

Guest Speakers for VOCATION WEEK

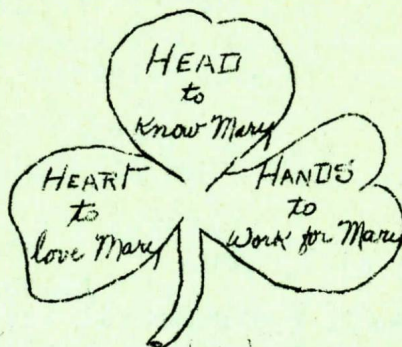

Wednesday, Father Harold Kinney spoke to the student-body on the subject of a religious vocation.

Father believed all vocations to be influenced by love and that we would only be happy when we had chosen our vocation accordingly. A call to the religious life is still the highest calling possible... and by the way, says Father, an angel won't whisper in your ear the fact of your having this vocation.

Father Martin Carrabine's talk was devoted to the marriage state. He was eloquent in his appeal that the youth of today should face marriage with the realisation of its seriousness. How beautiful was Saint Paul's metaphor when he compared the union of the bride and bridegroom to the union of Christ and His Church.

CISCA PROJECT

Loretto Academy has undertaken another Cisca project. The girls are already preparing lists of books in the Cisca library for the schools throughout the city.

"The Top O' The Morning To You". It's a lovely smile, a year wearing and that light in your eyes means only one thing. Shur! an the seventeenth of March is not a long way off, now is it? March 17, ah just the sound of those words is enough to make any Irishman's heart do a jig.

Saint Patrick, the grand old soul, would love Eileen Lowe, and a faine lass she is, for the green tie and bit of shamrock she's wearing.

Considering the Maloney's, and the Kelly's, and the Mc Guire's, and the O' Malley's, and all the rest of the "Mc's" and "O's" in the school, there should be bright smiles and "The glint of Irish laughter" in everybody's eyes the seventeenth of March.

And now, from one Irishman to another, "God bless ye!"

LORETTO WOODLAWN

VICTORIOUS

At a lively basketball game held in St. Bernard's gymnasium, Woodlawn defeated Englewood with a 14 - 4 score.

The two schools turned out en masse to provide moral support for their respective players.

Al sportmanship was demonstrated when Loretto Englewood lent Woodlawn their cheer leaders... during the course of the game.

Misses Catherine Macy, Harriet Suida, Marie Sheehan, Mary Agnes Cmarik, Rita Horn, Eva Schmidt, Jean Duke, Eleanor Witkowski and Christine Purpura represented Loretto Woodlawn.

Englewood girls played delightful hostesses to the team at a party following the game.

C. Cross

SENIOR PLAY SELECTED

The Seniors are on the last stretch of their high school career. Play practice has begun.

This year the three plays chosen are: Joel, Joan and Jean. Joel is the story of a lame child who lived in the time of Our Lord; Joan tells the immortal tale of Joan of Arc; Jean relates of the check to the King of France, Henri Navarre.

Because of the tentative casting, the characters will be announced

(con't on page 2)

The March Pamphlet of the "Pamphlet-a-Month Club is definitely a "must". You must read this pamphlet to gain a clear, unobstructed view of the true situation in Europe written as only Father Lord can write. "Those who have read the pamphlet have been amazed by the skill with which it assembles into one clear picture, the jumbled jig-saw pieces of modern Europe". But don't stop here. Read every pamphlet-of-the-month you can. You may always depend on it being the best.

Here is another situation, not international; it is true, but serious enough. Most of us buy the "New World" and the "Catholic Worker". This is true Catholic Action, of course, but I think that we are missing a point. For instance, do we always know whether an article in a magazine is for or against our religion? Read "In the Current Secular Magazines" by Richard Teutsch in the New World. Then, again, do we know the view we as Catholics should take of the labor problem, sit-down strikes, etc. Try the Catholic Worker. This source of current information never fails being both

(con't page 4)

(The following poem won honorable mention in the Cisca Writers' Contest)

" I "

I have often wondered why
God made a creature
such as I,
To sin, to rise, to sin again.

