ST. MARY'S ACADEMY

ST. MARY'S ACADEMY, under the direction of the Religious of the Institute of the Blessed Virgin Mary (usually known as Ladies of Loretto) is situated in the City of Joliet, about thirty miles southwest of Chicago, Illinois, and is within easy reach of the railroads entering the city. The Academy was chartered under a general law of the State of Illinois, November 6th, 1882, and in 1892 accredited relations were established with the DeKalb Normal School, and in 1903 with University of Illinois at Urbana.

As a Day and Boarding School it offers every advantage of an educational establishment.

The course of instruction embraces all branches requisite for the education of young ladies. It aims at a carefully-graded system of study, beginning with the rudiments of every branch. At their entrance, pupils are examined and classed according to their abilities and attainments. A thorough and satisfactory examination is the only passport to a higher department.

St. Mary's Academy

Special time and attention will be given to pupils desirous of obtaining a teacher's certificate. Many excellent teachers point to the Academy as their Alma Mater. If pupils desire it a commercial course may be exclusively pursued.
