

VOLUME 37

MARCH, 1996

NUMBER 1

JAMES P. WALSH
SAN JOSE STATE UNIVERSITY

Our distinguished speaker for March, 1996 has a most impressive background. He received his B.S. (1959) and M.A. (1962) at the University of San Francisco and his Ph. D. at U.C. Berkeley, graduating in 1970. He began teaching at San Jose State University in 1966 working his way up from Assistant to Associate to a Full Professor of History. He was the Chair of the Department of History from 1982-1986. From there, he graduated to Associate Dean, College of Social Science (1987-1988) to Interim Dean (1988-1989) to Dean, (1989-1995) and Acting Academic Vice President, (1995).

While teaching, he has been very busy writing with a total of 6 books, 32 articles and 43 papers to his credit. Highlights have been as the recipient of the J.S. Holliday Career Achievement Award, California Historical Society, for Research and Interpretation of California's Ethnic History; The California History Award for Best Article; The American Historian Selected by the Republic of Ireland to Address Ireland's Salute to the U.S. Bicentennial; a Senior Fulbright Lecturer, Twice Selected, at the National University of Ireland; a Coordinator for Twelve Scholarly Exchanges with the National University of Ireland Faculty; Founder and First President of the American Conference for Irish Studies-Western Region and on the International Executive Board of the American Conference for Irish Studies. In 1997, he will return to Ireland as a Visiting Fellow in the Humanities in the National University of Ireland at University College, Galway.

He is currently working on a paper to be delivered at the Princess Grace Irish Library's International Conference in Monaco. The theme is fantasy literature, so he chose the 16th Century work of Garci Rodriguez de Montalvo and how it inspired Senator James Duval Phelan in the creation of his villa. The Pioneers will have a treat when they get a sampling of that paper. . . after all, it was from that famous book by Montalvo, The Exploits of Esplandian, that California received her name.

From all of this, one might suppose his abiding interest is the Irish which is borne out with a listing of his books; the most recent with Timothy O'Keefe of Santa Clara University is James Duval Phelan and Villa Montalvo from the Forbes Mill Press (1993). Others include The Irish in the American West issue of The Journal of the West, 1993; San Francisco's Hallinan: Toughest Lawyer in Town, 1982; The San Francisco Irish, 1850-1976 with others, 1978, The Irish: America's Political Class, 1976; Ethnic Militancy: An Irish Catholic Prototype, 1972. The listing of articles and presented papers goes on for pages, most of them on the Irish.

This will be a "DON'T MISS" lecture. Come and learn more about Santa Clara County's (and San Francisco's) James Duval Phelan.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

by Bob Fisher

Dear Pioneers:

My message to you in the December Trailblazer reported that the Memorial Gifts in honor of Austin Warburton and Henry Calloway would be presented to the Santa Clara County Library and the California Room. This was incorrect. On January 24, 1996, David McKinney, 1st Vice President and Fred Gardner, Audit Chair and myself presented to the Martin Luther King Library Media Center the video tapes of the 500 Nations and the Donner Party. Alison Landers, Supervising Librarian, accepting these tapes, on behalf of the Administrative Staff, indicated that the tapes would be available shortly for students and researchers.

One of the Board's goals is to increase our active membership which now stands at 788 members. There are several ways that this can be accomplished. Current members are encouraged to bring guests to the quarterly meetings or to participate with you in various Pioneer activities so as to stimulate their interest in our group. Did you know that members can offer memberships to their children by way of a gift? This is an ideal way to encourage younger people to learn about Santa Clara County and California History.

The December, 1995 luncheon meeting was attended by approximately 200 people which was very encouraging. The Board hopes that you will continue to support this quarterly function. We look forward to seeing you at Lou's Village on March 2, 1996.

The Pioneers STILL needs a TREASURER.

If you can keep your check book balanced, you should have very little trouble keeping the Pioneers' books, now that we have made a few changes. Although the records are not computerized, Jim Reid has made them simple enough to do quickly. We need someone to keep the bills paid and our income recorded to keep our books up-to-date. If the Pioneers is to continue to function, we need willing people to serve and work on the Board. There is more to this organization than the trips and the quarterly luncheons. Please call one of the officers if you will make time to help keep our organization going. It would be greatly appreciated.

I. C. GORDON, PHOTOGRAPHER

by Doris Eleanor Gordon Herschbach

My father, John Calvin Gordon was born at Soldiers Grove, Wisconsin on January 3, 1887. He was the son of a Methodist minister, the Reverend G. W. Gordon. John was the first of a family that grew to eight children as they moved to parsonages in Kansas, Colorado, Michigan and finally to retirement in California, following their eldest son, John, who was established in Campbell and San Jose.

The Reverend had a photography studio in Michigan, as well as a position as a Methodist preacher. John attended to his father's horse and buggy, painted barns and worked on farms as he was growing up. He went to college in Michigan at Albion College, then took a post of teacher in Cowles, Nebraska near the Kansas border. His predecessor had almost been killed when her students had stuffed the stove to create smoke, so they sought a male teacher to replace her.

He married Miss Mina Eleanor Schnackenberg on June 8, 1910 in Waterloo, Michigan. They had both been active in the church there. After the outdoor wedding reception, the young couple left for Campbell, California to live in a prune orchard on Budd Avenue where their first child, Ronald was born.

