Today was cloudy and cold with a pretty good snow around noon for about an hour. Temperatures were low 5° high 21°. Pearl & I took a drive this morning down around Lake Contrary and back home. There wasn't very many birds showing themselves. I believe that there were a few Longspurs mixed through the flocks of Horned Larks but I couldn't get close enough to be sure.

Today was a miserable day unless you wanted to stay in all day. It has rained most of the day. Early morning the rain ^{was} freezing but from mid morning on the rain was not freezing but the packed snow and ice under it was really slicky. I stayed in all day. Ken, Mike and I had planned on taking off at 7 P.M. and go to Squaw Creek. We gave that up. The temperatures were low 21° high 35°.

This was really a winter day. During the night I got up three times. Each time I looked out and each time I saw stars shining. When I got up this morning at 6 a.m. it was cloudy. Mike and Ken came by for me at 8:30 a.m. and we headed for Squaw Creek. It had been snowing hard since about 7:30 a.m. Once in a while it would let up some but in a short while it would be coming down hard again. From the rain yesterday freezing and snow today on top of it it was slicky everywhere. Sometimes the wind and snow created blizzard conditions. We didn't find any of the rare birds that we had hoped to see. I guess the Long eared owl was best. We got back home about 3:30 p.m. Sometimes on Interstate 29 coming home the wind blowing the snow so hard for a matter of several seconds up to about a minute we couldn't see if we were on the road or not. Mike did the driving today. On our way home on Interstate 29 we saw several cars pulled off to the side of the road. At one of the cars a young lady had gotten out carrying a small child about 3 years of age. ~~Neither~~ Neither one of them were dressed for the weather and they were headed back up the highway which made them fighting the wind. We stopped and they came back to where we stopped. Mike asked her if she was having car trouble & she said yes that it kept cutting out and slowing down so she pulled over to the side to keep from stalling in the lanes of traffic. Ken went back & did something at the carburetor and got her car started. She was headed for St. Joe so Ken told her to go ahead and we would follow her. About halfway to town she had to pull over again. It took Ken about 10 minutes to get it started this time. We followed her all the way into town and then we left her. Ken is a good mechanic so I am sure glad he was with us. Temperatures today were low 14° high 17°. The fore cast is for more bad weather tonight.

Today was clear and more pleasant than the last 2 or 3 days. The temperatures were low - 5° high 30°. This morning I drove to Honey Creek to do a little birding. I parked the car there and did quite a bit of walking so I didn't take Pearl with me. When I came back to the car I found I had pulled to far off the road and was stuck in the snow and ice. I didn't have my shovel or chain with me. A young fellow in a small car came by and tried to help me but with no chain or shovel I couldn't get out. We worked with it for about an hour but with no luck.

The fellow who was helping me was from Kansas City and he was on his way home so I rode to St Joe with him and he let me out at my home. Larry came by at 4:30 P.M. with his pickup truck and a chain and with the truck loaded down it was easy to pull me out.

Today may have been the coldest day throughout the 24 hour period I have ever seen in my 67 plus years. I believe it has been below zero all day long with the lowest some where around 20°. That is only the information I got from watching my thermometer. I didn't see either of my Red breasted Nuthatches today. I wonder could they have froze. The sharp skinned hawk I saw here twice today. Once it caught a House Sparrow. On Thursday evening Jack Hilsabeck called me here at home and told me that a man he knows brought a bird to him to identify. He said the man had been hunting Mourning Doves south of Rosendale, Mo. a few miles in October and had shot at a small bunch of Mourning Doves that were flying past. The one bird didn't look exactly like a Mourning Dove to him so he put it in his freezer + had forgotten about it. A short time ago he had come across it and took it to Jack to see if he knew what it was. Jack said that it was a Ground Dove. The official temperatures today were ~~high~~ ^{high} -10° ~~low~~ ^{low} -19°.

 Leo Galloway, Dave Easterla, Ross Silcott from up in Iowa and I were planning on leaving early in the morning for Waterloo, Iowa to look for a "Hawk Owl" which has been seen there lately. The fore cast is for 20° to 30° degree below zero readings tomorrow in addition to 30 to 40 mph winds. We decided to wait.

 Tim Barksdale called me this morning that a Greater black-backed gull had been seen yesterday at Alton Dam at the northern edge of St. Louis.
 After about a dozen telephone calls today we are leaving St. Joe in the morning at 5 a.m. Leo, Ken Jackson and David Easterla I hope we get to see the gull. If we don't then I hope at least Ken gets to see the European Tree Sparrow as it would be a new bird for him.

