Dear Mr. Thordarson:

Enclosed please find copy of letter which I mailed to your caretaker on your island. I suppose you have heard of the terrible storms that we have been having up here and it really has been impossible to do much with such weather.

I thought it was the best way to handle the matter because I did not hear anything from Mr. Jepson. Had the hay been uncovered I would have made shipment long ago. I am sending a ton and a half for now. I thought we would not make the load too heavy on account of the bad roads up there. If you need anymore later just let me know and you can have some more hay. Hoping you are well and I will be glad to see you when you come here on your way to Rock Island.

Thanking you for the kindness you have shown towards me, I am,

Yours very truly,

J. F. Bertschinger