John worked for Mr. Hyde as a plumber in the Campbell Hardware. The family moved to Mayellen Avenue off of West San Carlos Street where their second child, Doris Eleanor was born. At first, John used a bicycle to get to work, then graduated to a motorcycle and finally to a Ford Model T.

Meanwhile, Mina's father, Henry Schnackenberg, sold his farm in Michigan and moved his family west on the railroad, with their household effects in a box car to San Jose. He purchased land on Florence Avenue in East

San Jose. Both families lived together while he and John built a home for the younger family on this farm where later, son Wilbur was born. They planted fruit trees and vegetables. Chickens were raised for meat and eggs. A barn was built for a horse and a cow and later goats and a few pigs. Finally, it housed a tractor. In the warm spring weather, J.C. could be heard on his tractor working to keep the weeds and cover crop from becoming too high.

John opened a photography studio at 97 South First Street above Lean's Jewelry store and was active there until Lean's was remodeled. He moved to 395 South First Street where he remained until he retired in 1963. He was a Commercial Photographer, working at first for the San Jose Mercury and the San Jose News. His pictures from over 50 years of Santa Clara County are a visual history of the county.

He made lantern slides for advertisements at the theaters, photos covering sports, special events, weddings, groups and accidents and of criminals for the San Jose Mercury. He was all over the valley taking pictures of the valley views, blossoms, wild flowers, wineries, buildings, students at schools, funerals, canneries and farm equipment. Some of his photos were hand tinted. He also took photos for insurance companies, families and passports. He worked at his profession many long hours. Sometimes he was out after dark with his cameras taking shots of store windows which needed to be photographed at night to avoid the heavy day time foot traffic and automobiles.

A Panorama camera was used to take pictures of groups, church institutes, camps and valley views. He even took some panorama views from tops of downtown buildings. At home, he built a picture framing shop where he made up frames and framed his pictures. One of these framed panoramic shots is at the San Jose Chamber of Commerce of one of the largest acreage's of green beans in the world. Once he was called in to photograph and locate some equipment that had been dropped into a deep hole. He let the camera down the shaft and located the missing equipment.

The cameras he used were an 8x10 and a 7x7 Graflex, 35 mm and 16mm movie cameras, the Panorama camera and an Argus.

An active person in the community. J.C. belonged to the Chamber of Commerce, the San Jose Water Board, was Master of the Campbell Grange and the Pomona (County) Grange and a member of the Knights of the Round Table.

He also belonged to a stamp club, was a School Board Trustee, a YMCA Trustee and on the Board of the First Methodist Church. He was always generous with his photos and talents, taking passengers with him to many meetings and to the voting polls. He attended photographic conventions in San Francisco, Grange Conventions throughout the state and traveled with his family, taking pictures everywhere he went.

J.C. was a singer and song leader, playing chords on the piano or on the guitar to accompany his singing. He bought the family a player piano, a marimba, a saxophone and a trombone, the latter two used in the Fiesta de las Rosas Parades and in school bands. He saw to it that Doris took years of piano instruction, as well as enrolling in the first class of photography at San Jose State College in 1932. It was Doris who was her father's assistant.

For son Ronald, he built a radio shack on the home property for his ham radio equipment, a hobby that became Ronald's profession. Son Wilbur became interested in farm and floral experiments, metals and air conditioning- all of which he is still actively pursuing in Sonoma County.

In the late 20's, John bought 8 acres of land on Florence Avenue, subdividing it into the La Vista Linda Subdivision with Doris and Wilbur Avenues named for his children included. He planted trees in the parking, watering them with containers of water hauled there in a "cut down" Ford at first. Lots and homes were sold until the depression came.

In 1967, J.C., at age 80 passed away. He had had good health until a stroke a few years before he died. He is buried at the Los Gatos Cemetery next to his wife who died in 1950 and her parents and brother. His photographic collection is today at the home of Ronald in the Almaden Valley. Many of the photos can also be found at the San Jose Historical Museum and in some books on our area.

AN OPEN LETTER TO GEORGE BURNS

by Leonard McKay

Congratulations, George Burns on your 100th Birthday Anniversary. Did you know that your money paid me for the Saturday Evening Post Magazine or how much I enjoyed reading your book, Gracie ?

When I was a 10 year old boy i n Los Gatos, I had a magazine route selling Curtis Publishing magazines door to door. My best customer was Gracie Allen's Aunt Clara. Her home was on the corner of Loma Alta and Johnson Avenues, just two blocks from where I lived. Clara Burke was my best and most interesting customer for she bought both The Saturday Evening Post and the Ladies Home Journal, which I carried i n a heavy canvas bag.

Each week as I would deliver the Post to her, she paid me five cents, but far more important, she invited me into her parlor to share a cookie and a glass of milk. I was i n awe of the photos on the wall- there she was on a camel in front of the Pyramids, beside a fallen temple i n Greece, or by the Taj Mahal. I would ask about the fascinating places and she would tell of her wonderful experiences. I n your book, you write about Aunt Clara, who had sent you and Gracie $25.00 a week when you were starting i n show business and how that money kept you both going i n the early years, and then the great depression hit, the stock market crashed and Clara Burke lost everything.

You and Gracie had made it big by that time, and Gracie (God Love Her) had contacted Mrs. Burke's broker and quietly managed to send her the same income every week. Well, George, it was your nickels that bought my magazines and I thank you very much.
