she can come home.

Today was partly clear and cold. The temperatures were low -15° high -6° . We had winds 12 to 25 m.p.h. gusting at times to as high as 40 M.P.H. We had a wind chill index as low as 60° below zero. I listened some weather news bulletins on the radio this morning. There was one town in North Dakota with a wind chill index of 100° below zero. One town in Montana had a low temperature reading of a minus 64° . I believe that this December is the coldest one on record for all time for Midwestern U.S. from the northern states south to the Texas/Mexico border.

Today was mostly cloudy + cold but warmer than the past many days. Temperatures were low -5° high 18° . Ken Jackson picked me up this morning at 7:45 a.m. & we went to Mike McKenzie's home at Agency, Mo. where we sat in Mike's kitchen watching birds come to his feeder. We sat there about 90 minutes watching before the two Evening Grosbeaks for which we had been watching and waiting, came to the sunflower seed. Mike saw the first one on Sunday Dec 18th. They were lifers for Ken this morning.

Today was clear, windy and cold after another inch or two of snow. Temperatures were low 7° high 20°. On the television evening news tonight they made the statement that this has been the coldest ~~November~~ December ever recorded in the United States since they began keeping records. I took Pearl to see Mr. Richard Craig this afternoon. He is the doctor who operated on her. He seemed pleased at how good she was feeling.

Harold Hoey - retired Conservation Agent

This morning Ken Jackson picked me up at home at 4:15 a.m. and we drove ^{to} the Holiday Inn Motel at hys I 29 and 6. We met Dave Easterla there at 4:30 a.m. We were to go to Marshall, Mo from there, Ken became sick & because he had the runs he was afraid to go with us so Dave & I went together. We arrived at our destination at a few minutes past 7 a.m. we went to the home of Harold Hoey in Marshall. The directions we followed were east on Hy 36 to Chillicothe, south from there on Hy 65 to Marshall, Mo. On ~~road~~ entering Marshall from the north at the first light we turned left on Arrow Street which runs east. Stay on arrow to the town square. Turn left there and go about two blocks to E. Eastwood Street. Go east there barely over one mile Buds Body Shop on the left. The house next to it on the east, a yellow house is where Harold Hoey lives. He is a retired Conservation Agent. The Band-tailed Pigeon comes to a feeder in his back yard. It feeds on sunflower seeds. The bird is very spooky & takes off for heavily wooded valley at the least unusual activity. We were back home at my house at 12:50 p.m. We checked the mileage down. It was 140 miles from the Holiday Inn to Hoey's home. After getting back home I had a call from Tim Barksdale. There has been a Gull on the Mississippi River at Alton Dam. They have been trying to check it out for the last week but the bird has been staying on the ice out in the middle of the water area to distant for positive identification. Today it moved down river to Chain of Rocks where they were able to observe it much closer. They checked everything closely and came up with the answer that it was a Slaty backed Gull. Tim gets pretty well carried away on some of the birds he sees so I accepted the explanation without much comment. I did call Dave Easterla at his home & told him about it and he took it pretty much as I did.

If it was a common North American species then I would say fine, could be. But the Slaty-backed Gull is a Siberian species, uncommonly seen in the general Alaska area and through the Aleutians. The shocker came about two hours later when Richard Anderson of St. Louis who is undoubtedly Missouri's best authority on gulls called Dave Easterday and told Dave that they ~~to~~ had checked all field marks and had come to the conclusion that it had to be Slaty-backed gull. Dave is trying to set up a trip to St. Louis either tomorrow or Monday with four or five observers from here.
