Dear Bill:

It was very good to receive your recent note regarding our article in the April 5th issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association. The publishers informed me that there will be a delay of a few months before the reprints of this article are ready but I shall be very happy to send you one as soon as they are available. I am enclosing herewith a few other reprints which may be of some interest to you.

Since my retirement from the Army I have started a Research Serologic Laboratory at the New York Skin and Cancer Hospital where we are investigating cardiolipin antigens. Our results so far are very encouraging. The next time you come to New York I wish you would call me because I should like very much to show you the work we are doing there.

Looking forward to seeing you someday soon,
and with kindest regards, I am

Most cordially yours,

Charles R. Rein, M.D.
