Dear Mr MacMullen,

Thank you for your letter of 4 August. Please excuse the delay in replying but we have just moved into new premises and this has disrupted our routine a little.

We have two negatives of the "Euterpe": one a wholeplate and the other as the "Star of India", a half plate. The are both broadside views but if you think they may be of some use we will be pleased to let you have copies.

We also have the following harbours:

Auckland: half plate negative. Shows sailing ships of the Flying Squadron in the Auckland harbour. c. 1870.

Napier, Port Ahuriri: half plate negative. Shows view from the Hill, harbour, Western Spit, c. 1880.

Otago, Port Chalmers: whole plate negative. Shows George Street wharf and the harbour, 1868.

Wellington: print only (1/2 plate copy negative, which we retain, would be 5/- plus size of enlargement.) Panoramic view over the city of the harbour with several sailing ships visible, c. 1890's.

We do not have any photographs of the Australian ports.

Enclosed is our scale of charges and as you will see the Studios who do our processing require the money in advance. We will be pleased to proceed with your order as soon as we hear from you.

Yours sincerely,

Judith Hayward.