Today was mostly cloudy, windy and cold. Temperatures in St. Joe were low -7° high 22° . In St. Louis the temperatures were low -5° high 16° . With the wind blowing so strong along the Mississippi River, probably around 30 to 40 mph the wind chill was way below zero. Ken Jackson picked me up at 4:30 a.m. we then picked up Les Galloway and met Dave Easterla at the Holiday Inn Motel at I 29 by + 94y 6. We then headed for St. Louis. We arrived at Alton Dam at about 11 a.m. We left St. Louis, heading back home about 4 p.m. and arrived home at 9:30 p.m. We drove a total of near 700 miles. We birded from both sides of the river both in Missouri and in Illinois. There were a total of eight of us together most of the time. From here there were David Easterla from Maryville, Les, Ken and myself from St. Joe, Bill Rudden from St. Louis, Tim Barksdale, Robt. Brundage and Ike Adams from Columbia. I was really tired when we got home.

Today has been a weird day. During the early morning hours it rained lightly and froze on everything. We are lucky we didn't get enough rain to weight down & break trees and telephone wires. Later this afternoon it rained harder but had warmed up to around 40°. This evening it has stopped raining but it is getting much colder and is very windy. I would guess 30 to 40 m.p.h. Today was clear a.m. early but was cloudy from about 11 a.m. on the rest of the day. It was rather chilly but compared to many of the days this month it was really a pretty nice day. The temperatures were low 8° high 20°. The birds I have listed "AA" stands for Agency Area. Meaning that these birds were seen roughly within a radius of about 5 miles of Agency, Mo. This morning (over)

I drove to Agency at 9 AM and pick up Michael McKenzig and we spent most of the morning birding around that general area. Here after any birds I see within a radius of approximately 5 miles of Agency I will list A.A. This is the area I birded in quite a bit about a year ago with Kenneth Jackson and now that I am birding some with Mike we will no doubt bird some in that same area because Mike lives there. I took Mike back home shortly after 12 o'clock noon. We did make one trip out of the area. That was down around the lake areas south west of town looking for Songspurs. I stayed home then the rest of the day.

This morning at 4 a.m. Les Galloway, Mike McKenzie and I left St Joe & headed north. We stopped in Maryville, Mo. long enough to pick up David A. Easterla at 5 a.m. From there we continued on North-northeast to Corning, Iowa where we met Ross Silcock. There we left Les's car and all piled into Ross's car because it was a larger auto and headed through Des Moines Iowa on our way to Waterloo Iowa. We arrived in Waterloo at about 11 a.m. The object of this drive was to look for the Hawk Owl which has been seen there for a month or a little more, we found the bird within a very few minutes of the time we hit the area that we were told to look for it in. It was a life bird for four of us. Ross Silcott had seen it before in Minnesota but he also wanted it for Iowa. The Saw whet owl was a lifer for Ross, so that made four of us adding one life bird and Mike adding three life birds. Both Owls and the Snow Bunting was lifers for Mike. But of course the outstanding bird was the Hawk Owl which was way south of its normal range. This was the first authentic sighting for Iowa. It is a bird of the far north. Alaska and northern Canada. We all came back home happy. I got home at 7.8 PM. We probably drove near 700 miles which is about the same as we drove two weeks ago tomorrow when we went to St. Louis. Snow in northern Iowa was deep. Around the Waterloo, Iowa area there was about 14 inches on the ground with drifts of 10 feet or more. The highways were pretty clear. A few places there was packed snow on the roads and some ice. The temperatures to day in St. Joe were low 20° high 31°. I believe the temperatures in northern Iowa averaged around 10° higher than temperatures in the St Joseph area.

Ross

Today was cloudy & chilly all day. The temperatures were low 12° high 29°. Lee Holloway picked me up this morning at 8:30 a.m. We made a drive up + through Squaw Creek + from there on up to Corning, Mo. looking for the Northern Shrike. At Squaw Creek Berlin/Heck had scattered some cracked corn along some of the roads on the area. This accounted for many of the birds. We were back home at 1:16 P.M.

