Gentlemen:

Having been informed that you have two old sailing vessels which may shortly be broken up, I am writing to ask your aid in obtaining exhibits for our maritime museum.

We are fitting up this vessel, as well as our limited funds will allow, as a maritime museum, and are trying to get relics from various old wind-jammers. The idea has occurred that you might be able to let us have some old relic -- a name board, a life-buoy with the ship's name, a bit of carved wood, a lantern -- anything of a "salty" appearance, which, while it would be of little or no intrinsic value, would be greatly welcomed for exhibit purposes. Our work is of a purely educational nature.

If you will advise me of anything of this nature you may have, and on what basis we might obtain it, it will be deeply appreciated.

Very truly yours,

Gerald F. Mac Mullen,
Secretary, Aquarium Committee,
Zoological Society of San Diego.
