

Major Gen. Scott, of the U. S. Army, arrived here on Saturday last from New-London, on a tour of inspection for examining the military posts under his command.— On Monday morning he visited Fort Wolcott, and was received with military honors ; we learn, that he was much gratified with the neatness and order of the garrison.— Gen. Scott also visited the extensive works now constructing at Fort Adams, Brenton's point. On Tuesday morning he proceeded in the steam-boat, on his way to Boston.
