Job birding, today was terrible. The temperatures were low about 30° high about 43°.

I picked up Si Rositzky at his apartment at 6 AM. We bided till 10 AM along M. & R., near W. hse, N.W. bvd. and the Airport. Si then picked me up at 12:30 PM + we finished till about 6 PM at Squaw Creek. Because of the weather we were very fortunate to have wound up with 82 species. Most of the day from 5:50 AM until about 4 PM it was either raining, sleet or snowing. Si almost got stuck two or three times at Squaw Creek. The wind was rather strong so it was a cold + miserable day. I estimated only 1500 yellowlegs but there could as easily have been 10,000. They were continually on the move flying about and dropping into the marsh grass where they could not be seen.

Even though we wound up with a pretty good list it was a lousy day for birding. It was clear only a part of the time but the wind was blowing from about 20 to 40 MPH all day long. It was hot, so along with the wind it was dirty. Starting this morning we are on daylight saving time so although we (S. Rositzky, Bob Brown & I) started at 6:30 AM it was almost dark. We wound up at 8 PM.

Temperatures low about 67° high about 90°. We ate breakfast at 7:30 AM at a restaurant and passed up lunch. I did drink two glasses of milk at 3 PM.

~~Clear~~ Clear & cool, an ideal day for birding. The temperatures were low about 32°, high about 65°. I had about 1/8" inch of ice on my bird bath this a.m. After work at 4 p.m. Pearl and I drove to Trimble and back. We went especially to look Upland Plover so we were lucky to find 9. We got back home about 7:30 P.M.
