

Announcing Publication of BOOKLET SERIES American Steam Vessels

DRAWINGS BY SAMUEL WARD STANTON

We are pleased to announce the continuation of the booklet series reproducing the American Steam Vessels, Drawings by Samuel Ward Stanton, to be published at approximate intervals of three months. These drawings include most of those originally published in American Steam Vessels edition of 1895—long out of print, together with many other drawings, some of which have never been published. Each booklet is devoted to the steam vessels of a particular region of the United States, with foreword by Alexander Crosby Brown, and introduction by a recognized authority in the maritime history of the region. The series will include most of the existing portrait drawings of steam vessels by Samuel Ward Stanton, noted maritime writer and artist.

To date the first six booklets have already been published and are available immediately, and the seventh, New York Bay Steam Vessels, 48 pages, will be published in May 1964. Purchasers may buy booklets individually (1) or by subscribing to the series as shown below (2 or 3).
