Dear Mr MacMullen,

Thank you for your letter of the 2nd September.

I am sending herewith a photograph of a print of Ramsey. We haven't a really good old photograph of the waterfront, and this print is quite accurate topographically and is also of similar date to the Euterne, being drawn in 1857.

Regarding the query about Mrs Brown, I think you must have overlooked my letter of the 17th February last, in which I mentioned that one newspaper account of the launch - that in the Mona's Herald - states that Mrs Brown was the wife of the Captain Brown who attended the ceremony, and that he was a partner in the firm which owned the ship - Wakefield, Nash & Co., of Liverpool.

Yours sincerely,

William Sargent
