

artscanada

December 1969

$2.00

A wide-brimmed hat, possibly made of straw or a similar natural material, is the central focus. The crown of the hat is painted with a vibrant scene. The upper portion is a bright, textured blue, representing a sky. Below this, a green field is depicted with visible brushstrokes. Two horses are painted on the field: a dark brown horse on the left and a reddish-brown horse on the right. The hat's brim is also painted with green and yellow tones. The hat is placed on a bed of dry, yellowish-brown grass, which is slightly out of focus in the foreground and background.

GRASS ROOTS ART