PREFACE

The material contained in this book was compiled from a part of a collection, that is held by the Nebraska State Historical Society at Lincoln, Nebraska. The collection of ten boxes of material was accumulated by Father Michael Allen Shine during his lifetime.

The contents of this book was originally found amongst the ten boxes by Sylvia Nimmo of Papillion, Nebraska, who is a certified genealogist. This particular section pertains to baptisms, marriages, and deaths of individuals, who were living on the plains as early as 1830's

Much of it was recorded by Father De Smet as he traveled up and down the Missouri River, and while he was at the St. Joseph's Mission near Council Bluffs, Iowa. There were other priests serving the area, and they recorded their baptisms, marriages, and deaths as well. Father F.L. Verreydt had records dating back to 1830's. Many of the baptism's etc., are of Indian women, and the French traders living in and around the Mission, as well as trading posts. Father Quickenborne had records of individuals around Dubuque, Iowa, and Galena, Illinois and surrounding areas. His early records have some of the people who later lived near or at St. Joseph's Mission.

Father DeSmet traveled along the Missouri River in years from 1851-1867, and baptised not only the traders families and adults who lived at the Forts along the river, but the Indian children who lived in the area. Some of the Forts were Fr. Pierre, Fort Mandan, Harney's Fort, area of Yankton, which most of them are now located in the Dakota's.

In 1840's, Father Hoecken recorded his baptisms, etc., in French. Cheryl Nelson, of Fremont, Nebraska, translated this section into English.

As late as 1870's, Father Shulak, a Czech priest recorded in Czech, the early baptisms of the early Czech children. These generally were held in the homes, where Father Shulak would hold services for those living on the land. This is a vital time of records, as there was no set registry's in the early years. This section was translated by me, Margie Sobotka.

Most of the recordings were handwritten with some semblance of order, but at times difficult to determine of how to type the information, as it all was different. Many of the names were written in Latin, as well, so these were converted into what would be the standard way of usage. (i.e.) (Josephus - would be Joseph, etc).

There are referrals to the baptisms of the LaFleche families, Fontenelle families, and a little story on Billy Caldwell and his expertise in helping to coordinate treaties, etc., between the Indians, and Americans. The DeRoin families are also mentioned in the records.

Although, the information is varied in text, with the variety of languages, form of recordings, and with some of it re-typed, it was decided to just follow through with each section as it was recorded, and then make an index to the completed book.

The compiling of the book spanned several years, and also changes over the years, due to the difficulty in reading, typing, and deciphering handwriting of names, and especially the Indian names to make sure they were right. At times, it was finding the time to work on the project as well.

It has been a most interesting project, and feel this information is important to those people who had ancestors living on the plains in those earlier years, before the territory was divided into states as we know them now.
