Written by
James F. Wilson II
R2 Waupun, Wis.

(#5) (#32)

Mar 17, 1982 William G. Manney and Jack Manney are one and the same. (Manney was also spelled "Manna" and "Manny.") He was my mother's (Rose Manney Wilson) father.

"Jack" was born in 1835 in Wayne County, Pennsylvania and came to Door County in 1857.

In 1861 he homesteaded 106 acres of land in the town of Egg Harbor. It is hard to give an understandable description because the land was made up of government lots. If you extended the Baileys' Harbor road to the shore that would be the south line. At the point where that line would intersect Green Bay, you would go north 1/2 mile along the shore, then east a little over 1/2 mile, then south to the Baileys Harbor Road.

Over the years, parcels were sold off so the only property remaining in the Manney family