Dear Mrs. Rainville:

We regret to inform you that it is impossible for us to let you know whether or not specimens of blood were tested at this laboratory in the names of Patricia Ann Adams and Carl Norman Ohlson during the past year.

The information received in your letter of May 22 was rather inadequate since it would be necessary for us to have the name of the physician who drew the bloods and the date he submitted them. Furthermore, these records are very confidential and are available only to physicians on their private cases.

Sincerely yours,

Kenneth F. Girard, Ph. D.
