Dear Mr. MacMullen:

Thanks for your last letter and the enlarged picture you sent of the Star Of India. Not only is it a fine piece of enlarging work, but the clearness of the picture sets it off in exceptional style. I shall put a frame around it and find a place to hang it which will remind me always pleasureably of what it is and was and how I came to get it.

Your friend Jack McNairn called a short time ago and we talked some. I was sorry to have been called away before talking more, but was getting ready for a trip into New Mexico, from which I have just returned, to find your letter and the picture. Thanks again.

Sincerely,

M. A. Ransom
