An Appreciation

AFTER ten years of unceasing labor, the good people of St. Bernard's are today crowning their efforts in the dedication of their Grammar School, Loretto Academy, and the Novitiate for the training of our American girls for the Loretto order.

The priests of St. Bernard's take this occasion to express their appreciation to the parishioners for the loyal support and generous co-operation that have made our church and school buildings what they are today.

Both priests and people unite in tendering to our devoted sisters sincerest expressions of gratitude for their unselfish efforts in the spiritual and material development of St. Bernard's. They began their labors forty years ago, with the founding of the parish, and to them this day means more than it does to either priests or people.

St. Bernard's Grammar School

HIRTY-FIVE years ago St. Bernard's School opened with an enrollment of one hundred and eighty pupils. Five Sisters of Loretto were in charge: Mother M. Christina, Sister M. St. Roque, Sister M. Aldegonde, Sister M. Bertha and Sister M. Angelica. We mention their names because these pioneers established the traditions, gave the school a high standing, and even yet their names are held in respect and reverence by the people of the parish. Since then the work they started has been ably carried on and the fruits of the labors of the Loretto Sisters are abundant and gratifying to everyone.

The old school, which was torn down last March, had served its purpose well. Many sweet and tender memories had attached themselves to it and it was not without regret that we watched its rapid disappearance. It was no longer suitable, and the needs and rights of the children demanded a new building. The present three-story school, opened in September, represents the last word in a school building. The exterior is of Bedford stone and pressed brick, and in planning the interior every modern device for the health and comfort of the child was considered. Mother M. Carmela, the present principal, reports an enrollment of over seven hundred pupils.

The hope of the Church is in its little ones, and today we of St. Bernard's, as we witness the dedication of this our new school and realize what it all means, have the brightest of hopes and the most roseate of expectations for the future.

The Loretto High School

 THE new Loretto High School, in Englewood, was begun in the summer of 1926, and is conducted by the Religious of the Institute of the Blessed Virgin Mary, popularly known as the Sisters of Loretto. In style it represents the Italian Renaissance, and to its architectural beauty it unites a complete equipment such as modern standards of education demand. The curriculum includes everything helpful to a sound and thorough education. Whether the student wishes to prepare for college, normal school or the commercial world, she will find in the course of studies offered whatever is needed. The Domestic Science course, with its well-equipped kitchen, affords adequate training in the care and maintenance of the home. The Commercial course embraces everything required for a business education. The Music Department furnishes a complete course in both vocal and instrumental music in all its branches. The heart and will are specially trained, and the finest ideals of Catholic womanhood are held up for imitation. Character and personality are developed, and the girls are taught to distinguish between the cheap, vile, prevailing standards of the day and the solid, real, enduring principles of the virtuous Catholic lady. Any girl who has spent four years in high school with the Ladies of Loretto acquires a charm which sets her apart and makes her different from the crowd.

The parish is proud of the girls who have graduated from our High School, and rejoices in the dedication of the new building, which will give many girls the privilege to share in the opportunities which lie in their midst.

The Loretto Novitiate

ON THE twenty-sixth day of August Mother M. St. Teresa, with two novices and two junior professed nuns, opened the first Novitiate of the Ladies of Loretto on United States' soil. No missionaries ever realized better the importance of the task entrusted to them or the possibilities of the harvest from the tiny seed they were about to sow and cultivate than these five women. Their coming was hailed with joy and thanksgiving by thousands of the Loretto Sisters' friends, who for years had prayed and longed for a Novitiate on American soil. The Providence of God, which so mightily and sweetly moves and orders all things, could be manifestly felt working in behalf of the Sisters. The beautiful house on Harvard Avenue, recently purchased, was temporarily placed by the parish at their disposal. They took possession of the house on the eleventh of October, and since then the interior has been fitted out to meet the requirements of a Convent. Three postulants have joined their ranks, Sister M. Catalda, Sister M. Lillian, and lastly, Sister M. Felicitas, one of our own girls.

Today God's blessing descends upon the Novitiate, and it is the prayer of all that God will prosper it and send to it many candidates to be trained and prepared to help spread the Master's Kingdom by directing and instructing others in the path which leads to Heaven.

Making the Old Home More Livable

No one today uses an automobile made a generation ago. It would be wasteful and tiresome. And the old heating plant is to the modern radiator system what the old auto is to the new.

Radiator heating is the best and cheapest in the end.

It will pay you to take out the old for the new. May we not give you the details and show you how easy and inexpensive it is?

THE EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS BOOK IS A FINE CHRISTMAS GIFT

The story of the Eucharistic Congress, profusely illustrated, is now on sale at all Catholic church goods stores, in book form. It is the book of our generation; a splendid Christmas gift suggestion.

The Official Records makes a beautiful volume of over six hundred pages, published by the Congress Committee, with a Foreword by the Rt. Rev. E. F. Hoban, D.D., Auxiliary Bishop and President of the Congress.

Everyone who is in any way interested in this great devotional event, held for the first time in the United States, will want a copy of this unusual book, because it presents in permanent form the record of the Congress in story style, with full accounts of all events and meetings, the addresses and sermons made, the official documents pertaining thereto. There are over one hundred illustrations, many full pages. Some are much larger, the better to convey an adequate idea of the greater events. Some are in color; all help tell the story, giving a comprehensive idea of the world's greatest religious gathering.

This book will be considered a real addition to any family library. Have it there for your pleasure, for the children's instruction. It will make an unusual remembrance for friends made during the days of the Congress itself.

The cost of the book is $4.75, actual cost of production, published by the Congress Committee as part of its duties. It is edited by the Rev. C. F. Donovan, managing editor of the New World. Order your copy at any of the following stores:

Benziger Bros., 207 W. Washington St.
Matre's, 33 S. Wells St.
Daleidens, 1530 Sedgwick St.
