I got up early this morning and was prepared to start off the new year bright but it has rained almost constantly all day. I got pretty wet early this morning trying to walk around the Lagoon between showers. The temperatures have ranged from 40° to 50° and because of the warm air coming in contact with the cold water and ice it has caused a sort of fog to cover the water areas so we couldn't even view them. The birds were very active what time I got to look for them but that time was short. I have spent a good part of the day catching up on my bird records.

Today was clear & cool. Low about 20° and high about 45°. Pearl & I started out at 9:30 AM & drove out the Easton Road. Drove through Ashland Cemetery on the way home but nothing stirring. It has been a poor birding spot this winter. After dinner Larry wanted to go hunting so he and I went to Honey Creek. I am really tired this evening. I walked about 6 or 7 miles today mostly through brush & vines up hill and down. We didn't get any game at H.C. We saw 3 squirrels (1 gray, 2 fox), one rabbit, one Opossum and one enormous black cat.

Today was clear & cold all day. I didn't bird at noon because it was cold and I didn't feel well. Today was a sad day ~~at~~ at our house. Our oldest dog "Tippy" a female that we have had for fourteen years died this morning. She hasn't been well for several months and we have taken her many times to the Vet. Finally on Friday morning he operated on her to remove some infected glands. Pearl & Lois brought her home this morning but her heart just couldn't carry on for her. She was having one heart attack after another and the doctor said that the only thing left to do was to put her to sleep. I came home & took Pearl & Tippy back to the Vet about 10 A.M. Larry, Pearl & I buried her this evening in our back yard. It was just like one of the family passing on. The temperature today (evening low 0°) high 13°. The Cedar waxwings have been roosting the last few evenings in the cedar trees in our yard.

Today was clear, cold + windy. The temperatures were 20 to 23° about all day. Earl was sick so I banded all day by myself. I started out at 9 AM + checked birds at my spot along the Nw. brd. I then came home + packed up my gear + headed for Squam Creek and Big Lake. The roads still in bad shape in some places. I left S. Q. for home about 3:40 PM. and banded Ashland Cemetery about 5 PM. All the Rough legged hawks I saw were the dark phases and the four Harlequin Hawks I saw all together at one time circling lazily above me. Big Lake was completely frozen but Squam Creek water was about half frozen. I talked to one of the Squam Creek men and he said that they had made a count on Wednesday and came up with 4500 Canadas, 13,800 Bluegill + Snouts, 90,000 Mallards and 1000 Pintail.