I have often answered why
God made a creature
such as I,
To live, to die, to rise again.

"AS YOU SEE"

For the last six months a group of ambitious Freshmen and Sophomores have been doing lovely handicraft work under the tutelage of Mother St. Benedict. Mother Benedict, herself an ardent crocheter, has guided the girls in their work. Scarfs, throws, afgans, hats, and baby sweaters are among the many things undertaken by the class. Meeting twice a week, this class welcomes all newcomers.

Anne Coyle

PORTRAIT OF A SERIOUS YOUNG LADY.

Jeanette Green, president of the Freshmen class, has a definite purpose in life. It's the St. Parick's Day Party to be given on the 16 by the Freshmen. This momentous occasion is to take the form of a card and bunco party. (Free admission)

(con't page 4)

The Goblin wants to know if---Audrey Morris and her confederates enjoyed the cheese tidbits they "acquired" Monday. Hope they didn't.The Goblin knows and he might tell---Virginia Renesch, that the Empress Eugenie didn't die "just the other day",--Betty Gleason, that Andrew Jackson didn't fight in the Civil War and Jane Doty, that she shouldn't ask on her way to a basketball game, if she's going to a play.What young man is giving his love to Jeanne O'Neill through the medium of Mary Jane Ronan, (suggested theme song for Jeanne, "I've got My Love to Keep Me Warm")....Welcome to Loretto, Mary Louise Sidall, but be careful the Goblin'll get 'cha if you don't watch out! Ask the Goblin---who owns the school ring that Irene Stockman isn't wearing, and why Corinne LeFager is bidding her time (and her fingernails) until she's eighteen.....Ask the Goblin anything you want to know---he knows---but he's not going to tell, so there.

Just as soon as you are able to make both ends meet, somebody moves the other end.
Scholastic.

"For Christ and His Kingdom, the Pen!"

Editorial Staff
Ed. in-chief: A. Coyle
Associates

Marie White
Muriel Kelly
Joyce McArdle
Writers' Club

LOOK AHEAD

It seems hard to realize that within three months a great many of us will have graduated and gone out into the world. To do exactly what, we do not know. Within three months, life itself will have sought us out, laid a hand upon our shoulders and asked, "What now? Where are you going from here?" Some of us, perhaps, will be able to look life in the eye and say, "I'm entering the convent", some will hold up secretarial pads while others will answer, "College". Yet, whatever it is, let it be something. Let us be prepared to give a straightforward answer to that question of life's, "What now, young lady?"

.....

SCRATCHES FROM THE EDITORIAL PEN

Just because you underclassmen have at least another year in school do not think that you should ignore the question of your future. Now is the time to decide what to make of your life, not the night of your graduation.

Think what your life

CALVARY

I saw the Son of God go by Crowned with a crown of thorns.
"Was it not finished,
Lord," said I,
"And all the anguish borne?"
He turned on me his awful eyes,
"Hast thou not understood?
Lo, every soul is a
Calvary
And every sin a rood."

-Rachel A. Taylor.

.....

SCRATCHES (cont.)

will be after you leave school. Check up on yourself and decide what you are fitted for and then go out and do it.

Usually people think that a vocation means entering the convent. A religious calling is merely one form a vocation may take. Pray for the light to see your right vocation. It is a tremendous thing for which to pray. Never overlook it, never forget it. Have God on your side when you go out to meet life face to face.

.....

(con't from page 1)

in a later edition of the paper.

The play this year will be given the last week in April... which means its just around the corner. Therefore let us even now talk play to our friends, sell tickets and solicit patrons. Shall we make it a success?

AUXILIARY MEMBERS!!!

Who will win $20.00 $10.00?, $5.00?, $5.00 on April 5th, Your subscription book may be the lucky one! Have it with you at the meeting on Monday, April fifth. Tell your Auxiliary friends.

