Tide was clear and nice all day. And speaking of all day it was a long one. We got up about 6:30 a.m. and by the time we had torn down our camp and got started on the road it was about 8 a.m. We stopped three times on the road for meals and about four times for gasoline. It was just 30 minutes past midnight when we finally pulled up to my house. As I had hoped my wife and my dogs were very glad to see me. We hadn't planned on getting on until sometime Sunday. I don't know if our trip was a success or not. For photography we had too much cloudy weather. We saw some birds and animals + reptiles we hadn't really expected to see but also we missed several species of wildlife that we did expect. We didn't really expect to see the Ivory-billed Woodpecker ~~but~~ but naturally we continue to hope for it. Many of the natives there swear that they have seen it.

Saturday, April 19, 1969

Naturally my best bird of all was the Jacana but was also thrilled at the sight of so many White-faced Ibis, Roseate Spoonbills, Black-necked Stilts, Willets, Gallinules, herons of all kinds. I know that I missed a lot of birds that were practically in my sight. In the first ~~last~~ place we didn't spend near enough time in the areas where the birds could be found (the refuges). Also except for Thursday when Mr. Fleetwood took us on a tour of the Brazos National Wildlife Refuge we never had any one to guide us in reference to birds. It is ironic to note that of the four lifers I listed on this same trip last year I missed entirely this year. New to me other than birds were the. In checking over the bird list of the Anahuac National Wildlife Refuge I find that there are about 3 or more species that would be new on my life list that we missed which were no doubt there at the time we were there. And to think that if I could have moved on down the coast slowly to other refuges I could have picked up more birds yet. Maybe this is good. If I live long enough and have the chance to go back again it will give me something to look for. I was surprised to find so many Nuptrea on the refuges. If they continue to spread as they are now then they will definitely become a problem. One lady mentioned that if cooked properly they were good eating. Maybe this could be a solution. I hope that I live to see the day that I can have transportation of my own to go with Pearl and spend two weeks or more at the right time of the year along the Gulf Coast in the National Wildlife Refuges. Our total trip mileage was somewhere near 2500 miles.

Today was clear and nice. Since I didn't get up from my Texas trip until after midnight last night I didn't do any birding today except directly to Squaw Creek and back. Harold Burgess had called last night before I got home telling Pearl that he had seen long billed Curlew & White faced Ibis at Sq. Creek but he couldn't find any of them today. Temperatures today were low about 41° high about 76°.

Today was clear and real nice. The temperatures were low about 40° high about 73°. I birded in the timber on my noon hour & took a drive out of town late afternoon. This evening I shot two Grackles with my pellet gun. It hurts me to do it but they keep tearing down the nests of other birds that are trying to build.

This was a long, tiresome but big day in my birding history. This year the National Audubon Society Convention is being held in St. Louis, Mo.

Wednesday, April 23, 1969

It is the first time in its history that it has ever been held in the midwest. There were two pre-convention trips and one convention trip of 2 days each by bus over the state which winds up at the Squaw Creek National Wildlife Refuge. The St. Joseph Audubon society as hosts to this end of the trips were to furnish guides over the refuge. The large busses are to large to negotiate the sharp turns and narrow roads so we were to furnish enough cars to accommodate the people. We did this and produced quantity and quality birds. Probably 90 % of the people added new birds to their life lists. On the morning trip Harold Burgess led one half of the group and I led the other half. The afternoon tour was one long caravan led by Burgess and I brought up the rear. Everyone seemed real happy. It was clear + a bit windy. Temperatures low 44° high 67°

Today was mostly cloudy and very pleasant after a two and one half inch rain in about 24 hours Saturday. Pearl and I bided together all day from 8:23 AM until about 7:30 P.M. I could probably have seen a few more birds by staying at Snow Geed until dark and doing a little more walking there but late this afternoon I was getting tired. The temperatures were low about 47° high about 63°.

Today was clear, cool and nice all day. Temperatures were low about 35° high about 67°. I spent two or three hours this afternoon + evening hunting mushrooms besides my birding and found only two. About 8:30 PM my brother-in-law Kenneth Harman, who lives across the street from me here told me that he had found quite a few and if I wanted to clean them up to come out + get them. He gave me about half a gallon.

Today was clear, cool and a bit windy but as the list indicates it was a good day for birding. Temperatures were low about 46° high about 73°. Simon Rositzky and I birded all day from 7 a.m. until we got home at 9:45 P.M. I ate lunch at the Rositzkys and we ate supper on our way home at Forest City, Mo. Until we got to Squaw Creek we birded by ourselves. At Squaw Creek we birded along with Harold Burgess, Hugh & Sally Sprague, John & Julie Hamilton and Dave Easterla and Mark Robbins. I am guessing that Dave Easterla & Mark Robbins who were together came up with 170 or more species. John Hamilton had 3 species that I didn't have. They were Broadwinged hawk, Bewicks Wren and Ruby Crowned Kinglet. I had a few species that Dave missed
(Dave & Mark had only 160 species)

Today was cloudy, damp & chilly all day. A light rain came this afternoon. We came home early because we were expecting company. Our daughter Lois & her husband Fred Hamilton came in about 6:45 P.M. He was released from the army on Wednesday May 14, 1969. Leroy & Merv were also here.