Today was clear & cold all day but nice. The temperatures were low 2° high 26°. I banded 8:15 a.m. until 11 a.m. from home up thru Savannah, Mo, over to the Honey Creek Wildlife Area, back thru Amazonia, Mo, & then on home with Mike McKenzie & then went to Ashland Cemetery where I took a nice walk. When I got home I had had a call from Nannette Johnson of Kansas City. She was reporting a Snowy owl that had been seen near Kansas City. I passed the word around so Leo Galloway, Mike McKenzie, Ken Jackson and I drove to the area but we were unable to find the bird. We saw lots of Red tailed hawks & Kestrels along Interstate Highway 29 going to Kansas City. The birds listed under A A were seen on country roads in the Agency area. We cut through on those roads to take Mike home.

Today was clear & not so cold. The temperatures today were low -5° high 29°. A professor (Terry Scott) friend of Leo Holloways who teaches at Missouri Western State College lives in east St Joseph and he called Leo Day before yesterday that he had Redpolls coming to his feeder. Leo went out yesterday and was able to see them. He called me late yesterday afternoon and told me. Pearl & I drove out this morning and as we stopped in front of their house we looked up and two males were on the feeder at that time. It was 8:50 a.m., a few minutes later a female also showed up. It has clouded up again this P.M.

Today was a beautiful day compared to what we have been having. It was clear, warmer than usual and no wind. It actually got sloppy underfoot on many roads. Leo Galloway, Ken Jackson, Mike McKenzie and I birded 8 A.M. until 3 P.M. Ken used his car because it is a four door Ford Station wagon & has much more room in it than any of our other cars. We birded from Leo Galloway's home to east St Joe, back to Ashland Cemetery, east of town, south through the Agency, Mo. area to near Platte City then west to Weston, Mo., back north to the Bear Lake Marsh area, around Bear Lake, by Sugar Lake, by Mud Lake, near Lake Contrary ~~by~~ a back through St Joe along the boulevard & then to our homes. The temperatures today were low 24° high 38°

Today was clear and warm. The temperatures today were low 23° high 39°. It was really sloppy underfoot today. This morning I went to Ashland Cemetery where I took my walk. I went mainly to look for the Townsend's Solitaire. I looked for quite a while + was leaving the area when it flew over my head and lit in a tree near me. Steve Crawford first found it yesterday and called me about it last night. I called Leo + Ken. Leo was to then call Mike. Ken called me at noon today to let me know that he had found it.

Cooley Lake Wildlife Area

Today was clear and warm. The temperatures were low 39° high 56°. Ken Jackson picked me up at 8 A.M. & from here we went out and picked up Leo Galloway. We stopped in Ashland Cemetery for awhile and then headed for Kansas City, Mo. From there we drove east on Hy 210 which is on low lying ground near the northern shore of the Missouri River. We went by the southern edge of Liberty, through Missouri City to an area known as Cooley Lake Wildlife Area. Some of the roads were under water. We came to this area to especially look for some Snow Buntings which has been found here during the past two weeks. We were unable to find them. From here we drove on down to Lake Jacomo. It is still mostly frozen over. We were a bit disappointed in the number of species of birds that we saw. We were back home about 5:30 P.M.

Today was a beautiful day. It was clear and bright all day, no wind and cool. Ken Jackson picked me up at 6:30 A.M. & from here we went by and picked up Leo Galloway. We headed for Honey Creek first where we hoped to hear and or see Ruffed Grouse and Turkeys. Of course we didn't get either one. From there we drove west to Hy-T which I usually refer to as the River Road. From there to Squaw Creek, thru Squaw Creek, then over & around Big Lake & from there back to St Joe, through Ashland Cemetery, down south east of St Joe where we covered many back roads & then over by the lakes south west of St Joe. We got home about 5 P.M. Temperatures today were low 18° high 43°. Our biggest disappointment of the day was practically no sparrows other than Tree Sparrows.

Today was cloudy, windy and cold all day. Temperatures were low 25° high 31°. Pearl and I went to the funeral services and burial of a Mrs. Ruby Harman this morning. The funeral services were held here in town and the burial was near Amity, Mo., just 30 miles east of here. That was during the morning and I am glad because during the afternoon we had a freezing misty rain and sleet. Driving was hazardous later in the day.

Today was clear and cold all day. The temperatures were low 10° high 34°. Kenneth Jackson picked me up at 7:30 a.m. and we birded from here up on Wyeth Hill overlooking the Missouri River and the St Joseph Airport, to lakes Contrary Mud, Mushbrat + Horseshoe, from there east to Easton Road, Ashland Cemetery, Honey Creek, Squaw Creek + back home about 5 P.M. I am sure we could have done better yet but most water areas were frozen over.