.....

As an added attraction, the Senior French class will present a puppet show, "Cendrillon".

The Sophomores will help the entertainment by giving their "One, Two, Button My Shoe" tap dance.

.....

STORM-TOSSED

What is it?

The social order play by the Reverend Daniel A. Lord, S.J.

By whom is it being presented?

By the Loyola Community Players.

What organization is sponsoring it?

Cisca.

It will be given three times in Chicago but the most convenient presentation for southsiders to attend will be at Mercy High School, 81st and Prairie Avenue, March 21.

This play is being given to help Cisca "get out of the red" and all loyal Ciscans will cooperate by attending.

ERRATA

Free admission on page 3, column 2. should read Free advertisement.

Passion Sunday, Palm Sunday.....Easter Sunday

ROUND THE SCHOOL

SINCERE apologies to the Sophomore Humoresque group whose praises were left unsung after the Gym. Demonstration. Also....apologies to Dolores Gunser. Erroneously we attributed tapping talents to Dolores Bocian, (who by the way has a baby sister od a few days old)

THE realms of philosophy and theology have recently been penetrated by Mary Louise Bryan as a result of her competing in a symposium at Fenwick High School.

THE latest authority on embarrassing moments is Marie Kremer

WE discovered Kay Broelmann deep in Live Alone and Like It. The result of Vocation Week she says.

DO you know why Loretto Pagels and June Berschens have that mysterious air? Peggy Gannon does.

Cherry coca-cola's are M.C.Cruickshank's particular passion.

CLAUDETTE Colbert seems to be the reigning movie actress at Loretto.

-----M.White

The greatest DRAMA of all ages -- the Passion of Christ. Refrain from shows for His sake.

The weatherman said that it wasn't going to be a cold winter, but then, the weatherman didn't know our janitor.

JUST IMAGINE.....

A mirror in every locker.

ESCALATORS!

ELAINE Hartman not having breakfast in bed.

PATSY O'Halloran a fiery redhead.

Mary Ann Schuman sans her bangs.

VIVIEN Mack without her bows.

DOROTHY Finn without Irene Cismoski.

MARY McElvain with a Southern drawl.

FRANCES Ward without her sneeze.

The French room without its Scotties.

J.Harkenreider

(con't from page 3)

Aside from the party, Jeanette's chief interest is collecting pictures of Robert Taylor. Swimming is her favorite sport and English the way she likes the best.

Although she was born in Detroit, Jeanette graduated from St. Bride's. There she was Sodality president and gained a great deal of experience for her present position. The duties of the latter office she performs with an earnest and dignified spirit.

-----ELaine Hartman

(con't from page 3)

interesting and accurate. Read the Catholic papers you buy.

"I have come to the conclusion that the reason fall asleep over my homework is because I don't sleep enough in school."

ALUMNAE RETREAT ...AND DINNER.

With renewed faith and MANY GOOD RESOLUTIONS the Alumnae and friends of Loretto left the Academy after the annual Day of Recollection held here last Sunday. The Assembly was converted into a beautiful chapel and the angelic voices of the nuns lent for a very heaven-like atmosphere.

Rev. John J. Dussman, S.J. was a most human and sympathetic Retreat Master.

The Retreat Committee offer their sincere thanks to all who helped to make the day a success, including the Seniors who served so efficiently at breakfast and tea.

Loretto Alumnae Dinner will be held at the Academy March 30. Misses Dorothy Wideman and Rita Mahoney are co-chairman.

M.A.Cmarik

UNSEEN SPRING

The trees were brown
The earth was bare
The sky was grey
Yet Spring was there

I felt the Spring
With every gust
Of cold March wind
That seemed to thrust

Upon the world
The tidings gay
That Spring at last
Was on her way.

-----Anne B.Coyle

We observe that a joke at the hoary age of one hundred and one years is printed in the Carmelite.

Knock! Knock!'s are out of date, Be fashionable, Be charitable.