Dear Sir:

Was just wondering why you did not consider any of the articles I sent you

Was my prices not all right on them. I have found that I ask considerable less than dealers in the business For instance I see an ad in the last Archaeological Bulletin by the "Worlds Science Establishment" offering one Elk Horn Scraper at $25.00. Therefore my price at less than half on one of these scrapers would seem to me to be reasonable @ $12⁰⁰ when people such as the "World's Science Establishment" of New York ask $25⁰⁰

What can you afford to pay me for it? Would $10⁰⁰ be any inducement to you. And you not like the Tony Quiver These are ~~are~~ rare look me hanging on a saddle horn. If I cut it a dollar would it be satisfactory.

I don't usually urge a person to buy or don't want to this case, or I would not offer them at all if I did. But I have similar pieces.

Yours truly

Wm. Thompson

I have a very old Ghost Dance Dress of Muslin which has seen actual service in 1890 at Wounded Knee which I will sell for $3.00. It is painted & fringed somewhat.
Please advise
