GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANT

Dear Sirs:

I want to thank you very much for the baskets which you sent me a few days ago, which has just arrived, and to say from a commercial standpoint the basket is all right, but from the standpoint of a collector who desires to put baskets together a basket of this kind will not answer. Therefore, I would like to cancel my entire order with you unless the baskets to be obtained from you will be of a different character. I appreciate very much your effort to please me and am by no means displeased, but a basket of this character is of no importance to a collector like myself. Unless you can furnish old, representative pieces of the Indians work in your section of the country there is nothing I could use, therefore would like to have you deduct from the amount I sent you whatever you think is due you and send me the balance. I am looking for old, not new specimens of this class of work, and think you understand what is wanted, though you may not be able to supply the same. The basket came in good condition and can very readily be disposed of but I would not want to add this class of work to my collection.

Yours very truly,
